ABOARD THE PASHA. The Chicago Tribune's and the Los Angeles Times' special steamer on the Upper White Nile, via Rabak, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One seldom sees such a picturesque background as that furnished for the dinner given yesterday by Col. Roosevelt for the Chicago Tribune and the Los Angeles Times correspondent and other journalists aboard the Dal, the Soudan government steamer, on which he is returning to civilization.

The table was set on the deck of a barge lashed against the Dal, the nose of which was run into the reedy bank of the Nile. Leaping flames from a fire in the papyrus grass, driven by a north gale, lighted up the flat country bordering the shallow stream. On the lower deck of the barge blacks lay at full length, some asleep and others droning monotonously a native song. It was an undress affair.

The figure of Col. Roosevelt was silhouetted against the lurid light, which gave the impression of a vast prairie fire. The colonel presented a picture of health and rugged strength. His face is burned to a nut brown by exposure. His eyes are bright and clear and his hair has been slightly bleached by the hot sun.

The colonel's costume was the hunting clothes he has worn throughout his trip in the African wilds, khaki breeches with leather knees and tight calves. He wore pigskin shoes and a snuff-colored flannel shirt open at the neck.

"BULLY COW PUPS."

The colonel was in great spirits and told innumerable humorous and entertaining stories of his trip, such as of the gun bearer's struggles with the English and their pride when discovering ostrich chickens. They blurted out, "Look at the bully cow pups!"

"Bully," ejaculated Col. Roosevelt

HUNTER ANXIOUS TO SHED JUNGLE GARB.

"Our Savage Life Is Over," Says Roosevelt—Will Change to Civilized Togs Before He Meets His Wife. European Itinerary Is Mapped Out.

BY WALTER WELLMAN.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE LOS ANGELES TIMES.

EL DUIM (Egyptian Soudan) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The British government steamer Dal, which is bearing Theodore Roosevelt to a reunion with his wife and daughter, and a great public reception at Khartoum, will stop Monday at Gordon's Tree, just outside the city, in which the English hero met his death.

The halt will be made in order that the Dal may meet a special boat bringing clothes for the distinguished traveler, his son and the other white members of his hunting party, who are now all in hunting costume.

"Our savage life is ended," said Col. Roosevelt today. "I have had a bully time. According to my nature, I threw myself into the hunt to the exclusion of everything else. I almost forgot everything in America except my family and friends. That life is over now. When I meet my wife and daughter I want to be in the dress of an American gentleman."

The former President has particularly asked that he be given an opportunity to see Father Ohrwalder, the priest, who, for many years, was the prisoner of the fanatic Moslems at Omdurman.

HIS FAME IS GREAT.

The greatest excitement prevails in Khartoum today, according to reports coming up the river, in expectation of the arrival of Roosevelt and his party. He is expected in Khartoum Monday immediately after he has changed his hunting costume for ordinary garb at Gordon's Tree.

Great preparations are being made for his public reception. Both the English and native troops are to turn out, and Slatin Pasha will head a delegation of British officials, which will give him the official greeting.

The town is filling up rapidly with Syrians and Greeks and others who are hurrying to Khartoum from all points of the compass. Arabs and Bedouins are here by thousands, the fame of the "mighty hunter" having spread through all the confines of the Sahara Desert. Even the hard-worked Fellsheens have deserted their fields along the Nile in order that they may come to Khartoum and see, with their own eyes, the "Great Shiek" of whom they have heard so much.

Col. Roosevelt was at first disinclined to accept the reception planned for him on his arrival in New York next June, but later became favorable to the scheme, it having been impressed upon him that everything that might tend to give the affair a political significance would be studiously avoided.

Col. Roosevelt's European itinerary has reached here. He expects to arrive in Naples on April 1. He will spend one day in Rome, and will call upon the King of Italy and the Pope, but he will make no addresses either before the Methodist Missionary Society or any other organization.

He will be in Vienna April 15 and in Paris on the 23d. While in the French capital he will deliver an address at the Sarbonne. He expects to spend one day in Brussels, where he will personally thank the new King of the Belgians for the courtesies extended to him by his government at Lado Esclave. He will spend one day in Holland, the home of his ancestors.

On May 1 he expects to be in Christiania, where he will deliver his Nobel Peace prize address. From May 10 to 14 he expects to be in Berlin, and from there he will go to London, where, May 18, he will lecture at Oxford University.

MEN'S ATTIRE TOO SIMPLE.

Doctor Says Women's Clothes Complexities Cause Divorce. Remedy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to Dr. Luther H. Gulick, director of the Child Hygiene Department of the Russell Sage Foundation, New York, the principal cause for divorce is the complicated manner in which women's clothes are made. In an address before the Central Y.M.C.A. today, Dr. Gulick said that a woman needs help in dressing. She can't button her dress up the back. On the other hand a man can jump into his garments in a jiffy, thereby causing a feeling of superiority, which makes discord in the home. Dr. Gulick suggests as a remedy that men's clothes be made more complicated, so they won't be so independent.

Accident in Wilkesbarre Coal District Fatal to Nearly Score—Fire Adds to Horror and Renders Rescue Work Difficult and Dangerous. Mine One of Most Gaseous.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) March 12.—From seven to seventeen men were entombed tonight in the No. 5 shaft of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, near here, as the result of a terrific explosion of gas.

The rescuers came across the entombed men shortly after midnight. There were seven in the party. They were suffocated by firedamp.

The explosion occurred in a plane where a gang of men was putting together a hoisting engine.

It is believed the men struck an unknown accumulation of gas with their naked lamps.

General Superintendent Charles Huber took charge of the rescue work. A thousand feet of hose was sent down into the mine in an effort to play water on the fire. The fire fighters were handicapped by the deadly firedamp, which gathered in large quantities.

The mine is one of the most gaseous in the region and the rescuers are proceeding with the utmost caution.

The number of men in the workings when the explosion occurred probably will not be known until a canvass of the mine workers employed there is made.

Banker Lillis Mutilated by an Expert—Reason for Quick Healing.

Cudahy's Assistant Posed as Auto Driver and Got a Big Fee.

Kansas City Club Folk Credit Explanation of Mysterious Features.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John P. Cudahy of Kansas City, who knifed Banker Jere F. Lillis in his own palatial home, is in Chicago today visiting at the home of Joy Morton. With him is his brother, Joseph Cudahy. Both are keeping in seclusion and every effort was made to keep their visit secret.

John Moss, the missing chauffeur involved in the Cudahy case as the alleged assistant of "Jack" Cudahy on the evening of the attack on Jere F. Lillis, was not a chauffeur at all, but a young surgeon playing the role of auto driver in order that whatever attack with a knife was made would be by skilled hands.

This is the purport of sensational reports which have reached Chicago anent the mysterious disappearance of the "chauffeur." The rumors are said to have a foundation in fact and to be common talk among club folk of the Missouri city who know whereof they speak. The surgeon-chauffeur is said to have been paid an enormous fee by "Jack" Cudahy.

TRAINED FOR PART.

That a young surgeon was hired months in advance of the deed is alleged to be the true and inside story of the affair. He was attired as a chauffeur and played his part as such, it is further declared, that all who might see him would be deceived into believing he was what he purported to be.

Then when the time for action had arrived, according to the story told, he was right on hand to lend his professional aid and insure the success of some outlined scheme. The wounds inflicted on Lillis, Kansas City folk are said to have declared in Chicago, could not have been made with a rusty knife in the hands of an amateur.

It is also recalled that the "rusty knife," with which the cutting was alleged to have been done, has not been found; and it is pointed out that wounds inflicted with other than a clean, sharp surgeon's instrument would not have healed as quickly as have Lillis's.

ACCOUNTS FOR DISAPPEARANCE.

It is suggested that this explanation of the identity of the alleged chauffeur would account for his mysterious disappearance, that all he would have to do would be to don again the citizen's garb of a physician and become himself. All trace of John Moss, chauffeur, would have vanished.

Efforts today to reach two Kansas City men, recently arrived in Chicago and registered at local hostelries, were vain. A young man just returned from the Missouri city, was discovered, however, in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel, telling the story as he had heard it to a friend.

COUNTRY CLUB EXPELS LILLIS; CUDAHY RESIGNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jere S. Lillis has been dropped from the Country Club as the result of the attack made upon him when Jack Cudahy found him with Mrs. Cudahy.

John P. Cudahy handed his resignation to the officers of the Country Club early this week. It was accepted.

The Country Club is one of Kansas City's oldest and most exclusive clubs and expulsion from its membership means social ostracism for the banker.

J. S. Downing, president of the New England National Bank and president of the Country Club, is absent from the city. In his absence Col. C. F. Morse, president of the Kansas City Stock Yards Company and vice-president of the club, took the initiative in the expulsion of Lillis. He called the board of governors of the club together today and the fate of Lillis was decided. Neither Col. Morse nor Kersey Coates Reed, the club's secretary, will discuss the expulsion.

"The club is a private and social one," said Col. Morse, "and its affairs do not concern the public."

Mr. Reed said: "I have talked to Col. Morse and since he does not think it best to make any statement concerning the affair, I hardly think it incumbent upon me to do so. As he says, the club is purely a social one and it should not be necessary that any public statement be made."

Jere Lillis won the city golf championship after a hotly contested game on the Country Club's links last summer. After the match Lillis filled the handsome silver loving cup the trophy of his victory, with wine and passed it around the club.

Mr. Lillis has no intention of resigning as president of the Western Exchange Bank. Persistent rumors that he had resigned or was about to resign drew an emphatic denial this morning from W. T. Johnson, his attorney.

"Mr. Lillis has not resigned and at this time has no intention of resigning." Judge Johnson said: "He has not been asked to resign. I am vice-president of the bank and it is a close corporation with just a few stockholders. None of us has asked Mr. Lillis to resign or talked to him about it."

Mr. Lillis was removed from St. Mary's Hospital to his home today. His condition is much improved and his physicians say he will be able to get about at will within a few days.

Virgil Conkling, prosecuting attorney, this morning announced that his office would not institute proceedings against Cudahy for the affair and that there would be no prosecution unless Lillis should file complaint against him.

Mr. Lillis intends to leave the city for a long rest and a friend was quoted today as saying he probably would pass a year in Europe.

RICHEST DIVORCED WOMAN MAY GET TITLE.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor,

whose divorce from John Jacob Astor with the greatest alimony ever granted, has made her eligible for marriage with British peer. Society of New York and London is expectant.

PUBLIC EXPECTANT.

MRS. ASTOR FREE TO MARRY BRITISH PEER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There has been a vast amount of conjecture regarding the plans of Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, since the signing of the final decree granting her an absolute divorce from Col. John Jacob Astor, by Justice Isaac N. Mills, in the Supreme Court at White Plains, but so far the public's curiosity has not been gratified. Rumors to the effect that she intends to marry a British peer, started in Europe long ago, when she had become entirely free, and the richest divorced woman of the world, have been revived, but have not been substantiated, although she is now perfectly free to carry out such a desire if she may have one.

The divorce decree grants her $500,000 a year and the lump sum of $10,000,000 has been settled upon her. This last sum was agreed upon and adjusted some time ago. The alimony, which amounts to about $900 a day, establishes a new record in divorce settlements in this country. She is entitled to resume her maiden name if she so desires and there are no restrictions upon her marrying again and marrying whomever she pleases. Col. Astor may not legally marry again in this State.

Contrary to all expectations, both Mrs. Astor and the colonel, since the signing of the decree, following the sensational divorce proceedings, have suddenly retired into seclusion. Neither of them has appeared in public in any capacity, and whatever plans they may have are known only to themselves or their most intimate friends.

The granting of the decree followed a notable and brilliant ball given by Col. Astor to celebrate the completion of the rebuilding of the famous Astor residence at Sixty-fifth street and Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Astor is given the custody of her daughter, Alice Muriel, while Col. Astor has the custody of his son, Vincent. Whether Col. Astor made any specific settlement upon his daughter, who is in the custody of her mother, could not be learned. There appears to be no disposition to doubt that Mrs. Astor will get $300,000 a year from her former husband as long as she lives. It is believed that she asked for this sum, and that the delay in asking for confirmation of the interlocutory decree was due to some dispute about the amount to be paid.

MYSTERY SOLVED.

BODY OF HEIRESS IS FOUND IN LAKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAKEWOOD (N. J.) March 12.—Clad only in the nightgown she wore when she disappeared, the body of Miss Helena Bloodgood, daughter of William Bloodgood of New York, and an heiress to a large fortune, was found in Lake Carafaljo this afternoon by men who had been dragging the bottom for three days.

The body lay in twelve feet of water, near a small rustic span known as "Kissing Bridge." It was fully identified by the two nurses who had charge of Miss Bloodgood when she fled last Wednesday night from the cottage of Leslie R. Fort, son of Gov. Fort of New Jersey.

A cursory examination by Coroner Hagaman gave no indications of murder, and it is supposed the girl ran barefooted through the woods to the lake, half a mile away, and threw herself into the water.

Miss Bloodgood's parents have been scouring the neighborhood in automobiles in search of their daughter. When her body was found they were prostrated.

Miss Bloodgood had been here for two weeks under the care of a physician. She had suffered with disordered nerves for a number of years, and exhibited constant displeasure at the restrictions put upon her liberty. On Wednesday night she eluded the nurses, jumped through a window on a lower floor and escaped. Her disappearance was not noticed for two hours.

Nine years ago Miss Bloodgood mysteriously disappeared, but was found a few days later.

MUNDJI BEY IS BACK.

He Is Again Appointed Consul-General at New York—Arrived, But Suddenly Disappears.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Any one who has seen a person answering to the description of Mundji Bey, presumably Consul-General of the Ottoman Empire, at the port of New York, minor prince of said empire, talkative and clever at politics, will confer a great and enduring favor upon the many Turks, Syrians, Arabs and Mesopotamians living in New York.

A week ago Mundji Bey arrived in New York after a year's visit to the old folks in Constantinople. A letter preceded him from no less a dignitary that Suleiman Bustany, vice-president of the Turkish Parliament. The letter was authoritative. It informed the editors of Al Hoda that Mundji Bey has been reappointed Consul-General for Turkey at New York.

All the old suspicions of Mundji Bey's loyalty to the Young Turks and reform, said the letter, are vanished and gone. He was an inestimable man.

"Receive him with the honor due a man above suspicion."

Coroner Discovers Mrs. Taft's Brother-in-Law Shot Himself in Head.

Strong Efforts at Concealment Defeated by Gossip of Servants.

Millionaire in Poor Health and Depressed Over Father's Death.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—Suicide by shooting caused the death of Thomas McK. Laughlin, brother-in-law of Mrs. Taft, wife of President Taft.

Confirmation of many rumors to this effect was given by Coroner Samuel I. Jamison, after a visit to Mr. Laughlin's home today.

While Mr. Laughlin is reported to have died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the Coroner did not receive official news until 1 o'clock today, when the physician's certificate of death was returned. This assigned the cause as cerebral apoplexy, and was by Dr. McKinnon.

Persistent calls for information caused an investigation, after which the Coroner said the physician's return was technically correct, although the cerebral hemorrhage had been caused by a bullet.

TRY TO CONCEAL SUICIDE.

Efforts had been made to conceal the fact that Mr. Laughlin ended his own life.

It was not intended that even the President or any members of the family beyond George M. Laughlin, a brother, and the widow should know the actual cause. All traces of the wound are said to have been removed from the body in embalming.

The rumors of suicide are thought to have been spread through the family servants.

The death of his father, Maj. G. M. Laughlin, several months ago, deeply affected Mr. Laughlin, who was of a nervous temperament. He traveled much previous to his death, in the hope that his health might be benefited. Upon his return from Europe to his home on last Sunday night Mr. Laughlin's health and spirits seemed to be improved.

WORTH TWENTY MILLIONS.

Mr. Laughlin's wealth was estimated at $20,000,000. He was characterized by his associates as a "clean, upright citizen."

The shock to Mrs. Laughlin has prostrated her.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m. from the Laughlin home, the Rev. Maitland Alexander of the First Presbyterian Church, a cousin of Mr. Laughlin by marriage, will officiate. The honorary pallbearers will be banking and industrial men with whom Mr. Laughlin was associated.

President Taft is expected to attend, although Mrs. Taft is reported to be too ill to leave Washington.

It was at the Laughlin home that President Taft last May assembled about him Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin, their two children and Capt. Archibald Butt and was photographed on the lawn at the President's request.

Mr. Laughlin was a member of all the more prominent Pittsburgh clubs, a director in several banking institutions, and assistant treasurer of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company.

In 1907 Thomas O'Conner Jones, another of the junior members of the firm of Jones & Laughlin, was found dead in his rooms at the Hotel Schenley in this city, having shot himself.

Chihuahua Company Will Run Boats from National Railway to Pacific Ocean.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans have been completed by Col. Frank S. Kirkland, secretary of the Balsas Valley Navigation and Improvement Company, for the navigation of the Balsas River, from the bridge of the National Railway to its mouth, on the Pacific Ocean, a distance of 300 miles.

The craft to be operated will be flat-bottomed, stern wheel boats of thirty inches' draught, carrying fifty-seven tons of freight and each boat will tow two barges, capable of carrying 100 tons each. A railroad three miles long will be operated in transferring freight and passengers around the double rapids of San Antonio and Infernillo.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

ROSEBERY IDEA TO THE FRONT.

Would Have Lords Reform Themselves.

Sounds Knell to Hopes of Extremists.

King Steers Absolutely Independent Course.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lord Rosebery will hold the center of the stage next week, and it is predicted by close observers that the introduction of the Rosebery-Curzon-Newton project for the voluntary reconstruction of the House of Lords by itself will sound the death knell of the scheme of the Radical extremists to efface the veto by jamming a bill through Parliament with the co-operation of the King.

Those who forecast such an outcome do not assert that the reforms in the second chamber demanded by all parties will become effective on the precise line of the Rosebery plan. What they expect is that as soon as the electors, especially those in feudal England, find peers of such eminence and such conflicting views as to most subjects uniting to bring into existence an efficient second chamber on a sound constitutional basis, it will be impossible for the extremists to get a public hearing.

This view is regarded as fantastical by the Irish and the Laborites, who continue to prod Mr. Asquith; the former bidding him, in Redmond's language, "not to delay until kicked again to the constituencies by the peers," and the latter declaring in the language of Hardie, "if we had our way not a penny should be voted for the public service until the power of the Lords had been broken forever."

In more discreet radical circles, however, a distinct pessimism finds cautious expression. The feeling is that the Lords have won the toss for position—a tactical advantage—and that the government has missed a splendid opportunity to force the fighting.

King Edward, before starting for the continent, is said to have remarked to a prominent politician that "the estates of the realm are all getting a wholesome shaking up and will be more vigorous than ever after it is over."

He has shown extraordinary interest in the constitutional crisis, and it is no secret that he has taken a strong independent course in dealing with his official advisers and consulting freely with the leaders of the opposition.

In this respect he has gone, it is alleged, far beyond the precedent set by Victoria. He considers himself the foremost defender of the constitution as well as the personal representative of the whole people, and, as the story goes, he has declared repeatedly of late that he feels entirely competent to reconcile the two obligations.

CHEAP, TOO.

AIRSHIP TOURS FOR AMERICANS.

GERMAN COMPANY WILL CATER TO GLOBE-TROTTERS.

Plans to Make Aerial Trip Regular Feature of European Summer Tourist Travel—Needs Yankee Patronage—Hamburg to Heligoland for $25 Round Trip.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] American tourists soon will come to regard an airship tour as one of the regular features of a programme of summer travel in Europe if the expectations of the founders of the new Hamburg airship line are realised.

The promoters of the enterprize recognize that the financial prospects of the venture can be improved greatly if proper efforts are made to interest Americans. Aërial excursions are to be arranged, therefore, with a special view of capturing the custom of travelers from the United States. One of the German steamship companies is contributing to the support of the enterprise on that understanding.

The new aërial liners will have cabins holding twenty persons each and the rooms will be equipped in luxurious style. According to the computation of Prof. Hergesell, the aëronaut, the fares, owing to the low cost of construction and operation, can be lower than has been heretofore supposed. It is estimated, for example, that a trip from Hamburg to Heligoland can be made for 100 marks ($25,) and passengers can travel an entire day, going as far as Berlin or Copenhagen.

PARIS, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mme. Steinheil, whose trial for the murder of her husband and stepmother, and whose acquittal created a sensation on two continents, will soon go on the stage. Her wonderful voice, with which she thrilled the audiences at her trial, will be heard in a music hall here. Mme. Steinheil was in Paris the other day. She was compelled to come from London to answer a settlement of her husband's estate, which she is to divide with her daughter, who has refused persistently to see her since her trial. When Madame Steinheil was here her daughter would not go to the lawyer's office for a conference, nor would she receive her mother at her home.

FISHER FOLK SEE THE KING.

Enjoy Royal Visit for First Time in Several Hundred Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRONDHJEM, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] King Haakon has arrived here on the cruiser Noringe after a successful and interesting trip to the Fofoten Islands, where the fisher folk enjoyed a royal visit for the first time in several hundred years. His Majesty shook hands with many of them, inquired into their life and inspected the hospitals. He saw hundreds of boats engaged in fishing operations in the open sea.

ON ANXIOUS SEAT.

CRITICAL STAGE REACHED IN RAILROAD CONTROVERSY.

Admissions Are Made That Question of Strike Which Would Practically Tie Up All Roads Between Chicago and the Pacific Coast Will Be Settled Within the Next Forty-eight Hours—Hopes of Arbitration.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 12.—Admissions were made on both sides tonight that the controversy between 30,000 firemen operating on 150,000 miles of railroads West, Northwest and Southwest of here, and the railroad managers had become critical and that the question of a strike, tying up practically all the systems between here and the Pacific Coast, would be settled within forty-eight hours.

President W. S. Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, on behalf of the firemen, today sent to the General Managers' Committee of the railroads a request for a clear statement of the employers' position. The brotherhood asked for information on three points, viz.:

Increased wage scale, which the railroads say would amount to an increase of 22½ per cent.; but which the firemen say would only equal 12½ per cent.

The right of the union to represent the fireman after he has been promoted either to be an engineman or to any other capacity.

The right of the union to have authority in questions of seniority, or the promotion of old-time employés.

In previous negotiations the brotherhood said it was willing to submit the wage question to arbitration under the Erdman act, provided the other two points were settled without the aid of a third party.

ANSWER SENT.

It was announced by the General Managers' Committee tonight that an answer was ordered sent to President Carter, denying this request and leaving it to the union, despite its "strike vote," to take what future course they think best. The answer, it was said, possibly will reach Mr. Carter tomorrow. It is said the recent vote showing more than 80 per cent. of the men to be against accepting the offer of the railroads would enable the national officers to call a strike at any time.

Negotiations have been on for six weeks. About forty-seven western railroads are involved. If a strike were called, it is said, 25,000 other employés would be forced to quit work.

At today's meeting ten general managers were present. At the close of the session a member of the committee said:

"Although we confidently hope to reach an agreement on arbitration, the situation is most critical. In face of the so-called strike vote, we have told the men we will not grant the two points they ask for before submitting the wage dispute to arbitration.

"A strike now certainly would not be wise. We do not wish to alarm the business interests of the country and we shall exert every influence to induce the brotherhood to continue to act in a friendly spirit. We trust the whole matter will be settled by Monday."

OPTIMISTIC.

O. L. Dickeson, assistant to the president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, gave out a formal statement as follows:

"We believe the public need have no fear of a suspension of business on account of a great railroad strike. We have offered to arbitrate under the government law placed on the statute books at the instance of organized labor, the wage question.

"Three other labor organizations have recently accepted arbitration and another important railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, has just succeeded in adjusting its differences with the trainmen by mediation. There is no reason to believe that another intelligent body of men we have endeavored to deal fairly with is going to act hastily."

OBITUARY.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 12.—Charles N. Brooks, formerly part owner and an editor of the Kansas City Journal, died at his home here last night, aged 76.

James O'Connor.

LONDON, March 12.—James O'Connor, Nationalist member of the House of Commons for the west division of Wicklow since 1898, died today. He was born in 1836.

Edward F. Cost.

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—Edward F. Cost, president of the Midland Securities Company, organized by John W. Gates and associates, died today.

Bishop Henry W. Spellmeyer.

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) March 12.—Bishop Henry W. Spellmeyer of St. Louis, who was here presiding over the annual New Jersey Methodist Episcopal conference, died suddenly at the hotel Dennis today. Death was due to heart disease. Bishop Spellmeyer was not feeling well last night and told friends he did not expect to attend today's session of the conference. When he failed to appear about the hotel inquiries were made for him and the manager went to his room. The door was forced open and the body was found lying partly on the bed, partly on the floor. It is thought that when he felt the heart attack coming on, he tried to summon assistance but died before reaching the room telephone. The news of his death created contamination in the conference, which was adjourned for the day. Bishop Neely of New Orleans will preside over the remaining session of the conference. Bishop Henry Spellmeyer was born in New York, November 25, 1848. He was a graduate of the New York University and Union Theological Seminary. He married Matilda M. W. Smith at Haverstraw, N. Y., who survives him. Bishop Spellmeyer held pastorates in Newark, N. J., and vicinity for thirty-five years. He was elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1904. His official residence was in St. Louis.

Also a magnificent collection of Indian rugs from the Navajo reservation.

This collection, the largest and finest ever shown in California, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder; sale opens Monday at 10:30 a.m. 342 S. Spring st.

RAILROAD RECORD.

PENSION LIST HERE TO STAY.

Railroads Decide Experiment Is a Success.

Employees Not as Grateful as Expected.

System to Be Extended Rapidly as Possible.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The plan of pensioning superannuated railroad employés of American railroads has come to stay. After years of experiment in the line of pensioning, the railroads of this country have accepted it as a thing beneficial both to their employés and the corporations for which they work.

Despite the fact that pension systems are rapidly being extended to additional roads, it is doubtful if railroad employés regard the efforts of the railroads in this direction with the degree of gratitude which was expected.

When pension systems were first considered railroad officials thought that if they took care of their old and disabled employés it would create a better feeling between labor and capital, and that this would result in more considerate treatment of railroad corporations by labor organizations. If such a result is being built up, it is under the surface, and has not yet been manifested.

Notwithstanding this fact and irrespective of the attitude of employés, railroad managements everywhere have decided to establish pension systems as rapidly as possible.

According to the latest estimates obtainable there are 674,259 railroad employés in the United States in line for pensions. This is about 40 per cent. of the total number of railroad employés in this country. Thirteen railroads report that 4659 men drew pensions aggregating $914,695.10 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907.

A number of railroads have had unofficial pension systems for many years. Among these is the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the New York Central, which granted pensions before it inaugurated its official plan on January 1, 1910. The officials in charge of the pension department of the New York Central, with its 125,000 employés, estimate that the inauguration of the new plan will add 1500 to 2000 men a year to the number already drawing pensions.

In every case, the pension fund is supported exclusively by the company, the employés not contributing thereto. The pensions are given for superannuation and disability.

DOLLAR BILL A GERM FEAST.

Ninety-two Million of Them Are Found on One Piece of Currency.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Germs—92,000,000 of them—of manifold variety—were found on a one-dollar bill microscopically examined at the request of Representative Wiley of New Jersey, according to his statement today before the House Committee on banking and currency, in support of his bill to provide clean currency by burning all paper money returned to the Treasury. Among the many diseases found to be circulating about this money were smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid, tuberculosis and diphtheria. No germs were found on metal money.

REVENUES INCREASE. N. Y. CENTRAL REPORTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—Indicative of the business revival during 1909, the annual statement of the Vanderbilt lines, issued yesterday, shows the revenues of the New York Central increased from $83,379,543 in 1908 to $93,171,846. The cost of operation shows an increase of only $3,304,522. The total income from the property from all sources after all deductions was $13,695,420. After the payment of dividends there was a surplus of $4,763,821. The road made a profit of $1,354,410 on its sale of the capital stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio to the Hawley interests.

What Happen

DISMISSED.

AVALANCHE JURY HANGS.

Three Would Hold Canadian Pacific Responsible.

Seventy-eight Bodies Recovered at Wellington.

Northern Pacific Gets First Trains Through.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 12.—Unable to agree upon a verdict, the Coroner's jury in the case of the Rogers Pass avalanche, which killed sixty-three men, was dismissed today. Some other judicial inquiry will be held. Three of the six jurymen wished to bring in a verdict of negligence against the Canadian Pacific Railway.

SEVENTY-EIGHT TAKEN OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, March 12.—Seventy identified and eight unidentified bodies had been taken from the Wellington avalanche ruins late this afternoon, and the bodies of eleven passengers and six trainmen were still in the ruins, or among the unidentified dead. The Great Northern Railroad adheres to its total of ninety-five dead.

A body labeled "L. Ross," because papers bearing that name were found near by, is supposed to be that of a railroad laborer.

The first east-bound train over the Great Northern main line in eighteen days departed for St. Paul today, and was well patronized, there being a desire to pass in daylight through the vale of horror, where an army of men is still searching in snow and wreckage for bodies.

The snow fighters broke through the last drift west of Wellington last night and today the Great Northern Railroad resumed its regular train service across the continent. The passengers on the overland train that passes through Wellington this afternoon can look out of the windows and see the laborers in the avalanche gulch digging for bodies.

From this time on most of the bodies recovered will not be identified, probably. There are supposed to be fourteen passengers and six railroad men in the snow. The railroad men's bodies will be readily identified by comrades and sent to Everett. The other bodies will be shipped to Seattle.

Two bodies recovered yesterday have been identified as those of A. Boles of Maberly, Ontario, a passenger, and Fireman W. A. Raycroft.

WRONG LADY GETS CHECKS.

GIRL AND MOTHER ARE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Accused of Misappropriating Two Dividend Checks Sent by Mail to Another Party—Flimsy Excuse. Charges Preferred and Couple Admitted to Bail in San Francisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, March 12.—Miss Eleanor Bailey, aged 16, a telephone operator, and Mrs. W. H. Fuller, her mother, who were arrested yesterday, by Deputy United States Marshal Kiernan, upon a charge of wilfully appropriating two checks from a mis-directed letter received by Miss Bailey, were given their liberty today on $600 bail each. The charges were preferred before Commissioner Heacock, in San Francisco, by Postoffice Inspector Warren.

A short time ago W. Eckhardt, cashier of the Pacific Grove Bank, mailed two dividend checks amounting to $40 to Miss E. Bailey of this city, who resides on Second street. She did not receive the checks and an inquiry was started which revealed the fact that the letter had been received by the telephone girl, and that the checks had been cashed by her mother, one at Bloom's shoe store, and the other at the Black Package Company.

When questioned by the officers, the daughter stated that her mother was in Santa Rosa when the letter arrived. She opened the letter, her initials also being "E. H.," and then tore up the envelope and kept the checks. When her mother arrived she turned the checks over to her.

The mother stated she had friends in Monterey who owed her money and she believed the checks were from them. She refused to disclose the names of her friends.

CHINESE MURDER TRIAL. SENTENCE IS FOR LIFE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Imprisonment for life in Folsom prison was the sentence imposed today by Judge Dunne on Gee Gong, convicted of the murder of Yee Yut Wo, during the tong war in Chinatown last November. In passing sentence, the Judge took occasion to say he was convinced the first trial of Gee Gong resulted in a disagreement of the jury solely because bribery had been resorted to by friends of the defendant. He also scored the police for permitting the Chinese to carry on a murderous feud war in the heart of the city. Notice of appeal from the sentence was given, and a stay of execution granted.

VOTING COMMITTEE NAMED. PLANS FOR BIG EXPOSITION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—By accepting a report submitted by the Committee on organization, the directors of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, to be held here in 1915, cleared the way yesterday for decisive action in preparing for the big fair. One of the important matters accomplished was the creation of a voting trust committee of members, whose important duty will be to maintain the original organization up to the close of the exposition. This committee, which consists of F. W. Dohrmann, W. J. Dutton, Leon Sloss, Capt. A. H. Payson and C. Grant, will cast the vote of the stockholders at the annual meeting of the directors.

WEDS SOLDIER TO WIN BET.

Woman Tries to Prove She Could Be Happy With Son of Mars. Failed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 12. [Exclusive Dispatch.] Marrying a soldier on a bet did not prove profitable for Mrs. Matilda Wharton. She "took a dare" and married Gerald B. Wharton. In telling the story of her poor luck, in the Circuit Court yesterday, Mrs. Wharton said she lived only five weeks with her soldier boy, who is now listed among the deserters. "I never really loved my husband," she said, "but we were married as a result of a bet which a friend offered and I took that I could not marry and live happily with a soldier. I thought I could be happy with Mr. Wharton and I wanted to win the bet, so I married him. I see my mistake now."

FOR CALIFORNIA.

EXPOSITION CONFERENCE.

SANTA BARBARA CHAMBER VOTES TO ISSUE CALL.

Good Way Adopted for Settling the Controversy Between San Francisco and San Diego as to Location of Panama Canal Fair—Early Date Set.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce today took the initiative in settling the controversy between San Diego and San Francisco, which has threatened to spoil all chances of California's securing the Panama Canal World's Fair.

The chamber adopted the suggestion made by J. F. Sartori in the Los Angeles Times and backed up by many Los Angeles business men, that a conference of delegates from the State's principal commercial bodies be held to thrash the matter out. The idea is that the success or failure of the movement to land the fair in this State is an all-California matter and local rivalries should not interfere. It has been plain for some time that Congress would not listen to California if two cities should continue their quarrel, but would insist that the State should first settle its own differences and make a united appeal.

Accordingly, the local Chamber of Commerce has called the suggested conference to meet here. This morning the directors decided the matter, voting to call a convention of three delegates from each of the larger commercial and civic bodies all over the State, to meet at the Potter Hotel here Tuesday afternoon, March 22, to settle the dispute.

This action was taken at a special meeting called at the request of Fred W. Swanton, owner of the Santa Cruz Beach pavilion, and Joseph T. Brooks, secretary of the San José Chamber of Commerce, who went before the directors with the representation that New Orleans is after the exposition and California is likely to lose Congressional support unless the quarrel is settled at once.

The directors divided, 8 to 5, in the vote to call the convention. Director McComber accused Swanton and Brooks of representing San Francisco, but they declared themselves impartial. A committee of five was appointed to issue the call at once. Swanton agreed to meet all expense incident to the call.

It is expected that seventy-five or 100 bodies will be represented in the gathering. Neither the San Diego nor the San Francisco bodies had any part in today's action.

SAN DIEGO BALKS. COLLIER IS FIERCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN DIEGO, March 12.—The call from Santa Barbara for a conference of the commercial bodies of the State to settle the question of California's exposition was received in San Diego tonight with astonishment.

Col. D. C. Collier, director-general of the Panama-California Exposition Company, presided over a called meeting of the local organization, and at its close issued the following statement:

"On behalf of San Diego, we are ready to say tonight that we will not go into any convention framed or programmed to confer this exposition on San Francisco as a free gift. We are prepared to say tonight that San Diego will hold an exposition irrespective of any action taken by any conference of commercial bodies in or out of Santa Barbara.

"Occurrences of the past fortnight, of which we have a complete record, have prepared us for the action taken today at Santa Barbara.

"Long ago we recognized that San Francisco was willing to win by fair means or foul, and here, where we have devoted our attention to financial stability, and not to undue influence, little attention has been paid to State politics. We have not sought to locate complacent tools in neighboring cities. It has been our intent to raise a substantial guarantee and proceed with the definite plans we have outlined."

LIVE STOCK SCARCE. MEAT PRICES ADVANCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, March 12.—Seattle faces a sharp advance in the price of meat. Prices of smoked and boiled ham, bacon, mutton, lamb and probably beef are scheduled to rise Monday morning. The new price lists, which will be put into the mails today, will show a full cent advance on several kinds of bacon and a half cent advance on smoked and boiled hams.

The new list will quote the best hams approximately 6 cents higher than last April, when the prices were lowest, and since which the tendency has been upward. The advance since April approximates 50 per cent.

Local packers say the increase in price is made necessary by the scarceness of live stock at the northwestern markets.

TENACITY.

SEA GIVES UP SIX VICTIMS.

Dauntless Crew of Farallon Wreck Found.

They Tell Story of Terrible Sufferings.

Revenue Cutter Finds Them After Long Search.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, March 12.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Seward, Alaska, says:

Worn and exhausted by almost incredible hardships and bearing the indelible marks of weeks of battling with the icy gales they encountered, four of the dauntless crew of six men who, on January 7, left the wreck of the Farallon in Cook Inlet in a small row boat, and undertook the desperate task of rowing to Kodiak to procure relief for their companions, were brought into Seward just before midnight on the revenue cutter Tahoma, which for almost three weeks has been searching for them. The Tahoma also brings word that two remaining members of the crew are alive and well.

The four men on the Tahoma are Mate Gus Swanson, Charles Peterson, seaman; Otto Nelson, seaman; Albert Bailey, passenger en route to Kodiak.

The remaining members are Charles Bourne of Afognak, who is now at Kafliar Bay, and Capt. Wedding, master of the launch Sea Wolf, remained at Kodiak to take charge of his craft.

Officers of the Tahoma report terrific gales during almost the entire time the tug was on the search. The cutter left Seattle February 8, under orders to make a search of the islands scattered through Cook Inlet, in the hope that the men had made camp on some sheltered shore.

On March 7, as the cutter was leaving Karluk Straits, the schooner Mattie from Uyak was spoken, and from this schooner it was learned that the boat party had been at Uyak, leaving there two days previous in a dory, headed for Afognak. The Tahoma put on full speed and reaching Afognak, found the men there the evening of March 7. The vessel then proceeded to Kodiak, where Pilot Brown was dropped. Wedding also left the Tahoma there.

STORY OF COURAGE.

From the men brought to Seward, a story of hardship and suffering, together with dogged courage almost beyond belief, is gathered. The little party of six left the wreck at 11 o'clock on the morning of January 7, with a light wind, north by northwest. This increased during the night to a gale that compelled the men to beach the boat at Ursus Cove, where they camped until morning.

At daylight, with a light northeast wind and a heavy snowstorm, they left Urusus Cove, only to have the wind suddenly veer around to the northwest and fast reach the proportions of a gale. At every interval that could be snatched from the toil at the oars, the men were compelled to keep bailing out the boat. With the heavy sea that was running, the little craft was fast becoming a mass of ice and sinking under the weight it carried.

All six men were drenched through and through with the spray, which, in turn, froze to ice, until they resembled animate icebergs. At sundown the boat reached a little shelter off Cape Douglas, but at the same time, ran into a mass of heavy pack ice, which soon had the boat in a sinking condition. They managed to reach dry land at Cape Douglas, but not until the boat had sunk under them with nearly all the provisions it carried.

The water, fortunately, was shallow, and after wading to their armpits in the icy water, they managed to reach the shore ice. By this time it had grown dark and a howling gale was blowing. Swanson, according to the others, lost all courage and threw himself on the ice, crying that he was freezing. Nelson was snowblind and only able to grope his way about. Wedding was so cramped with rheumatism as to be hardly capable of motion.

At daylight the party manged to reach the cliff above the thatch, and there a makeshift tent was rigged up and a fire kindled. All were terribly frostbitten. The wind again increased to a blizzard, and, huddled together, lying flat on the frozen ground, they passed the next thirty-eight hours.

When the wind moderated somewhat they set off down the beach, and only two miles from where they had spent the night, found the camp of Michael Pablov, a trapper, with a schooner hauled out on the beach.

No amount of persuasion would induce Pablov to attempt crossing the straits. Two hundred dollars was offered him, but this he refused, declaring the attempt meant certain death, as he well knew the fury of those waters in a storm.

THE NEXT START.

Pablov, however, deprived himself of provisions to share with the men up to the time he left them. The party of six remained at the trappers' camp stormbound until February 7, when they started out once more.

Bailey led the way to Kaguak, along the beach, with Swanson, and Peterson. Bourne and Wedding, who were unable to walk, followed in a native bidarka.

Shortly after leaving the camp Nelson again became snowblind and became separated from his companions, and though they retraced their steps to search for him, it was not until the next morning that they found him.

Reaching Kaguak the party found an old skiff, which they dug out of the snow and in this made their way to Kafliar Bay, living the entire time since leaving the trapper, on whale oil and dried fish flour. At Kafliar they managed to kill a seal and this furnished the first semblance of fresh meat that had passed their lips since leaving the Farallon.

Here they decided to make an attempt to cross the straits and in a sixteen-foot boat four and a half-foot beam, and only sixteen inches high, they started, Bourne, however, refusing to take the risk, and was left with the natives. They made the start February 22, at 6 o'clock at night. The weather was calm and the sea smooth and again a gale sprang up and they just managed to make land at Cape Ugat, their boat being wrecked.

Near where they made camp, an old native bidarka was found, and after more hardship and sufferings they made their way in this to Uganek village. There they remained, stormbound, until March 5, when in a dory, with two natives, they made Afognak, where the Tahoma found them.

The Tahoma with the four men, leaves Seward for Seattle on Sunday.

LOUISE A. HEWITT AT RENO.

Daughter of Prominent Long Island Family Quietly Files Suit for a Divorce.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louise A. Hewitt, who was formerly the beautiful Louise Van Nostrand, daughter of one of the most prominent, old and wealthy Long Island families, today filed an action for divorce in the District Court, alleging cruelty on the part of her husband, Frederick O. Hewitt.

The complaint is sealed and the nature of the allegations are not obtainable at this time. The complaint is lengthy, and, according to the statement of her attorney, occupies ten typewritten pages, containing very sensational charges.

Mrs. Hewitt's husband is a grand nephew of former Mayor Hewitt of New York City, a son-in-law of Peter Cooper, the great philanthropist. The Van Nostrands, of which family Mrs. Hewitt is a daughter, occupy a prominent social position at Hempstead, L. I. The parties were married at Hempstead May 7, 1903.

William H. Schnitzer is attorney for Mrs. Hewitt. His presence in Reno became known only today upon the filing of these papers, so quietly and obscure has she lived for the last six months. It is said that none but her attorney knew her identity, she having assumed a fictitious name.

It is hinted that this action will be bitterly contester by her husband when the case comes to trial. All property rights have been already adjusted before she departed from New York.

BREAKS LOOSE.

GUSHES AGAIN FOR FEW HOURS.

OIL SURGES FROM MAYS WELL IN GREAT COLUMN.

Spray Blackens the Country for a Radius of Mile and Half—Hole Bridges Once More After Spectacular Display—Is Expected to Furnish More Excitement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Mays Oil Company's well on section 30, 31-22, which had been sanded up since its spectacular four hours' performance on Friday a week ago, broke loose this morning at 11 o'clock and from then until 6 p.m., it gushed at the rate of 30,000 barrels per day, shooting the oil 200 feet above the derrick and blackening the country with oil spray for a radius of a mile and a half.

At 6 o'clock the well bridged again, but it is expected it will begin to flow again of its own accord. The flow this morning started with a great rush of gas that tore away a T that had been fastened on the top of the casing and wrecked a large part of the interior of the derrick. The oil surged up in a great column that lowered and heightened with the pulsation of the gas pressure. For the most part the oil fell back into the sump holes that had been prepared for it and was pumped first into tanks and then into the Standard's six-inch pipe line, which had been laid to the well since its first outbreak. The column of oil was visible for many miles in all directions, and during the afternoon no less than twenty auto loads of sight-seers, many of them with cameras, visited the scene.

Since the well sanded up last week the Mays has been getting ready for such an outbreak as that of today and except for the fact that the T placed on the casing was not strong enough to hold the pressure everything was in fairly good shape. The oil has been sold to the Standard for 65 cents a barrel on daily runs. It is understood that no amount has been contracted. The Mays well has created the greatest of interest among oil men all over the State since it made its first great showing, and the general impression is that it will furnish more cause for excitement before it settles down to steady business.

COAST TO RAISE RICE.

Agricultural Expert Starts Experimental Work in San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the special object of making an extensive investigation, and determining whether or not rice can be grown with success in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, Charles E. Chambliss of the United States Department of Agriculture arrived in Stockton today. He will begin experiments at once, and with the assistance of Richard R. Smith, who has taken an active interest in rice culture, with some degree of success, the government expert hopes to give the land owners something tangible to work upon.

Mr. Chamiiss made partial investigation in the Sacramento Valley last year, and will complete his experiments there also. In an interview he said:

"I think rice would be better commercially than wheat, and would press barley pretty close. The element of labor is one that must be considered, however. I find that the Chinese are the best for rice culture. Neither the whites nor the Japanese are good for this class of work.

"As for conditions in the San Joaquin Valley, I believe there may be a variety of rice that would do well here. The soil conditions are all right, but the chief drawback is the sudden climatic variations. I have found a variation of 40 deg. in twenty-four hours. Rice requires a pretty even temperature."

POSTMASTER STANDS PAT.

Uncle Sam Changes His Mind About Firing Official for a Technical Irregularity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Uncle Sam has changed his mind about firing the postmaster of this city, John Magee. His term does not expire until next December, but the Washington authorities notified his bondsmen several weeks ago to select another postmaster.

This they refused to do. Magee's removal was determined upon because of a report by a postoffice inspector charging irregularity in the money-order department of the office. The fact is that the irregularity was only a technical one, and amounted to nothing except in the eyes of the inspector. To facilitate the transfer of a money-order and by request, Magee had indorsed it without the least intent of doing anything criminal or against regulations. After the demand on his bondsman a deadlock ensued for several weeks. Word has now been received from Congressman McKinlay that the Department has consented to permit Magee to finish his term.

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for the building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that would make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result. I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable successes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just 30 pounds during the last month and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

POOR JUDGMENT.

MEETS DEATH UNDER AUTO.

Woman Killed When Machine Turns Turtle.

Six Other Persons Sustain Injuries.

Chauffeur Tried to Avoid Striking Dog.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 12.—A heavy automobile containing seven persons, going to the Hamilton aviation meet, was overturned on the plank road south of this city this afternoon. Mrs. Walter Dresser of Vancouver, B.C., aged twenty-three, was instantly killed and the other occupants injured, none fatally. Mrs. Dresser was the wife of an insurance agent of Vancouver, where her family is prominent. She was the guest of Mrs. B. L. Gates, wife of a local jeweler and owner of the automobile. The others in the automobile were:

Mrs. W. H. Parsons, wife of the vice-president of the Washington Trust Company, severely shaken, scalp wound.

Mrs. Gates, arm broken, bruised.

Miss Genevieve Van Winkle, aged fifteen, niece of Mrs. Gates, wrist broken.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Webster, slightly bruised.

E. Hill, chauffeur, slightly bruised.

The car, which was moving rapidly, was about to strike a dog in the road and the chauffeur made a turn to avoid the dog. The machine skidded and turned turtle, pinning Mrs. Dresser underneath, killing her and throwing the others clear or imprisoning them.

MAKES WILL IN EIGHT WORDS.

Alaskan, Dying from Frost Bite, Leaves Laconic Message—Gives Goods to Indians.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Freezing his feet and dying in an Alaska wilderness from lack of attention, Martin C. Harrison, Klondike pioneer, left a will of eight words, reading: "Am dying. Let natives have my stuff. Good-by."

Harrison froze his feet while going from Tanana Crossing to his camp on Nebesna River. Indians on the Nebesna and Upper White rivers had required his help in erecting log buildings for their use. A blizzard came up, and during the blinding storm he broke through a small stream, freezing both lower limbs. Harrison was 200 miles distant from medical attention, and wrote the note quoted when he felt himself dying, and which was found in his pocket.

Harrison had been employed as special agent for the North American Transportation and Trading Company on the Upper Yukon, and lately had located a valuable copper claim on Nebesna and White rivers. Harrison's family, living at Seattle, had been without tidings of him for months.

Solomon Albert, former partner of Harrison, left Dawson with a dog team to succor Harrison, upon learning that the latter had met with an accident. Harrison died before Albert reached him. Relatives of Albert are now anxious regarding his safety.

"MAN MONKEY" BURNED. DRUNK SETS HIM AFIRE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 12.—Harry Blitz, known as "a man monkey," in this city, Seattle, Los Angeles and several other places, was severely burned in an encounter with an alleged intoxicated man last night. Edward Woods, who apparently became incensed at Blitz's assertion that he was a fire eater, procured a bottle of gasoline and threw it over Blitz, igniting it almost the same instant. Woods is under arrest. Blitz will recover.

Gasoline Schooner Wrecked.

EUREKA, March 12.—The nine-ton gasoline schooner, Lady Mine, owned by Capt. Kruger, was wrecked this afternoon while crossing Humboldt bar, on her way from this port to Smith River. The crew was rescued by the men of the life-saving station.

Breakers Claim Victim.

SEASIDE (Or.) March 12.—The breakers off this beach claimed in death yesterday, G. Schultz of Milwaukee, and almost took the life of Myle Hurlburt of New Elizabeth, Wis. The men were sailing in a small boat, and attempted to make a landing. Their boat was overturned. Schultz sank almost immediately, but Hurlburt was washed ashore, and lay all night and Friday unconscious. He will recover.

Woman Becomes Citizen.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—In order that she might take the civil service test for an army trained nurse, Miss Kate Colby was today made a citizen of the United States by the Circuit Court. Miss Colby has been in this country since 1872, and she assured the court that she had been under the impression that she was already a citizen until she attempted to qualify for the civil service. She is the first woman naturalized in many years by the Federal Court here.

DIVORCES PLAYWRIGHT.

Wife Accuses J. Allen Lowe With Improper Conduct With Actress Maud Francis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mary S. Lowe today got from Justice Giegerich, in special term of the Supreme Court, a final decree of absolute divorce from her husband, J. Allen Lowe.

She testified that he was a playwright until 1903, when he became the secretary and general manager of a pure water company.

Mrs. Lowe says her husband wrote a number of plays among which were "The Defender" and "The Isle of Spice."

She set forth in her complaint, filed by her lawyer, that Lowe was guilty of improper conduct with Maud Francis, an actress, and that he lived with her in 1905 and 1906 in the Hotel Cambridge Court, and subsequently in Hotel Carleton.

OST DRASTIC CHANGE MADE.

endment to Administration Railroad Bill.

poses Handicap in Mergers of Properties.

nate Committee Hopes to Report Bill Soon.

SOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ASHINGTON, March 12.—The ad- istration railroad bill was today nded in the Senate Committee on mmerce so as to make commercial market valuation of railroad prop- es by the Interstate Commerce mmission a condition precedent to merging, consolidation or reorgan- ion of roads subject to the Inter- te Commerce law. This change, one the most drastic yet made, opens doors only to valuation of prop- es whose merger is contemplated. committee has not, by this action, orced the various schemes for phys- valuation of all railroad properties accordance with many bills intro- ced in both houses of Congress.

he amendment imposes a handicap such consolidations as the Harriman rger of the Union and Southern Pa- c lines.

he bill, in section 14, authorizes a combinations, in cases of reor- nization, consolidation or merging two or more railroads, to issue ck or bonds up to the par value of welded corporations.

t was contended today that to per- t the managers of mergers to issue cks or bonds up to the par value securities of the two roads would rk an injustice and would result in ing the public to pay dividends on tered stocks.

he committee amended materially section prescribing conditions un- r which a railroad corporation may quire the stocks or bonds of an- her and non-competing railroad by issue of its own stocks and bonds. Representative Washburn of Massa- usetts offered an amendment provid- that the Interstate Commerce mmission shall supervise the issue stocks and bonds and fix the prices which they shall be offered for sale. is amendment and others were not ted upon.

The committee hopes to report the ll to the House next week.

CORPORATIONS PAY TAX.

EVENUE TO EXCEED ESTIMATE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Approxi- ately 300,000 corporations, amenable the corporation tax of 1 per cent. net incomes, above $5000, have made turns to the Internal Revenue Bu- au. Additional returns are expected swell the number to 325,000, which ill be in keeping with the estimate ade by the officials before the law came operative. There are 409,000 rporations listed in the United ates, but a large number have for me time been generally regarded as ead" and existing in name only. It now generally believed from the re- rts of collectors thus far at hand, at the estimate of $25,000,000 venue from the corporation tax this ar, may be exceeded slightly.

THEATER BARS MARINES.

anagement Tells Navy Department It Objects to Sweater and Riding Clothes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Two nited States marines, in uniform, ere denied admission to a local the- ter last night. The man at the door prevented their entering, and handed them back the money they had paid for their tickets."

Explanations were demanded, but were not given. The marines denied admission were Corp. Edward Powell and Private Samuel B. Atgas of the U.S.S. Mayflower.

The refusal of admission to the marines was not the first of its kind which had occurred recently at the same theater.

A conference was held yesterday between the proprietor and officers of the Navy Department. The proprietor told the officers that he excluded the men under a rule of the theater prohibiting admission of persons conspicuously dressed. He said:

"Even President Taft would be excluded if he applied for admission dressed in a sweater and riding clothes.'"

Patriotic societies have made an issue of the matter, and further conferences are to be held pending possible action on the part of the excluded sailors.

BREAKERS AHEAD.

THINK IT'S BID FOR POPULARITY.

ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION TO BE FOUGHT HARD.

Attorney-General Is Said to Have Characterized Move as "Brazen Effrontery"—Department Ridicules Idea Charity Charter and Standard Oil Trust Are Merely Coincident.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although reported favorably from the Senate Committee, the Gallinger bill chartering the Rockefeller Foundation will encounter much opposition. For ten days it has been whispered about in administration circles that Mr. Rockefeller had the bill introduced with the announcement that his money is to be devoted to philanthropic work, for the express purpose of creating popular sentiment favorable to himself and the Standard Oil Company, and he has been denounced for taking this action on the eve of the consideration by the Supreme Court of the suit to dissolve that corporation.

Atty.-Gen. Wickersham is one of Mr. Rockefeller's most severe critics. He has made no public statement, but he is said to have characterized Mr. Rockefeller's action as "brazen effrontery" and "outrageous audacity."

The matter has been called to President Taft's attention and it has been predicted that he will not sign the bill. So far as learned he has expressed no opinion on which such a prediction might be based.

This opposition to the Gallinger bill, originating in the Department of Justice, which has been fighting the Standard for four years, has been kept under cover until the publication of a letter to the editor of the Waukegan, Ill. Gazette, expressing Mr. Rockefeller's pleasure at that paper's favorable mention of the project.

This letter is pointed to as absolute confirmation of the charge that Mr. Rockefeller is making a bid for popular applause and is encouraging and stimulating expressions of approval in the press and pulpit in all parts of the country.

At the Department of Justice nothing but ridicule greets the suggestion that the petition to Congress was merely coincident with the Supreme Court trial. Nothing in Mr. Rockefeller's long career, it is said, warrants the suggestion that he ever does anything that is not carefully studied, planned and timed.

MAY VIOLATE CUSTOM.

Will Speaker Cannon Appoint "Insurgent" as Chairman of Committee on Foreign Affairs?

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Whether Speaker Cannon will follow custom in such cases and appoitn as a successor to the late Representative Perkins as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, Representative Foster of Vermont, ranking member and a "near-insurgent," or name a "regular" is a question many members of the House are discussing.

The senior Republican member of the Foreign Affairs Committee is Representative Foster, but, for some time, he has been restive and has shown inclination to leave the party reservation. Recently in a speech in the House he declared that New England and his district in Vermont were opposed to "Cannonism."

The custom in the House is that members of the committees succeed to the chairmanship in order of their seniority of service, and by this rule Representative Foster would be entitled to the place. Few predict, however, that the Speaker will name Mr. Foster. It is generally believed the choice will fall upon some well-known "regular" member of the committee, and in this connection, Representative Denby of Michigan is favorably mentioned.

COLORED SHERIFF MUSICAL.

He Was Arrested for Joining Trio in Church Meeting—Then He Retaliated.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PRINCETON (Ind.) March 14.—The success of government of, by and for the negro, as exemplified in a colonization of colored people within a municipal organization that they call "Lyles" in this county, has been threatened by a serious division in the community over the question: "Has a citizen the right to do as the spirit moves him musically?"

All the public officers of Lyles are negroes and there is a Law and Order League. At a public assembly held in the church, Deputy Sheriff James Cantrell, colored, whose home is at Lyles, was on hand to see that order was preserved. He sat in a rear pew. Rev. O. W. Bishop, Mrs. Bishop and Clinton Fields sang a trio arranged for soprano, tenor and first bass. Cantrell, being musical and feeling the lack of the ground bass part, joined lustily in the refrain.

The intrusion was resented and words led to blows and Cantrell was arrested by the Lyles Police Department. A jury in the Circuit Court here today decided that Cantrell was within the prerogatives of a citizen when he participated in the singing at the meeting.

Cantrell returned to Lyles and arrested another citizen who had interfered with him.

Arithmetic and Food

School Children Must be Fed Right.

A young girl in Ind. says no one has a better right to speak of Grape-Nuts food than she.

"I was in school, but in poor health, until mamma began to give me Grape-Nuts food. I began to improve at once, both mentally and physically, and I improved so in my work at school that I got 100 in arithmetic and during that time I gained 3 or 4 pounds in weight.

"There is no one has a right to recommend the food more highly than I. Mamma neglected to supply it for about three weeks, and I began to fail in health again, so I commenced the use of the food over, and now I don't intend to do without Grape-Nuts on the table."

It is well for parents to know that Grape-Nuts food contains selected elements from the grains, prepared and cooked in such a way as to present these food elements so that they can be quickly digested and assimilated; the phosphate of potash obtained from the field grains, and contained in Grape-Nuts unites with the albumen of food to quickly rebuild the gray matter in the nerve centers and brain.

It is of the greatest importance that growing children and students be given food that sustains both brain and nerves.

BALLINGER INQUIRY.

NELSON HITS TENDER SPOT.

Pinchot's Attorney Thought He Was Insulted.

Reiteration of Testimony Rasps the Senator.

Engineer Davis Concludes as Witness.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—A sharp clash occurred between Senator Nelson, chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee, and Attorney Pepper, counsel for Gifford Pinchot, near the close of today's session of the inquiry, when Mr. Nelson accused the lawyer with "trifling" with the committee.

White with anger, Mr. Pepper demanded to know if that was the judgment of the committee and when several members exclaimed "Let it pass" he said a reflection which he resented had been cast upon him and he questioned the Senator's right to make such an accusation.

Several times Ballinger wrote letters explaining he had restored various lands to public domain basing his actions on recommenrations of directors of the Reclamation Service. Davis denied that he ever knew of any such advice having been given by a director. Pepper began referring to a number of letters introduced as exhibits along that line when Senator Flint interrupted, declaring all that ground had been covered before.

TOO BUSY FOR TRIFLING.

"We are busy men," he said rather impatiently, "and do not want to waste our time in lisetning to something we have already heard two or three times."

In reply Mr. Pepper said he was leading up to a final question when Chairman Nelson exclaimed: "Counsel must stop trifling with the committee and must not take up the committee's time by submitting testimony already in its hands. Please proceed."

"I am not trifling with the committee," replied Mr. Pepper hotly, "and I resent that reflection from the chairman of the committee. I not will proceed until I am informed whether or not that is the judgment of the committee."

"Oh, let it pass," said several members and Pepper proceeded.

Mr. Pepper was referring to several letters in the record in an endeavor to have Chief Engineer Davis of the Reclamation Service, who was on the stand, refute several statements attributed to Secretary Ballinger to the effect that restorations of certain lands in the West to public entry, after they had been withdrawn under Secretary Garfield, had been made on recommendations of the Reclamation Service. Chairman Nelson thought it was a waste of time to go over ground already covered and objected to the reading of the letters. In each instance in which the question was put the witness replied that Mr. Ballinger had made a misstatement. "Now I have come to the point I was after," said Attorney Pepper.

QUALIFYING.

"At the conclusion of your direct examination this morning you said: 'I want it understood that I do not wish to insinuate in anything that I have said that Secretary Ballinger has intentionally or consciously done a wrong. I do not believe he has.' Will you explain your statement more fully?"

Mr. Davis said he merely meant to disclaim any intimation that Mr. Ballinger had done wrong. He referred only to his acts, he continued, and not his statements, for many of them were wrong. He did not indicate whether he thought Mr. Ballinger had "intentionally or consciously" made a misstatement.

Mr. Davis concluded his testimony before the committee today and was excused at the end of the afternoon session. He flatly contradicted Secretary Ballinger in several statements and said he did not agree on many reclamation matters, although both had been and he hoped still were good friends.

THE BLACK TENT.

The so-called "black tent" affair figured conspicuously in Mr. Davis's testimony. He said that E. T. Perkins, purchasing agent of the Reclamation Service at Chicago, went through the West lecturing in a black tent to advertise reclamation work under orders of Secretary Ballinger. The officials of the service were subsequently informed, he said, that Perkins was getting an allowance of $500 a month from the Harriman railway lines in addition to this $3300 salary.

Mr. Davis said Perkins proved his fidelity to the Harriman lines by shipping 80 per cent. of material from Chicago to Mexa, Ariz., where the Reclamation Service has been engaged in a project by way of their lines which made the longest and most expensive route.

The committee will be in session next Friday and Saturday. It is expected that Director Newell of the Reclamation Service will be called as the next witness.

ALLIANCE IS DENIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND, March 12.—An emphatic denial of the existence of any interest, in the Cunningham coal claims by the Guggenheim syndicate was made today by Clarence Cunningham, under cross-examination in the government inquiry into the Alaskan coal-land claims.

"Have the Guggenheims now or have they had at any time any interest whatever in these claims?" asked William B. Pugh, attorney for the government.

"None, whatever," Mr. Cunningham answered.

"What money, if any, has ever been paid by the Guggenheims in connection with these claims?" he was asked.

"Not one penny."

Mr. Cunningham explained that he had always hoped some way would be found to come to an agreement with the Guggenheims, but that, after a conference at Salt Lake City in 1907, when a tentative agreement was entered into, the opposition of the entrymen was so strong that the idea had to be abandoned.

The question of the much-disputed affidavit which Mr. Cunningham signed, and which was dictated by Louis R. Glavis was again considered in detail. The witness, after stating that some of the clauses of the document were not strictly in accordance with the facts, explained that he had signed it because he was convinced of the friendliness of Mr. Glavis, and trusted him not to put anything into the affidavit which was misleading.

THE TWO TIMES.

Up the coast and down the coast, from ocean to ocean, the two Times lead the newspapers of the United States in volume of advertising—the Los Angeles Times in the advancing Southwest; the Seattle Times in the growing Northwest. Both regions are marvels of prosperity and progression and their favorite newspapers reflect the enterprising spirit of the proud citizens of their respective fields in the healthy business showing they are enabled to make each month, year after year.

The Los Angeles Times printed 4582 columns of paid matter in February; 1263 columns more than the Seattle Times' record of 3319 columns for the same month. The next nearest daily in America, the New York World, published 2938 columns, or over 1600 columns behind the LOS ANGELES TIMES.

Following is a tabulated exhibit showing the amount of paid matter carried by the dozen leading newspapers (each the largest in its home city) of the United States for February, 1910:

ROOSEVELT IS HOST.

once, and then he stopped. "I musn't say 'bully' any more," he continued. "A distinguished critic has said this word is used only by children and ex-Presidents."

The colonel chaffed Mr. Cunningham about his enormous beard, declaring he would have to make his acquaintance over again when it was removed. He promised the hunter the freedom of New York, provided he had sufficient influence with the police authorities.

The colonel talked amusedly of the letters which penetrated even to mid-Africa from strangers desiring him to send such trifles as a water baby, a 200-pound live snake, tigers' claws for shrines, and pink baby elephants, "not too old to train or too young to bring up."

The colonel received many letters of criticism, one man asking how he had the heart to kill the poor, unoffending rhinoceroses. He suggested that probably the writer never had been charged by an angry rainoceros in long grass.

ON MISSIONARIES.

The distinguished traveler manifested the keenest interest in the work of the missionaries whose stations he visited throughout his long line of march. He declared he found them whole-hearted men and women, sacrificing themselves for the advance of Christianity. The last station the colonel visited, near Gondokoro, he described as but a transplanted Emporia, Kan., done in ebony. All the missionaries met were especially keen in regard to American politics, but the colonel declined, as on all occasions, to discuss the subject. As, indeed, throughout the dinner politics was absolutely tabooed.

The distinguished traveler takes the results of his expedition decidedly seriously. He is not only personally satisfied with having acquired all the particular specimens whereon he had set his heart, such as white rhinoceroses, giant eland and the dig-dig, but says the scientists will agree that no such collection ever came out of Africa before. He has a series of the species of some new discoveries, and intends, when in London, to visit the British Museum, and verify certain specimens believed nameless.

Col. Roosevelt entertains a high regard for his guns, and has made an interesting collection of the bullets which brought down notable game; for instance, the nickel sheathing of the bullet which saved his life from a charging elephant, and the flattened shell which killed a desperate rhinoceros in the nick of time.

READING SCARCE.

The colonel will have the story of his trip and his book complete when he reaches Khartum. He says then he will put it out of his mind and devote himself to the business and pleasure of his return trip. The preparation of the matter has taken a great deal of time and labor. Every word has been written by hand. During the year's expedition the only newspaper constantly read was a New York country weekly, subscribed for by Mr. Mearns and publishing chiefly important items about "Bill" Williams' new buggy, Neighbor Jones' painted barn and the Weekly Sewing Circle.

The pigskin library proved a valued friend. The volumes appeared well thumbed and the colonel said they had been read under all conceivable circumstances. He added to his library the October Scribners.

At the last station where the Dal obtained wood the colonel landed and strolled among the thatched, conical native huts, followed respectfully by half-naked blacks, curious for a sight of Bwana Tumbo of whose prowess rumors had reached them. He was followed by a native gunbearer, picturesquely undressed in a red fez and khaki pants, reaching six inches above the knees.

KERMIT IS EXPERT.

Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. Heller also landed with their guns, and shot duck for dinner. In looking for a bird Kermit carried his firearm ready for action and aimed unerringly. From the point on the bank where Col. Roosevelt stood, hippopotamuses frequently were seen while the scaly backs of crocodiles rose above the water along the shore.

Coming down the stream Col. Roosevelt frequently met officials and was invited to hunt special game. But all the invitations were declined. The colonel dresses in their honor, buttoning his shirt at the throat and adding a green silk tie.

QUITE AN INVENTION.

OIL EXPANDER IS ARRESTED.

Woman Says Man Made False Representations.

Declares Money-making Story Caused Investment.

Would Transform Petroleum Into Many Products.

Paul E. Oswald of No. 1934 West Adams street, president of the Stewart Oil Expansion Company, was arrested last night by Deputy Constable Benjamin on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was released immediately under bail of $2500, furnished by his father-in-law, Fred F. Wheeler, who protested loudly against the arrest of the young man and declared that the "whole thing is nothing but blackmail."

The complainant in the case is Mrs. Mary McLain, who says that she has been defrauded out of $80 by being induced to purchase stock in the company of which Oswald is the president and which, he claims, can make three and one-half barrels of denatured alcohol out of one barrel of crude oil.

The complaint, on which a warrant was issued out of the court of Judge Summerfield, sets forth that Oswald represented to Mrs. McLain that he had invented a process by which he could "expand" a barrel of crude oil into from three to three and one-half barrels of denatured alcohol "without leaving any residue whatever." It is also said that the process would cost only about 3½ cents a gallon, and that Oswald also had invented processes by which he could transform crude oil into gasolene, kerosene and lubricating oil, always making sure that there would be left "no residue whatever." Further, he is alleged to have represented that these processes were safely out of the experimental stage and that he had erected a plant in which to manufacture alcohol and other articles from crude oil.

The inventions seemed so promising to Mrs. McLain that she bought $80 worth of stock in the company, she says, but later discovered that there was no truth in any of the representations made to her.

Oswald was arrested in the rooms of the Billiken Club, in the basement of the Citizens' National Bank, at the corner of Third and Main streets. Judge Summerfield, who issued the warrant for his arrest, was on hand at the time and fixed the amount of bail so that Oswald could be released as soon as the warrant was serveu upon him.

The alleged inventor has offices with the Amsden Electrical Manufacturing Company, in rooms Nos. 76 and 77 of the Temple Block.

LABOR.

IMPORTANCE IS FAR-REACHING.

SETTLEMENT WILL BE GUIDE FOR FUTURE.

Amicable Adjustment by Baltimore and Ohio of Trainmen's Grievances Will Probably Avert General Strike. Affects Thirty-two Systems—Wages Standardized.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—The amicable settlement of the threatened strike of the Baltimore and Ohio system was taken by railroad officials and others today to indicate that all of the other railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Baltimore and Ohio would negotiate terms with the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen so that a general strike would be avoided.

Uniform demands were made on the thirty-two railroads by the trainmen and conductors. On all roads other than the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, Delaware and Hudson and New York, new Haven and Hartford, new demands will now be submitted by the trainmen and conductors, it is understood, and these will be based on the Baltimore settlement.

BASIS OF FUTURE ACTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BALTIMORE, March 12.—The amicable settlement last night of the controversy between the trainmen of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the officials of that road relative to wages and service conditions is understood to be of far-reaching importance.

A number of roads had been approached by the organizations named with propositions as to wages and service conditions similar to those laid before the Baltimore and Ohio, and it has been tactily understood that whatever was done by the Baltimore and Ohio, would be taken as the basis of settlement by all other roads interested, which include practically railroads east of the Mississippi River.

The terms of settlement effected here by the good offices of Commissioner of Labor Neill were not disclosed. Both sides made material concessions. The settlement does not bring the men in the East to a par with the railroad men of the West, but it represents a substantial increase in their earnings and—what the men value very highly—it seems to insure the standardization of wages.

Presidents Garretson and Lee of the two organizations representing the men are busy today preparing a statement to be sent out to the members of their organizations showing just what has been gained in the fight just closed.

ASK IMPOSSIBILITY.

MINERS FAIL TO GET RAISE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, March 12.—Coal operators in the Northern Colorado fields have announced to the miners that rather than accede to the demands of the organized miners they will be forced to close. They base their reply on the new rate rulings of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which, they assert, gives advantage to the Walsenberg district mines, and also on the fact that many of the non-union mines work their men ten hours a day for the same wages that the organized miners get for eight hours' work. This reply was given today to the 8000 miners whose demands have been under consideration here for several days. In fact, the operators met the miners' demands with a counter proposition, that, instead of advancing wages, they must be lowered if the men expect to work at all.

The operators concede the miners' plea that the cost of living is greatly in excess of former years, but maintain that the recent rate decision gives the Walsenberg mines a big advantage in shipping to Kansas, Nebraska and other States, and that the fact that only 3000 of the 15,000 coal miners in Colorado belong to the union, makes it impossible for the operators to meet the demands of the organized miners.

ARGENTINE BEEF PROMISED.

Imported Meat in Large Quantities Said to Be Coming to the United States.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—The Argentine Republic is shortly to take a hand in relieving the high cost of living in the United States, by sending to New York markets large quantities of beef at prices which will provide active competition for the western packers. Jacinto L. Villegas, who was in New York today en route to his new post as first secretary in the Argentine legation at Washington, is authority for this statement:

"We are making great strides in the exportation of beef. A large share of the beef used in England last year was from Argentina. Now we find that the prevailing prices in the United States offer an equally good market for our meat here."

Gained 25 Pounds—
10 Years Younge

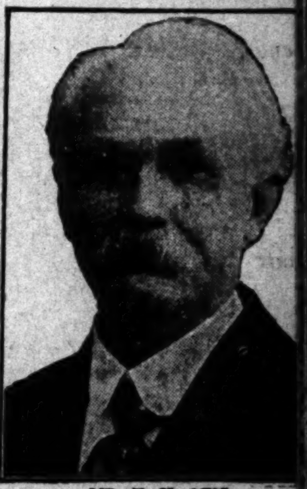
Bad Stomach, Poor Appetite and in Poor Health Six Years, a Veteran of the Civil War, 63 Years of age, Was Restored to Health and Strength by the Great Blood Purifier and Body Builder—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.



MR. E. H. OTIS (Two Years Later)

"For five or six years I was in poor health and very weak. Now after taking several bottles of your Whiskey I am well and strong and have gained nearly 25 pounds, and I recommend it to all who are troubled as I was with poor appetite and a bad stomach trouble. I think it is the best medicine for aged people on earth. My daughter, Mrs. R. O. Mason of Bangor, and my son's wife, Mrs. B. W. Otis of Carmel, both speak very highly of it; your medicine did them lots of good. All my friends know how much I have improved sinc began to take the Whiskey. They often ask me what I have been taking to fatten me up so; they 'You look ten years younger than you did ten years ago.' I tell them I will never be with Duffy's." E. H. OTIS, Brewer, Me.

Gotham Millionaire and Bride Smuggle Themselves Aboard Liner Under Assumed Names.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] August Belmont and his bride, formerly Eleanor Robson, the actress, sailed today for the Mediterranean on the North Germany Lloyd liner Berlin, after observing extreme secrecy about their departure.

They were on the passenger list as "Miss G. Smith and valet", and the officials of the company had given out that Miss Smith was a wealthy woman from the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Belmont arrived at the pier in a limousine car fifteen minutes before sailing, and hurried at once to the quarters of Capt. Lungientern on the top deck, near the bridge, which had been set aside as their suite during the honeymoon trip. The suite is not well located, but its occupants will avoid the gaze of the other passengers.

At Naples the pair will board Lord Invercauld's fine yacht, which they have chartered for a cruise in the Aegean Sea and up the Nile, returning to Italy in time to join the flotilla that will welcome former President Roosevelt.

They were seen off by Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, Mrs. Belmont's mother, and Raymond and August Belmont, Jr.

JEALOUS FOR CHARITY.

Kirmess Plans Demoralized Because of Row Between Patronesses at Sacramento.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sacramento society is agitated to its foundation by the jealousies engendered in the organization of a Kirmess for the benefit of one of the local charities. Anyone who is anybody has taken sides and the controversy has become so acute that the affair may be called off entirely. When the promoters came to town, one of the largest local charities, the Protestant Orphans Home, grabbed the whole thing for itself and this caused ill-feeling on the part of the ladies' interested in other charities, which they regarded as equally worthy. But that was only the beginning. So keen is the interest being taken that the chaperones of the various sets of dancers are accused of "shoplifting" prettiest dancers from each other. T has resulted in demoralization of work. On Monday the patronesses decide whether to continue or to ab don the affair.

TO RAISE ASSESSMENTS.

OROVILLE, March 12.—[Exclus Dispatch.] It is said assessments be raised in Chico and possibly other towns and districts of Bu county, as the result of a visit yest day of three members of the St Board of Equalization, State Contr ler Nye, Harry Scott and R. HAPPY DAY.

LAYGROUNDS JOLLIFICATION.

ousands Attend Slauson Avenue Event.

ppy Children and Pleased Grown-ups in Crowd.

markable Demonstration of Neighborhood.

oy, joy! How the neighborhood ned out and how pleased they all re!

fore than 5000 persons, 3000 of iom were public school children of s Angeles, attended the festivities the dedication of the new Slauson ygrounds, which were thrown open general use by the city yesterday. was a remarkable demonstration. le children frolicked about the five res of recreation space, enjoying the ings, slides, teeter-boards, and may-les, while their elders crowded the ubhouse auditorium, listening to ded- tory addresses by public-spirited cit- ns. Sports of all sorts ranging from lley ball to foot races; enjoyed by presentative teams, both boys and rls, from the near-by grammar hools and various city playgrounds re another feature of the afternoon's tertainment.

Addresses were made by Mrs. Wil- ughby Rodman, president of the ayground Commission; Joseph D. adford, a member; Harry E. An- ews, J. I. Taylor, Charles Raitt, city perintendent of playgrounds, and orge Williams, a member of the Fi- ance Committee of the City Coun- l.

Dr. W. A. Lamb, the much-beloved, the Playground Commission, pre- ded, while B. A. Heinly, secretary of e Water Board, which donated the nd for the purpose, represented that ganization and made a clever little eech.

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman said, in art: "In opening this playground, hich shows forth not only the enter- rise and sincerity of the city, but its esire to secure the happiness and ad- ancement of its people, especially its ildren, it is well to commemorate e name of one, who labored long and rnestly, and effectively, for the good his community, and whose efforts ere always employed for the welfare his fellow-citizens.

"Jonathan Sayre Slauson was a res- lent of Los Angeles for many years. le contributed to that wonderfully apid development which has made ur city the wonder of the United tates. But his efforts were not lim- ted to promoting material advance- nent. With profound wisdom, he new the needs of the future, and its pportunities. He realized that the rue growth of a city is the growing f its own people, and he sought to nake our people the best. As presi- lent of the Chamber of Commerce he lonated his time and ability (and his bility was great) to making Los An- eles better known to the world. He vas the organizer of many charitable nterprises, and his private benefac- ions were both liberal and unostenta- ious. Every movement for the bet- erment of the city, or for the dissem- nation of right ideas or higher ideals of our life had his hearty coöperation and support.

"In giving this playground his name we have honored our city, and ourselves. It is pleasant to us to know that in other ways his name will be kept in our memory. The torch of his life is not extinguished. A worthy father gives place to a worthy son. Not only his name, but his qualities are with us today, and that they may long remain is our fervent hope. We give this playground his name; may it become the public benefit he would have had it become. May it stand in the community for all that he stood for."

Mr. Riatt, in his remarks, explained the uses to which the playground was to be put, and said that it was to be considered public property at all times, and that the residents of the Southeast section were to feel that it was their playground. He stated that it was not alone for children, and urged that the parents should join their children in their outdoor sports.

Councilman Williams said that he felt encouraged at the large attendance, which the opening of the park had brought out, and that it would be a stimulus to the Council to appropriate more funds for the advancement of the athletic education to the city's children. The interest displayed by the southeasterners in the affair said he, was most gratifying.

Joseph D. Radford, one of the Playground Commissioners, made a happy speech expressing the gratification of the board.

J. I. Taylor spoke in behalf of the residents of the southeast section, and expressed the gratitude to the city, of the people in that community.

Dr. Lamb made a few telling remarks. He, too, spoke on the value of the playground as an institution for imbuing the young hopefuls with a spirit of democracy, and told how the plan of the commission was to teach the children how to play to the best advantage, and thus receive the greatest amount of physical, moral and mental benefit.

It is estimated that there are more than 4000 school children in the Slauson neighborhood, and it is expected that the new park and clubhouse will prove a most popular and beneficial institution. It is the first time the city has made any notable improvements in the southeast section of the city, and was done in the nature of an experiment. The results yesterday prove that the experiment was a success.

ATHLETIC EVENTS.

All the athletic events of the day, in which pupils from the Vernon avenue, Vernon special, Miramonte, Seventy-first street, Fourteeth street, McKinley avenue, Hooper avenue, Olive street High and Echo Park and Violet street playgrounds took part, were ably conducted by Charles Miller, the new playground director.

The Violet street nine defeated the Echo Park baseball team with a score of 4 to 0, while the Vernon Specials triumphed over the Fourteenth-street boys, 2 to 1. A game of indoor baseball between the Olive-street High boys' team and the San Pedro street school nine resulted in a 23 to 6 victory for the former.

The overwhelming score helped to retrieve a defeat, which the Olive street girls suffered at the hands of their San Pedro street sisters at the same game, 19 to 13.

A similar game between the Mc- nley street and the Hooper avenue came out a victory for the former large score, 14 to 3.

hibition game of soccer was two picked Polytechnic the Yellows and Blues. The 1 to 0. Two teams from te school also gave an ex- hockey. The team captained by Willie Clarke came out victor, 3 to 1.

Two games of girls' volley ball were also played. Echo Park team No. 1 defeated the Fourteenth-street team, 21 to 14, while the Echo Park second aggregation won from the Violet-street players, 21 to 17.

The basketball courts were also utilized. Teams representing the McKinley-street school and East Vernon played a well fought game, in which the former won, 19 to 9, while the girls from Echo Park lost to a team from the Vernon avenue school, 14 to 4.

In the foot races for the individual school championships for 100 yards, Raymond Hickman won first honors at Hooper avenue school, with Charles Barr and Dewey McCall second and third respectively. Kenneth Taylor won the Miramonte championship; Harry Brown came in second and John Bowman took third.

SOCIAL CENTER.

The ladies of the neighborhood were on hand, very earnest in carying out the idea of making the playgrounds clubhouse a social center and served tea and cakes in the refectories.

The Slauson avenue playgrounds, which is the seventh of the city's outing spots, cost the commission about $15,000.

LIABILITY FIXED.

HIGH TRIBUNAL FAVORS VICTIM.

IMPORTANT RULING IS MADE IN RAILROAD CASE.

United States Circuit Court of Appeal Decides That Company Owning Train Causing Injuries to Other Corporation's Employee on Track Used Jointly Must Pay Damages.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeal has just affirmed the judgment of the Federal court here in favor of Mark B. Hamble for $19,000 against the Santa Fé Railroad Company. It is regarded as an important decision, bearing as it does upon the rights of railroad employés who are employed on runs over tracks used by more than one railroad company.

The plaintiff was employed by the Southern Pacific Company as a conductor. His run was between Bakersfield and Mojave, the tracks being used jointly by the Santa Fé and the Southern Pacific. At the time of the accident, Hamble was in the caboose of his freight train.

A Santa Fé train in the rear suddenly crashed into the forward train. Hamble was hurled from the caboose and suffered severe injuries. He was in the hospital for the greater part of two years and had to undergo several amputations of his left leg.

He sued the Santa Fé and recovered a substantial verdict. On appeal, a new trial was ordered on technical grounds. The case was tried before Judge Wellborn in the Circuit Court and the jury returned a verdict of $19,000.

The Santa Fé again appealed, on the ground that its train which collided with the freight train, was under the control of the Southern Pacific Company, the owner of the tracks. It was also urged that the negligence which resulted in the disaster was that of the engineer of the front engine of the Santa Fé train, who was a Southern Pacific employé.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals holds that the latter point is not material, and that the Santa Fé employés were the ones whose negligence caused the disaster. It rules that the fact that the head engine belonged to the Southern Pacific and was operated by an engineer in its employ is immaterial under the circumstances of the case.

Glen Behymer, M. B. Jones and William Freedman were counsel for Hamble.

PERSONAL.

Frank Drake, a furniture dealer, of New York, is a guest at the Lankershim.

Dr. J. T. Duhigy, United States Navy, is registered at the Alexandria from Washington, D.C.

Miss Ivy Richardson, of Hilo, H. T., is at the Angelus while visiting friends in this city.

Dr. J. W. Murphy and wife, of Cincinnati, are occupying apartments at the Van Nuys.

T. D. Alley and wife, of Ludlow, Ariz., are at the Nadeau. Mr. Alley is a mining man.

J. R. Penrose, a railroad official of Burlington, Iowa, with his wife, is at the Hayward.

C. C. Weck, a Chicago druggist, is spending a few days at the Hollenbeck.

Key Pittman, a mining operator of Tonopah, Nev., is one of the recent arrivals at the Alexandria.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Shively, of Jeannette, Pa., are passing a part of their honeymoon at the Angelus.

A. Zahner, a tanner, of Topeka, Kas., with his wife, is registered at the Van Nuys.

Fred Hart, one of the extensive raisin producers of Fresno, is a guest at the Nadeau.

J. E. French, operator of a rubber goods factory, at Detroit, is at the Angelus. His wife is with him.

E. J. Manny, passenger agent for the Star Line Steamship Co., of Duluth, Minn., with his wife, is at the Hayward.

S. A. Blythe, an oil operator, of Bakersfield, is one of the recent arrivals at the Hollenbeck.

C. B. Cleveland, an official of the National Lines of Mexico, is registered at the Alexandria from Mexico City. His wife and a daughter accompany him.

Miss Suzanne Conn, niece of the musical instrument manufacturer of the same name, is registered at the Lankershim, from Avalon, where she has been spending part of the winter.

Martin L. Cate of Boston, founder of the Thatcher School at Nordhoff, with his wife and two sons, Carl and Curtis, is registered at the Van Nuys.

C. C. Lindsey, an attorney of Mansfield, O., and C. D. Pondell, an underwear manufacturer, of New York City, are spending a week at the Hollenbeck.

H. C. Storey, a merchant of Prescott, with his wife, is at the Hayward. C. S. Baker, a cattleman of Evanston, Wyo., is staying at the same hotel.

Dr. Jennie C. Rigg and Dr. James R. Rigg, brother and sister are at the Alexandria. Miss Rigg is from Springfield, Ill., and her brother from Mt. Pulaski, the same State.

James I. Grafton, his wife and a maid, are occupying a suite at the Lankershim. Mr. Grafton is a Lieut.-Col. in the army in Canada, and registers from Toronto.

ANTI-HIGH-LICENSE DAY.

Today is designated as anti-high-license day in the churches, and many thousand copies of the recent address of Dr. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, will be distributed at the doors, following the morning and evening services. The title of the address is "The Only Hope of the Liquor Men," and declares high license to be the "last entrenchment" in an attempt to defeat the banishment of the saloon.

IMPROVEMENT.

HARMONY MARKS UNIQUE STORE.

HANDSOME BUSINESS HOUSE IS FORMALLY OPENED.

James Smith Clothing Company Occupies Fine Quarters, Decorated and Furnished in an Artistic Manner, Which Gives Unusual Opportunity to Display Goods.

Harmony in every detail is the characteristic of the new store of the James Smith Clothing Company, which formally opened yesterday afternoon on Broadway between Mercantile Place and Sixth street. The establishment shows the hand of the artist throughout and stands among the best of the many fine business houses which are being added to the down town section of the city.

The store is unique in that it is an exclusive clothing house, carrying nothing but young men's and men's clothing without any of the usual accessories to be found in the other stores of the city. It carries suits, all kinds, for business, dress, and for any and all occasions.

And all of these clothes are displayed in glass cases, which range down both sides of the store. The cases have sliding racks which permit the display of any individual suit on the outside of the case without removal from the rack. The cases are of soft red birch wood. The glass fronts slide up and in the spaces above the cases are nobby displays.

BEAUTIFUL INTERIOR.

The walls are finished in golden brown stenciled patterns and match the oak floor, which is finished in a dark shade and has a high polish. On the floor are a number of oriental art squares and pretty rugs. The furniture is of dark oak, the chairs and tables being in mission style.

The interior appearance of the store might be taken for the reception hall of a splendid residence instead of a business shop. In the rear are dressing-rooms of ample size, fitted in the same lavish manner. The offices and remodeling rooms are also located in the rear, out of the way of the trade.

The windows are of latest approved fashion, allowing ample space for good display. They are finished in birds-eye maple, a contrast to the ordinary dark finishes. They were tastily decorated with the wares of the establishment and flowers yesterday.

The flowers which were scattered throughout the store were gifts of friends to Mr. Smith, the proprietor. The largest floral piece was one sent by the Benjamin Clothing Company, whose goods are handled exclusively by the local concern. It was a large horseshoe of American beauty roses. There were other large pieces made up of hyacinths, daffodils, one of lilies given by the employés of the store, roses and other flowers.

During the evening, the Schoeneman-Blanchard orchestra played a programme of operatic and popular music. The illumination of the store is one of its features. It has a large number of Tungsten drop lights in pretty fixtures, so arranged that the interior is flooded with a perfectly white light and without a shadow.

OPENS FIRST SUIT STORE.

Mr. Smith established the first exclusive men's suit store in the city, about ten years ago. A greater portion of that time he occupied one of the store rooms in the Bryson block at the corner of Second and Spring streets. With the growing business it became necessary to seek larger quarters and the present change in location was made. The new store room, exclusive of dressing and office rooms, is 40x120 feet in size.

"The merchants of Los Angeles are not given the credit that is really theirs on account of the splendid establishments which they are perfecting," said Mr. Smith. "There is more than a personal pride and personal betterment in the fine establishments of Los Angeles—a civic pride, a desire to give Los Angeles the best. Our stores are gradually assuming the magnificence of the best in New York City. Los Angeles can justly be proud of the merchants located here who are adding to the beauty of the city and helping to make better impressions on the thousands of visitors who come here each year."

POTATOES AND POETRY.

Willis George Emerson of Los Angeles, a man with the soul of a poet, wrote by request of the Hon. W. H. Robb, editor of the Creston (Iowa) Morning American, a letter of reminiscences concerning "Old Timers of Union County and Creston," from which The Times makes the following readable extracts:

Your recent letter is received asking me to send on a letter of reminiscences of old Union county, Iowa.

Of course, I lived in Union county during the impressionistic days of youth—in the formative period, when mental photography indelibly prints things upon the heart of a boy.

With me, memory dates far back. I was born in Monroe county, March 28, 1856, and when only 3 weeks old my mother brought me in arms, traveling in a prairie schooner, to the homestead in Union county, Iowa, which my father had selected the previous year.

A YOUNG POTATO MERCHANT.

My good mother had told me to plant plenty of potatoes and to plant them early. She said the Irish—"God bless 'em"—worked on railroads, and they couldn't live without potatoes. Fortunately for me, I had the earliest potatoes in the market. Well do I remember that I worked all one Friday night, until the sun came up Saturday morning, digging ten sacks of these "Irish apples," representing about ten bushels of potatoes. Had I let the potatoes mature—grow to their full size, thirty or forty sacks would not have any more than held them. Early that Saturday morning, I, a barefooted farmer boy, with my own brown denim trousers rolled up to my knees, and my head decorated with a 25-cent straw hat, was ready to sally forth and "collect toll." I had visions of selling the potatoes at $2 a bushel. This would bring me a gross income of about $20, a fabulous sum. I remember Dennis Murphy, the Street Commissioner, who made Tom Snair work out his poll tax, and who was also the father of the expression which even yet is quoted, the morning after election, viz.: "It do bate hell how these elections go." If I remember rightly, he was running a boarding-house, one of perhaps fifty, all running in full blast to accommodate the railroad hands and strangers. The Dennis Murphy boarding-house was the first place I stopped in the capacity of potato peddler. The woman who came to the back door, in response to my knock, said, "How much do you ask for your potatoes, sonnie?" I said, "Two dollars." I was carrying a peck measure under my arm. She turned to a woman who was standing at her elbow and said: "Just think of it, $2 a peck for these new potatoes! However, I suppose we will have to have them." My intuition was working, and it wasn't the part of my job to correct the impression; therefore, I sold her two pecks and received $4. It was she, indeed, who really set the price for me, and within a couple of hours I had sold all of my potatoes at from $2, $2.50 and $3 a peck. I gradually raised the price as the supply ran short, and instead of carrying home $20 for my ten bushels of potatoes, I carried home in the neighborhood of $90.

[Emerson is now a Los Angeles real-estate dealer, and has not entirely forgotten his cunning or his early mercantile experience.—Ed. Times.]

PRICES THEN AND NOW.

Yes, it was an outrageous price, but only the other day I was in the Hotel Knickerbocker, New York City, and they charged me $4.25 for a single order of cottage fried potatoes, an order of fried bacon and a pot of coffee. No, I didn't kick on the price—I smiled and paid. I remembered my potato-vending experience in old Creston, away back in 1871, before class distinction had been established. . . .

RETROSPECTION AND FUTURITY.

But the years are going, and as they glide away silently as the dawn, we all learn to a greater or a lesser degree, the lesson of toleration. Time, the "Tomb-builder of the Centuries," pulls out many of the thorns of past hurts and removes the sting of ancient pains. As we journey onward we understand more clearly the wisdom of complaining not that "roses have thorns," but rather of being grateful that thorns are interspersed with beautiful roses, whose fragrance makes the night winds redolent with thankfulness that things are as well as they are.

Perhaps, indeed, we all have more to be thankful for than we really know of until we take an inventory. The Immortality of Biology is still strong in my family branch. . . .

Between myself and serious consideration of "crossing over," were two generations. Today it is different. My grandfather and my sainted father, "whose like I shall never look upon again," have journeyed on to their reward; and no generation stands between me and the Great River that flows just beyond the brink that I am approaching. . . .

Seemingly the audacity of youth still abides with me, but I hope tempered and ripened with the bruises of many "shin barking" experiences with men and things. However, I am hearing always the deep elemental and mighty melody of life thrumming in my veins like an orchestral song of Hope's fullest fulfillment; and thus from day to day I go on, believing in the "kismet" of my "birthstar" and my ultimate destiny.

LIFE A HIGHWAY OF PLEASURE.

To me, life has ever been a highway of infinitely more pleasure than unhappiness. It has led me through a strange country, all interesting because of its newness, where no milepost is passed the second time. My roadway has ever been bordered with green fields and countless flowers, and its starting point away back almost fifty-four years ago was from an unknown point of departure, and it leads me on to an unknown point of arrival. Our coming, we believe, was from Omnipotence, and therefore our going, we hope, is, to immortality. Now is the season for probation; each is chiseling a debit or a credit. As the flowers by the wayside give out their perfume to us in abundance, so also should we let unreserved gentleness, kindness, toleration and goodness radiate from us to all humanity.

The important and timely moment is "the now," and our deeds should make humanity conscious of our passing.

After dictating these reminiscences I am more impressed than ever that we are all growing old; that the sands of life are running, and that the ripeness of years is the ultimate inheritance of each and all. Soon the green of the earth will turn to gray, and our lives each will be like a story that is told. The big ones of this world have gone with the boatman, smiling, and without complaint; why should not we?

"OUR AUNT FROM CALIFORNIA."

The Young Ladies Sodality of St. Patrick's Parish is making elaborate preparations for an entertainment to be given on St. Patrick's night. The principal feature of the evening will be a one-act comedy entitled "Our Aunt from California." Following is the cast of characters: Felicia Needy, Miss Minnie Reider; Rosalie Needy, Miss Winnifred Tallent; Sally Needy, Miss Grace Mars; Miss Wilcoxgnibs, Miss Marguerite Wade; Maid, Miss Victoria Sobrero; Mrs. Needy, Mrs. O. T. Helpling. Mrs. Merry Muntoburn, Aunt from California, Miss Nellie Meade. Music and singing characteristic of the day will be rendered, followed by dancing and refreshments.

STANTON BOOSTERS CLUB.

The Stanton Boosters' Club will have a lunch and meeting at the Hollenbeck on Tuesday, when matters of importance will be taken up. It is very essential that members and friends be present. Lunch will be served at 12:15 sharp, and the meeting will adjourn promptly at 1:15. Rev. C. C. Pierce will speak.

ENOUGH RAIN FOR FARMERS.

Author Says Evaporation Is to Be Studied.

Urges Growers to Cultivate at Right Time.

Book Is of Unusual Interest to Californians.

"Don't apologize for being a farmer of the semi-arid region."

This is the introductory sentence of a chapter in one of the most valuable agricultural books ever written, "Campbell's Soil Culture Manual." The book is of especial interest in Southern California at the present time, when the rainfall is somewhat below the usual average. H. W. Campbell, the author, directs the whole force of his work toward showing how cultivation and scientific treatment of land and crops will overcome to a large extent the lack of rainfall.

"The vital truth," says Mr. Campbell in his book, "is that the so-called semi-arid region is most ideally adapted to best agriculture. The soil is of the right texture and capable of being handled to the best advantage. The soil has all the elements necessary to the highest degree of soil fertility. There is comparatively no loss by the washing-away process.

"Then the very fact that the atmosphere is dry, as a rule, is of great advantage, and yet so many had supposed it a detriment. The rain comes in the form of a heavy shower, and when it is over there is a dry atmosphere which quickly takes up the moisture from the surface, and with prompt action with the cultivator, the formation of a soil mulch is therefore easily encouraged and of a nature that is very effective.

IDEAL SOIL CONDITIONS.

"In fact, it is in the semi-arid region that the farmer can best secure that ideal soil condition that enables him to control the moisture which is needed for the growth of the plant.

"Therefore we say, again, that no man engaged in farming in the semi-arid region has any excuse for offering apologies. He has the best natural conditions for good farming. It only requires that he apply science and a reasonable amount of well-directed labor, and his results are more certain than with the farmer who lives in a region where there must be a good deal of guessing as to the wet, the rain, the sunshine and the wind."

In another chapter of the book Mr. Campbell says: "There are two vital points in regard to the successful growing of crops in the western country. The first is the importance of getting all the water possible into the ground, and second, using every possible means to conserve or retain it there.

"The danger to the farmer from evaporation cannot be overestimated. Therein lies the whole secret of farming in the semi-arid region. If there were no water lost or wasted the deserts would blossom. It must be kept in mind that every moment's delay after the soil reaches the proper condition causes you to lose water very fast.

MOISTURE GOES QUICKLY.

"It is at the rate of a quart or over per square foot per day, provided it is clear, sunny weather, and even more in case of heavy south winds. The more intense the heat the more frequent it is necessary to cultivate. A very good rule is to watch the condition of the firm soil just beneath the loose mulch or cultivated portion, and whenever the surface of this firm soil begins to show dryness it is high time to commence cultivating again."

In a chapter on "Water Holding Capacity of the Soil" the item of rainfall for the season is minimized in importance, far below the methods of cultivation employed. "It is now quite apparent," says Mr. Campbell, "that plants do not utilize or consume the amount of water once thought necessary; in fact, some irrigation experiments have shown that beyond a certain minimal quantity of water, more water does not mean more or better crops.

"Because we have seen it constantly demonstrated we know the necessity of water in the soil for plant growth, but it is not so easy to comprehend the material value to the plant of air in the soil. We cannot see its effect in anything like as broad a sense as we do the water, yet its presence in proper conditions in the soil and about the roots of the plants is just as vital to its life, health and growth as water.

SHOULD STUDY EVAPORATION.

"It is highly important for the farmer in the semi-arid region to know all about evaporation, for it is by evaporation rather than by drainage that the larger part of his water leaves him. When one understands perfectly the effect of evaporation and how it operates to remove water from the soil, he is in a position to better understand why it is that the land of the semi-arid region becomes better fitted for good crops than the land of the more humid sections. It is a common remark among those who understand but little about the situation, that if there were only a little more rainfall in the semi-arid region, it would be the ideal farming country. They say that all the country lacks is enough rainfall to provide all the water necessary. This is a superficial view. It does not take into account the main elements.

"It is true that if we could always have here in the semi-arid country just the right amount of rainfall, and have it at the right time, we would have no trouble in raising good crops. It would be very nice indeed to have this condition. We should have the tropics beat badly, and our people would have time for bullfights and things like that while waiting for crops to mature.

THE REAL DIFFICULTY.

"The real difficulty of the semi-arid belt is not a lack of rainfall, but the loss of too much water by evaporation, and this can be largely controlled by proper cultivation, at least sufficiently to insure good growth of crops every year. It has been demonstrated by careful laboratory and field work by Prof. King, Whitney, Hilgard and others that seven inches of rainfall is ample to grow a good crop of any kind, providing the water is all utilized. Measurements and records by the government weather bureau have shown that in the more westerly portions of the semi-arid belt the average rainfall is more than twice as much as this, while a little further east it is three and four times the necessary amount."

The rainfall in Southern California this season has already exceeded the ten inches established as the minimum. There is great value in the principles and experiments discussed by Mr. Campbell in showing what can be done by proper handling of the soil to offset the lack of rainfall. Dry farming is considered still in its infancy, but if the farmers of Southern California will read what has been written they will learn how to produce crops on the smallest amount of rainfall that has ever been recorded in this section.

ENGINEERS PLAN BIG CONVENTION.

ELECTRICAL EXPERTS TO MEET IN LOS ANGELES.

Announcement Is Made at Banquet of American Institute and Sons of Jove, Where Interesting Talks Are Given and Anecdotes of Thomas A. Edison Are Enjoyed.

The next convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will probably be held in Los Angeles. This fact was brought out at the joint banquet given last evening by the Institute and the Sons of Jove, a fraternal organization of electrical engineers.

A number of interesting talks on various electrical subjects were given by noted engineers.

"The Early Days of Thomas A. Edison's Laboratories," was the subject of a talk given by J. A. Lighthipe, who was associated with Edison in his early experiments

"When I first went to work for Edison—about 1879—he was already famous, and was known as 'The Wizard of Menlo Park,'" the speaker said. "He was at that time working on the loud-speaking chalk telephone. This telephone was a very delicate instrument, and required a great deal of work to perfect and keep in order. Mr. Edison was, at that time slightly deaf—he is entirely deaf now—and it was his purpose to make a telephone that any one could hear over. The loud-speaking phone would transmit sound much louder than a person could speak. It was perfected by him and sold to the American Bell Telephone Company, but was used only slightly by that company.

"He was also working on the early stages of the incandescent lamp, and was making experiments with carbonized thread, wood, etc. He had two men in Florida who were sending specimens of different kinds of bamboo to the works for experimental purposes.

"He had, at that time, about fifty or sixty men working for him, Mr. Edison being the hardest worker in the shop. The men would go to work Monday morning, and it was seldom indeed that we had a chance to undress until Saturday night. We would lay off a few hours during the middle of the day. Most of the work was done at night, for Menlo Park was then a stamping ground for the curious who came to look at 'The Wizard.' Few saw him, and if they did see him, still fewer recognized him, for Edison dressed in old working clothes.

"Once Edison got an idea he would never stop work on a device until it was completed and tested. The first phonograph was made and tried within twelve hours."

Mr. Lighthipe said the men working for Edison in those days were allowed to do as they pleased in their experiments, and all that was required of them was to keep a record of each experiment made.

E. F. Scattergood gave his opinion of what constituted a good electrical engineer.

"There is an ever increasing need for engineers," he said. "This need is due to the increasing population of the country as well as the progress being made in electricity."

He declared that students who desire to become electrical engineers simply to make money had better decide on something else, as they would never become successful engineers. It is necessary to be devoted to the profession for itself to become successful, he said, and a person simply desiring to make money could probably make a great deal more in some other way.

Others who spoke were C. W. Koiner, on "The American Institute of Electrical Engineers;" E. R. Northmore, on "The Lighting Companies;" O. H. Ensign, on "The Reclamation Service;" H. B. Woodhill, on "Contracting," and A. W. Ballard, on "The Sons of Jove."

During the banquet a number of old-time negro melodies were given by "The Sons of Ham" quartette. A. W. Ballard was toastmaster, and C. E. Pyle, chairman.

HEARS PRAYERS; TAKES POISON.

Laborer Who Attends Religious Meeting Commits Suicide After Joining in the Service.

After having joined with great fervor in the singing of the hymns and sitting attentively through the sermon, Henry Sanders of No. 325 Inez street took twenty grains of strychnine last night at the Rescue Mission, No. 606 East Fifth street. He died about an hour later as he was being taken to the Receiving Hospital in the patrol wagon.

Sanders, a laborer by occupation, is said to have had some trouble with his wife and the belief is that this caused him to brood until he wished to live no more. The man gave no hint of his purpose when he went to the mission and joined in the services, and the members of the congregation noted his devotion with much satisfaction.

At the close of the sermon, however, Sanders was seen to empty a paper of powder into his mouth. A little later, he slipped to the floor.

The worshippers hastened to his side and he was carried to the drug store at the corner of Fifth street and Central avenue, where he was given a quantity of tannic acid as an antidote, but he refused to allow a doctor to come near him, saying that he was determined to die. He lapsed into unconsciousness and died on his way to the hospital.

ATTACKED NEAR CROWD.

Thug Beats San Diego Business Man on Main Street and Escaped in Darkness.

While standing less than twenty steps distant from a crowd of people who were waiting for a Pasadena car at Main and Fourth streets about 12:30 o'clock this morning, W. W. Wilcox was attacked by a thug, who struck him over the head with a black-jack.

E. E. Petrie, a sailor from the Colorado, witnessed the assault and shouted. A policeman appeared a minute later and the thug ran and was lost in the darkness. Wilcox, who is connected with the San Diego Advertising Agency, was sent to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured. His assailant was frightened away before he could rob his victim.

OPTIMISM.

ANDREW CARNEGIE PRAISES THE PAYNE-ALDRICH TARIFF.

Noted Philanthropist Tells San Francisco Chamber of Commerce That Day of Multi-Millionaire Is Rapidly Drawing to Close—Causes Embarrassment by Asking Why Mayor Is Absent from Banquet.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Andrew Carnegie was the guest of honor tonight of the Chamber of Commerce at a banquet attended by many of the leading citizens of this city.

The address of welcome was made by President William Gerstle of the chamber, and among the other speakers were Gov. Gillett and Judge W. Morrow. Mayor McCarthy was not invited to be present at the banquet, and some little embarrassment was caused by the guest of honor inquiring as to the reason of his absence.

Mr. Carnegie said in part:

"The day of private gain is to give place, in due time, as being secondary to the higher consideration of what is for the good of the community as a whole, to whose well-being personal considerations must bow; the public good, not individual gain, must ever be our first care.

"It is therefore with delight I hail the proposed Court of Commerce as proposed by our far-seeing and judicious President, in accordance with the policy of his marvelous predecessor. This movement, of which our country is destined to become the pioneer, will put the land of triumphant democracy in its proper place as leader of the world, for the world's good, in the realm of peaceful industrial progress.

"The pessimist may be disposed to believe that the thirst for wealth will impel the ablest to labor for his own gain, regardless of his fellows—with milliardom always in view. Let us consider this point of view. Is this really the rule today throughout the realm of business? I do not think so; at least, the exceptions are already most notable. Take our vast railway systems as the greatest industrial organizations. Is McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania system, who is a relatively poor man? Is Brown of the New York Central, also poor, the former telegraph messenger boy? Is Mellen of the Eastern lines, or Ripley of the Santa Fé, or Judge Lovett, chairman of the Southern and Pacific boards, all of whom have risen from the ranks, are these men engaged in grasping for money, bound to acquire useless millions, or impelled by a high sense of duty to their shareholders in their great and useful tasks regardless of personal emolument? In the industrial world is Judge Geary at the head of the greatest organization, scheming to acquire money for himself or more ambitious to perform his duties and guard the interests of the shareholders? So with other presidents of industrial companies, most of whom are relatively poor men, scarcely a millionaire among them. In banking it is the same. Vanderlip of the City Bank, Hepburn of the Trust Companies, Forgan of Chicago, and many others I have the privilege of knowing are far from aiming primarily to become multi-millionaires. So with the presidents of insurance companies. As a rule, the almighty dollar has no place with the officials managing our great corporations. You have recently suffered the loss of a prominent man here, your fellow-citizen, Mr. Mills. What of him? He was successful in business, but great wealth was never his chief ambition; he was, first and last, always the gentleman, and guided by a high standard of action in all business concerns and proud of a fine record.

"It may be taken for granted, therefore, that in the future it will become the rule that only such men of business as those named will be held in honor, and, therefore, that from this time forward the world of industrialism is to improve and finally reach a standard which we of today may well regard as ideal. At all events, the day of the mere multi-millionaire is soon to pass away forever. Abnormal fortunes it will soon be impossible to acquire. The corporation already with its many thousands of shareholders will disperse profits hitherto concentrated.

"The optimist finds ample cause for rejoicing today. Look where he will, civilization marches steadily to better things, one generation building upon the work of the other as the procession moves—all in orderly march upward and onward! Happy for us that we are privileged to live in this century, notable above all others for its happy surprises, its almost revolutionary triumphs, and all in the direction of higher standards of civilization, drawing classes closely together in the bonds of brotherhood.

"Now, gentlemen, after that aviation excursion in the clouds, let us come down to business.

"I noted that the tariff question is in evidence in the West, and I judge also upon the Pacific Coast, as it is with us in the East at present. It is a subject upon which I have had some experience. Let me say, therefore, that I consider the present tariff a very decided improvement upon the last. It is open to criticism. Did you, or will you ever know a tariff that was not? I never did and never expect to do so. Perfection was not written of tariffs.

"Now the government must have a revenue. The question is, how can we raise this with the least pressure upon the mass of the people. One startling fact, please remember, our tariff is today less important as a protective measure than it is as a producer of revenue. The New York Times recently called attention to the pregnant fact that it yielded last year over $400,000,000 of revenue. All internal taxes yielded only $260,000,000.

"Here is one of the most important gains in tariff legislation that has ever been made. In giving my evidence I stated that the committee had not the data necessary for wise action. The chairman asked how the government could obtain reliable figures as to the cost of production of various articles they lacked abroad. My reply was by having a commission of able, honest men, whose business it was to visit the works abroad and obtain reliable data. Now such a commission has been provided, and when next the tariff is under supervision, if I mistake not, you will see that the committee has a mass of correct figures enabling it to take wise action—a great step in advance."

Mr. Carnegie will leave San Francisco for Pasadena, Monday. He will remain there for one week at least, though plans for his visit there have not been completed.

STALE JOKE.

MORGAN AMUSED AT RUMOR CIRCULATED OF HIS DEATH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, March 12.—J. P. Morgan enjoyed a hearty laugh today when he learned for the first time of the rumor of his death. When he appeared for breakfast, the financier found awaiting him many telegrams congratulating him upon the falsity of yesterday's report. He was evidently amused, rather than surprised, for he said:

"I am accustomed to such tricks. They are planned simply to affect the market momentarily."

There was hardly a minute of rest yesterday for Mr. Morgan. Viewing works of art, attending to correspondence, and receiving visitors, comprised the programme for morning and afternoon, and in the evening he dined with the Princess Teano, who held a reception in his honor.

Mr. Morgan is in perfect health. As Mr. Morgan had expressed a desire to visit the Borgia apartment in the Vatican at a time when tourists were not admitted, Monsignor Misciattelli, prefect of the apostolic palaces, sent Mr. Morgan a special card of admission.

Later in the day Mr. Morgan, accompanied by Mr. and rMs. Morton S. Palon of New York, viewed the art masterpieces there, especially those of Pinturicchio.

Mr. Morgan said he would not mind being a life prisoner in the Vatican if he were permitted at all times to look upon artistic perfection. He has accepted an invitation to act as honorary guest for the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the proclamation making Rome the capital of United Italy.

He has received an invitation from the Duchess Lante Della Revere, who was Miss Anite Allen of New Orleans, to lunch with her at her villa at Bagnaja.

ARBITER HARD TO FIND.

FOLK RECEIVES INVITATION TO MEDIATE QUAKER CITY STRIKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A tentative proposition that he act as arbiter between the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and the striking street car men of that city was made today to Former Gov. Folk by Charles P. Burton, who claims to represent both sides, and who came to St. Louis from Philadelphia to see Mr. Folk. Just before his departure for St. Louis, Burton, it was learned, was in conference with Francis Shunk Brown, one of the attorneys for the traction company.

Burton telegraphed to Mr. Folk Thursday, making an appointment to see him here today. He spent a good part of the forenoon conferring with the former Governor. Mr. Folk said he had to await further information from Philadelphia before announcing his decision. A definite proposition will be made to Gov. Folk as a result of Burton's visit here.

Until he learns what is expected of him, however, Mr. Folk declines to say what his answer will be.

Gov. Folk gained his first prominence in St. Louis when, as attorney for the street-car employés, he succeeded in settling the strike here in July, 1900. Because of his success in this respect and the regard in which he was held by the laboring interests, Folk received the Democratic nomination for circuit attorney. His election followed.

HARD TO GET MEDIATOR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—Two of the four mediums through which Philadelphia hoped that a strike settlement might be reached were today practically eliminated.

Yesterday it was hoped that either President Taft, the bankers of Philadelphia, the National Civic Federation or the local Councilmanic bodies would find a way to lend a hand to stop the strife.

Today word came from Washington, unofficially, but on seemingly good authority, that the President, through the Department of Commerce and Labor, could not see his way clear to intervene. The reason given was that the trouble is purely of a local character.

Bankers declared that the financial interests probably would keep hands off the fight. Frank B. Reeves, president of the Philadelphia Clearinghouse Association, took a strong stand on the question of exclusive recognition of its organization. Mr. Reeves said:

"I cannot see how our financial institutions can bring their powers to bear in any way that will help to solve the problem."

Whether the National Civic Federation will take up the strike settlement and the Councilmen can be forced to take action remains to be seen.

Another telegram was sent today to Seth Low, head of the federation, asking that body to offer mediation. Mr. Low replied the federation would do so if he could be assured the offer would be acceptable to both sides.

There was no change today in the general strike situation. Employers predict that Monday will see the beginning of a general break among the sympathetic strikers, and dozens of local unions held meetings today and tonight to lay plans to hold the men together.

Union bakers employed by a big department store, have gone on a strike and seriously crippled the supply of bread sold at that store.

There was the usual number of disturbances in the Kensington district late this afternoon. Many cars were stoned, but at only one place did the police have much trouble.

COURT'S CHARGE TO JURY IN THE TAGGART CASE.

Eliminates Much of the Showing Made by the Prosecution That Gambling Existed at French Lick Casino—Attorneys Close Arguments—Postponement Taken.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PAOLI (Ind.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The argument in the suit of the State to revoke the hotel charter of the French Lick Company, managed by National Committeeman Taggart, closed this afternoon in a masterly address by Atty.-Gen. Bingham, who analyzed Taggart's evidence, dwelt on local conditions, and made a strong appeal to the jury for higher moral standards in Orange county.

He handled Taggart without gloves, and denounced the many statements by counsel for the defense that the prosecution had been instituted solely because Taggart is prominent in politics.

After the oratory, the court adjourned until Monday to give the lawyers an opportunity to go over the instructions to the jury, which have been prepared. The State objects strenuously to some of the instructions, and avers that they practically deprive the State of all the value of its strong showing of gambling at French Lick. The court virtually tells the jury that it must believe that Taggart knew gambling was going on in the Casino, and that he did not try to stop it before there can be a finding against him. As the State showed that the money earned from the gambling devices went to the hotel nightly, and that Taggart and the hotel company received $46,000 in less than three years as rentals or practically winnings, these things should form a strong presumption that he knew the games were in progress, but the judge does not allow anything for these, but says that it must be a matter of positive knowledge on Taggart's part in order to find against him.

As Taggart denied such knowledge, and as the jury is naturally in sympathy with him, the instruction looks to many as a knockout blow. The first instruction objected to is as follows:

"If you find from the evidence in this cause that the defendant, never at any time, up to the beginning by plaintiff of this action, leased the building upon its grounds, known as the Casino or clubrooms, for the purpose of gambling, but that rental of the same was at all times for legitimate and lawful purposes, and that the defendant never, at any time, conceived or willingly and purposely permitted or aided or abetted in, any gambling on said premises, then your verdict should be for the defendant, and this is true, even though you should find there was gambling on said premises, and that some one of defendant's officers or agents knew of the same."

TO FACE CHARGE.

Constable Cohn left last night for San Francisco to bring back Dr. R. Stein, who is wanted here to answer to a charge of failure to provide, on which a warrant was issued for him eight months ago. Stein, who is said to be a wealthy physician, formerly located in Oakland, was arrested at Ukiah, Mendocino county. Mrs. Stein and her child are living in Los Angeles, having been brought here by Stein about a year ago, it is said.

"The Memory Lingers"

Mme. Koenen—
In Recital Monday Eve., 8:15
Simpson Auditorium

—those who heard this famous artist in Friday's Symphony concert are lavish in their expressions of delight;

(The Times, editorially, comments as follows:)

"Miss Tilly Koenen proved beyond a doubt the best soloist we have heard this season. Her voice, an exquisite contralto of marvelous purity and sweetness, is rightly deserving of the encomiums she has received elsewhere. She has a rare voice; it must be heard more than once to be fully appreciated. It it perfectly trained; of exquisite richness and color, handled with grace, and is a real delight.

"Miss Koenen endeared herself to the large audience present by her artistic singing of her first number, scena and aria: "Ah Perfidio" (Ah, Faithless One) by Beethoven. A finer rendition of this fine composition has seldom been heard. After many calls Miss Koenen gave a very dramatic reading of Hugo Wolf's short "Er'ist's." Her second number was "Judith's Siegeslied" (Van Eyken,) to which she was compelled to respond with another encore, "Die Musikantin," by Max Fiedler.

"Miss Koenen's singing was a rare treat and those who did not hear her at the Symphony concert should not miss the opportunity to hear her at her recital next Monday evening, when she will render a varied programme."

At all of Mme. Koenen's Recitals, the Piano of her choice, the famous is exclusively used

—When you hear this great singer tomorrow evening, note particularly the wonderfully sweet and beautiful tone of the piano which accompanies her.

If you contemplate the purchase of a piano you should visit our splendid display of these magnificent Baldwin instruments—Grands, Uprights and Player Pianos. Prices and terms will prove as attractive as the instruments themselves.

SHOOTS TO SCARE MOTHER.

Angered Because Parent Refused to Give Him Money, Young Man Creates Excitement.

Just because a mother would not give her overgrown, eighteen-year-old son more money to spend, Eugene Norwood created considerable excitement around the Van Nuys for a few minutes yesterday afternoon. He retired to his room after a scolding from his mother, and after a few moments several shots and screams echoed through the transom and the window opening to the street.

Several passersby, hearing the shots, rushed into the hotel, as did the corner policeman and inquired into the matter. The chief clerk hastened to the room and before arriving he heard two more shots, followed by some fearful groans. A tearful and frantic mother met him in the hall in front of her son's door.

"He has killed himself! He has killed himself!" she cried.

A pass key soon admitted the clerk, mother and policeman into the room. There on the bed lay the young man, smiling in a half hearted way.

"I just shot to scare mother," he explained in a hangdog fashion.

"Shooting inside the city limits is a misdemeanor," declared the policeman on hearing the dear boy's explanation. "I shall have to place you under arrest."

"Please don't, honestly I didn't mean to hurt anybody," Norwood pleaded. Only the pleadings of his mother and the endeavors of the clerk, saved the boy from a trip to police headquarters.

Chagrined by her son's action, Mrs. Norwood called a maid and hastily packed their trunks. With a penitent son in a sulky mood, she left the city for one of the suburban winter resorts.

SUSPECTED CHINESE CAUGHT.

Immigration Authorities Believe They Have Members of Smuggling Gang and Texas Contraband.

Three Chinamen were arrested by an immigration inspector, yesterday, and lodged in the County Jail to await an examination. Hop Wong and Gee Wong were suspected of being connected with the smuggling ring, which has headquarters in San Francisco. They have been watched for some time here. Him Lick, the third fellow, is said to have come here unlawfully from El Paso, Tex., and an alleged companion is believed to be concealed in Chinatown.

Inspector Nardini was trying to locate the two men who came here from El Paso. He got word that an attempt was to be made to get one or both of the contraband Chinamen on board a Southern Pacific train. At River Station, Hop Wong and Gee Wong were found in charge of Him Lick. They had bought a second-class ticket to Chicago for him and a tourist berth. The local Chinaman declared that they knew nothing about their companion's escape from El Paso, and were merely acting the part of friends in helping him get his railroad ticket.

At the present time a close watch is being kept on all freight trains which come through here en route to San Francisco. It is reported that a band of contraband Chinamen recently succeeded in making the journey from El Paso to San Francisco in a box car. After reaching that city, they were hidden by friends.

PROMOTER ARRESTED.

Man Accused of Fraud in Connection With San Joaquin Valley Settlement Is Held.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 12.—Henry J. Martens, founder of the Mennonite colony at Lerdo, was arrested at Hillsboro, Kas., last night, charged with obtaining property and money under false pretense from Jacob Buller. He is now in jail awaiting extradition. Sheriff Kelley has been apprised by wire of the arrest.

Dist.-Atty. Laird has prepared requisition papers and it is expected they will be signed by Governor Gillett at once.

The complaint sworn to by Buller, accuses Martens of having obtained $10,500 worth of property from him in Kansas and $1500 in promissory notes for which he agreed to convey lands in the Lerdo colony, to which, it is asserted, he never held title.

A number of civil suits have been filed against Martens and further criminal proceedings are threatened by others who allege he defrauded them.

RARE HEROISM DISPLAYED.

Deserted Lighthouse-keeper, Nearly Starved, Sticks Faithfully to His Post Eleven Days.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SOUTH NORWALK (Ct.) March 12.—A tale of rare heroism on the part of a lighthouse-keeper was reported to the authorities here today by the captain of the lighthouse tender Pansy. The Pansy stopped yesterday at the Norwalk light and found the assistant keeper, Leroy Loughborough, exhausted and almost starved, after having been on duty continuously for eleven days. Deserted by the head keeper on February 18, Loughborough had stood at his post, running the fog horns and attending to the light. When the Pansy came up yesterday he had fallen in a stupor at the side of the engines. At his foot was his faithful dog, Rover, with which he had shared his last bit of food. The two had lived for the last few days of the long vigil on nothing but dog biscuit.

QUAKERS EASY FOR TIGERS.

Fred Thomson Wins Thirty Points for Oxy.

Bradbeer Takes All Three Sprint Events.

Robertson Beats Mills in Two-Mile Race.

Occidental, 88; Whittier, 34.

Occidental defeated Whittier in the annual dual field meet at Baer Park yesterday afternoon, but the Quakers made a fine showing.

Fred Thomson performed in his usual winning form, annexing first places in the hammer throw, the broad jump, the shot-put, the discus, and the low hurdles. He also tied for second in the high jump, and in the pole vault.

Bradbeer also had his winning pace in the sprints, and broke the tape first in the century, the 220 and the 440. In addition, he won third place in the hammer throw.

Richardson defeated White of Whittier in the two-mile grind in the first eight-lap race the Occidental man has ever run.

Richardson showed good judgment throughout the race. He allowed White to keep the lead unitl the last lap, when he began to creep up, and passed the Quaker on the final turn. He finished very strong, being several yards ahead of his tired opponent. Sharpless and Briar had a close fight for third honors, which "Sharpy" finally won.

FIRST DISCUS EVENT.

The discus event was contested for the first time this season in an intercollegiate event. Fred Thomson won on a throw of 112ft. 7½in. Renneker did not equal his former performances, and his heaves all fell short of a hundred feet.

Fred put the shot 34ft. 7½in. Thomson also won from "Big" Rennacker in the hammer throw by a toss of 125ft. Renneker's best effort was several feet behind Fred's mark.

Williams won the pole vault of 10ft. Five men cleared 9ft. 9in., but four contestants dropped out on the next raise.

Robertson loafed in the half mile. He could have won it easily, but slacked his speed and let McGee break the tape. Kerr created some excitement in the "Oxy" bleachers by coming up fast and almost defeating both Tigers.

Drury Wieman won the high hurdles. Fred Thomson did not run. N. Rennaker and Dill, who finished second and third, were disqualified because they knocked over more than two hurdles.

Fred Thomson had an easy victory in the low hurdles. Drury Wieman fell down in getting over a barrier and finished behind Renneker, who was second man.

The Quakers failed to place in the furlong and won two third places in the century and the 440. Horton ran his first race in the furlong and won third place.

The showing in the high jump was very poor. All the men were suffering a reversal of form and first place was won at 5 ft. 5½ in. by Drury Wieman.

Fred won the broad jump on a leap of 20 ft. 5½ in.

RESULTS.

The 100-yard dash—Won by Bradbeer (O.,) Trask (O.) second, Pickett (W.) third; time 10 2-5s.

GOLF AT ANNANDALE.

Record Number of Players Turn Out for Regular Weekly Handicap Tourney Play.

The Annandale golf course had the best day in its history yesterday, for there were more people about the clubhouse and on the golf links than ever before, since the club was organized. Play started early in the morning and continued throughout the day. There were 162 players on the course during the day, which establishes the record for any golf course in Southern California.

The regular Saturday afternoon club prize handicap was interesting from start to finish, and while the gross scores were not as high as have been made this season the net scores compare very favorably with like scores made in other similar events.

F. D. Wilkerson and W. W. Leithead tied for the club prize with net scores of 72. Wilkerson made a gross of 80, handicap 8 giving him a net score of 72. Leithead made a gross score of 84, handicap 12, net 72. Other high scores were as follows:

	gross	handicap	net
A. S. French	90	16	74
F. R. Harris	89	14	75
Lincoln Clark	...92	15	77
Henry Newby	..92	15	77
B. O. Kendall	..96	19	77

The invitation tournament which had been aranged for next week has been indefinitely postponed. The club championship will be played March 26.

The Annandale Country Club and Los Angeles Country Club team play was played yesterday on the Los Angeles links and resulted in a tie score of 9 and 9.

The scores of the various players were as follows:

Hugo Johnstone (Annandale,) 2 points; William Frederickson (Los Angeles,) 1 point; E. S. Armstrong (Annandale,) 2 points; J. Jevne (Los Angeles,) 1 point; E. R. Williams (Annandale,) 1½ points; W. Crosby (Los Angeles,) 1½ points; H. B. Lamb (Annandale,) ½ point; A. Brawley (Los Angeles,) 2½ points; E. N. Wright (Annandale,) 3 points; W. Walton (Los Angeles) C. S. Byington (Annandale,) all square; W. W. Butler (Los Angeles,) 3 points.

The Redlands and Riverside golf teams played on neutral grounds at Annandale yesterday afternoon. They kept their own scores and did not turn them in.

OAKLAND RESULTS.

ARASEE WINS HANDICAP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, March 12.—Arasee won the Petaluma Handicap at Emeryville today, after one of the best contests of the season. The son of Blues was cleverly handled by Glass. Bubbling Water closed fast after getting away, but got tangled up, and fought it out with Arasee. There was a neck between them at the finish. Orbicular was third.

The sensational Cluny gained an easy victory in the two-year-old event.

Six furlongs, selling: Argonaut, 110 (Mentry,) won; Faneuil Hall, 107 (Rice,) second; Ellerd, 114 (Vandusan,) third; time 1:14 1-5. Lady Rennselaer, Ampedo, Hush Money, Jim Cafferata, French Cook, St. Francis and Acquia also ran.

Four furlongs, purse: Cluny, 109 (Rice,) Helen Barbee, 105 (Vosper,) second; Kormak, 107 (Gross,) third; time 0:47 4-5. Dunc Campbell, Ravelston II and Zwick also ran.

Futurity: Sewell, 113 (Mentry,) won; Spohn, 108 (Vosper,) second; Kid North, 85 (Selden,) third; time 1:10. Orelio, Madeline Musgrave, Beau Man, El Paso and Lady Panchita also ran.

Mile: Arasee, 106 (Glass,) won; Bubbling Water, 112 (Martin,) second; Orbicular, 105 (Rice,) third; time 1:40. Right Easy, Raleigh, Silver Knight and Johnny Dions also ran.

Mile and seventy yards: Edwin T. Fryer, 102 (Page,) won; Round and Round, 105 (Vosper,) second; Whidden, 100 (Selden,) third; time 1:44 2-5. Bishop W. and Follie L. also ran.

Five and one-half furlongs, purse: John H. Sheehan, 114 (Williams,) won; Phil Mohr, 99 (Selden,) second; Sal Atticum, 105 (Rice,) third; time 1:06 2-5. Rey Hindoo, Myles O'Connell, Fancy, W. V. Brumby and Port Mahone also ran.

COLTON BLANKED.

THROOP WINS EASILY.

The Throop Polytechnic baseball teams defeated Colton High School, champions of the Citrus League, 8-0, yesterday afternoon, at Colton.

Duarte pitched for the Pasadena boys and allowed only three scratch hits.

Branch was touched up for eight hits by the Throopers.

Duarte knocked a home run.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

Mrs. E. A. Lewis of No. 400 West Thirty-first street has purchased a Columbus coupé, Mrs. W. M. Wickerm of Pasadena, a Columbus victoria; Mrs. Hawkins of Pasadena, a Detroit roadster from the California Electric Garage.

Norman W. Church, Coast representative for the Stoddard-Dayton, left for the East Wednesday morning.

Woods R. Woolwine, president of the Woolwine Motor Car Company, has received a new carload of Oldsmobiles.

Frank T. Holder, the well-known millionaire of Pasadena, has just accepted delivery of his seventh Studebaker automobile. His sixth and seventh cars are "G-7" models, the former being a touring car, and the latter a landaulet.

Three carloads of Baker electrics are en route and will be received by the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Company this week. This shipment consists of fifteen cars, seven coupés and eight victorias. The demand for electrics continues strong, and the local agency is preparing for a big season.

R. P. Shea, driving an E.M.F. "30" touring car, Tuesday, made the trip to Lancaster and back, a distance of 220 miles, in ten hours' running time, with a full load. He experienced absolutely no difficulty with his car, and never once was out of the seat. Shea says the Newhall grade is in frightful shape at the present time. He was able to make the back side of Newhall without any difficulty on the second speed. He went to Lancaster via Mint Cañon, and reports the roads beyond Newhall in fair shape.

Ralph C. Hamlin, the local Franklin agent, went to San Francisco on business last night. He will return Tuesday.

The Flanders "20" reached here by express Friday, and has been kept going since its arrival.

T. C. Kingman has just purchased an E.M.F. "30," with full equipment, of the Lord Motor Car Company, and will use the car to see Southern California. He will drive to San Francisco and ship from there to Spokane.

The Lord Motor Car Company has sold to Howard E. Huntington a new Studebaker "G-7" touring car, which will be delivered about May 1. Mrs. Eliza Huston has purchased a Studebaker "G-7" touring car, with blue body and yellow gear.

The Burkhard-Crippen Motor Car Company has received the first shipment of their Model D cars. This is the forty-horse-power touring car which weighs 2250 pounds, and is a hill climber. E. Jr. Bennett says the demand for this model is active.

D. W. Semple has joined the forces of the W. D. Newerf Rubber Company.

The Pasadena branch of the Lord Motor Car Company, who handle the Studebaker line of cars in Southern California, will be open Monday morning for business, and the prospects are that the garage will be well filled, as the number of applications for storage already has far exceeded their ex-pectations.

Extermination of Catarrh Germs Now An Easy T...

Death to all tyrants! Immediate death to the most stupendous army of tyrants that America has to deal with.

The catarrh microbe must go; the people have decided. The pernicious, persistent and relentless destroyer of health and life must be conquered and nothing but a campaign of absolute extermination will be tolerated.

If you have mucous in your throat or nose in the morning; if you hawk and blow and spit for some minutes before you are able to do anything; if you have a bad taste in the mouth, crusts in the nose, breath that won't make friends, then the microbes of catarrh are devouring the membrane that lines your nose and throat and it is high time you destroyed every one of them.

The way to destroy these microbes is to get where they are with an antiseptic strong enough to kill them and yet mild enough not to irritate or inflame the tender membrane.

Stomach dosing won't do it; sprays, ointments and douches cannot penetrate the folds and crevices where microbes thrive and flourish.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE HEALTH

THE KEYSTONE TO HEALTH IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Good health is essential to success in life and it is the privilege of most everyone to possess it. Sometimes, however, you allow disease to gain a foothold and you suffer from Stomach, Liver, Kidney or Bowel Ills. It is then that prompt attention should be given, for delay only brings on that sure handicap—Sickness. The way to cure such ailments is to remove the cause and the best medicine to do this is

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

GET WELL AGAIN

If you are one of the thousands who are struggling under the handicap of poor health, don't become despondent and discouraged; your case is not entirely helpless; just cheer up—take a short course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and notice the improvement in your general health. It will strengthen your weak stomach, give appetite, make the digestion and assimilation perfect, keep the bowels free from constipation, the liver and kidneys active, and then—pleasant thought, no more Heartburn, Belching, Headache, Gas on Stomach, Smothering Spells, Indigestion, Costiveness, Biliousness, Dyspepsia or Vomiting. It has been doing this particular work for 57 years, so you really ought to try a bottle today and be convinced of its merit.

IT IS A TONIC

and invigorant of rare virtue, and in convalescence you will find it a splendid aid. In fact, it is a safe medicine that can be taken by anyone with gratifying results. In cases of Malaria, Fever and Ague it has also proven very effective.

A FEW LETTERS OF PROOF:

Mr. Thomas H. Halloran, Newport, Ky., writes: "I have taken your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and been greatly benefited. I always recommend it for stomach trouble."

Dr. H. H. Davis, Louisville, Miss., writes: "I frequently prescribe Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in convalescence with splendid results."

Mr. Jacob Hats, Bangor, Wis., writes: "I find nothing does me so much good as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for stomach complaints. It never fails."

Remember Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold only in bottles—never in bulk—and each bottle has our Private Stamp over the neck. Refuse all others. The genuine is for sale by all druggists and general dealers.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

BUSCH ADDS TO HIS HOLDINGS.

BUYS BEHR BLOCK FRONTING ON MADELINE DRIVE.

Another St. Louis Man Secures the Old Day Ranch for Fifty Thousand Dollars—Carnegie Will Spend Day and Night on Summit of Mount Wilson.

Office of The Times, No. 26 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, March 13.—Adolphus Busch has completed the purchase of another tract adjoining his large holdings. The property consists of a block of land with a frontage of 412 feet on Madeline Drive and a depth of 200 feet, bought of Mrs. Eva M. Behr for a consideration of $17,000. This latest purchase will be added to the famous sunken gardens and will be improved along similar lines.

Samuel W. Allerton, a Chicago capitalist, who makes his winter home in South Pasadena, has purchased the Gov. H. H. Markham property on South Pasadena avenue, for $7500.

CARNEGIE'S PROGRAMME.

Andrew Carnegie and party, consisting of Mrs. Carnegie and daughter, Dr. G. E. Hale, Dr. R. R. Meredith, Dr. H. F. Pritchett, Dr. J. A. B. Scherer and possibly one or two others, will make the trip to the summit of Mt. Wilson this week in a large mountain wagon. It will be drawn by four mountain-trained horses, which will be driven by J. F. Anderson. The wagon is being equipped with new brakes in order to insure the greatest safety. The new trail has been thoroughly overhauled and is in excellent condition.

The trip will be made on Thursday unless the weather is disagreeable, in which case it will be made the next day. The party will remain on the summit one entire day. Reservations have been made at the Mt. Wilson Hotel. Mr. Carnegie has stated to Dr. Hale that he is very desirous of seeing the great observatory which is a part of the Carnegie Institution. He does not contemplate any extraordinary improvements or additions at the present time.

ST. LOUIS MAN BUYS.

One of the largest real estate deals of the week was the sale of the old C. A. Day ranch on East California street to E. J. Neimeyer of St. Louis. The land adjoins the Throop Institute campus on the east and is beautifully situated for a large country home. It is highly improved with a large residence and several hundred producing orange trees. Mr. Neimeyer paid $50,000 for the property and announces that he will spend several thousand dollars in improvements.

OHIO BANQUET.

The Ohio Society of Pasadena will give its annual banquet at the Hotel Green on the night of April 4. Arrangements are being made for a large attendance. Rev. F. M. Dowling has been selected as toastmaster. Addresses will be made by Dr. C. E. Locke of Los Angeles and others. An effort is being made to secure Gen. Adna D. Chaffee as one of the speakers.

DR. PRITCHETT ARRIVES.

Dr. H. F. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation of New York, arrived in Pasadena yesterday morning. He expects to spend about ten days in visiting all of the principal colleges and schools. Dr. Pritchett is making the trip at this time to meet Andrew Carnegie and accompany him on the inspection trip of the Carnegie Solar Observatory. He has several matters in connection with the Carnegie Foundation to take up with Mr. Carnegie, which involve large sums. He states that the recent $3,000,000 fund set aside for division among ten schools is not under his direction.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS.

Pasadena oranges are moving to the eastern markets at the rate of four to five cars a day. The Pasadena Orange Growers' Association is shipping two cars every day and some times three, while the Sierra Madre-Lamanda Citrus Association is sending out from two to four cars daily. So far this year the former has shipped ninety-two cars and the latter 138. The Pasadena association expects to ship about 210 cars of navels this year, which will be a few in excess of last year's. The Sierra Madre-Lamanda association expects to send out over 250 cars, or about twenty more than were shipped last year which was a banner one.

The managers of both associations state the quality and price is better this year than ever before.

The growers in the vicinity state that Pasadena groves were not affected by frost and that they will have a better year this year than ever before.

CLERIC AS EDITOR.

Rev. Malcom J. McLeod, who recently resigned the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church to accept that of the Collegiate Reform Church of New York at a salary of $15,000 a year, yesterday edited the Star. He recently delivered a sermon giving his ideas on the proper manner to run a newspaper, but this trial has caused him to change his mind. He says modern journalists can give him many pointers. He states that as a generol proposition the American newspapers are all right.

CASES CONTINUED.

The cases of P. E. Sweeley and F. B. Ogle, arrested last Thursday charged with operating a bucket shop on Green street, were continued yesterday until March 18. The cases of C. R. Stratton, J. W. Scott and H. V. Warnock, charged with the same offense, will come up for hearing on the 17th. inst.

Rev. L. Porter Hitchcock, pastor of the West Side Congregational Church, will deliver an address before the men's club of the Y.M.C.A. at the First Baptist Church this afternoon.

Dr. J. A. B. Scherer will deliver an address at the First Universalist Church at 11 o'clock this morning on the "Life and Character of Father Throop."

J. Campbell White, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary movement, will deliver an address at 11 o'clock this morning at the Presbyterian Church.

CAFETERIA LUNCHEON.

One of the pleasant social events of yesterday was the cafeteria luncheon given by Mrs. Hanford L. Lockwood at her home on Palmetto Drive in honor of Mrs. John Field of St. Paul. Mrs. Lockwood was assisted by Mrs. Frederick L. Brown. Those present were Mmes. Norman Bridge, John Gilber Blue, Malcom J. McLeod, Henry B. Stehman, William Nash, Myron Hunt, Thaddeus Jones, Thomas Foote, [illegible]d Torrey Everett.

ANTE-NUPTIAL DINNER.

[illegible] Alice Earley of South Marengo [illegible] gave a bridal party dinner [illegible]entary to Miss Kate Smith [illegible]on Lisk, last evening. All the decorations were in red, and hearts predominated. Covers were laid for Misses Margaret Mears, Lucy Smith, Ouina Lisk, Jessie and Alice Earley, Messrs. Warren and Clark Smith, Wm. E. Landers, George Earley, William E. Landon, Arthur Gabriel, Larry Fitzgerald and the guests of honor.

COL. HOGAN HOST.

One of the most elaborately appointed dinners of the season was that given last night at the hotel Maryland by Col. W. J. Hogan. The guests were Mrs. Josephine Bond, Yonkers, N. Y.; Miss Lillian Crall, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newby, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Rider, Pasadena; Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Hutchinson, St. Paul; L. S. Hoyt, Newcastle, Pa.; M. D. Stambach, Arthur Dodsworth and Hawley Turner of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Elwell of Minneapolis and Miss Margaret Evans of Northfield, Minn., are winter guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Spaulding, No. 371 Claremont Drive. Mr. Elwell is head of the Board of Education of Minneapolis and also president of a large furniture factory in that city. Miss Evans was for many years dean of Carlton College and is now a member of the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Fahyes, winter guests at the Hotel Maryland, spent several days last week at the various beaches, making the trips in one of the Maryland private cars. Mr. Patterson is a director of the Metropolitan National Bank of New York.

WANT MORE PROTECTION.

Citizens of Southwestern Part of South Pasadena Ask Trustees for Another Policeman.

SOUTH PASADENA, March 12.—Residents of the southwestern part of the city presented a petition to the Board of Trustees with the signatures of a number of property owners urging that U. T. Smith be appointed a special policeman and detailed to duty in that district. After discussion it was decided that the Police Committee be instructed to investigate conditions and if that portion of the city is not receiving as much attention from the two special policemen now employed, as other districts, that the attention of the officers be called to the matter and they be ordered to look after it more carefully.

In order to assist in raising money to help pay for the site of the Women's Improvement Association Clubhouse, "the circle," headed by Mrs. B. F. Huntington and composed of Mmes. John Shenk, Jr., Frank Stephens, George W. Adams, John D. Reavis, Norman F. Marsh, W. M. Milne, J. P. Whitmore, C. B. Ingram, G. Maurice Crow, A. F. Brown, Willis Blood, Leo Longley and W. D. Newerf, have decided to give a farce April 9 in the High School auditorium entitled "Scenes in the Union Depot." There will be a great many of the local people in the cast, and the parts are now being assigned. Mrs. Frank Cattern will drill the characters and arrange for the staging of the farce.

The Brotherhood of St. Paul of the Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting last evening. After the business session there was a debate on "The Direct Primary Law."

The Board of School Trustees has decided to establish manual training and domestic science departments in the schools at the opening of the fall term. Rooms for this purpose will be fitted up in the lower floor of the High School and a complete equipment will be installed. Instructions in these departments will be open to the students in the High School and will be made elective. The seventh and eighth grades and possibly the fifth and sixth will be compulsory. Competent instructors for both departments will be engaged.

Mrs. J. N. Hart of San Diego is the guest of Mrs. Ben F. Dupuy of Virginia Place.

REDONDO BEACH.

REDONDO BEACH, March 14.—Today, the last for filing the petitions of candidates for the municipal election, April 11, opposition to the Citizens' ticket for trustee was announced. The names are Cleveland Hoansler and B. L. Phillips, who will run against J. H. Cavanah and A. B. Steel for trustee for a term of four years. H. B. Ainsworth is the only candidate for trustee for a two-year term.

Phillips is a member of the present board and Hoansler is proprietor of a pool room here. Although the former is a trustee the ticket cannot be classed as an administration one as it is not supported by all the members. Neither can it be called the ticket of the saloon interests as that element intends to support the citizens' ticket.

SAWTELLE.

SAWTELLE, March 12.—This evening the nomination of a second municipal ticket to be voted for at the election, April 11, was completed. It is to be known as the "peoples' ticket," and has the following composition: City Trustees, George P. Lawrence, George A. Horning, C. C. Hayes and E. E. Rice; Clerk, Arthur Hill; Treasurer, F. W. Seeley; Marshal, W. N. May. Hayes is the only one of the nominees who is on the other ticket. The election promises to be sharply contested and the campaign of four weeks will be full of activity.

TOO HASTY.

DOCK COMPANY ASKS FOR CASH.

CITY ATTORNEY SAYS IT HAS NOT EARNED IT YET.

However, If It Puts Up Satisfactory Bond, Long Beach City Council May Release Fifty Thousand Dollars Now Held in Escrow—Polytechnic School Bonds Carry.

LONG BEACH, March 12.—The Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company having dredged Channel Three in front of the city water frontage to a depth of twenty-one feet and also slips four and five on either side of the property, has filed a demand with the City Clerk for the remaining $50,000 of the purchase price. This is held in escrow pending the carrying out of certain conditions which the company says it has done. City Attorney Long, however, has told Council that the money is not due. He said another clause of the contract provides for a depth of fifteen feet from the channel to the ocean six months after the date of the contract, twenty-one feet three months later, and thirty feet in nine months, and this latter has not been complied with. In extenuation the company says that an extention of the jetties to make the harbor more permanent has delayed the dredging work, but it is willing to give a bond to insure this work being done in six months if the city will release the $50,000 lying in the bank vaults, which it desires to use in furthering the work. The demand has been referred to the Finance Committee. It is understood that the money will be paid over if a satisfactory bond is filed.

LIBEL CASE SETTLED.

The libel case of Capt. W. H. Graves against Capt. J. W. Russell, owner of the launch Music, pending in the Federal court for a year and a half, has been settled out of court. Graves has accepted $250 in full settlement of his claim which was for dragging the launch Music off the beach where it had stranded. The sale of the Music last week to J. D. Loop of Pomona, led to the satisfactory adjustment of the case.

LAD RECOVERS.

Earl Thompson, who blew away part of his side some weeks ago by dragging a shot gun into a wagon behind him, and whose life was despaired of, has so far recovered as to leave the hospital.

SCHOOL BONDS CARRY.

The Long Beach second district today voted overwhelmingly to issue bonds in the sum of $240,000 for the site, buildings and equipment of a Polytechnic High School. The student body of the High School was out early with plenty of autos and the way the boys rushed voters to the polls was an eye opener for older politicians. The total vote was 1323, and 1082 were in favor of the bonds and 236 against.

Funeral services for the late Dr. H. O. Bates will be held Monday afternoon at the family residence, No. 421 Orange avenue, conducted by Rev. Betts and Fretz. The Masons will be in charge of the services at the grave. The active pallbearers will be Knights Templar and the honorary pallbearers physicians, who are members of the Long Beach Medical Society, of which Dr. Bates was the first president.

TOO COSTLY.

The proposition to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire all the beach property between Collins Way and Alamitos avenue for public park and playground purposes will probably be abandoned. The city engineer estimates that the cost would be about $500,000.

The Cameron Septic Tank Company has sent the city another warning that it is infringing upon patents held by the company in maintaining its present septic tank. It offers to lease privileges to the city if prompt application is made. On the advice of the City Attorney the claim will be resisted.

Work on the Virginia Country Club grounds is progressing rapidly. At a meeting of the directors today, it was announced that the golf course will be ready for play the first of April. The lake at the club grounds has been deepened four feet, making fourteen altogether. It is now being drained to destroy the tulles.

At request of the Ebell Club, the City Council has designated Saturday next as Arbor Day. Citizens generally will be asked to clean up yards and plant trees, flowers and shrubbery.

Despite the appeals of citizens of Belmont Heights who wanted the two propositions embodied in one paragraph, the Council last night adopted an ordinance calling an election on April 19, to vote on bond issues of $75,000 for pier repairs, and $50,000 for a new pier at Devil's Gate.

While a wood fire was burning in the grate at the home of N. S. Jillson, at Anser and German streets this morning, a gas pipe burst and for a time there was danger of the destruction of the house. Fortunately some one had presence of mind to turn the gas off at the meter.

"ANDY" WILL VISIT.

Word has been received here that Andrew Carnegie has consented to pay Long Beach a visit next week to inspect the public library for which he donated $30,000. The Chamber of Commerce is making arrangements for a quiet reception.

The Police Commission this morning confirmed the appointment of C. E. Moyer as Chief of Police after granting him a year's leave of absence as patrolman, in order to insure his return to the force, when politics shall cause a change in the head of the department. Moyer will file his bond and qualify on Monday. Until then Chief Williams will remain at the head of the department. Moyer takes his honors modestly, and says he will try and do his duty.

The launches Camiguin, Music and Fashion will tomorrow inaugurate cut rates on ocean trips, charging 50 cents to Portuguese Bend and 10 cents the round trip to San Pedro.

ISSUES CALL FOR MEETING.

Committee of Santa Monica Women's Club Wants Public Discussion of Sane Fourth.

SANTA MONICA, March 12.—The Women's Club Committee on plans and preparations for a safe and sane observance of the Fourth of July today issued a call for a public meeting to be held at the City Hall on the evening of Tuesday, March 22. All who have any suggestions to offer in connection with the humane proposition are urged to be in attendance and express themselves. The desire seems to be that the holiday should be celebrated in grand style at the bay this year, and as the novelty of the celebration will require much hard work it is necessary that the working committees should be named and get busy without unnecessary delay.

Mmes. E. P. Nittinger, A. M. Jamison and B. A. Lara have been named as delegates to represent the Women's Club at the State Federation, which is to meet in annual session at Santa Barbara in April. The alternates are Mmes. S. J. Egleston and M. E. Chapin.

The baseball game to be played on the Utah avenue diamond tomorrow afternoon will be between the Hughes Milling team of Los Angeles and the Santa Monica Pompanoes. This will be the first contest between these nines, both of which are members of the Southern State League.

B. Sues and Ellis Bashore will be the candidates for Justice of the Peace of the Santa Monica township. The nominations are to be made by petition and the fight for the place will be along personal rather than party lines. S. H. Jackson is the only name mentioned in connection with the nomination for constable.

"La Crescenta Del Mar," No. 179, parlor of Native Daughters, is to be instituted here the 14th. The following officers will be installed: Past President, Mrs. J. T. Connelly; President, Miss Ruby Dunn; First Vice-President, Miss Mearl Hemingway; Second Vice-President, Miss Katherine Whelan; Third Vice-President, Miss Ella Millen; Recording Secretary, Miss M. E. Whelan; Financial Secretary, Miss Madelise Vache; Treasurer, Mrs. Masner; Marshal, Mrs. Cole; Outside Sentinel, Miss Conception Millen; Inside Sentinel, Miss Margaret Millen; Pianist, Miss Winnie Connelly; Trustees, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Griffiths and Mrs. Burnwood. About thirty charter members have been voted in.

FIRE DEPARTMENT REORGANIZES

Pomona Volunteers Will Have Charge of Apparatus—Girl Goes to London to Be Married.

POMONA, March 12.—According to present plans, under the reorganization of the Pomona fire department, the thirty men who now constitute the volunteer company will be drilled to handle the fire apparatus. Three foreman and assistants will be elected to take charge of the hose, chemical, and hook and ladder trucks, who will work under direction of the fire chief W. H. Poston. Regular fire drills will be held. The constitution and bylaws of the company will be amended by a committee composed of Messrs. Fay, Lewis and Stevens, and provision will be made for the appointment of substitutes to serve when the regulars are out of the city.

Miss Lota F. Williams, daughter of A. J. Williams of this city, has left for New York, from which city she will sail on the Lusitania on Wednesday for Liverpool and upon arrival in London will be married to J. M. Bermanger, formerly of Los Angeles. The couple will reside in London.

The Pomona public schools will close for a week, beginning April 4, for the Easter vacation. During that time the school buildings will be renovated and repaired for the last lap of the school year.

G. J. Seagoe has bought from J. E. Geer the latter's two and a half-acre orange grove at Laurel and Weber streets for a consideration of $4000. Mr. Seagoe has bought the property for a home.

Frederick W. Carringer of Denver, who has been visiting his father-in-law, B. L. Olds of North San Antonio avenue, has left for his home. Mrs. Carringer and children will remain here for two months.

The Century Club formed a theater party to witness "The Test" in Los Angeles tonight. The members are Mmes. Abbott, Belcher, Fich, Hinman, Le Roy, Hufford, Garcelon, Kenyon, Northcraft, Travis, George, Yundt, Hendricks, Smith and Miss Abbott.

The Pomona High School will enter its athletic team in the sixth annual academic championship track meet of Southern California, to be held at Baer Park, Los Angeles, on March 26. Twenty-six schools have already entered to compete for the championship.

TEAM IS BANQUETED.

Baseball Nine of Glendale Entertained by Manager—Games Booked for Several Weeks.

GLENDALE, March 12.—The baseball team was banqueted by its manager, E. B. Valentine, at the Woods Hotel on Brand boulevard, last night. H. P. Coker was toastmaster.

After giving the boys some advice, he called for the following toasts, which were ably responded to: "Our Team," Melson Sprinkle; "The Baseball Situation in This Valley," Harry Lynch; "The Trials of the Umpire," J. H. McCormick; "Baseball Brains," Roy Roberts; "Baseball," Wilbur Chapman; "Baseball and the Press," Albert Marple; "The Trials of a Captain," "Red Perkins of Los Angeles.

Manager Valentine stated that he had games booked up to the middle of April, and that he was receiving letters from team managers every day requesting dates.

Enthusiasm in baseball is growing in this city. The suits of the team were purchased by money donated by the business men of the town. In the near future a four-act drama, "Down in Maine," will be given for the benefit of the team by the Glendale Dramatic Company in Filger's Opera House.

The members of the team present were Melson Sprinkle, Frank Littell, Leo Goode, Charles Bidwell, Elmer S. Flower, William Flores, Roy Roberts, Wilbur Chapmen, Clarence Sprinkle, George Benson, Arthur Knight, Charles Shropshire, and Frank Hillyard.

VETERANS WIN BALL GAME.

Los Angeles Team Goes Down Before Crowd of Veterans at Soldiers' Home.

SOLDIERS' HOME, March 12.—The game between the Soldiers' Home baseball club and that of Union Hardware and Metal Company of Los Angeles this afternoon was one of the best which has been brought off here since the introduction of that sport for entertainment of veterans.

More than 2000 witnessed the game today from the grand stand and seats provided.

In the game with the same team two weeks ago the home boys were badly worsted. Today, however, greatly due to Jack Wades' pitching, the Los Angeles team went down before the veterans. The score at the close of the game stood: Soldiers' Home, 3; Hardware and Metal Company, 2.

Col. Daubenspeck, Commander of the G.A.R., of the Department of California and Nevada, with his staff, paid an official visit to Uncle Sam Post, G.A.R., of this place on Thursday evening. The Commander expressed himself as pleased with the increase of membership in the post.

Applications for furloughs are already plentiful, in anticipation of the March pension payment, which will take place early in the coming week, and an unusual large spring exodus is looked for.

Augustus A. Mantius, late United Sates Navy, is appointed commander of home Co. G, vice Hinckley, resigned.

Brevet Brig.-Gen. William F. Bennett, late colonel of the Thirty-third Regiment, United States Colored Troops, a native of Michigan, admitted from Los Angeles, in 1909, died March 10, aged 75.

VENICE SEASON OPENS TODAY.

Seaside Attractions Will Be in Full Blast Including the Wild West Show.

VENICE, March 12.—Although the big surf bathhouse opened tonight, after having been closed several weeks for repairs, the formal opening of Venice for the spring season will not take place until tomorrow. At that time the Wild West show will open on Midway Plaisance and all the seaside attractions will be operating in full blast. Beginning with Monday and continuing for an entire week, the dancing pavilion on the pier will be the scene of a pure food and poultry show.

Work is being rushed on the construction of the new roller coaster, and the pile driver is hammering away on the deep water pier extension. This is to be run 100 feet beyond the breakwater, and when completed will afford deeper fishing than has heretofore been enjoyed by frequenters of the beach.

The Chamber of Commerce has named the following committee to confer with three like committees relative to the formation of a Santa Monica Bay Promotion Committee: Abbot Kinney, F. K. McCarver and W. A. Rennie. The other nine delegates will come from the Santa Monica Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and Sawtelle Commercial Club.

SIXTEEN NEW BUILDINGS.

Active Construction in Progress at Ocean Park—Pretentious Apartment Houses Planned.

OCEAN PARK, March 12.—With sixteen new buildings in course of construction along the ocean front from Zephyr to Hollister avenue, it would look as if the season would prove a lively one along building lines. Several of these are apartment houses of a more expensive and more pretentious type than those attempted during any previous season. Beach cottages are rapidly filling for the summer season, and the number of empty store rooms is unusually small for this season of the year.

The proposal to build an 1800-foot pier at Kinney street has served to call attention to that locality and should the improvement go ahead, as is now planned, there will be building development along the shore to keep pace with the creation of the new pleasure resort.

GRAY HEAD IN PRISON.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Although he is 75 years old and very feeble, Phillip Render of Long Island City will be taken to Sing Sing prison next week to serve a term of four years and nine months for burglary. He will be the oldest convict in the prison.

Render finished a seven years' sentence for bigamy only a few months ago. A few days later he was arrested on a charge, but was saved from prosecution by a Long Island farmer, who took him to his farm and agreed to care for him. Render repaid this kindness by stealing everything he could, and disappeared. He was arrested in a neighboring town some weeks afterward.

Pimples Will Leave You

In 5 Days You Can Get Rid of All Skin Eruptions by the New Calcium Sulphide Wafers.

Trial Package To Prove It Sent Free.

If you are one of the unfortunates who can't get away from your pimples, and you have tried almost everything under heaven to get rid of them, take a few of Stuart's Calcium Wafers every day. Do that steadily for a few days, and in less than a week look at yourself in the mirror.

You will then say that Stuart's Calcium Wafers are a wonder in getting rid of all eruptions.

These wonderful little workers contain the most effective blood purifier ever discovered, calcium sulphide.

No matter what your trouble is, whether pimples, blotches, blackheads, rash, tetter, eczema, or scabby crusts, you can solemnly depend upon Stuart's Calcium Wafers as never-failing.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have cured boils in three days and the worst cases of skin diseases in a week. Every particle of impurity is driven out of your system completely, never to return, and it is done without deranging your system in the slightest.

Most treatments for the blood and for skin eruptions are miserably slow in their results, and besides, many of them are poisonous. Stuart's Calcium Wafers contain no poison, or drug of any kind; they are absolutely harmless, and yet do work which cannot fail to surprise you.

Don't go around with a humiliating, disgusting mass of pimples and blackheads on your face. A face covered over with these disgusting things makes people turn away from you, and breeds failure in your life work. Stop it. Read what an Iowa man said when he woke up one morning and found he had a new face:

"By George, I never saw anything like it. There I've been for three years trying to get rid of pimples and blackheads, and guess I used everything under the sun. I used your Calcium Wafers for just seven days. This morning every blessed pimple is gone and I can't find a blackhead. I could write you a volume of thanks, I am so grateful to you."

Just send us your name and address in full, today, and we will send you a trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, free to test. After you have tried the sample and been convinced that all we say is true, you will go to your nearest druggist and get a 50c box and be cured of your facial trouble. They are in tablet form, and no trouble whatever to take. You go about your work as usual, and there you are—cured and happy.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Colds and Catarrh

Mrs. George Parker, 419 Water St., Menasha, Wis., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years, and have found it a perfectly reliable medicine. It soon rids the system of any traces of a cold, and prevents serious consequences.

"I began using it for catarrh, which I suffered with a good many years, but had not been very serious until recently. Since I have taken Peruna the dropping in my throat has discontinued, and my head and nose are not so stopped in the morning. I am pleased with the results, and shall continue to use it until I am entirely rid of catarrh.

ORANGE COUNTY COMPANIES IN FAIR WAY TO SETTLE.

Nearly All the Defendants in the Suit Regarding the Santa Ana [illegible] Inclined to Favor an Agreement—Extensive Improvements Looked for.

SANTA ANA, March 12.—A conference was held yesterday between representatives of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company and the Anaheim Union Water Company, plaintiffs, and the Gage Canal Company, one of the defendants in the big water suit now pending in which the Orange County water users are seeking to determine their water rights in the Santa Ana River, as against all users of that stream and its underground basins. The Gage Canal Company is of Riverside, and, taking 2000 inches of water, is the second biggest user up the river. As the result of the conference an agreement may be reached as against the Gage Canal Company. The Orange County companies are in a fair way to settle with nearly all the long list of defendants. With this suit, which is in the federal courts, disposed of, a great step will have been accomplished in the water business, as it will open the way for extensive development.

SUES FOR FEES.

Attorney Victor Montgomery began suit today for $1245.65, attorney's fees, against Col. Haggatt Clopton of Huntington Beach, and the colonel's daughter, Pearle E., formerly an Occidental College student, and son, Hugh E. Montgomery represented them in a sensational suit brought by Mrs. Jennie Clopton of Long Beach, over a pre-nuptial agreement. She asserted that Col. Clopton had deeded valuable property to the children to defraud her of her share. Col. Clopton asked for divorce on the ground of cruelty. In this county Col. Clopton won, and was given judgment granting him the handsome Clopton residence on American avenue, Long Beach. In Los Angeles, Mrs. Clopton got judgment. She took possession and still keeps it.

RANCHER IS PLAINTIFF.

Another Anaheim rancher who says he was victimized by Henry J. Martens, who sold lands in Kern county, has brought suit to rescind a deed given Martens to Anaheim property. The plaintiff is J. D. Wiens. Others who have already sued here are Peter M. [illegible], Henrietta Kruger and Heinrich Dir. Each of these four deeded [illegible] to Martens as first payment on the Kern land. In every case Martens deeded immediately to J. C. [illegible] Fast of Hillsboro, Kan.

[illegible] Rarup, sixteen years old, of Orange, will accompany Marion [illegible] on the latter's trip afoot from [illegible] to New York, advertising the San Diego Exposition planned for [illegible].

Pedro Trujillo, a Los Angeles [illegible], was given three months in jail yesterday by Justice Smithwick, after he had been found guilty of stealing five hens from W. D. Rose last Tuesday.

FINE HOUSE TRADED.

The fine residence of H. C. Dawes at No. [illegible] Spurgeon street has been traded to Harry Kennedy for an orange grove at Riverside. Turner & Watson made the deal.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

On March 11, Waldo E. Brison, 24, and Mary A. Black, 18, both of Los Angeles; Otis B. Palmer, 21, and Vera [illegible], both of Santa Ana; Harry [illegible], 21, and Nellie E. Janes, 26, both of Los Angeles. On March 12, [illegible] C. Few, 21, and Irene Holden, 20, both of Los Angeles.

IMPROVE BIG RANCH.

Los Angeles Doctors Develop Their Property at Perris—Three Wells Are Put Down.

PERRIS, March 12.—Drs. J. E. and [illegible] of Los Angeles, are making extensive improvements on their [illegible] ranch southeast of town. Three wells have been put down, one [illegible], one 312 and one 236 feet deep. In them there is between 600 and [illegible] feet of coarse water bearing gravel. There is also a domestic well sixty feet deep to which a small gasoline engine and pump has been attached, which will pump 1000 gallons of water in forty-five minutes, without noticeably diminishing the water supply. A [illegible] horsepower commercial engine and an eight-inch Church pump will shortly be installed. [illegible] thousand feet of fourteen and [illegible] feet of twelve-inch pipe is being laid. The pipe being furnished by the American Steel Pipe and Tank Company of West Alhambra. Two bunk houses, 12x14, have already been erected. It is a matter of a few months when the place will be developed into one of the most beautiful alfalfa ranches in the valley.

The Harford and Jordan agency reports the following real estate sales last week: Samuel Irwin to Mrs. [illegible] Horne of Altadena, ten acres in lot 1, section 29, in Jarvis' subdivision, northeast of town. [illegible] McCoy, to Kate Graham Chaffee, [illegible] acres in the southwest quarter of [illegible], east of town. Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee expect to improve the place for a home.

COLTON.

COLTON, March 12.—The preliminary hearing of L. W. Woodruff of [illegible] was held before Justice [illegible] of this city yesterday. Woodruff was arrested on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Julia Woodruff, who charges him with failure to provide for their daughters, 13 and 17 years. Woodruff, it is alleged, brought his family from Marietta, O., in April [illegible] and deserted them in July, since which time the wife and children have been compelled to earn their own living.

From the testimony given it appears that Woodruff was infatuated with another [illegible]. Woodruff was bound over to the Superior Court with bail [illegible].

[illegible], who will leave in a few days for Michigan, was given a surprise party last evening at the home of Mrs. W. F. Jones on [illegible].

Members of the Colton High School [illegible] team were entertained [illegible] at the home of Faye [illegible] in East Colton.

CONFESSION.

FREIGHT THIEF ADMITS CRIMES.

OFFICERS CATCH LEADER OF GANG TAKING GOODS.

Prisoner Who Is Arrested at San Bernardino Declares He Is Responsible for the Robberies and the Other Men Captured Just Helped Collect the Stuff.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 12.—Fred McKee, confessed freight thief, who personally conducted what is declared to be the most thorough operations against the freight service of the three transcontinental railroads operating in this valley on record, was landed in jail shortly after 2 o'clock this morning through the efforts of Under Sheriff Charles Ward, assisted by several deputies and railroad officers.

McKee was caught red-handed. He had boarded the Santa Fé "red-ball" freight at Los Angeles, and west of Rialto, where the officers were in hiding, he rolled from one of the cars a number of cases tightly packed with valuable freight. The cases broke open as they struck the ground, scattering merchandise in all directions. When the freight reached Rialto, McKee leaped to the ground, and hurried back the half-mile to the place where he had ditched his plunder.

As he approached on a run his quick eyes noticed that the plunder had not been collected by his confederates, as had been the custom. He called suspiciously for Fred Alvarado, who was locked up with two others yesterday. McKee was about to turn and run when he was covered by guns held by the officers, and surrendered without resistance.

Bill clerks employed by the three railroads were put to work today checking over the vast amount of plunder found in the Mexican homes at South Colton, and trying to trace it to the various freight consignments missing. This task will require at least two weeks, and it is likely that considerable of the loot will never be traced.

McKee confesses his part in the thefts. He admits it was he who, unaided, ransacked the cars, and that the Mexicans merely acted as confederates to cart the loot away. He says that twelve others are implicated, but refuses to divulge their identity. The prisoners will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hanna of Colton, on charges of burglary.

TO INSPECT PLANT.

The Chamber of Commerce of San Bernardino has arranged for the entertainment of an excursion of Santa Fé Railroad officials who are to be in San Bernardino Sunday to inspect the pre-cooling plant, the shops and other railroad property. There will be forty in the party. They are to make a trip around the Santa Fé's kite-shape track. Besides a trip to the Arrowhead, the guests will be taken about town in automobiles and dined at the Elks' Clubhouse. In the party are W. E. Maxson, general superintendent of the Santa Fé at Galveston; F. A. Lehman, assistant to the vice-president at Chicago; H. W. Sharp, general superintendent, Newton, Kan.; R. J. Parker, general superintendent, La Junta; J. R. Koontz, general freight agent, Topeka; J. F. Leede, manager of the Santa Fé's refrigerating lines.

IDENTIFIED AS BURGLAR.

Lonnie Long, arrested here by Chief of Police Shay some weeks ago on suspicion, has been identified as a burglar wanted at Phoenix, Ariz., for ransacking the home of H. L. Dalby. When Long was arrested here he was found in possession of a great pile of costly jewelry.

"I'm a thief," he informed the Police Chief, "but you can't prove it."

He was given a sentence for vagrancy, and Sheriff Ralphs at once sent broadcast descriptions of the jewelry found on him, and his photograph. This has led to his identification. A Phoenix officer is on the way here to take charge of the prisoner.

TWO BITTEN BY DOG.

Felippe Monules, 15 years old, and her 7-year-old brother were badly bitten yesterday by a mad dog at Seventh and L streets. The girl rushed to the aid of her brother. The dog threw itself upon her tearing her limbs in a frightful manner. Pedestrians beat the dog off, roped the canine and held it fast until an officer arrived and killed it.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

The churches of San Bernardino will unite in a meeting at the pavilion Sunday evening for the purpose of urging the principles of temperance, with especial application to the no-saloon campaign now progressing. The principal speakers will be Rev. George E. Clark of St. Paul's M. E. Church, South; Rev. Dr. Eli McClish, of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. D. McG. Gandier, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in Southern California.

DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES.

The Democratic County Central Committee met today and selected the following delegates to attend the Los Angeles conference on April 12 and 13: J. H. West, Needles; F. P. Meserve, F. T. Harris, W. R. Cheney, N. L. Levering, Redlands; C. P. Hoy, Upland; W. J. Kincaid, Cucamonga; J. H. Boyd, T. W. Duckworth, C. L. Allison, San Bernardino; John Mitchell, Ontario; P. Domingoni, Colton.

NOT GUILTY.

VERDICT FOR EX-DETECTIVE.

JURY AT SAN DIEGO ACQUITS FORMER OFFICIAL.

Accusation Was That Smith Took a Bribe from Woman of the Underworld—Attorney Remanded, Being Unable to Provide Bail—Fair Fund Grows.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following a tedious trial in Superior Court, lasting a week, the jury today found a verdict of not guilty in the case of Marshall Smith, a former city detective, who was tried on a charge of accepting a bribe from Blanche Collins, a woman of the under-world. At a previous trial the jury was unable to agree.

L. E. Dadmun, the attorney who defended Smith, announced his candidacy for District Attorney against Utley, who prosecuted.

MORGENSTERN REMANDED.

Attorney A. J. Morgenstern, whose preliminary examination on a charge of uttering and passing fictitious checks was concluded in Township Court today, was held for trial in Superior Court. He was remanded to jail in default of bail.

FAIR FUND GROWS.

With subscriptions to the Panama Exposition fund being received at a rapid rate the Finance Committee is highly elated at the prospect of raising the entire $1,000,000 by Tuesday. Eighty-seven persons subscribed to the fund, yesterday. The total amount when the books closed at noon today was $823,000. According to the terms of John D. Spreckels' subscription of $100,000, a total of $950,000 must be raised by Monday night before his second $50,000 can be added to the total. A great effort will be made to secure the balance required before 6 o'clock Monday evening.

ATTENDANCE BIG.

Fully 100,000 persons attended the "Made - in - San - Diego" Exposition, which closed tonight. The exhibits of manufactured products were interesting, showing that San Diego is forging to the front as a city of factories.

BROTHERS REUNITE.

H. C. Bailey of Hollywood, who came to California in 1852; Dr. J. H. Bailey of San Francisco; L. N. Bailey of Banner; C. N. Bailey of Nynola, and Theo. O. Bailey of this city, all brothers, met today at the home of the latter on Mississippi street. This is the first reunion in many years. The eldest, H. C. Bailey, of Hollywood, is past 80. Theo. Bailey, 65, is the youngest. During the Civil War two served in the Confederate Army and one in the Union.

BIG RANCH SALES.

Three big ranches were sold yesterday. The Penasquitos ranch of 9300 acres, was bought by C. F. Mohnike for $65,000. The purchaser for a number of years has been a large real estate operator. He will spend $35,000 in improvements. The Sparr Fruit Company has sold to a Los Angeles realty syndicate the Fairview ranch of 400 acres near Lakeside, for $40,000. All but 100 acres of the tract are in fruit. The syndicate will put the remaining acreage in lemons. The Home Investment Company has bought of Thomas Hamilton the Mission Hill tract on the north outskirts of the city, paying $35,000 for twenty acres. The tract will be subdivided into lots for homeseekers.

RANCHER ARRESTED.

V. E. Noren, a cattle raiser of Pauma, near the Riverside county line, was taken to the County Jail yesterday on a warrant charging him with moving cattle afflicted with fever ticks over a public highway. Noren was arrested on complaint of Dr. Selleck, county live stock inspector. He will be given a hearing in Township Court Monday.

WOMAN GUILTY.

Mrs. Pearl Stampfli, who abandoned her newly-born baby by hiding it in a clump of weeds at Coronado, pleaded guilty to child abandonment. When arraigned for sentence this morning application was made for her release upon proper guarantee that she will support the child. Township Justice Thorp reserved decision.

A few vacant rooms at Coronado.

PLAY WELL PRESENTED.

Large Audience Attends Performance Given by the Upland Woman's Literary Club.

UPLAND, March 12.—Probably the largest audience ever gathered in the grammar school auditorium, this city, attended the play given last night under the auspices of the Woman's Literary Club. The several roles were assumed by home people and "The Union Depot for a Day" received a splendid portraying. A handsome sum was cleared for the treasury of the club.

The second city ticket was placed in nomination here yesterday. The men named are L. E. Moser, J. C. Mehl, H. C. Kennedy and C. V. Lambrigger, for Trustees; C. C. Eymann, for Clerk; David Minis, for Treasurer, and Jedd Sawyer, for Marshal. The launching of the second ticket is probably the beginning of a lively contest, the final round of which will terminate on April 11.

There is some local agitation of the plan of securing a site for a city park. A tract of several acres in the eastern section is available. From the fact that it will probably be on the proposed electric line from Upland to San Bernardino, the site meets with favor.

The Prohibition County Central Committee held a well-attended and enthusiastic rally a few days ago. The afternoon was taken up with reports of committees, business, etc., and at 6 o'clock a fine supper was served by the ladies of the W.C.T.U. The later evening was given over to a programme of toasts, with vocal and instrumental music interspersed.

The Presbyterian Church, now under construction, will in all probability be fitted with a handsome pipe organ before completion. The Ladies' Aid Society has taken an active interest.

Miss Isabelle Smith of Los Angeles is the new matron of San Antonio Hospital, this city, succeeding Miss Anna Shaw, who has gone to Los Angeles to a larger work.

Don't Blame Your Stomach

WHEN WITHOUT EXERTION OR COST YOU CAN ENJOY MEALS AND CURE DYSPEPSIA.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

Don't blame your stomach or your luck when your meals declare war on your system.

When the stomach won't do its work it is because it cannot.

When foul smelling odors come from your stomach, when the head aches and the sourness of mouth every morning makes you hate your breakfast, when dreams and nightmare assail you, don't give up the fight.

This is the appeal of nature, and it should be heard.

Over-eating, late suppers, poorly chewed food, too rich pastries and under-done cooking are some of the causes of the Stomach's ill health.

When the stomach is busy, it presses and churns all the liquid matter from food and with its juices dissolves into liquid form or pulp everything which comes into it.

If such food be poisonous it effects the juices, attacks the stomach, goes into the blood and weakens the entire system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest a full meal easily without material assistance from the stomach. They will restock the gastric fluid with all the elements needed. They build up the blood, destroy sour taste, bad breath, belching, stomach and bowel trouble and quickly restore natural conditions.

One grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3000 grains of food in the stomach or in a glass vial without aid of the human digestive apparatus.

The method of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the methods of Nature.

They contain every requisite for the stomach and digestion. After a meal one of these little tablets when it enters the stomach mingles with the juices, attacks the food and digests it. It removes the fermented and decayed mass, lying stagnant there and eases the stomach at once.

It is wholly a question for you to solve. Your druggist will furnish Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets 50c the box, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall Mich.

DIES FROM HER WOUNDS.

Japanese Woman Fatally Burned at Riverside—Tries to Stamp Out Blaze in Home.

RIVERSIDE, March 12.—As the result of burns received while attempting to light a fire with kerosene last evening, Mrs. Y. Hayashi, a Japanese woman living at the Yamato Company's camp on Arlington avenue, died this morning at 6 o'clock. While she was lighting a fire in the kitchen stove, some of the kerosene spilled on the floor and ignited. The woman tried to stamp out the flames, and her cotton dress caught fire. Crazed by the flames that enveloped her, she ran into the street, resisting all attempts to save her, and it was necessary to strike her down before the fire could be extinguished. With the exception of her chest, her entire body was frightfully burned.

GRANT SCHOOL WINS.

With a lead of 44 points, the Grant school won the championship at the second annual grammar school track meet yesterday afternoon at Evans's Athletic Park. Two thousand spectators witnessed the events, and enthusiasm ran high among the pupils.

The points scored by the schools represented were: Grant, 80; Lincoln, 36; Longfellow, 32; Irving, 7; Bryant, 5; Arlington, 2; Palm avenue, 0.

Grant school won first in the junior and senior 50-yard dash, 100-yard junior dash, running broad jump, senior 220-yard dash, senior ball throw, junior running broad jump, seventh grade relay and school relay. Firsts were won by Lincoln school in 100-yard dash for seniors, half-mile dash and senior shot put. Longfellow school won first in junior high jump, junior ball throw and sixth grade relay. The Bryant school won the fourth grade relay, and the Irving school the fifth grade relay.

RUNAWAY WIFE LOCATED.

Mrs. Socorro Rodriguez Garcia, who left home a week ago with several hundred dollars in money, according to the allegations of her husband, Ramon Garcia, has been located in Winslow, Ariz. With her is an affinity, Petro Roberta, an Italian employed at the Riverside cement plant. Ramon wants to prosecute his wife, but has not yet decided whether it is worth the $100 needed to cover the cost of extradition papers and expenses of an officer to bring her home.

MAN HAS DELUSIONS.

Ontario Police Watch Movements of Person Who Thinks He Is Secret Service Officer.

ONTARIO, March 12.—A man giving the name of Major J. Mayo has by his actions led the police here to believe he is insane and a close watch is being kept on his movements. Mayo has erected several unsightly tent houses near the wash on West Sixth Street and has painted signs bearing the words "Hoboland," "Hobascoville." He has a delusion that he is a secret service man in the employ of the United States government. He says his father was for twenty-five years the Mayor of the city of Richmond. In one of his shoes there is a hole and he points to it and says he has been shot through the foot seven times. He also says he now carries a bullet in his head. The city marshal has instructed him to at once remove the unsightly shacks.

GOOD BUSINESS.

I. S. Miller, secretary of the Peoples' Mutual Building and Loan Association, states that during the past nine months the association has done a larger business than in any one whole year. So far this year it has loaned $130,000 to home builders, every dollar of which has been used in the erection of new buildings. The largest figures for an entire year previously were $110,000.

NOT FAVORED.

During the past week several parties have been trying to interest local capital in the establishment of another cannery in this city. It is said that much good fruit is wasted every year because of insufficient facilities for handling it. On the other hand it is asserted that the Golden State Canning Company, which operates a huge plant here every summer, has to ship in from the outside a great deal of fruit for canning. Conservative men of means do not look with a great deal of favor upon the establishment of an additional cannery. Expressing the belief that the fruit that is wasted here is unvt for canning purposes.

The trustees have given permission to D. H. Akey to remove two grevilla trees that stand in front of his new three-story business block on the east side of Euclid avenue, between A and B streets. They say they dislike to see trees removed, but granted the permission because this is business property.

FINE ORANGE GROVE SOLD.

Oregon Man Buys Highland Property. Secret Marriage of Young Couple Startles Their Friends.

HIGHLAND, March 12.—Another fine orange property changed ownership today, when Alexis E. Frye transferred to W. T. Martin of Union, Or., the ten-acre navel orange grove at the corner of Palm and Atlantic avenues, locally known as the Winslow place, for a consideration of $22,000. Twenty shares of the stock of the North Fork Water Company and five shares of the stock of the Highland Well Company were included in the purchase price. The grove is located in the center of the Highland district. Mr. Martin expects to become a resident here, and, with his family, will occupy the property about September 1.

Friends of Miss Helen Randall, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Randall, formerly of this place, but now of Los Angeles, were greatly surprised today when it became known that she was secretly married last September to Allister Davidson of Los Angeles. The announcement startled her parents in Los Angeles, for the daughter was supposed to be persuing the even tenor of her studies at "Dana Hall," Weslesley. Early in September, 1909, Miss Randall left for Los Angeles to return to Wellesley, where, for a year, she had been a student at Ogden. Mr. Davidson met her, and they were married September 7.

The young couple spent two or three days at Ogden and Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Davidson proceeded to Wellesley and resumed her studies. Mr. Davidson returned to Los Angeles.

Some rooms today at Coronado.

DOCTORS SHORES & SHORES
222 Henne Building, Corner Third and Spring

March the Month to be CURED

The seasons are now changing and nature gives you warning that March, April and May are the best months in the whole year to be cured quickly and surely. Get an early start—that's half the cure.

SIX DOCTORS FAILED; TWO SAID I COULD NEVER BE CURED.

Mr. Arthur Steck, whose home is in Bakersfield, but at present stopping at the Spokane house, Fifth st., this city, says: "My case seemed hopeless when I came to Drs. Shores & Shores for treatment. My ailment was catarrh and ear trouble in the worst form. Besides having all the usual symptoms of catarrh, my ears became infected and discharged a bloody substance day and night, causing me much pain and distress. I came to the city to see Drs. Shores & Shores, as I had heard of their skill in curing catarrh and deafness. After two (2) months' treatment I can say that I am entirely cured of the catarrh and my ear is entirely healed of the discharge, and I want to add my testimony to the skill of these wonderful doctors.
(Signed) "ARTHUR STECK."

Drs. Shores & Shores' Low Fee Deals a Death Blow to the Medical Grafter

Who tries to imitate their treatment. Los Angeles has long been an alluring spot for medical pretenders who resort to every trick known to the fake advertiser, offering all sorts of baits, such as "Free treatment," "Pay When Cured," Electric Belts, Oriental Grafts, and similar schemes simply to lure the sick to their offices to rob them.

CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND EAR NOISES

Why not try the treatment that cures? We publish abundance of testimonials from well-known and reliable people, who have been cured of catarrh, deafness and ear noises. If you suffer from any chronic ailment, why not come and see the Doctors who cure?

Another Week

We want every sufferer to have the chance to try our wonderful new treatment, and you well know that $3 is a very small price to pay for expert medical treatment for one month—and not a penny to pay for medicines. To all who apply this week we will TREAT YOU UNTIL CURED for $3 a month. Many are cured in one month. It may be possible to cure you in the same time.

WE NEVER DECEIVE

We value the reputation we have honestly won in all these years we have practiced medicine in California. We masquerade under no fancy titles, but, as honorable American citizens, we do business in our own name, and you can always meet Drs. Shores face to face. When we take your case we make an honest effort to cure you.

Catarrh, Deafness and Ear Noises Cured.

Mrs. G. H. Wilson, Gardena, who is one of the proprietors of the famous Magnolia Poultry Ranch, says "I have had catarrh for the past thirty (30) years, and about one year ago my hearing began to fail me and my ears throbbed and beat, causing a loud noise, and there was a bad discharge from one of my ears. In fact, my hearing failed me until I could not hear a watch tick. Two (2) months' treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores has entirely cured my catarrh. The noise and discharge has subsided, and my hearing is nearly restored. To those suffering as I did I cheerfully recommend Drs. Shores & Shores' treatment."

HOURS—Daily, 9 to 5. Evenings, 7 to 8. Sundays, 10 to 12.

If you have Catarrh, a month's treatment NOW is worth three months at any other season. If you have coughed all winter—be cured now. If your blood is out of order, it needs Spring Housecleaning—if your stomach is upset by the heavy foods demanded during the winter months—have it fixed up now when a few dollars wisely spent may save you the life of an invalid—if the Kidneys and Liver have been overworked this winter—Now is the time to have them put in shape. DON'T WAIT until you are bedfast—don't wait until it means a hospital operation and probably death—ACT NOW—remember, "A stitch in time saves nine." Make up your mind to start treatment at once—and be cured while Nature is favorable and conditions are ripe for quick and lasting cures. Drs. Shores' prices and terms are low and reasonable and within the easy reach of all—$3 a month, medicines included, for all diseases of whatever name or nature.

JAS. H. SHARP, A LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER ON THE SALT LAKE RAILROAD, CURED.

Mr. Sharp, who lives at 816 San Benito st., says: "I have had catarrh from childhood and I had it bad. My nose would stop up and I would blow out clinkers, blood and mucous. My breath was offensive and I had to hawk and spit continually, causing me to gag and throw up my meals. Life was hardly worth living, suffering as I did. Fortunately for me, a lady who had been cured by Drs. Shores told me about their treatment, and I went to see the doctors at once and placed myself under treatment, and they have entirely cured me, and every symptom of catarrh is gone. I have gained twenty-three (23) pounds in weight and am in perfect health. Any one doubting this testimony is at liberty to call on me and I will verify every word of it.
(Signed) "JAS. H. SHARP."

BREVITIES.

Never before have I been able to get here hats so perfect in every respect, at such reasonable prices. This was the outspoken opinion of a well-known lady who received for the first time hats which were made to order by Mrs. Kruseman, milliner, 1302 Pico, corner Rich. As Mrs. Kruseman makes nothing but order work, she is always reasonable, as she charges only according to materials used and work done, without any other additional expenses. Long personal European experience is the only reason that order work made by Mrs. Kruseman is always perfect, so that she can and fully guarantees all her work. Ladies ordering run no risk at all. Mrs. Kruseman, 1302 Pico, corner Rich, gives retrimming the same careful attention, and all work is only strictly first-class.

Rimless glasses, the latest finger piece Shur-on style springs, solid gold, the lenses are crystal, deep curved, all complete, for $2. I will examine your eyes free; if you have any headaches over the eyes, pain or ache in the back of the neck I will cure it. If your glasses do not fit you or if you have been given up I will improve your vision, if there is any vision left. First quality goods. Square deal, and no fancy prices, is my motto. I make a specialty of Krytoks bifocals for near and far vision, without lines invisible. I make all kinds of bifocals, Krytoks at bottom prices. Come and see samples, and talk it over. Eye specialist three years in Grant building, Fourth and Broadway, suite 417-419.

BOILING UP.

WARM POLITICS ARE EXPECTED.

KANSAS REPUBLICANS TO FIGHT INSURGENT LEADERS.

Forces of Gov. Stubbs Are to Be Forced to Openly Align Themselves Against President Taft or to Confess They Have Fooled the People on the Tariff.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) March 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There will be good fighting all along the line in Kansas from now until election day in November. The standpatters or regular Republicans, backed by the Congressional Committee at Washington, are preparing for a red-hot campaign against Gov. Stubbs and the insurgents. The movement appears to be spontaneous in all sections of the State, and the regulars are calling on the leaders for speakers to combat the arguments of Stubbs and the insurgent candidates for Congress that he has picked in six of the eight districts.

It now seems probable the regulars will force Lieut.-Gov. Fitzgerald into the race against Stubbs. If this is done, the Kansas primary campaign will bristle with interest and invective, for both of these men are familiar with the "Kansas political language." Fitzgerald lives at Dodge City, and is now serving his second term as Lieutenant-Governor.

Up to this time insurgent candidates for Congress have had everything their own way. Now it will be a fight to a finish, with a dozen eastern spellbinders in the field standing up for the President.

Already Congressman McKinley of California is slated for a dozen speeches in the State, beginning next week. Others will come later on, and, as stated by a regular leader today, the insurgents who have been denouncing the new tariff law must quit dealing in glittering generalities and get down to business.

"They must," he said, "either confess that they have been fooling the people or else align themselves squarely against President Taft."

ARMY GRAFTERS EXPOSED.

Investigations in Russia Result in Twenty-nine Indictments of Officials at Kazan.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—The commission of Senator Garin, charged by the Emperor with cleaning up the corrupt and demoralized quartermaster's department of the army, has returned twenty-nine indictments of officials at Kazan, including Maj.-Gen. Pilsusky, in charge of the purchase of stores during the war; three colonels, four lieutenant-colonels and ten captains, charged with extorting a regular percentage from contractors on all contracts, furnishing to favored bidders information about competing bids and accepting inferior materials and short measure.

Ten other officials at Kazan have already been sentenced by court-martial to be cashiered, imprisoned in the penitentiary for terms up to five years, and condemned to pay fines aggregating more than $100,000 on the same counts.

Stirred by the revelations of general corruption in their department, the quartermaster officers of the army have asked the Emperor's authorization to form courts of honor to assist Senator Garin in the investigation, and keep the department clean in the future.

PROTEST FROM SANTA FE.

SANTA FE (N. M.) March 12.—The Santa Fé Board of Trade last night adopted resolutions protesting against the tying up of the waters of the Rio Grande River, and its tributaries in New Mexico and Colorado by the government Reclamation Service in order to fill the Engle reservoir in Southern New Mexico. The resolutions assert that the plea that these waters are needed for such a purpose is absurd and also complain that the waters are to be given to Mexico without compensation to New Mexico. The Engle reservoir is to be completed in eight years.

Player Pianos

Remarkable Assortments of High Grade Instruments

THE Player Piano is the piano of today. Everybody can play and enjoy it. It brings music of every worthy type to music-lovers who otherwise would be deprived of it. The development of the instrument itself has been marvelous. Today the best Player Pianos are mechanically and musically perfect—the old-time, cumbersome types, even now common in inferior instruments, are a thing of the past. As headquarters for the best in things musical, we carry a remarkable assortment of superior Player Pianos. Below we describe some of them.

The Welte-Mignon

Operated Electrically The Highest Type of Its Kind Produced

The Welte-Mignon is the highest type of electrically operated Player. It is not operated by means of pedals, as are other Player Pianos—just turn the switch and the music comes. Furthermore, the Welte is the only instrument reproducing to perfection the performances of great artists—Hofman, Paderewski, Lhevinne and other world-famous pianists. The exceedingly sensitive appliances enable the Welte-Mignon to reproduce the very tone, touch, phrasing and volume of the master pianists who play for it. Combine the Welte with the Steinway Piano and you have an instrument of incomparable musical quality. The Steinway Welte-Mignon is purchasable at $1800 to $2250. It is made with keyboard so that the Steinway may be played manually if desired. Welte-Mignon in cabinet form, $900.

Steinway Pianola Piano

As we are exclusive representatives for the Artistic Steinway Piano, we now have the Steinway Pianola—the Steinway Piano with a Pianola built into it. This is a superior player piano—no instrument based upon the wonderful Steinway could be otherwise. The Steinway Pianola may be had in Upright form at $1275 to $1525, and in Grands from $2050 to [illegible].

The Cecilian

With The Famous Metal Action

The Cecilian with its famous metal action is embodied in the Sohmer-Cecilian and the Farrand-Cecilian Pianos—the former priced at $1050 and the Farrand at $850. Both represent the most modern development in player construction—the great ease of operation, the perfect volume of tone, and delicacy of musical expression. In both the famous metal action adds greatly to the durability of the instrument, renders it proof against the ordinarily harmful effects of temperature extremes, or of moisture. Furthermore, this metal action increases the tone volume and gives greater opportunity for the full expression of the individuality of the performer.

Other Reliable Player Pianos

Other reliable instruments shown exclusively by us are the Kranich & Bach Player Piano at $950, the Kurtzmann at $850, the Cadillac at [illegible] and the Milton at $550 to $650. With all Player Pianos we give a generous supply of music free. In addition to this our Music Library, containing thousands of rolls of Player Piano music, is open to the free use of customers. You can exchange your music as often as you desire, daily if you like.

UNUSUAL.

MUST CUT OUT EXTRA RIBS.

Bones Cause Great Amount of Perspiration.

Act Like Vise on Shoulders, Stunting Growth.

Only Case of Kind Known to Medical Science.

The only case known to medical science of a person having two extra ribs has been brought to light in Los Angeles. Thornton J. Green, 21 years of age, living at No. 422 East Sixty-eighth street, is the possessor of the ribs, and in a few days he will be operated upon for their removal.

There have been a few cases where persons have had one partly-developed extra rib, but two perfectly formed supernumerary ribs have been, until the present, unheard of.

Thornton J. Green, who is afflicted with two extra ribs, shown by the black lines in the diagram, and must undergo an operation for their removal.

By pressing upon a number of nerves they cause a continual perspiration, which if not soon checked might result in the young man's death. Until he was twelve years of age the ribs caused no trouble whatever, but a slight illness at that age started the resulting trouble.

Warm drinks, study, working indoors, rain or snow, bring about an alarming increase in the perspiration, and at night, it is only when lying fully uncovered and in a strong draft, that it in some measure decreases.

Young Green has lived in Los Angeles for three years, and has been engaged as elevator boy in one of the large buildings, such an occupation being most suited to his present condition, as it is work which requires very little exertion.

RIBS CROSS OTHERS.

The ribs, one on each side, start at the cerebral vertebra and run downward, crossing the others and ending somewhere between the third and fourth ribs. At the present time they cause very little pain, but, according to Dr. Henry Herbert, under whose care the young man has been for the past year, as he grows older the pain from them will increase.

They act like a vise upon the shoulders, preventing their proper growth, and both this fact, and the profuse perspiration which will increase as he grows older, call for the removal of both ribs at the earliest possible time.

While such an operation is rarely performed, Dr. Herbert thinks there will be small danger to the patient. It would be advisable, he says, to first remove one of the ribs, and if this is successfully done, remove the other one.

A short time ago Dr. Herbert brought the boy before a clinic of the Los Angeles Medical Association where the subject excited a great deal of discussion among the doctors.

X-RAY SHOWS BONES.

It was while trying to locate the cause of the perspiration that the two supernumerary ribs were discovered. Dr. Herbert noticed a curious formation at the cerebral vertebra. An X-ray photograph was taken, and when developed showed the two ribs. It was thought at first that the removal of them would not be necessary, but of late it has been seen that there is no other course to praise.

The temperature of Freen is always above normal, for while the average healthy person will show from 98 to 98.6 degs. his is nearly always above 100 degs.

His blood, too, is different from most. It contains 6,040,000 red corpuscles, while an ordinary person's blood will contain but 5,000,000.

GUEST ON MT. WILSON.

Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is spending a few days in Southern California, familiarizing himself with the situation and the problems of this section of the country. He delivered an address at Occidental College on Friday and will speak there again this week. Mr. Pritchett is the house guest of Prof. George E. Eale of the Mt. Wilson solar observatory. The object of the fund of which the visitor is president, is to provide retiring allowances for members of faculties of accepted colleges.

WANT WORK? HERE IT IS.

Three Hundred More Men to Be Employed Immediately on Aqueduct.

Acceleration in the speed of construction on the Los Angeles aqueduct has been begun in the race to gain a year's time over the estimate limit of construction.

To start this new pace, the aqueduct officials have announced that 300 more laborers will be given employment by application to the offices on the top floor of the Central building, beginning tomorrow. These men are to be sent to various points along the great ditch to augment the forces already crowding all records for such construction.

It was first estimated that the waters of Owens Lake would be available here in the spring of 1914. Then rapidity of work justified cutting the estimate to the spring of 1913. Now, by accelerating speed by increased forces, it is estimated that the water will be at the head of the San Fernando Valley by April, 1912—only two years from now.

In order to make this possible, the financial arrangements have been completed, and industry alone is needed to meet the last estimate and gain another year in the stupendous project.

DRASTIC MEASURE.

FAILS TO COUNT ON AN INQUIRY.

WAITER STOPS TROLLEY BUT IS LATE FOR WORK.

Knight of Apron Plants Red Flag on Track, Halts Limited and Gets Aboard, But Crew Loses Minutes Making Investigation and Affair May Reach Court.

No longer ago than yesterday The Times editorially quoted T. P. O'Conner, who when in America wrote back to London that the elegant gentleman who waited upon him at breakfast in New York City so impressed him that he was afraid to offer him a quarter tip. Tay Pay said, "I would as soon think of offering the President of the United States 25 cents."

The Huntington interests, through the Pacific Electric are the last to feel the iron hand of the gorgeous individual of the white apron and the bob-tailed dress coat.

It happened this way: John F. King, a waiter at the Alexandria, lives at Rose Hill and is due at the hotel at 10:30 sharp every morning. Yesterday he was a trifle late and missed the southbound car at Rose Hill. Consultation with his chronometer showed him that if he waited for the next regular car he would fail to punch the Alexandria's clock on schedule.

This has apparently happened before, with disastrous results, and King has been forced to watch the three-car special from Pasadena, running on limited time, without stop between Raymond Hotel and First and Main streets, sail majestically by, without regard to his frantic signals.

"Down with the monopoly," quoth the irate King. Then he hied him to a convenient real estate office and borrowed a red flag.

A neighboring small boy was bribed to return same after it had served its purpose.

The flag was planted in the middle of the track and King waited.

The special approached, with much whistling and ringing of the gong. The motorman saw the danger signal, applied the air, and when the train stopped King nonchalantly boarded the middle car, found a seat, and lighted a Havana.

The conductor and the motorman held a consultation and waited for the removal of the flag. Nothing stirring.

Then the conductor appointed himself a committee of one to investigate and started down the track, while the local cars from the Monrovia, and San Gabriel lines banked up behind.

After six minutes the small boy, scorning the size of King's bribe, testified before a grand jury of motormen, conductors and millionaires, and the special proceeded, carrying with it one John F. King, grand marshal of the soup.

The case will be referred to General Manager McMillan and to the legal department, for final action. It may in time even reach the courts.

The Times is regretfully forced to record that King's noble effort went for naught, as the delay of six minutes caused him to report for duty at 10:35 a.m. instead of at 10:30—five minutes late.

SAVED FROM CHAIN GANG.

Sympathy of Jailer Goes Out to Frail Prisoner Serving Time for Stealing Chickens.

Jewel Saunders, a slender boy, is serving a sentence of a month in the County Jail for having stolen some chickens at Pomona and sold them. He lived with his widowed mother and helped to support her. When he could not get work at the packinghouses because he did not look strong, he fell in with the suggestion of another boy that they should make a raid on some hen house. They stole sixteen fowls and obtained $12 for them.

Jewel confessed when he was arrested and pleaded for another chance, but the magistrate thought a term in jail would impress the fact on him that it pays to be honest.

When received at the jail, although he declared he was 19 years old, he appeared to be so young that Jailer Gallagher would not put him on the chain gang.

CLAIMS MUCH.

BOY PROPHET IS ODD STUDY.

Says Divine Revelations Are Made Through Him.

Declares Christ Is Here, But Is Not Recognized.

Predicts Great European War Over Ottoman Empire.

Believing himself to be chosen as the medium through which divine revelations are to be continued as they were in the days of Christ, Archie J. Inger, "Boy Prophet," has been attracting large audiences to his meetings in and about Los Angeles. In some places he is jeered, and in others he is listened to with awe and wonder. Some say that he is possessed of a devil, and others that he is inspired.

The most remarkable thing about Inger, to an unprejudiced observer, is his story. Born of a Mormon family at Ogden, Utah, he was left at an early age with a widowed mother and two brothers and a deeply religious family inheritance. For himself, he says, he soon developed a sort of materialistic philosophy, believing that man was made of dust and to dust would return. If spirit he had, it would again be merged with an infinite realm of spirit, of which he was capable of knowing nothing.

Archie J. Inger, the "Boy Prophet," announcing one of the revelations which he believes are given to him.

At an early age he displayed some artistic talent, and a relative offered to help him secure an education. With this idea in mind he moved to Oakland and began to study at the Hopkins Institute. He was to be sent to Europe as soon as he was fitted for it. While in Oakland his mother became ill, and one day the physician informed Archie that she could not recover, that medicine was useless, and all that remained was to make her as comfortable as possible.

MOTHER IS HEALED.

"It came as a great blow to me," he says in telling the story, "for I had no faith. That night, however, I asked for light if there was any such thing to guide human beings. In my sleep I heard voices, and they said that my mother would be healed the next day. I did not know what to make of it, but the next noon I told her, and she was healed that day. She got well so fast that in two or three days we went out walking.

"From that time on I continued to hear voices. I was told that I should receive revelations which I must make known. Finally, I told the relative who was helping with my education, that I could not go on. He agreed to wait and see what I should be led to do. I was spurned by all my relatives except my immediate family. I waited for four years without finding out what was expected of me, and in this time I had revelations which I put into a book called a "Revealed Translation of John's Revelations." In this it is made plain how history has borne out the revelations given to John.

"When people read this book I was called upon to speak, and from that time on I have been preaching. I was in Oakland for a year, and I have been here four months. I had a sufficient education in art to support myself. I work at this for a living, and speak wherever I am called upon.

PUTTING THEM IN HARNESS.

National Guard Officers to Handle Spades and Muskets for a Week This Summer.

Following orders from the War Department, the dignitaries of the National Guard will don privates' uniforms; shoulder muskets and use entrenching spades this summer.

The orders will affect all commissioned officers of the militia.

On the first of the year the Natinoal Guard became a part of the regular army, and the War Department intends to perfect the training of the men who wear the shoulder straps.

To this end an effort will be made to crowd into one week a sort of abbreviated West Point course.

In explanation of the order, Col. Schreiber said yesterday:

"During the late summer, there will be joint maneuvers of the regulars and National Guardsmen at Atascadero. In order to thoroughly prepare the officers to get the full benefit of the maneuvers, the War Department has ordered this school of instruction for officers.

"If the present plans are carried out it will be held at Monterey. The instruction will be partly theoretical, with maps, profiles and the like. Part of it will be severely practical.

"Every officer will be required to take along a complete private soldier's uniform, with a rifle.

"I suppose we will be formed into companies and drilled as enlisted men. We will also do entrenchment work. It is a fine thing and will be simply invaluable training.

"The understanding is that only those officers are to attend who can also go to the maneuvers in the late summer. The government will pay us for the time according to rank."

COURTHOUSE TOP WEDDING SCENE.

CLERGYMAN PERFORMS CEREMONY IN LOFTY TOWER.

Los Angeles Lovers, Accompanied by Parents of Girl and Preacher, Climb to High Spot in County Building Where the Marriage Takes Place Quickly and Quietly.

There have been weddings in balloons, and other unusual places, as there is no accounting for tastes, but for the first time perhaps, in the history of Los Angeles county, a wedding ceremony has been performed in the tower of the Courthouse.

On the books set apart for the convenience of visitors to that elevated spot, from which one may sweep not only the entire city of Los Angeles but the mountains that hem in the city on the north and west, the following signatures appeared, yesterday: "W. H. Guthrie and wife, No. 1712 Oxford avenue, city; Maude Guthrie, same address; Clinton C. Hollinger, No. 122 West Fifty-second Place; W. G. Palmer, No. 308 East Fifty-first street."

W. H. Guthrie and wife were the parents of the bride, Miss Maude Guthrie, the bride; Clinton C. Hollinger, the groom, and Rev. W. G. Palmer, the minister, pastor of South Park Presbyterian Church, who performed the ceremony that made the couple one.

There was but little ado concerning the unusual event. Hollinger and his intended bride visited the office of the County Clerk, and a marriage license was secured. The groom gave his native State as Illinois, and his age as 33 years; the bride, declared that she was but 24, also a native of Illinois, both residing in Los Angeles. It turned GETS ADVICE.

SPIRIT HELPS TO PICK FARM

Applicant for Yuma Plot H Aid from Beyond.

Homeseekers Fear to Depa from Land Office.

Canadian Keeps Busy Getting Citizenship Papers.

The map of the Yuma lands looks a though a large family of blue pencil had been having a series of fits thereon. It is so scratched up with locatio marks of intending settlers.

There are only 173 farms to be give out and already 342 persons have file their applications. There are fifty-on applicants for one farm, which front on the townsite and also on the railroad.

The government says that the applicants shall "try to agree among themselves" as to which one of the fifty-one shall get the farm. For tw weeks they have been sitting aroun in the corridors of the Chamber o Commerce building trying to "agre among themselves." They have suggested every form of agreement fro draw poker to a duel with knives Every proposal fails and they si around and glare at one another After March 19, they will draw lots.

Some of the applicants are constantly on guard. They never leave th hall. They seem to have a dark suspicion that, were they to stay away the land office officials would elop with the entire project.

CALLS UPON SPIRITS.

Yesterday, one of the applicant went into communion with the spirit of the vast beyond to find out which farm he should file on.

He was an old man who applied. They showed him the map and asked him which farm he would like to fil on. He looked them over several times, a helpless look in his face all the time.

Finally he said, apologetically, that he would like to be excused for a little while, as he was a spiritualist and would like to get a little advice from the "Other Side."

The clerk politely gave assent and the old man went to a corner where he went into a trance and got a line from "Little Mabel." He came back, all smiles, and filed on one of the farms.

He had got a through message.

Yesterday morning, a very dignified and austere young person came in and said he would like to file on a farm. His application was taken and he was turned over to a pretty girl who sits at a typewriter, and takes the necessary statistics.

She got his name and address and then she asked: "Are you married?"

The young person looked startled but did not reply. So the girl looked up with a smile and said again, "Are you married?"

"Not yet; but I am already engaged," said the young man, very firmly, as though to show the typewriter girl that he didn't propose to offer her any encouragement.

Another man who came in yesterday was asked if he were a citizen of the United States.

"Well," he said, doubtedly, "I dunno."

"Haven't you got any naturalization papers?"

LOTS OF PAPERS.

"Yeh," he said, "lots of 'em; that's the trouble.

"I was born in Canada, but I heard about some public lands in the United States, and I thought I would come over here and take some of them up. When I got over here, I found out that you have to take out naturalization papers. I then took out my papers and filed on some of the land.

"Just then the Canadian land rush broke out, and I heard where I could take up some land from the Canadian government, so I went back over the border.

"I found out that to take up Canadian land, you have to be a citizen of Great Britain. So I renounced my allegiance to the United States and took out my papers there and filed on the land.

"I wasn't so stuck on it up there in that cold country, so one day I read in the paper about this Yuma land to be given away, so I decided to come down and try to take some of it up.

"The other day I went to the Courthouse and renounced my allegiance to Great Britain, and took out my first papers as a citizen of the United States again.

"What I can't understand," said Receiver Robinson, "is how you came to neglect Mexico, all this time. You are only a couple of hundred miles away, and so far you haven't got a single Mexican citizenship paper in your collection."

MARITAL TROUBLES HINDER.

At noon yesterday a fat woman came in almost breathless. She said she wanted a twenty-acre farm right near the new town. She said she was a native of Italy.

"Have you citizenship papers?" they asked.

"No," she said, "but my husband is a citizen."

"Oh, that's all right," said the receiver cheerfully. "Bring him right up and tell him to bring his citizenship papers with him."

"I don't want to," said the Italian woman, bashfully. "He no lika me. We hava de divorce."

She finally solved the problem in a brilliant manner. She said she had a son who would write to his father and get the citizenship papers.

Among the last applicants of the day were a pair of colored people. The woman was a big, fat person; the man was little and meek, and came about to the damsel's shoulders.

The rule is that no married woman can take up land, if she is living with her husband. So they looked at the two with suspicion and distrust.

"No married lady can take up land if her husband takes up land," they said, with a strong hint.

"Yassum; yassum," said the colored lady; "that's all right, misses, I ain't no married lady."

The clerks turned to the man. "If you take up land, you know your wife can't take up land, too," they said.

"Su'tainly; su'tainly," said the darkey in his most elegant manner. "Ah understands all about that exemplifications."

"Well," said the clerk, "your names are the same; isn't she your wife?"

"No, seh; no, seh," said the little colored man, "Ah ain't nevah got no wife; no, seh. She ain't mah wife; she

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

DID CUDAHY DO RIGHT THING.

Or Make Spectacular Donkey of Himself?

Many Men of Many Minds on the Question.

Kansas City Doings Viewed in Los Angeles.

Did Jack Cudahy of Kansas City serve Lillis right? What should he have done under the circumstances? Was there any other way out of it, and what would have been the best way? What would you have done under the circumstances? These questions have been discussed by many Los Angeles men and some of them have given their views to The Times in the answers printed below.

The question was: Did Jack Cudahy do right?

Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee: You bet your life.

Councilman Washburn: If any person asks what I think, I tell him I don't know.

Councilman Lusk: I don't think Lillis got what he deserved. If I were on a jury I would not vote to convict him.

M. J. McGarry: Cudahy was too brutal; he should have shot to kill.

Chief of Police Galloway: I will speak from the standpoint of a peace officer, and say that a violation of law is not justifiable. However, there seems to be one crime between man and woman, that of breaking up a household, for which crime humanity seems to have placed vindication in the hands of the outraged party.

W. Ona Morton: Such matters of that character I don't care to discuss, but had I been Cudahy I would have killed him.

Simon F. Hill: Mr. Cudahy made a mistake when he didn't kill this fellow.

Ex-Mayor A. C. Harper: I am of the opinion that any man who will desecrate another man's home is not a man fit to be talked about. I have nothing further to say.

W. J. Kennedy: If that fellow Cudahy had any sense he would have killed Lillis.

L. E. Pike: If that guinea had any sense he would have stayed out of that man's house.

Milton K. Young: Cudahy did what I would have done.

I. B. Dockweiler: Matters of this sort are something I don't discuss, but Cudahy did not go as far as I would have gone under the same circumstances.

William Peck: I think that Cudahy was a coward and a dirty cur; a man who would expose his children to publicity in the manner that he did.

S. J. Whitmore: It would be a psychological situation, the resulting action being entirely dependent.

George Cummings: No punishment too bad to inflict on a debaucher of a home.

Joseph Simpson: Choose the right woman and things like this will never happen.

E. B. Rivers: Don't know.

John T. Long: I don't blame Cudahy for what he has done at all.

G. N. Wright: Had I been Mr. Cudahy Mr. Lillis would not have been in the hospital.

N. H. Mitchell: Somebody should have taken Cudahy and beat his head off. Let men like Cudahy stay at home.

Deputy District-Attorney Arthur L. Veitch: Legally, there can be no question that Cudahy's act was wanton and unjustifiable. Morally—I should want to know more of HIS private life before passing judgment. "Let him who is without sin," etc.

H. C. Wyatt, lessee Mason Operahouse: If the victim had been a friend of Mrs. Cudahy and only an acquaintance of the husband, I would say that Cudahy's act was in no way justified. If, however, as reported, the man was a personal friend of Cudahy and violated that friendship beneath his roof, I should say that Cudahy did not inflict punishment severe enough to cover the case.

Earl Rogers: Owing to the haze of politeness and propriety thrown over the dispatches of your correspondent, I can neither commend nor disprove the conduct of Mr. Cudahy. I can't find out just what he did. If I could get Cudahy's account of this domestic episode, I could give a better opinion.

Rev. T. C. Horton: It was about the only thing to do with him.

Rev. J. T. Marshall: No punishment is too severe for such an offender.

E. E. Caister: Cudahy should have killed Lillis. That midnight attack, if I had had a hand in it, would have ended with the death of the millionaire banker. If I had wielded that knife it would have been no mere cutting affray—the knife would have gone to a vital spot.

Charles D. Smead: Probably I would have sneaked off to the club and considered myself lucky in having discovered the duplicity of my wife. Certainly I would have tried to consider the punishment before hasty action.

Chester D. Thompson: Don't ask me. This is one of the hardest questions I have ever tried to answer. The situation is an unusual one, for certainly such wrongdoing is the exception. All depends on the moment of discovery, whether I would lose my head or not.

H. L. Rivers: I would certainly have tried to put a man of this kind out of business. There is no room on earth for any one who will destroy a home and bring shame to the name of a family.

B. A. Holmes, Jr.: Cutting up would be too good a punishment to mete out to a wretch who will defile a home. He should be hanged and quartered in the old English style. Just what I would do is a question I can't answer.

R. J. Morrell: Pass it up. Have never given the matter a thought, and therefore am unable to answer the question. The action of a man in such a situation is one that comes on the spur of the moment.

Al Greenewald: I believe Cudahy went after the wrong one. I believe the woman is more to blame than Lillis. She should not have encouraged him to visit her. Sometimes the temptation gets away with the man when it is put before him strong. Lillis did not want to go in that night. No, I do not believe Cudahy should have cut up Lillis the way he did.

Robert Wesley Blair: The sanctity of the home must be preserved at any cost. I cannot conceive that a married woman with children has any right to place herself in danger of compromising her reputation.

George Hancock: Of course, we have to give the woman the benefit of the doubt. If all is true, as Cudahy claims, I believe he should have done just as he did, and also accomplished his further purpose, which was interrupted by the policeman.

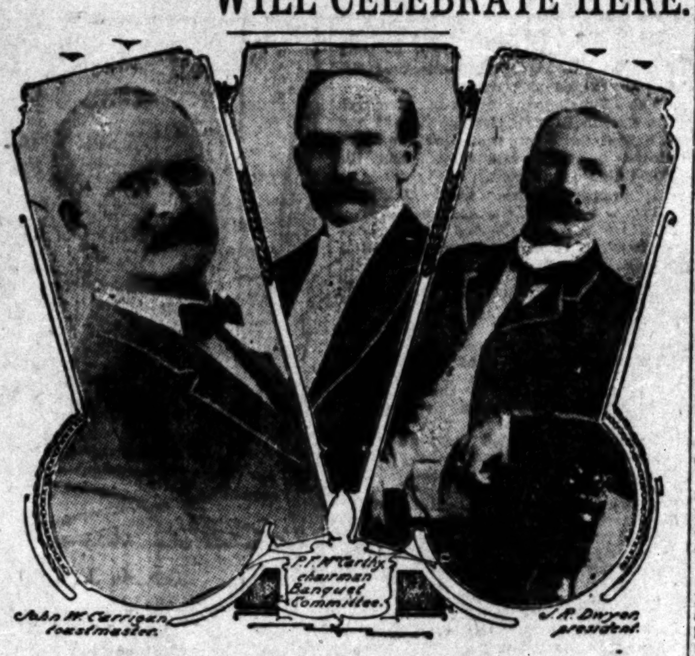
Billy Manning: Although Cudahy's act may have been barbarous I believe he was right in doing what he did. No doubt he loved his wife and the things he saw made him insane with jealousy and rage. Lillis had no business there, and no matter what may have happened to him, it was his own fault. It is too often the case that business men pay too little attention to their wives.

Byron L. Erkenbrecher: I can't exactly see a righteous outburst of indignation on the part of the husband. A man has the right to protect the sanctity of his home when there is sanctity there to protect. But if his wife and the mother of his children has been careless of it, I am inclined to think he better settle his domestic affairs in the quietest way possible. In the South, where they are extremely jealous of a woman's good name, it is customary for an angry husband to serve notice on the man he is after that he will kill him on sight, and then it's an open chance of man to man. I can't say that the slashing business seems a gentleman's way to avenge himself.

Hector McRae: Can't say I exactly like this butchah business, d'ye see? Not a genteel scene for the library of a gentleman. I'm rawther inclined to the modus operandi of the Louisville resident. Coming home one night, d'ye see, he disturbs his wife and a mutual friend in a little affair de coeur. No roughness, no police, no gore. Just an effective bit of gun play and a call for a motor. Relentless husband escorts disheveled couple to door at point of gun and bids them sit quietly. Orders chauffeur to proceed to home of father-in-law. Forces wife to ring father's door bell in middle of night. Father comes down. "I've returned all that I received from you," he announces, coldly, "and this is what I found her with." Possibly Jack Cudahy felt justified. A bloody bad business for Lillis, what?

KEEPING MEMORY GREEN.

SONS OF EMERALD ISLE WILL CELEBRATE HERE.



P. F. McCarthy, chairman Banquet Committee.
John W. Carrigan, toastmaster.
J. R. Dwyer, president.

Officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who will be in charge of the banquet to be held at the Westminster Hotel on St. Patrick's evening.

WHILE it will not be possible to have President Taft as chief speaker of the St. Patrick's evening banquet, Thursday, at the Westminster, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, or even some of the Irish sod which has been shipped to Chicago in order that the President may stand on it while making his address, the local Irishmen are not worrying for want of talent to grace the affair.

They have prepared a programme of twelve numbers of music and toasts treating a motif distinctly Irish, one carrying all of the romance and all of the actualities, both pleasant and somber in its way. Bishop Conaty will be the commanding figure at the banquet, having been asked to deliver the chief address of the evening with the theme "The Day We Celebrate."

J. R. Dwyer, president of the Hibernians, will be chairman, and J. W. Carrigan, toastmaster. Timothy W. Coakley will speak on "The President of the United States;" Mayor Alexander on "The City of Los Angeles;" Joseph Ford, "California;" D. Joseph Coyne, "Irish Women," and Paul J. McCormick, "The Hibernians."

Prof. Lewis Kerwin will be in charge of the orchestra. Mrs. Frank E. Sands will sing "Erin;" James P. Burns, "The Top o' the Morning;" George A. Howard, "Killarney," and Mrs. P. P. O'Brien, "Mavourneen."

The committee which has the banquet in charge is composed of Chairman P. F. McCarthy, Treasurer P. J. O'Donnell, F. G. Haley, W. J. Hickey and E. J. Curley.

WANT TO BE CALLED ON.

The Chamber of Commerce is receiving inquiries from a dozen points in Arizona asking for a list of the business houses that will be represented on the excursion. "This means more than it appears on the face of it," said Secretary Wiggins yesterday. "It may be taken as an indication of the great importance attached to this excursion by the business men of the adjoining Territory. It also portends a most cordial entertainment all along the line, and an extension of the Los Angeles sphere of trade and influence."

GROWTH.

OLD RANCHOS FOR NEW HOMES.

LANKERSHIM LANDS SOON TO BE THROWN OPEN.

Suburban Homes Company Will Have Big Tract Ready for Settlers Next Month—Choice Section for Country Places in San Fernando Valley—Four Miles from City Limits.

Soon after the first of next month great ranches in San Fernando Valley will be thrown open to settlement for suburban homes. The developments planned in this district promise to build up one of the most attractive suburban communities in Southern California. The land is almost inexhaustibly rich and capable of the highest cultivation.

The Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company, with offices in the Central building, is opening the district and has the first allotment of lands almost ready for the market. It is but four miles from the recently extended city limits to the southern boundary of the tract.

The ranches to be divided are among the oldest in the county. The Sheep, Kester and Van Nuys ranchos include approximately 640 acres each. They have long been famous as being numbered among the finest ranches in the State.

The plans of the Suburban Homes Company are to encourage a high-class of improvement. Several of the shareholders in the company and promoters of the enterprise will purchase good-sized tracts with the intention of building elegant country homes.

Good roads will surround and penetrate the district. The San Fernando Road is to be paved this summer by the Highway Commission.

On the west Sunset and Prospect boulevards and the road through Cahuenga Pass will open up another avenue. A large force is now at work on these roads and within a few months there will be a fine automobile drive to Lankershim by that route.

Since the announcement was made several months ago in The Times that these ranches would be divided for smaller homes there has been great interest in developments. It is assured that a great many homes will be started the moment the company is ready to deliver the certificates of title.

SCIENCE NOTES.

Cancer Is Increasing.

Though there are a thousand scientists seeking to determine the cause of cancer and its cure, Dr. James Ewing, head pathologist of the New York City branch of the Cornell Medical School, is authority for the statement that the disease is actually on the increase. Statistics seem to indicate, he says, "that cancer is more common among Asiatics than among Africans, but much less common than among Europeans. This fact is largely dependent upon the frugal and largely vegetable diet of the Indian and African natives. In America we have reliable statistics in districts comprising 29,000,000 inhabitants. In 1900 the cancer death rate was sixty per 100,000 of all living, or 1.25 per cent. of all deaths.

"In regard to the racial factor in cases of cancer all races seem equally liable to the disease when brought under predisposing environment. Cancer had affected females more frequently than males, but the ratio of males is rapidly approaching that of females. The ratio in the United States is two males to three females.

"The study of vital statistics has shown that cancer is a greater menace to the public health than is tuberculosis, especially since the latter disease is now under control and steadily decreasing, while the former thrives under the best hygienic conditions and is steadily increasing."

Alder Defies the Teredo.

It has been supposed that eucalyptus was the only wood that when used for piling is unmolested by the destructive teredo. The report now comes from Oregon that alder has the same quality if the trees be cut in the spring when the sap is running. Five years ago H. C. McDonald, who owns a dock at Newport, decided to try alder piling, after replacing his fir piling several times. He had the trees cut in the spring, when the sap was running, and had the piling placed in salt water within forty-eight hours after they had been cut. The salt water seemed to crystallize the sap, he believes, and make the wood hard, and thus far the teredos have not succeeded in penetrating it. The wood is so heavy that when a piece of one piling was cut off it sank.

A Sound-Killing Wall.

In an attempt to destroy the noise of printing machinery, a New York house builder put up a party wall of hollow terra cotta blocks stuffed with mineral wool, and found that his anti-noise device was a success. The blocks are of the kind used in fireproof floors and partitions which have been known as good absorbers of sound waves, but this is the first test of them purely for that purpose. The mineral wool in the air spaces serves as a muffler.

Deep Places in the Pacific.

There are some deep places in the ocean off the Pacific Coast. Four or five lines have been run from different parts of the Coast between San Francisco and San Diego and Honolulu, and an average depth of 2700 fathoms, or over three miles, was found. Grades steeper than any streets were encountered near the Hawaiian Islands. On the northern one of these Hawaiian lines, about 900 miles westward from San Francisco, a submarine mountain was discovered. Its summit was 338 fathoms below the surface of the ocean, and it arose from the profound depth of 2700 fathoms. This submarine mountain's height would therefore be 13,872 feet, five or six times that of Mount Tamalpais and nearly equal to that of Mount Whitney or Mount Shasta. It has been named Mount Belknap.

Synthetic Sapphires.

The first of the synthetic sapphires made according to the new process announced recently from Paris have arrived in New York, and have been submitted to expert chemists for exhaustive examinations. One of the dealers who received some of the stones said that although he has been selling sapphires all his life he cannot see any difference between the synthetic products and the natural stones. He said that the new sapphire surpasses the synthetic ruby in excellence. He had tried all ordinary tests on the new stones without finding the slightest difference between them and natural sapphires. With a microscope, he said, an expert can readily see whether a ruby is real or artificial by the difference in the minute bubbles and striations. In the new sapphire no such difference is to be found. The crystallization seems to be just the same in one as in the other. The artificial ruby sometimes has what seem to be layers of dust, detracting fro mthe general silk-like effect, and these are not to be noted in the new sapphire. It is believed, though first tests have failed, that however close the manufactured stone is to the natural a way will be found to tell one from the other.

WHAT'S DOING IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Publisher Perkins of Tacoma, Wash., who owns seven newspapers, and runs them profitably, tells us that the entire Tacoma is for our big exposition. We feel thankful to Brother Perkins and hope the seven papers may increase to ten. San Diego and New Orleans papers will kindly copy these few obituary remarks.

Through Secretary Henderson, representative of the agricultural and zoological interests of the State, the University has thanked Col. Roosevelt for his gift of an African pachyderm. The museum is large enough to hold the "crittur," but a courteous intimation will be given the colonel that there is not room for another.

Naturally Mayor McCarthy could not be asked to respond to the toast of "Our Distinguished Guest" at the Carnegie banquet, after he had referred to Andrew as some kind of an old "sot." Eliminating the word "old" it would be coming to Andrew to reply, "Et Tu Patrick," but as yet he has not been introduced to the chief executive. The friends of McCarthy think that he may have used the word "Scot" instead of "sot," but His Honor maintains a dignified silence.

The Mayor is aggrieved at the newspapers for daily alleging that he is calling people names. He denies that he called the City Attorney a liar or threatened to break his jaw. It seems that it was the jaw of Clerk Haggerty which was in danger. The jawbone of the Mayor is not endangered because no one would attempt a herculean task.

This may be the "Paris of America," but nevertheless a lady was asked to give up her room at the Palace Hotel because of some notoriety attached to her relations with Millionaire Frank Thompson. For the life of him Mike Coffey sentenced to seven years for boodling cannot see the difference between himself and Eugene Schmitz or Abe Ruef. According to the Appellate Court he must serve time while they "serve ye one another." Perhaps it is because Coffey is only a hackman, while Schmitz is a musician.

A young doctor named Eaton, president of the health board, did the best he could for a relative by appointing him tooth inspector for the public schools, but the education board is mean enough to refuse $5000 to carry out the plan. Dr. Philip A. Bill, sandbagged into unconsciousness by a thug, on recovering his consciousness, sent for a marriage license and forthwith married Miss Mary Aileen Ross, his nurse. It is a happy termination of an unhappy beginning, and the sandbag of the thug was instrumental in bringing the doctor to the sticking point.

Everybody is down on the fish trust. It seems to have no friends in court or out of court. No mercy is to be shown it by the Legislative Committee now investigating its methods. Next January, when the Legislature meets Senator Eddie Wolfe will probably insist on the trust being reprimanded and warned that if it does not behave itself the Legislature will censure it again in 1913. Meanwhile fish consumers are at liberty to consume fishballs.

Toronto Physician Tells of Buying Wilderness Land That Now Adjoins Bakersfield Oil Field.

Under the head of modern fairy tales might come the story of a real estate "flyer" made by Dr. T. F. Chamberlain, of Toronto, who is taking a vacation in Southern California, and has been for several days a guest at the Lankershim. Four hundred acres purchased twenty-six years ago, for a total of $2400—land located in the Bakersfield oil territory—is the basis of the story.

"Twenty-six years ago," said the doctor," I purchased the land, in what was then a wilderness. Two years later I decided to look up the land. It was miles from anywhere but nevertheless I continued to pay the taxes each year.

"About three years ago, I began to to receive offers for the property. They kept increasing and the amounts offered also increased. The oil belt, which has been gradually extending, comes within three or four miles at present. Operations are gradually coming nearer and owners of property in the district are getting anywhere from $500 to $2000 an acre and some are holding on for $3000."

When he sells he will realize at the very least, something like 175 per cent. on his original investment.

"Los Angeles is almost as great a surprise to me as the acres near Bakersfield," he said. "There are only three places I remember since my first visit—the old mission church, the little park across the street and the St. Elmo Hotel. The increase of the city seems almost miraculous. And I want to say that the improvements are as fine as in any city I have ever been, particularly the electric street-car system which I don't think is surpassed anywhere."

THE COMING CONTINENT.

The visit of Col. Roosevelt to the continent of Africa turns out to be important not because of the preserved faunal specimens and the stuffed hides of animals that he has sent and is still sending to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, but because the visit has again emphasized the wonderful opportunities which Africa offers for the future welfare of the human race and the development of the world's commerce.

To be sure, the greatness of Africa as a place of opportunity has long been recognized, even from the times of the early explorers. We knew it from Stanley and others. Twenty years ago, in California, a young man complained to the late Collis P. Huntington that there were then no opportunities left for the acquirement of wealth as Mr. Huntington had had opportunities. "Go to Africa, young man," said the old wizard, "and you will find a thousand more opportunities there than ever came my way here." But the conception of Africa's greatness has been more or less vague, after all.

Col. Roosevelt's articles in the magazines, his talks with newspaper correspondents and his public utterances generally convey, between the lines, the strong current of conviction that Africa is a magnificent country, stupendous with commercial possibilities, healthful and pleasant as a place of abode.

It will, of course, require many centuries more to crowd the earth's surface—many ages, perhaps, even admitting that wars will cease, that disease will be conquered and that other blessings will come to pass which will increase the number of people who will live the length of natural lives. Seventy births and sixty deaths a minute is now the record. But the day is not far off when men will look for opportunity—for vast opportunity—in places still uncivilized. And Africa is the one great field left.

THE ASSESSORS' PUZZLES.

It is March in California, and with the old war month of the Latins comes the modern war between the assessors and the property-holders. All owners of property are required to make a statement to the Assessor of the county (if in the city also to the City Assessor) giving a complete list of all parcels owned by each individual. The assessors in Southern California are now engaged in getting their blanks prepared, and these will be mailed to all taxpayers in a very short time, with the obligation of filling them out and returning them promptly. The duty is a disagreeable one, but ought in spite of this to be performed with promptitude. It will aid the assessors very much in their work if the lists are sent in soon after being received. The law provides that any property-holder neglecting to return a list is to be dealt with somewhat arbitrarily by the Assessor, and if one neglects to perform his duty he is in legal parlance supposed to have slept on his rights as to any after protest for unjust treatment by the Assessor.

These are matters so thoroughly well understood from long practice on the part of most property-holders that the subject would deserve no attention were it not for peculiar conditions at this present time. These peculiarities arise from the action of the State Board of Equalization last year in increasing the assessors' figures all through Southern California by in some instances as much as 100 per cent. The topic is an old one and referred to here only for the purpose of refreshing the memory of our readers. The discussion was exhaustive as well as exhausting, and we exhausted it at the time of this arbitrary action. The effect upon Southern California of this species of highway robbery was really worth all it cost from the publicity it gave to the world of the rapid growth and great development going on in the southern part of the State.

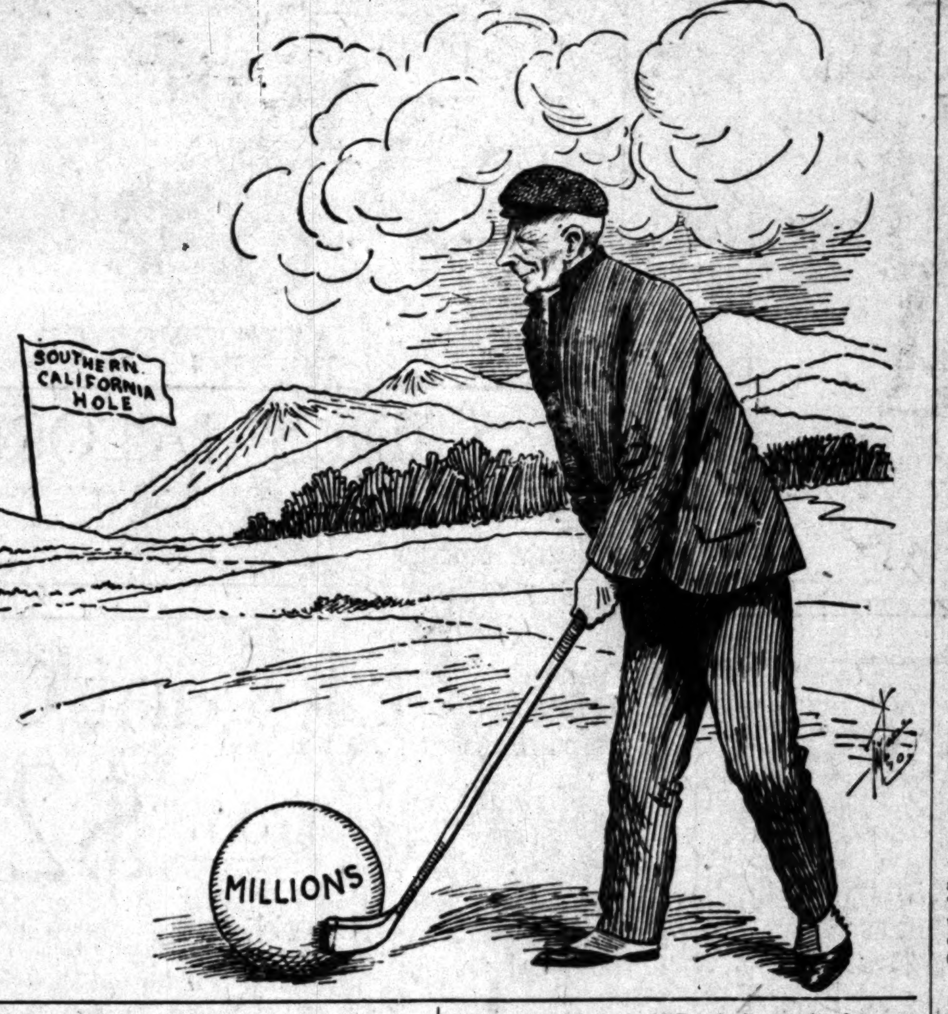
The assessors' present puzzle grows out of the uncertainty as to what action the State Board of Equalization will take next August. It is understood that notification of a pretty open kind has been sent out that the board will insist upon an assessment which will practically tax the property at the valuation prevailing last tax year after the board had raised the figures of the various county assessors. This does not necessarily mean that the county assessors in the different counties of Southern California shall take last year's lists and make out new assessments by simply reproducing the old figures. That would be a simple way of proceeding, but not a fair one. There are changes wrought during the history of a year, particularly in a district of country where growth and progress are so great as in Southern California. There will be property where the value has materially advanced on account of improvements or other circumstances in the neighborhood, and there will be perhaps other parcels where there may be some little deterioration. Certainly there will not be any basis for a general advancement over the assessment of last year. When everything is said, that valuation, resulting from the action of the State Board of Equalization, was excessive as a general rule, very much so in many instances. Unfortunately, the chief sufferer is the small property-holder whose possessions consist for the most part of a lot and the house which constitute his home. It is a universal experience that this property is usually assessed much more nearly at its marketable value than are large tracts, whether subdivided or in a whole, and also than central business property producing a regular and handsome income.

There is one circumstance common to all Southern California this year which should be kept in mind by the county assessors, and if the members of the State Board of Equalization are not generally very prejudiced, with an unfair bias in their minds against us down here, it will be taken into consideration by these gentlemen. The season will not be a satisfactory one for the agriculturist in Southern California, nor will it be so generally for the horticulturist. Since the first of the year we have had practically no rain excepting in very small portions of the territory. The feed on the ranges will be short, the grain crop (not a very vital affair in Southern California as things are at this time) will be below average, and even the hay crop will be far from abundant. Even where irrigation is possible because of a good supply of water, the profits of farming will be materially reduced. Usually about this time of the year the producers of hay get one, two or three cuttings of alfalfa without the expense of irrigation. There will not be many cuttings this year except after irrigation. It is the same with the fruit growers. They have been irrigating for a month or six weeks past, and the expense of eight or ten months' irrigation instead of about six adds very materially to the cost of carrying on these enterprises.

We understand that the county assessors in Southern California are looking carefully into this matter. They realize that there should be no increase in the assessments, speaking as a whole. They are persuaded that in the case of very many parcels of realty, after the action of the State Board of Equalization last summer, the burden of taxation was very onerous on the owners of these parcels. They are contemplating a very careful canvass of every piece of property coming under their jurisdiction, with the intention of making a very thorough equalization of the burden of taxation. In many instances, because of the known sentiment of a majority of the members of the Board of Equalization, probably the assessment figures will remain about as last year after the State Board had taken action. In some instances there will be a reduction.

The task of the assessors must be recognized as difficult. The taxpayer should take cordial coördinate action with the officials and make it as easy as possible. In the case of country property, surely there should be no general increase. Indeed, to reduce the burden of taxation here to the same level with that borne by the farmers of the northern part of the State, it is more than probable that a general reduction should be made. This is probably impossible on account of the animus of the State Board. We have entire confidence in the county assessors of Southern California that they will perform their work carefully and do all they can to bring about as equal a distribution of the burdens of taxation as possible. It would be a much easier task for them to accomplish these desirable purposes were it not for the unfair attitude of the State Board as to Southern California.

THIS WAY, JOHN!



LYNCH, THE DISTURBER.

It is said that the Typographical Union bosses in Los Angeles have caught their second wind and are sparring for another fight with The Times. After having been counted out and forced into a long period of somnolence, they are exhibiting symptoms of a fresh ardor for the fray and are disposed to renew the campaign of boycotting that started twenty years ago. It is even reported that they have sent for Sam Gompers to either come out here or to send an active lieutenant for the purpose of adding force or fury to the impact—if there should happen to be any. Of course Jim Lynch, the chief trouble-breeder of the "typos," is at the bottom of the seething.

Jim has two objects. The first is to save his face; the second to save his graft. His reputation got so pale here that the Los Angeles Typographical Union officially denounced him and his methods and asked the "International" by a formal resolution to put a stop to his ridiculous crusade against The Times, that was costing Lynch's dupes so much money. By means of political manipulation Jim has again secured control of the local typographical union, and he hopes to be able to keep the stream of dues pouring into his pockets and those of his agents and hirelings, by means of a pretended outburst against The Times.

Jim is bidden to come on! He is as ineffective as a whiff from a barnyard, when it comes to doing things. In a clean and sensible community like this, always on guard against infection, he cannot even produce malaria or a pain in the stomach. He is not as annoying as a mosquito or the common house fly in sticky weather. Lynch may succeed in saving his graft, but he cannot save his face. It has been duly decorated with a muzzle by a public sentiment that has properly classified him.

THE OLD GAME.

Persia, one of the oldest countries known to history, offers the latest instances of territorial aggrandizement, an age-long programme played all over Europe. Little by little the great Russian bear is putting one paw before the other and covering great slices of the old Persian dominion, which he proposes to keep forever.

Persia is the country which gave the world Zoroaster and his dual system of spiritual philosophy. It is the land of the Parsees and worshipers of the sun, the land of the magi who followed the star to worship the new-born King in the manger at Bethlehem, as well as the land of Cyrus the Great, whose exploits make a broad and brilliant page in the history of the world.

But Persia is to disappear from the map of the world as a political entity, as Poland disappeared, as Ireland disappeared.

The old Russian struggle goes on, to get to the sea. It was begun in the time of Peter the Great, who left his home and worked in the shipyards of Holland as a common ship carpenter in order that he might go back and teach his people how to build ships and strive for some of the commerce of the world. Like a caged bear that she is, Russia has been trying to break the bars first in one direction and then in the other. The old monster made a great rush eastward a few years ago and vainly dreamed that Port Arthur would furnish an ice-free harbor for her ships and commerce. But Japan closed the door against her there. She is making now a new path toward the ocean down at the Persian Gulf in this encroachment upon Persia.

The Crimean War was conjured up by Great Britain in order to check Russia from getting an outlet into the Mediterranean Sea by taking Constantinople and driving the Turk back into Asia. That succeeded. Later when the Balkan War was fought out and Russia was at the gates of Constantinople, English diplomacy checked the ambition of the great northern nation again. When her dream seemed about to be realized at Port Arthur, England financed the war on the side of Japan in order to check Russia in that quarter. But now England calmly acquiesces in the conquest of Persia by Russia, her ally instead of her enemy.

Here is an "eye-opener" for the world. Germany is intent upon creating a "sphere of influence" and a territory development in Asia Minor reaching down toward the southern point of Arabia. Great Britain would much rather deliver that portion of Asia over to Russia than to Germany. The acquiescence of the British government in this southern advance of Russia is distinctly for the purpose of checking Germanic aggrandizement on the Asiatic continent.

All this is well worth watching. If Great Britain permits Russia to reach the head of the Persian Gulf and establish a basis for commercial exploitation, and particularly if Russia is permitted to create a basis for her navy there, then it will be illuminating. It will point to a coalition between England, Russia and Japan to control the commerce of the world on all seas. Such a combination would be exceedingly powerful. Russia has a territory similar to our own. There is scarcely any form of natural wealth not found there. In her territory is a basis for a population of 100,000,000 persons without touching elbows or making the cubic-air allotment scant.

Of course such a combination would be looking ahead nearly a century. It would be shrewd diplomacy on the part of England, for it would give her practical domination of the seas for another 100 years.

CITY COMFORTS INCREASING.

It is shown in the United States Census Bureau's special annual report for 1907, now in press, relative to the statistics of the 158 largest cities, each having over 30,000 population in 1907, that from 1905 to 1907 the number of bathing beaches increased from 44 to 53; swimming pools, from 56 to 61, and all-the-year baths, from 15 to 78. The total bathing attendance increased from 19,158,562 in 1905 to 29,204,838 in 1907, an increase of 52.4 per cent. More than half of this attendance was reported from New York City, those ranking next in order being Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and Milwaukee.

New York has the largest acreage (278.5) devoted to zoölogical parks, followed in order by Washington (166.5) and Atlanta (140.) In the number of mammals and birds that such parks contain, New York ranks first and Cincinnati second, while Washington ranks third in number of mammals and Philadelphia third in number of birds.

Playgrounds are maintained in 76 of the 158 cities included in the report, and the city appropriations for playgrounds increased from $516,277 in 1906 to $741,912 in 1907. More than one-third of the amount was appropriated by New York, the cities next in order being Milwaukee, Washington and Pittsburgh. Private contributions for playgrounds were greatest in Washington. The total acreage devoted to playgrounds was greatest in Indianapolis, followed by New York, Boston and Baltimore. In New York most of the area devoted to playgrounds was connected with public schools, while in other cities named most of the playground area was in city parks.

Los Angeles is abreast of the other big cities in the playgrounds movement, but it is behind in public baths, drinking fountains and zoölogical parks. Shame to say, it is slovenly and careless in the upkeep of what parks it has.

UNCLE WALT, WARBLER.

BY UNCLE WALT MASON OF EMPORIA.

Where Grows the Sunflower.

Another week has taken flight; so let us sit around tonight, and talk of what we've done; how many ugly ghosts we've laid, how many upward steps we've made, how many prizes won. A week's composed of seven days; they hasten on their divers ways, and come to us no more; but each one gives to us a chance a little further to advance, toward the golden shore. No day was ever yet so brief you had no time to soothe a grief, or lend a helping hand; to cheer some pilgrim on his way, to guide some pilgrim gone astray in life's storm-beaten land. A week is short, but in it you may find a thousand things to do that will restore your soul, and life you nearer to the heights where rise the mansions of delights, and endless anthems roll. A week is short, but while it flies a man may sink or he may rise, may shrivel up or grow; may be a blessing to his friends, or pull them down as he descends toward the levels low. A week is short, but in that space a man may revel in disgrace, and bear for life its scars; or he may give his spirit wings, aspiring to the higher things, and walk the glowing stars.

Sympathetic Fakes.

UNLESS the Philadelphia business men get a sudden oozing of the spinal column, the whole structure of union labor is due to be shaken to its foundations. When a union calls a sympathetic strike it has already lost the fight and knows it. There is nothing to a sympathetic strike but wind and hot air and a few poor wretches driven from their jobs by union bosses. The sympathetic strike has a big violent sound, however, and the average business man, I am grieved to say, has about as much industrial courage as a sick kitten.

"SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER."

BY JANIE B. JONES.

Every little while some writer—inferentially masculine—announces his startling discovery or declares his profound conviction that it is not man but womankind that does the love-making.

He makes man out to be a mere puppet in the premises. He would convey the idea that, naturally indifferent to the nice girls all about him, man is as happy with his gun, his dog, his pipe, his politics as a lizard in the sunshine until some feminine rustler takes a shine to him; that helpless as a fallen leaf in the wind, he turns from all these things to go dancing along after a girl, with such unaccustomed words as "darling" and "angel" on his lips, with boxes of candy and bouquets of flowers and a deed to his name and his fortune in his hands, only when the girl pulls the string.

Man, the happy, the care-free bird in a bush; Woman, the predatory cat that, fixing him with baleful eye, catches him in her sharp claws, drags him into the frying pan and proceeds to do him up good and brown at her pleasure. Poor, helpless man!

It sounds like Ananias. If it were true, however, the only glory mankind could get out of the telling would go to the henpecked contingent. Instead of candidly admitting that he lacked the spunk and agility to save himself if he didn't want to get caught, the henpecked brother could advance the claim that it was excess of gallantry that made him surrender the first jump his lady made for him. He would be following Adam's way of getting out of responsibility for the first embarrassing situation on record: "T'ain't my fault, it was the woman that got me into this awful mess."

The phrase, "Catching a beau," is misleading anyway. It is a mistake to say that a girl—any girl that knows even so much as whether her beaux "jes' growed" or were planted—ever "catches" one. She doesn't even try to. Her efforts are directed solely toward inducing a potential beau to catch himself for her. In both motive and in method of procedure the girl takes a leaf out of her brother fisherman's book.

The fisherman puts on his old clothes, fortifies himself with a lot of worms and flies and proceeds by the artful display of such allurements to induce the fish to hang itself very securely to his hook. Maybe his motive is merely sport. Maybe it is supper; or he may be dissatisfied with the condition of the local market and is after a better try.

The girl puts on her Sunday clothes, fortifies herself with a lot of rats and other things likely to attract and charm a young man. Maybe her motive is merely sport. Maybe it is supper, with theater tickets, flowers, candy in their proper sequence, and again, maybe she, too, hopes to fetch home something better in the way of a catch than the market offers. But much more of finesse than of force is essential to the landing of fine game; [illegible] more splutter made in the effort the less apt [illegible] is to be a good catch, either of fish or of man.

There are girls who claim to enjoy themselves better when there are no beaux about. They may, possibly, be telling the truth. The grapes may have been really sour for all we know. But most girls so thoroughly appreciate the convenience of having two or three always on hand that they continue to wear the rats.

THE LANCER.

THE mutiny of the crew of the fishing steamer Chicago has pasted a [illegible] blow in the solar plexus of deep-sea romance.

I don't see how the Clark Russells and the Capt. Marryats of the future are going to manage to make a living. In the good old days when the crew went on a strike, the captain and the burly mate stood back to back on the quarter deck and fought with revolvers and belaying pins; and the crew slammed them over the head with capstan bars and the gore spilled scarlet—Sing Ho for a bottle of rum.

But the captain today simply steps to the key of the wireless apparatus and says in his best tenor voice: "If you don't stop, I'll call a policeman."

And the crew which once would have fought until the ship dripped blood, now waits until they get to port and lets the walking delegate of the seamen's union on captain.

Free Money—Hurrah!

Oh, joy! the millionaires are trying to give away all their money.

Adolphus Busch just hates his. He isn't quite sure what he ought to do with it and seems to be divided between old age pensions and prizes for [illegible] contests.

Andrew Carnegie is building free library buildings and lavishing pamphlets about "Economy" on his childhood friends.

Of John D., after being worked for a million dollars to explore the innards of some people in the South for hookworms, seems to think he needs a whole syndicate and an act of Congress to guard his future benefactions.

The first man who has generously posted himself with some free advice for John, since he made this resolution, suggests that the Rockefeller millions be invested in free farms for the European emigrants who pour in through New York.

It would be so sort of hospitable, don't you know, if every Wop who landed with a Black-Hand membership certificate in his back pocket could be greeted by a Rockefeller agent.

"Welcome to our fair city, Giovanni," he would say, "Here's a free farm and a pair of horses and a nice new stiletto and you will find our recipe for making bombs at the corner drug store. We furnish the nitro-glycerine free."

It would be much more to the point if John D. spent his money keeping them out instead of coaxing them in.

The Marathon Waltz.

We flatter ourselves that this is the day of our unearthly cleverness; but all our honors seem to go to the human mule who can stand being banged around without breaking in two.

We have "finish" fights; long-distance runs; endurance auto contests. The latest is the "Marathon Waltz."

Six couples began a long distance waltz last Saturday night at Puckett's Hall in San Francisco and danced for fourteen hours and forty-three minutes "without" as the reporter says, with an eloquent flourish, "a halt or a stop."

At the end of fourteen hours and [illegible] minutes, the second relay of the orchestra gave out and the winners were removed to the German hospital for treatment.

Miss E. Welch was debarred from the honor of helping to break the world's record by breaking one of her [illegible] at the end of twelve hours and [illegible] minutes.

One woman collapsed on the floor and was carried out after dancing from two to five hours.

"In the last few hours," says the [illegible] "Dr. Brackett and Dr. Hardy were on the floor all the time, running from dancer to dancer, rubbing their faces, necks and limbs with alcohol.

"Within twenty minutes of the end, Miss Finnegan began to faint and her fingers clinched at the shoulders of her partner. As her head drooped, Dr. Brackett administered strychnine and the next instant, she drew up with a smile and danced on."

Except for the regrettable catastrophe to Miss E. Welch's pink tootsie, the affair passed with eclat. Humiliation and despair reign in Butte, Mont., where the Marathon dancers only lasted fourteen hours and twenty [illegible] minutes.

[illegible] the Umpire.

In a game between two rah-rah teams in the north, the umpire was [illegible] and they wouldn't go on with the game until he apologized. This was very lovely of the umpire but I wouldn't advise ball players to go on the theory that umpires are going to [illegible] this Christian spirit right along. If a captain of a professional team tried the experiment of calling his team to the bench until the umpire apologized, I imagine that the succeeding events would be something like paying off the national debt.

[illegible] Our Jungle!

Some of the neighboring ranchers are living in terror of their lives. Murderous yeggmen have attacked women in their own homes and almost within sight of their husbands. Men have been [illegible] and trussed up with ropes like [illegible].

We can expect this reign of terror to be repeated every winter until the river bottom is properly policed.

At the foot of Griffith Park is a big [illegible] two or three miles long. In it are the winter homes of hundreds of [illegible].

The jungle is dotted at night with the specks of light from their camp fires. They go into the city to [illegible] and steal; then they go back to their bottom and disappear into [illegible].

Last year, the wild beasts of this [illegible] gave us the frightful murder of little girl—Anna Poltera—in Griffith Park. This year, it hides the [illegible] of the lonely ranch [illegible].

A mounted patrol of three or four [illegible] could drive the yeggmen out of the bottom. The Sheriff can't spare the men, he says, because all of his men are needed for court [illegible] where they have the important [illegible] of giving three raps on the top [illegible] twice a day to inform the [illegible] who know it already, that [illegible] is on the bench.

It seems to me that, on a pinch like this, the judge might thump the top of the bench with his own illustrious [illegible] and enlist some fourteen good deputy sheriffs in a more [illegible] undertaking.

[illegible] Flint.

[illegible] with all my heart that it is [illegible] Flint intends to become [illegible] for reelection.

[illegible] Senator Perkins apparently on [illegible] retirement, it would be a [illegible] to California to have Flint [illegible]

[illegible] some mighty important [illegible] Federal fire. We cannot [illegible] a new Senator start in [illegible] with a membership on [illegible] on Ventilation, and let [illegible] wait while he is working [illegible]

[illegible] has more than merely [illegible] I will admit that on a [illegible] round in Washington last [illegible] surprised to find Mr. Flint so powerful a Senator. The Washington correspondents, who are mighty shrewd critics of men, spoke of Flint invariably as one of the "coming men" of this country.

Among the Indians of Isletta they elect men to tribal office who occasionally refuse to serve. In which case they put them in a dungeon until they have a change of heart and take the job. I merely mention this as a suggestion.

No Medals for Uncle Shelby.

Uncle Shelby Cullum, as head of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs has sternly forbidden foreign kings and such to hang any junk on the manly bosoms of our diplomats.

Uncle Shelby does not propose to have the country storekeepers of his neighborhood who get appointed to be Minister of Guatemala, coming back jingling with medals and put it all over the village postmaster. Anyhow, decorations are liable to make pin holes in your coat and the cost of living is going up right along.

Near-Home Tours.

Rev. Robert J. Burdette of The Times staff is in the South Seas and Miss Sidney Ford is on a long-distance sprint around the world; but they haven't anything on me. I went to Elsinore last week.

Some day Elsinore will be one of the great resorts of the world. The lake lies just under the shadow of a gaunt mysterious old mountain. At sunset, the mountains stand dark and purple-black and terrible above a sea of blood-stained gold.

The town, at present, is a rather shabby little hamlet lost in the middle of an empire of vacant land. It wants to advertise itself and doesn't know how. But some day it will find out.

Down at the steamship offices, our worthy fellow citizens are hastening to part with their simoleons to visit European ruins about half as old and half as interesting as our Arizona ruins; to visit medical springs not so good as those of Southern California and to rubber at mountains which I am assured are cheap imitations compared with the rugged grandeur of the Southern California peaks. We have it all at home.

P. S.—Of course I am not sure that old patch of water looks just exactly like a sea of blood-stained gold; but it has to look like something and it may as well be blood-stained gold.

P. S.—I never say any blood-stained gold, but I guess it looks like a lake all right.

Who Cares?

Oh, dear! it's started all over again. Prof. Somebody-or-Other says he knows now for certain there are folks on Mars and that the black marks are canals. Right on the heels of his discovery comes the usual retort of Prof. Thingamabob of Harvard who says they are not canals; they are only real estate signs.

I can't see why or how anybody should care a whoop whether there is a population on Mars, or whether it's only a cold storage plant. I am sure in any case that it's a very uninteresting population.

Anyhow the discussion never ends anywhere but proceeds endlessly upon the style of juvenile debates—"'tain't—'tis, etc."

The next time a professor is seen to cast a speculative eye upon the heavens he ought to be gently wafted from our midst onto some desolate, patient isle, where people haven't anything more interesting to think about.

THE LANCER.

OLD FAMILY DIVIDED.

Favorite Daughter and Father Estranged, and Action Brought by Former to Recover Trifles.

One of the oldest and wealthiest Italian families in Southern California is entangled in a trivial suit filed in Justice Ling's court. The parties are Mrs. Maria Nebbia Pozzo and her father, Giovanni Nebbia, an old and rich winery owner.

As both of them have much of worldly goods, it is intimated that this case as but the forerunner of others which will be of a more serious nature.

Maria was a favorite with her father until she married, three years ago, and went to Mexico to live. Whether his love for her waned in her absence is not known, but she instituted the action almost upon the day of her return home recently.

The articles involved are a few chairs, a desk and some other pieces of furniture, which she values in her complaint at $100. She alleges that her father has unlawfully detained them from her, and that she now desires to get possession of what is her own.

Attorney Dominguez, who represents her father, declares that she gave them to Nebbia when she went to the southern republic and that there is a deeper motive than the mere recovery of them. He says that the wine man's days on earth are numbered, and that it is likely there will be a contest over the division of his wealth when it is no longer useful to him.

The case has not been set down for trial. It is understood there are efforts under way to effect a compromise outside the court.

SEEKING LIFE HISTORY.

Friends of Colored Woman Who Had Notable Career Would Like It Published.

A movement is on foot to induce the family of the late Mrs. L. N. Sessions to bring out a history of her life in some suitable form of publication. Mrs. Sessions died in this city a few weeks ago, and her loss is greatly felt by the entire local negro population. She was the first colored woman to graduate from a college in America, and her life has been notable in a great many respects.

Mrs. Sessions was a woman of force of character, and was regarded and looked up to as a leader by the colored people of this part of the country. She was also well known to the negro race everywhere in the United States, and her writings and the history of her career, which was a long one, will make interesting reading when assembled in the proper form. Very many white people of education and culture in Los Angeles have manifested regret at her demise. Her life work resulted in much good. Mrs. Sessions was born, free, in Cleveland, O., October 16, 1831.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Park Superintendent Morley and Secretary Mullaly left their places abruptly yesterday, and the park system is without a head.

A petition was filed in the Superior Court yesterday, for the appointment of Leo J. Maguire as guardian of Beatrice Anita Baldwin, an alleged daughter of E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin, preparatory to the institution of an action to contest the will of the late King of Santa Anita.

In Judge Willis's court, yesterday, Sam and Simon Pearline, diamond brokers, were convicted of embezzlement and will be sentenced Tuesday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PARK SYSTEM IS WITHOUT HEADS.

MORLEY AND MULLALY TERMINATE SERVICES ABRUPTLY.

Superintendent Says He Has Not Been Given Fair Opportunity to Demonstrate His Ability—Commission Is to Meet Tomorrow to Fill the Places Suddenly Vacated.

The Los Angeles park department is without a superintendent or a secretary today. At noon yesterday Secretary Mullaly quit his work and will not return. Later in the day John G. Morley, who has been superintendent for seven years, turned all his affairs over to Commissioner O'Melveney and thus terminated his connection with the department. Morley did not resign.

The action is surprising to the Mayor and the Park Commission, but is the result of the friction in the department that culminated last week when the commission voted to vacate Morley's office April 1, after Morley had refused, in a dramatic scene, to tender his resignation.

Morley said yesterday that he had decided the vacation of the office meant what it said, and that he had continued in the position only long enough to straighten out his affairs and drop the work. He felt satisfied yesterday that he had left the business of the department in good shape for the commission or his successor.

"The action of the commission was precipitate and unjustifiable," said Morley. "I have given seven years to the development of the parks, and what has been done has been by hard work on my part, and in the face of parsimonious appropriations by the city. Now the time has come when larger means are to be obtained to develop the parks and a larger salary is to be paid. Opportunity to show skill and intelligence in the treatment of the parks may be found only with adequate financial provision, and this opportunity seems to be coming. I had hoped to make use of generous provision for the parks by demonstrating my improvement plans, but it seems I am merely held responsible for conditions that resulted from parsimony and will be denied an opportunity to show what I can do when there are means to do something. For that reason I am quitting the work as quickly as possible."

Morley said he declined an offer from another city recently which was peculiarly advantageous because he cherished plans for Los Angeles that could only be prosecuted with ample financial provision.

The commission will meet tomorrow to take action on the strange situation. Whether it will fill the places abdicated by the superintendent and secretary is not known. Morley's successor has already been discussed and the names of Charles Shaw, who was engaged in landscape work for the Salt Lake Railroad; George McDonald, a landscape gardener now living at Pasadena; Louis Le Grande, former superintendent, and now in charge of Calvary Cemetery, and John J. Reeves, who has been the guiding hand in the planning of Beverley Heights, have been mentioned. Commissioner O'Melveney has been authorised to find a man, and may be prepared to make a suggestion tomorrow.

The salary of the park superintendent is $3000 a year, but the commission may ask an increase in this in order to engage a man of the standard a majority of them decided Morley could not reach.

FRANCHISE APPLICANTS.

URGE NEW REGULATIONS.

The practice of selling street railroad franchises to persons who do not intend to use them but do intend to assign them to a traction company, through previous arrangement, was condemned yesterday in a report sent to the Council by the Board of Public Utilities.

John Haislip and others asked a franchise for a street railway on San Pedro street from Aliso to Seventh street. The commission says it is plain that the applicants have no intention of building a line themselves and that a line for such a distance would be impractical. The belief is stated that the Pacific Electric Railway expects to use this franchise in turning much of its business off of Main street to relieve the interurban traffic congestion and the report seems to advise that the company should ask for what it wants in its own name. In fact the report does advise that the "parties in interest" should be the ones to make application any time a street railway franchise is desired.

This brings to attention the assertion of H. E. Huntington that his companies would never apply for a franchise until the twenty-one-year limit is abandoned. But one of his companies did apply some months ago for a franchise for Sixth street from Olive to Figueroa street, in order to straighten the Glendale-Edendale and West Sixth-street line, and the franchise was granted on the usual bid of $100. The franchise as applied for in the name of the Los Angeles-Inter-Urban Railway.

The recommendation of the Board of Public Utilities is believed to represent an intention on the part of the administration to cease granting franchises to private individuals for the use of the traction companies, which has been the custom since Huntington made his assertion that he would ask for no more.

Seek Spur Franchise.

The Pacific Fruit Express Company has applied for a spur franchise for a track across the San Fernando Road at Avenue 26. The track is to curve across the street and is to furnish service to the packing-house.

Abolish Forester.

The Legislation Committee of the Council has decided to recommend the abolition of the office of the City Forester and also to recommend the passage of an ordinance requiring notices in street cars of the ordinance forbidding smoking on the front open ends of cars.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

CHILD ATTACKS BALDWIN WILL.

ALLEGED DAUGHTER SEEKS PART OF GREAT ESTATE.

Action Is Taken in Probate Court for the Appointment of a Guardian for Minor Girl, Said to Be the Issue of the Late Horseman and Lillian J. Ashley.

The estate of millions left by Elias Jackson ("Lucky") Baldwin has been attacked from another source.

On a line with the action taken by the Probate Court in consenting to the appointment of Charles Temple as administrator of the estate of Mrs. A. W. M. DeTemple, in order that Temple might bring an action to quiet title to a portion of Ranchos Merced and Filipe de Lugo, another petition was filed in the Superior Court, indicating a contest of the will of Baldwin.

The petitioner in the case is Leo J. Maguire, who asks that he be appointed guardian of Beatrice Anita Baldwin, aged 14 years, daughter of Lillian J. Ashley, now known as Lillian J. Turnbull, of Boston. The young woman being a minor, it is necessary that a guardian be appointed to maintain an action involving a contest of the Baldwin will.

It is set out that there is need of a guardian of the estate of the Baldwin girl, that consists of one-third of the estate of E. J. Baldwin, provided, however, that before the computation of the interest is made, there shall be deducted from the estate the one-third thereof, which under the law of California, the widow of E. J. Baldwin would have been entitled to if Baldwin had died intestate.

ONLY LEGITIMATE CHILD.

It is further alleged that the minor was born in the city of Los Angeles December 7, 1893. Also, that E. J. Baldwin died leaving as his only legitimate issue, the minor, Beatrice, and the half sisters of Beatrice, Clara Baldwin Stocker of Arcadia, and Anita Baldwin McClaughry of Berkeley.

It is further alleged that Baldwin had omitted to provide for his daughter, Beatrice, in his last will and as it does not appear that the omission was intentional, Beatrice is entitled to the same share of the estate left by Baldwin, as if he had died intestate. The petition disputes the validity of the last will that has already been admitted to probate on all grounds and in order to establish and maintain her claim, it is necessary that a guardian be named. It is further stated that the only persons interested in the action are the minor, Beatrice, and her mother.

The petitioner is a daughter of Lillian J. Ashley, who about sixteen years ago, sued Baldwin for breach of promise in the San Francisco courts. During the progress of the trial the plaintiff fired a shot at Baldwin, but the bullet went wide of the mark and the horseman was uninjured. Miss Ashley afterward lost the case. The daughter is alleged to be the result of the relations between Baldwin and the Ashley woman.

The proposed suit will further complicate the affairs of the Baldwin estate, that it was expected would be settled in court within the next thirty days, or in about one year from the death of Baldwin which took place March 1, 1909. It was hoped to make a record in the final settlement of the millions of dollars involved, but the action just instituted and suits that will be filed this week by Charles Temple, as administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. A. W. M. DeTemple, are likely to complicate the matter.

ONE CLAIM IS SETTLED.

At the time of Baldwin's death, the bulk of the property was left to Mrs. Baldwin, nee Bennett, the widow, and two daughters, Mrs. Anita Baldwin McClaughry and Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker. Afterward the widow was given a larger portion of the estate than the will provided for, and this was followed later by a settlement of the claim of Mrs. Rosella Robinson Selby of Oakland, Cal., the young wife of a candy manufacturer there who claimed to be a daughter of Baldwin. What she received has never been made known by the administrator of the Baldwin estate or any of the heirs. Mrs. Baldwin was originally left a one-third interest in the Baldwin Annex in San Francisco, but she also was given a large lump sum to avoid a contest.

H. A. Unruh, administrator of the Baldwin estate, and a beneficiary under the will, while in the city yesterday made light of the proposed contest of the Baldwin will, saying that Miss Ashley would have no standing in court.

Under the law, notice of the contest of a will must be presented within one year of the date of probate, and that period will soon be here. This fact had the effect of hurrying the action indicated in the petition filed yesterday.

BROTHERS CONVICTED.

DIAMONDS ARE EMBEZZLED.

Sam and Simon Pearlin, brothers, who for some time conducted a jewelry brokerage business in the O. T. Johnson building, were convicted in Judge Willis's court yesterday afternoon of embezzling two diamond rings, the property of J. Rosencrantz, and the brothers will be sentenced Tuesday.

It was shown in the evidence that the crime of which they were convicted was not the only occasion when they had appropriated valuables belonging to customers, it being the plan of the accused to give notes due in sixty and ninety days, that did not become due until after they fled from the city last November. For the specific crime just disposed of they were captured in New Haven, Ct., and returned here for trial.

The prisoners wept when the jury returned the verdict. They were joined by their aged father, who was a constant attendant at the trial, and did all he could to muster testimony favorable to his sons.

It was the contention of the defense that the diamonds involved were delivered to the Pearlin brothers in the ordinary course of business, and that notes had been given for their payment.

WOMAN'S TIRADE BITTER.

DRAMATIC RECITAL OF WOES.

Miss Margaret Gorman, plaintiff in the suit brought against Evan Lewis, receiver of the Consolidated Bank, to recover damages of $20,000 for an attack she alleged Lewis had made on her on the fourth floor of the Chamber of Commerce building last July, made a strong appeal for the justice of her cause in Judge Hutton's court yesterday. The testimony of several additional witnesses was taken, and the attorneys were given leave to file briefs in the case.

Miss Gorman was the most important witness, and she struck a dramatic attitude as she recited her woes. Addressing her words to the court, she declared that she would lose faith in her God if she did not succeed in securing justice in the case. Her argument flowed in a steady stream for more than a half-hour, and she was especially bitter toward the defendant, Lewis. She attacked the witnesses who had appeared against her, claiming that all of such evidence was not only prejudiced, but pure perjury, and rehearsed the case from her own standpoint, declaring that she had only gone to the Chamber of Commerce building to see W. H. Carlson about her bank deposit.

The defendant, Lewis, and his testimony was corroborated by others, alleged that he had only used such force as was necessary in putting the woman out of his office.

Miss Gorman was a depositor in the Consolidated Bank, of which Carlson was president, having $300 in the institution when it failed. A few days ago Carlson testified that he had repaid her all but $75, and was willing to give her that if she would surrender her pass book. He also said that about ten days ago Miss Gorman had come to his residence and frightened the family so that it was necessary for him to summon the police, the woman threatening to throw vitriol upon him, he said.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the California Feldspar Company, capital stock $200,000; incorporators, N. H. Standfield, G. I. Hayes, J. G. Bates, C. A. Stice and J. C. West; subscribed, $5000; Berry Improvement Company, capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, C. I. Berry, E. E. Bush, F. D. Berry, F. L. Keller and F. C. Berry; subscribed, $100,000. The Coronet Oil Company, capital stock, $1,000,000; incorporators, Frank Moir, Joseph Metzer, Maria Darcy, James Moir and G. F. Beckham; subscribed, $375. Consolidated Los Angeles Builders' Company, capital stock, $50,000; incorporators, J. E. Stockwell, F. W. Chandler, W. W. Stockwell, W. J. Ford, Arthur Lamm, Andrew Swanfeldt and M. I. Carroll; subscribed, $700.

TO QUIET TITLE. More of the lands at Wilmington, involved in the property claimed by the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway, form the basis of a quiet title action brought in the Superior Court yesterday by W. T. Wheatley. The property is along the line of McFarland and Third streets, Wilmington.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED. All of the evidence in the damage actions brought by W. H. Cooper and Lulu B. Cliff to recover an aggregate of $15,000 on account of injuries received by the collision of an auto in which the plaintiffs were riding and a car of the Los Angeles-Pacific Company the night of September 12, last, at Sixteenth street and Western avenue, was concluded in Judge Bordwell's court yesterday before a jury. The argument of counsel will occupy Monday forenoon.

TAKEN TO TEXAS. Several weeks ago Agnes M. Billups was adjudged insane, but the unfortunate woman was placed in the care of her friends, instead of being sent to the Patton State Hospital. Yesterday a brother appeared in her behalf and Judge Wilbur allowed the woman to be taken to Texas, where she will be cared for in the future.

TRIAL DATE SET. In Judge Davis's court yesterday Juan Miranda, charged with murder, had his trial set for May 19.

M'NALLY ESTATE. The report of Henry B. Clow, as trustee for the trust property in California of the Andrew McNally estate, was filed in the Probate Court yesterday for approval. The property amounts at the present time to $185,000, after expenses of $122,552 have been paid in the last two years for the carrying on of the ranch and city holdings. Ranches in Orange county and La Mirada constitute the chief asset of the trust property. The heirs include Andrew F. W. McNally, Frederick George McNally, Fred L. Wyles, Elizabeth Frances Clow and other heirs living in Altadena. The account will be passed upon March 28, by Judge Rives.

IN SANTA ANA. Judge Hervey of Department Seven, was in Santa Ana yesterday, sitting in the Superior Court of Orange county for Judge Z. B. West.

THAT DOG CASE. In the action brought by William McMillan of Watts, to recover the value of a Llewellyn setter dog, heard in Judge Conrey's court, in which City Marshal Traughber, was defendant, the finding of the court was in favor of McMillan, for $25.

DAMAGES SOUGHT. Anna Dindon-Howard instituted a suit against the American Steam Laundry Company, to recover $10,000. It is alleged, as the basis of complaint, that the plaintiff was badly injured while operating a mangle in the establishment of the defendant.

HE WON'T BE THERE. The trial of Harry D. Brown, the "get-rich-quick" broker, who is now serving a stretch in San Quentin, on the charge of floating a fictitious check, is set for hearing in Judge Willis's court, tomorrow, although the prisoner will not be present. It is understood the specific charge against the financier will be kept alive until Brown serves his term of three and one-half years.

ALLEGED WIRE THIEVES.

George Briggs, Talmage McClarey and Bert Kelly, negroes, were taken before Justice Summerfield yesterday on charges of grand larceny, and their preliminary examinations set for Friday. They are accused of having stolen two tons of copper wire at Bairdstown.

CHARGES DON'T HOLD.

Charges of having obtained goods by false pretenses against Gordon E. Phair and M. A. Hope, formerly proprietors of the Billikin Grill, were dismissed by Justice Pierce yesterday. They had given a post-dated check and were not able to meet it when it came due.

IN JAIL FOR SMALL CHECK.

J. C. P. Hester was arrested yesterday on a charge of having drawn a check for $5 on the All Night and Day Bank when he knew that he had no funds in the institution. He was placed in the County Jail, and will be arraigned before Justice Summerfield tomorrow.

JEWISH CHARITY BALL.

The Jewish Sisterhood of Los Angeles, a benevolent organization that does much good among the poor and the sick, will give a ball in the Goldberg-Bosley Assembly Hall on Tuesday evening. The deserving object to which the proceeds go, make it desirable that the ball may be largely attended.

NEW CHARGES FILED.

Railroad Company Files Complaint Against Jewelers Alleged to Have Rifled Their Own Trunk.

New charges were filed in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday against Albert and Julia Fink, proprietors of a jewelry establishment, who are now at liberty under bail, awaiting a hearing on a felony complaint.

Miles T. Bowler, special agent for the Southern Pacific Company, swore to a complaint alleging that they had made false claims for $10,860 in payment for jewelry which they declared had been lost in transit to San Francisco.

The case is the outgrowth of the loss by Harry Adams, one of their commercial men, of a trunk which was filled with sample jewelry to be shown in northern cities. The theory of the prosecution is that the Finks "switched" the checks, and that Mrs. Fink received the trunk in San Francisco and rifled it of the pearls and diamonds.

The first charge filed against them was that they had made false claims on the Hartford Fire Insurance Company for $5000 insurance on the jewelry.

The Finks declare that their loss was real and that they intend to file civil suits against the railroad and insurance companies

MURDERER SENTENCED.

Man Who Killed Officer at Oxnard Must Spend the Rest of His Life in San Quentin.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, March 12.—Superior Judge Clarke yesterday sentenced Manuel Munoz, tried and convicted as Manuel Fabela, to serve for the rest of his life in San Quentin prison. Fabela was convicted of the murder of Andrew McNaughton in Oxnard, March, 1906. McNaughton was the nightwatchman of the town and while in the discharge of his duties, overhauled Fabela and a companion named Dolores Quintana in the act of robbing a pool room in Cribtown. The officer grappled with the thieves, getting hold of Quintana. Fabela went to the aid of his companion and shot McNaughton. Fabela then fled to Mexico and was only apprehended after four years. He previously served a term at San Quentin of three years for resisting and fighting an officer at Oxnard.

The Seaside Tennis Club of this city has concluded to get into action for the spring and summer play. At a meeting the other evening it was decided to immediately put the beach courts in commission and start the game going with a view to holding tryouts to select a team to enter the coming Nordhoff tournament. The Seaside this season will have a State expert in its list of members. Neill Baker, who won his "Big C" in tennis at the University of California, and who is the winner of many trophies, will take part in the club games. He may also be the representative at the Ojai tournament.

Caroline Airhart, a teacher in the Camarillo school, this county, is suing William H. Airhart for divorce on the ground of failure to provide and habitual intemperance. The couple was married in San Diego in 1906.

Frank Nailor, who forged the name of James Mack to checks and was apprehended at Chicago, pleaded guilty here day before yesterday, and was sentenced by Judge Clarke to ten years at Folsom. Nailor was previously sent from a northern county for grand larceny and had only just completed his probationary period when he got into trouble again.

Marriage licenses: George Barrington and Margaret MacGregor, both of Piru; Lloyd Ezra Gage and Rosa Bell Coons, both of Bardsdale; Lyman Lewis Dunton and Frances Fleisher, both of Santa Paula.

Miss Ella Fraser of this city has been named as a teacher in the Camarillo public school.

William Farrell has been appointed horticultural commissioner in the Oxnard district.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 11.—The final honors in the measles "Marathon race" that has been holding forth on the campus for the last two months, have been awarded to Miss Florence Williams, '10, of Hollywood, who has just been attacked by the malady. The health authorities believe that no more cases will appear, as all the other sufferers have recovered, and the mild epidemic seems to have "petered out." Miss Williams is quarantined in Roble Hall, the women's dormitory.

The mid-semester "smoke-ups" were issued from the registrar's office to students delinquent in scholarship, yesterday. Eighty-nine students are "down" in two or more subjects and about fifty have been doing unsatisfactory work in one course.

J. H. Francis, principal of Polytechnic High School, Los Angeles, delivered an address before an assembly of the faculty tonight.

Dean MacCormack, of the Protestant Cathedral of Los Angeles is to be the preacher at the university chapel services Sunday morning.

Little Bell Pays.

SALT LAKE, March 12.—The second quarterly dividend of the Little Bell Company has been authorized. This calls for a payment of 5 cents a share, amounting to $15,000, on March 22, the books closing on March 17. Manager Spiro announces that everything at the property is in fine shape, and there is every indication that dividends will be regular.

THE HOME PHYSICIAN

This Recipe Makes a Splendid Remedy for Coughs.

The home-made remedy described below will be found a very handy and effective thing to have in the house ready for use. It is simple, pleasant to take, easy to prepare, and lasts a family a long time. It wipes out a cough quickly.

Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add one-half pint of warm water, and stir about two minutes. Put two and one-half ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill up with the Granulated Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Cough preparations, as a rule, are mostly syrup. Granulated Sugar Syrup is both cheap and excellent. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract and is rich in all the healing pine elements.

None of the weaker pine preparations can compare with the real Pinex itself. If your druggist hasn't it, he can easily get it for you.

This recipe is also splendid for chest pains, whooping cough, hoarseness, bronchitis, etc.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

Unusual Furniture of Historic Interest

For Modern Halls and Living Rooms

Lovers of real art in furniture will find much to interest them in the "California's" present showing of reproductions of rare Old English pieces of the styles in vogue from the middle of the sixteenth to the early part of the eighteenth centuries.

The collection is remarkable in that it comprises pieces which are rarely seen and which fairly breathe the spirit of the stately Old English halls and mansions.

These styles are representative of the periods known as "Elizabethan," "Jacobean," "William and Mary," "Charles II," etc.—each of which periods contributes its decorative influences, which have been consistently adhered to and which characterize the reproductions we show today.

The display includes large living room or library tables of massive design—smaller tables or stands—big roomy sofas—arm chairs—side chairs—and all requisite pieces for the complete furnishing of the living room, library and hall. The wood used is all specially selected oak, finished in the Old English, a dark oak color.

The influence of these English styles in our American homes is very marked. And where rooms are built after the English idea, there is no furniture so appropriate, so distinctive, so stately, and so strictly correct. Taking into consideration its high quality and its beautiful hand carvings, it is by no means expensive—in fact, the price range is exceedingly broad.

We extend a very special invitation to all the public to come and see these uncommon pieces. We take pride in showing such furniture and we believe you will find pleasure in seeing it.

Some very handsome Old English reproductions are shown in one of our windows.

SINKS OF DEATH VALLEY REEK WITH TREASURE.

Great Natural Mineral Vats in Stifling, Desolate, Reptile-Infested Gash in Mountains Vie With Golden Ledges of the Hills, Writes Prospector Who Has Studied the Region.

What travelers may see in Death Valley.

WITH all that has been said about Death Valley, public ideas in regard to it are very peculiar and often laughable. Death Valley is said to be nearer hell than any other place on earth, so hot that the devil himself will not stay there but prefers rather to live in Chicago. It may have been the original site of Eden; serpents are still there and fig trees flourish to some extent, but the fig leaves are so full of holes that no Eve could ever weave them into a satisfactory apron.

I would like to be able to write an article on Death Valley telling nothing but the truth in regard to it, for it would be something new and never before accomplished by any one, but the public will not expect of me to succeed fully where all others have failed.

Death Valley, the supreme bugaboo and great sub-horizontal horror of Southeastern California, which boomers use to inspire a wild awe and wonderment on the part of tenderfeet, is still, in itself a worthy subject for any pen. If it could but be truly depicted in all its vast, solemn, forlorn desolation, it would afford a stranger and more striking article than any that has ever been written about it. As a mineral zone, it, as a matter of fact, has much merit.

STORIES OF RICHES.

In addition to the alleged awful, death-dealing, grewsome and ghastly attributes of Death Valley, it is often represented as a vast and fabulous treasure field, which if a man could successfully traverse he would become rich as the trusts, from the wealth of precious metals to be picked up by the wayside. In fact there is a general opinion prevailing that if a man could only get on the other side of Death Valley, he would get rich. A man once said to me: "If you ever get on the other side of Death Valley I wish you would try and break me off a few pieces of the formation over there, I always wanted some free gold specimens."

Now I don't know which is "the other side" of Death Valley. I have been on all sides, in the middle and back and forth a great deal, yet Rockefeller does not seem to recognize me. I have crossed Death Valley altogether fourteen times, but I would still deign to pick up and pocket an ordinary $20 gold piece if it seemed to be lying about, loose and lonesome. It is a fact that I found plenty of precious metals out there, but they were so mixed up with other substances I have not got them successfully separated.

DELIRIUM TREMENS.

When I first saw Death Valley I was very much impressed with its wonders and could have written many pages about it, but soon its awful solitudes palled upon me. Once when I was 100 miles from civilization and helpless with the heat I was represented in a long, alleged interview as saying that Death Valley, aside from its tremendous piles of loose mineral treasures, was a fine place for a health resort, presumably an instant cure for delirium tremens and such other ills as flesh is heir to, but I know it is not so, for delirium tremens are common and contagious in Death Valley and all the deserts thereabout.

Indians are not very numerous in Death Valley, but they are an ignorant, suspicious, treacherous looking lot, always spying to see what strangers are up to in their country. They did not make any open demonstration against me, but were always anxious that I should go away. They constantly reminded me that it was their country and inquired about my business.

A SHOT IN THE DARK.

Once when I lay out at night alone under some trees on the higher mountains, I was suddenly awakened just before morning by a gun being fired almost in my face. I saw the flash as I came to my feet in bewilderment. At first I thought it a practical joke and pulling my revolver I fired in the air and called but received no answer. It then occurred to me that an Indian had crept up in the shadows of the thick brush where I lay, and fired the shot, thinking to stampede me out of the country.

I knew if they really wanted to shoot me they would get me anyway, so I made careful not too look about in the bushes or manifest any further alarm, as Indians are superstitious about harming you if they think you are brave. I lit a pipe of tobacco and lay down again by my fire, not because I was brave, but because I was bewildered and did not know what else to do in the thick, black darkness of the cañon. But when the first gray light of morning arose and I could find my way over the rocks, I made back to camp, and this incident is the most notable adventure I had in this line during all my eight months in and about Death Valley.

However I know of some peculiar and uncanny things happening out there, and when men are found dead in Death Valley, as a dozen or so are every summer, it is not always due to the heat. It is a strangely haunted land, rife with unwritten tragedy.

STORY OF A STAMPEDE.

When my partner and I began prospecting at Johnson's Cañon on the west side or wall of Death Valley, we found many ledge croppings, some very large and evidently never before explored by white men, though the Indians had dug on some of them as we soon found, for we incurred at once their greatest disfavor by locating these ledges. We were but two men against possibly a dozen Indians under "Chief" Hungry Bill, and having but little ammunition for our guns, we left a few days sooner than we had at first calculated, and though our sampling of the ledges was incomplete, our assay at Rhyolite, Nev., of $28, gold, per ton, from a 200 foot dyke of quartz-porphyry, caused myself and two partners to rush back for more samples. This second time the same dyke assayed $31.20 in gold and 38 ounces silver.

We were followed back by several men and our third samplings of the various ledges ranged up as high as $98, which is fabulous for surface from such large croppings. We said very little, but our hasty trips were noticed, and as hundreds of men in Nevada are always on the lookout for new strikes, there was the wildest excitement and all kinds of reports were sent out. The awful heat of the summer came on and men rushed pell mell into Death Valley in the effort to reach the scene of the new Eldorado in the cooler heights of the hills beyond.

MANY TRAVEL NAKED.

Many of them traveled mostly naked, at night, with trains of mules and burros belabored along under loads of equipment. All were blanched by the hot winds and the sun, which registered as high as 136 degrees and caused the adventurers to fall back from the sun-blackened western bars of the great valley.

Bitter complaint was made by men returning, and even my partners and I, after the task of acquiring forty claims in the new field was accomplished, drew back ragged and weary to Arasta Springs in the higher Panamints. But later, approaching the valley near Windgate Pass, on the southwest, we found and located some big galena ledges, and again, in latter September, crossed the valley by way of Tule Hole, with the heat still at 118 degrees in the shade.

Out of the great, sweltering desolation we went back again for a breathing spell in the cool air of Utah, and there with a mining company of various Utah parties, we have planned for more thorough and successful tests of our properties, during the cooler months, when the conditions of Death Valley are tolerable and it can be more conveniently traversed to the Panamint mountains. These Panamint mountains, snow-capped in winter, loom up out of the desolate wastes west of Death Valley, like a great oblong craggy, snow-capped island in an ocean of dim and undulating deserts.

RIFT IN MOUNTAIN.

Death Valley itself is a vast, white, sunken rift, between the walls of the Panamints on the west, rising to an elevation of eleven thousand feet above the sea, and the dry, desolate Funeral range on the east, where almost sheer cliffs stand six or seven thousand feet above the valley's bed.

The descent into Death Valley from the west is made through passes and cañons of the Funeral range, though it is easily accessible by autos and wagons from several directions. A notable feature of the valley is that wonderful and welcome little oasis known as the Borax Smith Death Valley Farm, at Furnace Creek, in the western edge of the valley, 178 feet below the level of the sea. This farm is maintained by Mr. Smith, the multimillionaire of borax fame, for the benefit of his borax industries in and about Death Valley. By utilizing the waters of Furnace Creek for irrigating purposes, at this point, over 100 acres of the formerly wild, alkaline soil has been brought under a fine state of cultivation. But to produce this little oasis has required an expenditure of $50,000. In the beautiful meadows of this farm, made seemingly more beautiful by the surrounding barrenness, six fine crops of lucerne are harvested each year, for the sun always shines and there are gardens, orchards, vineyards, palm and fig trees and fountains. There are all kinds of poultry and live stock on this ranch. The overseer hires mostly Indians to do the work, and picturesque camps of these Death Valley red men are about the waters and groves of the premises the year round.

SUBLIME DESOLATION.

Everywhere as you look beyond the Death Valley farm, all is desolation: The Funeral Range is piled against the east and the Panamints against the west. But the Panamints do have snow on their heights a part of the year and lots of scrubby timber and plenty of water at the heads of their big cañons. Aside from these few

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO.

HEARTBURN, GAS, DYSPEPSIA AND ALL MISERY FROM STOMACH VANISHES BEFORE YOU REALIZE IT.

Hundreds of readers of The Times will be forever rid of Stomach trouble after taking a little Diapepsin, which promptly stops food fermentation and regulates the digestion even in the worst out-of-order stomach.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost 50c at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that fermentation and sour stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

Don't Be Deaf

Just try the Acousticon and if it doesn't make you hear don't buy it.

You're neglectful if you allow your hearing to remain defective.

Deafness is no longer a condition that must be endured.

If your eyesight was weak, you'd wear glasses and see normally.

Surely your hearing deserves the same aid.

The Acousticon is to the ears exactly what glasses are to the eyes—a complete restorative to the sense's full power.

And the Acousticon is adjusted to each individual's hearing, as the sight is fitted by the optician.

But you cannot purchase an Acousticon until you have first tried it, and been made to hear without strain or effort.

Some 15,000 people now wear this simple, inconspicuous device.

Leading Churches and Theatres throughout the country and public buildings at Washington are equipped with Acousticons—a remarkable tribute to their efficiency.

A trial will conclusively prove to you its wonderful efficiency. . . .

Cut this out of The Times now, while you think about it, and call at our office for a free fitting and demonstration. If at a distance, write, and we will tell you how you may test it in your own home.

Danderine

and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

If you are a sufferer I invite you to investigate my method most thoroughly by talking or writing to any of my cured patients. My method is not a secret, but is open to all, and I advertise this cure that you may know there is a Specialist who really cures without an operation. My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but is a rational, scientific application of skilled treatment, administered at my office. I guarantee to cure every case I treat or accept no fee for my services.

CHRISTIAN MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. White cured me without pain of piles, hemorrhage and ulceration of the rectum. Before going to him I was a semi-invalid, hardly able to get about. Since taking his treatment I have not missed a single Sunday from being in my pulpit. It is one year since he cured me, and I have not had the slightest return of the trouble. I recommend him to all and will gladly write to any sufferer who is in doubt and tell them what Dr. White did for me.

[illegible] equipments constitute [illegible] industry. Glass balls and other string ornaments from Europe, painted by hand, are another branch of the home industry, but the importation of these articles runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. We make string tinsel and other ornaments for the tree in astonishing quantities. The Christmas paper bells also form a big industry.

When we want anything made particularly cheap we let it out to the Japanese. They do it by hand labor. One of these oriental financiers having but $50, will take a contract for thousands of dollars' worth of goods, farm it out and execute the job on time.

The jobbers supply the medium class and small merchants, but the large department stores generally buy their main lines direct from the agent or manufacturer. Of course, there is much business done on the road by the salesmen, who start out immediately after January 1 to drum trade for the coming year.

Pacific Coast concerns are the first to send orders to the eastern factories, which ship their goods early in the spring by sea to San Francisco to avail themselves of low freight rates, and have their supplies on hand by July. Later in the spring the middle western and eastern jobbers place their orders.

It is impossible to determine the sales of the individual articles that go to make up the great volume of the toy business, but it is interesting to note some of the minor things that contribute to it. One concern is credited in a magazine with turning 2,000,000 feet of pine, 1,000,000 feet of chestnut and 11,500,000 feet of casing boards into dolls' trunks, bureaus, rocking horses and the like every year.

Since The Strike In 1890.

Growth of The Times in Circulation.

Twenty years ago union compositors on The Times, without just cause, saw fit to strike, and their places were immediately filled by men of the Printers' Protective Fraternity. A majority of those who filled the places of the strikers at that time are still faithfully serving this office.

In those trying days the whole circulation of The Times averaged approximately 6000 copies daily. Now, twenty years later, the figures are ten times greater, the daily average for February, 1910, being 60,103 copies. The most striking point, however is that the average daily gain for last month over February, 1909, almost reached the total circulation of The Times twenty years ago—in 1890—when the first strike and boycott was declared against all the newspapers of Los Angeles—6000 per day. Circulation in 1890, all told, 6000. DAILY GAIN in circulation, February, 1910, 6000.

Though other publishers submitted to the unlawful and outrageous demands of the jawsmiths, The Times has stood steadfast during this score of years, making more progress, gaining wider influence, and and advertising departments, showing more business increases, in both its circulation than any other newspaper in Los Angeles, or in fact on the whole Coast.

HAIR REMOVERS ARE DANGEROUS

Physicians Say "Don't Use Poisonous Depilatories."

The extravagant claims recently made by unscrupulous manufacturers of hair removers in sensational advertisements unquestionably justify physicians in cautioning the public against the use of this class of depilatories. How many people have been enticed into using these dangerous preparations with consequent injury to themselves, cannot be estimated, but only guessed at.

The preparations above referred to are invariably in the form of creamy pastes, which are to be spread upon the skin to remain until they dry. These contain Sulphide of Barium, an insoluble chemical, which cannot be dissolved, therefore cannot be absorbed by the skin. The very fact that you are told to leave these pasty compounds on the skin until they dry and cake and then lift off with a knife is proof positive that they are not absorbed. If they are, why do they still remain on the skin? The most they can possibly do is to remove the surface hair, which in consequence will reappear stronger and thicker after each removal.

There is only one logical and scientific way to remove hair, and that is by means of a liquid containing soluble ingredients which can be absorbed by the skin. De Miracle, known all the world over as the only real superfluous hair remover, is just such a preparation. It is easily and quickly absorbed, and after you have used it you will note there is nothing left on the skin. It leaves the skin free from irritation, and what is more to the point, it is absolutely non-poisonous, therefore, it will not produce eczema or blood poisoning. Remember, no matter what claims are made to the contrary, no poisonous, pasty compound or other worthless concoction can reach the hair root, and we can prove it.

Beware of the fake free advertisers and others. Don't be deceived by them. Better take a doctor's advice. De Miracle is sold by Owl Drug Co. We will send you a 52-page booklet containing full information concerning this remarkable treatment, as well as testimonials of prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and the principal magazines. You should read this booklet before you try anything. Write to the De Miracle Chemical Co., Dept. 133, 1905 Park Ave., New York, simply saying you want this booklet, and it will be mailed, sealed, at once.

WHY IT SPARKLES

Puritas Distilled Water Is Aerated With Pure Ozone.

Much of the sparkle and zest which makes Puritas such a delightful drinking water is due to its perfect aeration. This process is the result of long study and perfect appliances. Puritas is aerated with pure ozone. A current of electricity is passed through purified air, turning it into ozone which is forced into the pure distilled water.

The process illustrates the great care we have taken to make Puritas Distilled Water a perfect drinking water. Nothing that insures its reaching you an absolutely pure, wholesome, healthful product has been overlooked.

We distill Puritas twice—two distillations are necessary to insure its purity. After aeration, it is bottled in glass demijohns, so perfectly cleaned that they are fit to receive chemically pure water.

With all our care to ensure a perfect product, our price for Puritas is so low that everybody can afford to drink pure water—5 gallons cost but 40c. Just telephone us, Home 10053, or Sunset Main 8191. Puritas will be sent you promptly. Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Co.

THE SECURITIES OF A CITY ARE ITS HOMES

SECURITY HOME BUILDERS

Los Angeles is destined to be a city of a million population within the next ten years. That means that there must be built three times as many homes for its people as are built today.

You May Not Need a Home. Others Do.
Build for Others. It Will Pay You.

Whether you are a tenderfoot or a pioneer, you cannot fail to see that Los Angeles is a City of Homes, and that in this business of providing homes for the incomers, much money has been made in the past, and is continuing to be made in the present. There is even more money to be made in the future. THIS CITY IS YOUNG YET. IT HAS ONLY JUST BEGUN TO GROW.

Our building permits increased from $2,500,000 in 1900 to $18,150,000 in 1906. This year they will come close to $20,000,000.

Those who have engaged in home building for years, whether as individuals or as associations, have made much money. Stock in most home building companies is held above par. All pay dividends.

The Security Home Builders Will Sell Its Stock at Par for a Brief Period

We are capitalized for $500,000. Five hundred thousand shares, par value $1.00 each, all treasury stock. No promotion stock. No preferred stock. No stock ever sold for less than par. None can be bought for a penny less than $1.00 a share. If you come in with us now, you will secure your stock at the ground-floor price, and share in earnings from the first.

COME IN, CALL UP OR WRITE to find out how our stock can be made to pay at least 12 per cent. dividends upon the cost of your investment. Phones F4434, Main 4424.

TEST TREATMENTS FREE

ALL THIS WEEK

This time has been set apart for examining and treating only persons who have never before visited our offices.

Test Treatment

WE EXTEND THIS GREAT OFFER TO THE SICK AND WEAK

OZONE IS CONDENSED OXYGEN

It is breathed into the lungs; is taken up by the blood; is carried to all parts of the system, and commences to cure at once. It will correct any abnormal condition of the blood.

OZONE STERILIZES THE BLOOD

Ozone kills all germs of every kind in the blood and in all tissues reached by the blood-serum.

Ozone increases the number of red blood corpuscles. It increases the oxidation of food derivatives, and promotes elimination.

Ozone will correct a sub-normal temperature, even bringing the temperature to normal during the course of a thirty-minute treatment.

OZONE INCREASES BODY WEIGHT

It loads the body cells with oxygen and neutralizes all toxins. It acts as a tonic but stimulates without reaction as it increases resistance to fatigue.

Ozone cures after other treatments have failed. Take advantage of the free test treatment.

The Ozone treatment is extremely pleasant to the patient, and the absolute success of this simple and natural treatment is certain.

Patients are sent to the country and sea shore for the one molecule of ozone to every 700,000 molecules of the air there. We can now administer more ozone in 15 minutes in our office, than the patient could get in a month at the sea shore.

Call or write for full information and illustrations of the wonderful new cure.

FAILURE.

NO INROADS ON OPEN SHOP.

GUNREY STARTS IN TO SHOW APPRENTICE HOW.

Harassing Independent Iron Workers in Effort to Organize Union. New Agitator Finds Fault With Bocs—Citizens Should Give Support to Local Independent Workmen.

Trouble-maker George Gunrey, whose unsavory presence in this city, to foment a strike among the iron-molders, was noted in The Times last Sunday, having come all the way from Milwaukee to show how easy the trick can be turned, has made no headway during the week.

The job had been in the hands of John Nolan of San Francisco for several years, and his continued failure resulted in sending Gunrey here. Gunrey has now been joined by Nolan, presumably that the latter may be shown that he is merely an apprentice at strike fomentation. In private talk, Gunrey shows himself awful "sore" at Nolan for his failure, and has made his boast that he will teach Nolan just how little he knows about the business. The two talking, walking, workless-workers go hand-in-hand, fruitlessly trying to wheedle the independent molders, core-makers and other foundry workmen, into committing their interests to the hands of the union.

They feel much disheartened at their efforts thus far, and make no secret of their chagrin, when talking among their union-ridden associates. In their desperation, they give out hints that a strike will be called on May 1, June 1, or any other old time, to suit the ears upon which their senseless talk falls.

The Los Angeles employing foundrymen have no fears. They have treated their employés the best they know how, paying the best wages and giving the shortest hours, so they can have no possible complaint. And the men make none; they have been peacefully pursuing their several occupations, uninterrupted by the loafers for several years, and they do not take kindly to their appearance on the scene now.

The era of prosperity and building activity the city has experienced during that time, while eastern cities were talking about "hard times," is the best evidence that the open-shop policy is best for both employer and employé. It gives not only the independent worker employment, but scores of union men work in these shops in their individual capacity, without reference to the union, and so long as they do this, their places are just as secure to earn a living for their families as is that of the independent workman.

None of these union men, who, having prospered under these conditions, should be willing to act the traitor and betray the hand that has fed them, and at the same time interfere with their more independent comrades in the open shop, in an effort to take from their families the bread and butter, while they themselves live upon the bounty of the union strike fund.

The people of Los Angeles have before their eyes the present plight of Philadelphia, all the result of abject fear on the part of employers, who permitted these union dictators to run the business, as well as draw the wages. Does any citizen of this city crave for thriving, independent Los Angeles, the conditions that exist in San Francisco or Philadelphia, be that man capitalist or laborer?

Pondering these things, will help awaken everybody to the blight that these blustering walking delegates would bring upon us, and will lend moral support to the independent workmen of the city, more thousands of whom own their own homes than in any other city in the country, according to population.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

H. Keefer of Berlin. She is at the home of her parents, No. 1102 South Mott street, and will remain for a few weeks. She is under a two-year's engagement in Germany, and will give a few concerts here before her departure.

THE GREEN WAY TO MONTEREY.

Green is the way to Monterey,
And once, upon a wandering day,
With breath of mist and flash of sky,
My feet were where the green ways lie—
My soul unleashed, my heart at play,
Upon the road to Monterey.

All in the morning's golden glow,
I came by holy Carmelo
Where whispers still its silvery stream
Of voices from an ancient dream,
And through the haunted silence beat
The long-hushed tread of sandaled feet.

Dream-wrapt in memory's mystic spell,
I rang the rusted Mission bell,
And called to hill and vale and sea
To give again their dead to me—
The brown-robed priests, the altar lights,
The hosts of dark-eyed neophytes.

I came to holy Carmelo,
All in the morning's golden glow;
And climbed the hill's green winding way
Upon the road to Monterey,
Through breath of mist and sun and shine,
And cypressed shores and aisles of pine.

I called the dead years forth to free
Their dust-thralled feet to trudge with me;
And fared as comrades with me, then,
Fair women and brave riding-men;
By wood and dune, that dream-kissed day,
They passed with me to Monterey.

Blithe were the green ways then that told
The gladness of the days of old;
From chaparral, with flocks athrong,
I caught the Indian herder's song,
And ringing scythes with laughter blent
From fields where dusky toilers bent.

Through aisles of pine, by cypressed shore,
To Monterey the bright road bore,
With breath of mist and flash of sky;
And ever, where the green ways lie,
A blessing on our heads was cast
By brown-robed brothers as they passed.

Madre de Dios! keep for me
My dream of sky and hill and sea—
The green ways where my path was set,
The gay guitar and castanet,
And stars that hailed, at close of day,
The sunset roofs of Monterey.

EXTENDS CITY DELIVERY.

Residents of Districts Are Required to Have Mail Addressed to Streets and Numbers.

The four new letter carriers appointed, under the authorization of the Postoffice Department at Washington, are Jesse S. Doty, P. S. Hall, D. L. Lain and L. C. Turner. While they will serve in the territory now covered by rural delivery, the district has been built up to meet the requirements of city delivery; therefore, the rural delivery service will be withdrawn and city delivery substituted. To get the benefits of this new delivery, patrons will be required to have their mail addressed to street and number and have their houses correctly numbered.

The delivery will be as follows: Rose Hill, beginning at Tourmaline and Opal streets; Opal to Topaz, to Mission Road, to Tourmaline, to Opal. In Belvidere, beginning at Stephenson avenue and Doris street; Doris to Felipe, to Laguna, to Stephenson avenue. Hillvale and Bonnie Beach places, from Occidental avenue to Stephenson avenue; beginning at Hammell and Record streets, Hammell to College, to Belinda, to Richards, to Hammell, to Record street.

In the extreme southern section, delivery will be extended to that territory beginning at Normandie avenue and Forty-fifth street; Forty-fifth street to Gramercy Place, to Vernon avenue, to Cimarron Place, to Fifty-second street, to Gramercy Place, to Fifty-first street, to St. Andrew's Place, to Forty-eighth street, to Normandie avenue; beginning at Florence avenue and Figueroa street, Figueroa to Eighty-second street, to Hoover, to Eighty-fifth, to Vermont, to Seventy-ninth, to Hoover, to Florence avenue.

CLUB HAS TO MOVE.

Premises of Hollywood Women's Organization Are Required for Library Purposes.

HOLLYWOOD, March 12.—Owing to the fact that the entire space in the library here is needed, the Woman's Club has been obliged to move from the rooms it has occupied in the basement. It now has temporary quarters in a bungalow on North Cahuenga avenue. The club organized the first reading-room and free library in Hollywood, turning over several hundred volumes and a large list of patrons to the present library when it was founded. In recognition of its endeavors, the Trustees gave the club, free of cost, the rooms in the basement of the new building. These have been occupied for over three years. The basement will be given over to a men's reading-room, and a children's assembly.

BRANCH Y.M.C.A.

Nearly 200 signatures have been secured on the petitions for the branch Y.M.C.A. here.

The taxpayers of that section between Hollywood and Sunset Hills, representing West Ivanhoe, East and South Hollywood, Melrose, Sunset Hills and Dayton Heights, held a meeting in Douglas Hall, at Melrose, and voted unanimously in favor of a playground. An Executive Committee, representing the improvement associations from these sections, was named to proceed with the preliminary plans at once. If this project goes through it will mean for this part of Los Angeles the largest playground west of Chicago.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The Union Avenue Parent-Teacher Association will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Moore will speak. A special programme has been arranged.

TO HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

How to Make a Pint of the Best Tonic at Half Usual Cost.

Good hair tonics are usually so expensive that few people realize their great value in ridding the scalp of the many annoyances we are all subject to one time or another. If the price of good quinine hair tonics were brought down to a reasonable figure so that the poor man as well as the rich could regularly bathe the hair in an invigorating quinine bath, the men and women of this country would be renowned the world over for their beautiful and healthy hair.

The following formula is one that you can make at home. It contains only essential ingredients for eliminating all scalp troubles, such as dandruff, falling hair, etc., and a whole pint of its costs you only about 85c. Get from your druggist 1 oz. beta quinol (a quinine preparation) and ½ pint alcohol. Take home and pour the contents of the two in a large enough bottle and add ½ pint warm water. Let stand for awhile. Apply thoroughly to the scalp two or three times a week. I have known this tonic to grow hair at the rate of an inch a month.

WILL SELL ASSETS.

Trustee in Bankruptcy Appointed to Dispose of the Goods of Beaumont Merchant.

RIVERSIDE, March 12.—William H. Moore of the Los Angeles Board of Trade, has been appointed trustee in bankruptcy for J. A. Gray, the Beaumont merchant. It is believed that the creditors will receive from 50 to 75 per cent. of their claims against the estate.

Mr. Moore will sell at private sale the assets of the estate, which are listed at $34,000. Before filing his bankruptcy petition, Gray placed a homestead claim on his home in Beaumont. This will be contested by the trustee.

FOR NEW CHURCH.

The first step toward the erection of a new house of worship was taken by the members of the First Congregational Church, Thursday evening, when a committee of fifteen was appointed to determine the probable cost and to canvass the situation. This action was taken in accordance with the request of the newly organized Brotherhood. The members of the committee are: D. P. Chapman, Frank A. Miller, H. M. Streeter, S. H. Herrick, H. O. Reed, C. W. Ekins, Ebert D. Hunter, Wilbur H. Howard, S. C. Evans, D. G. Mitchell, C. W. Waite, Mrs. W. A. Purington, Mrs. Harwood Hall, Mrs. G. H. Sawyer and Miss M. P. Lyman.

Andrew Carnegie will visit Riverside before he leaves Southern California on his return east. The date has not yet been determined. At a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon, the Entertainment Committee was instructed to provide a suitable welcome.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS.

Within the past week, Riverside shipped 131 cars of oranges and ten cars of lemons east, bringing the total shipments well above the 1000 car mark, to date. The figures are 1037 cars of oranges and 139 cars of lemons. This is about 300 carloads below those for the corresponding period last year. Riverside brands are bringing good prices in the eastern market, and it is estimated that the March shipments will exceed 500 cars.

For the Woman Who Has Beautiful Hair.

(New York Theatrical News.)

The beauties in the Anna Held chorus are famous for their pulchritude. Their coiffures add a great deal to their charms. How they can "manage" such abundance of beautiful tresses day in and day out, keeping always the same well-groomed appearance, is beyond the ken of the average woman. But, listen while I whisper, these girls depend altogether upon dry shampooing to keep their hair fine and glossy.

They mix 4 ounces of powdered orris root with 4 ounces of therox, and they are prepared for a season's shampooing. Once or twice a week they sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture on the head and then brush the powder well through the hair. That is all there is to it, and they have escaped the bother and discomfort that accompany washing, rinsing and drying the hair, together with the danger of catching cold.

The wonderful results they achieve with therox convinces me that it is the only thing that can grow hair, for their hair is long and abundant in addition to being fluffy and lustrous.

Announcement Extraordinary of the Pyramid Oil Co.
The Pyramid Oil Co. Has Purchased 1600 Acres of Oil Land in the Midway in close proximity to the great Honolulu gusher, shown in the above illustration. best informed and most conservative oil men in California concede that the tract of 1600 acres is ABSOLUTELY PROVEN OIL GROUND OF MOST UNLIMITED POSSIBILITIES.

This property alone is sufficient to, within a few months, place the PYR OIL COMPANY in the very front rank of great dividend-paying Califo companies. Drilling is to be commenced immediately upon this ground.

Midst the Gushers of North Midway

Between the great Santa Fe, Mays and Pioneer Midway gushers on the east big Amber well on the west is situated 20 acres of the best proven oil terr North Midway, on which the PYRAMID OIL COMPANY hold a lease. A complete drilling outfit has been ordered for this lease and drill erations will be commenced at an early date. Sensational developments are tainty.

NOW PRODUCING OIL—The Pyramid Oil Company is also operating 70 acres of the choicest proven oil territory in the State, seven miles northwest of Santa Paula, in Ventura County, from which it is ducing about 1000 barrels of oil per month from old shallow wells. This oil gravity and sells for 75 cents per barrel. A new deep well is being drilled o ground by the PYRAMID COMPANY.

Here
It Is

It has reached a depth of 975 feet and has just entered a rich, prolific oil sand which promises a production of from 250 to 500 barrels of oil per day.

SHIPS FOR TURKEY.

Turkey has decided to build some modern warships and there is a possibility that they may be built on the Pacific Coast. Tree Planting.

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Every now and then I notice an article urging everybody to plant trees to beautify the city, which is all very well, if a little horse sense is used. Otherwise tree planting becomes a nuisance. When both sides of the streets are lined with trees ten to twenty feet apart, and the branches poke pedestrians in the face and do the same to drivers of vehicles, then, later, when they form a high barrier worse than a spite fence, shutting out the sunlight and air, and residents cannot see out anywhere, and at night are made dark, electric lights being unable to penetrate there, making a model resort for thugs and hold-ups, it looks like a rank imposition to force people into any such proposition.

Sunshine and air are just as essential to the comfort, health and happiness of mankind as shade, if not more so. Those who select homes on the hills do so to enjoy the pure air and scenery, not to be shut in by high timber. Some like darkness. That is evident from the dense shrubbery about their home, which shuts off all view from the street, but there are many more who prefer light and air.

If trees upon the streets were about forty feet apart, and kept trimmed, when full grown they would create almost a perfect condition in the way of shade, light and free circulation of air.

Yes, you are right in your statement in last Sunday's Times that "tree planting is one of the first fads of improvement associations." I notice that in the parks the same as in the streets. Wherever there is an elevation where one can get a grand view of distant scenery, such as California affords, trees have been planted all about it so that in a few years the view will be completely shut off. Such is the case, not only here but in San Diego and other places. When will these faddists learn that the promiscuous planting of trees often mars the beauty of our city more than it adds to it.

Street Paving.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It would be natural to believe in this day of good-road agitation that there was no longer excuse for faulty road construction, particularly in a great and progressive city like Los Angeles.

I reside on Alvarado street, above Sixth street. The street has never been paved (though it should be.) From time to time during the past sixteen years the chuck holes have been filled with an excuse for gravel; never done properly. Today and for several days past quite a force of men and teams have been placing sand and coarse gravel on the unprepared and uneven surface of Alvarado street, above Sixth street. Three men, with sledges are pretending to break up the gravel. The average size of the gravel, after being broken by the sledges, is three to five inches. The first heavy rain will wash away all the fine material, leaving the coarse, sharp-edge gravel to the vexation of motor car owners. If the old street surface had been broken up, so as to permit a good union of the new material with the old surface, and then a heavy roller passed over to finish, it would not be so bad.

The work as it is being done is not creditable to the City Engineer, or whoever may be responsible for our streets, and is an absolute waste of money. What Alvarado street needs is paving in a modern way, asphalt on the low-grade portion and vitrified brick on the higher grades.

RAILROAD INTERESTS.

There's a little jealousy in New England over the invasion of the Grand Trunk which has declared its intention of building into Providence. Though its control of the Central Vermont it has for years had a port at New London, Conn., but has never done much to turn its ocean business that way. Boston would like to get the proposed new tidewater terminus as that port is suffering by the fact that its western roads are controlled by New York interests which discriminate in favor of that city and thus prevent the future for Boston the value of its harbor facilities deserve.

Statistics published by the Railway and Engineering Review show that 4,140.6 miles of main line steam railway was laid in the United States in the year of 1909, and 1,515.07 miles of second track, sidings, spurs and yard tracks.

Texas leads all other states and territories, with a total for the year of 650.61 miles of track. Nevada is second with 304.5 miles, and California is third with 248.6 miles.

Canada comes forward with 1,588.47 miles of new track, and among the principle builders are the Canadian Pacific with 323 miles, the Grand Trunk Pacific with 309 miles, the Canadian Northern with 303 miles, the National Transcontinental with 312 miles in all.

The Canadian Pacific which lately secured control of the old Wisconsin Central, has decided to practically rebuild the line with the intention of making it the Chicago end of a first-class semi-transcontinental system. The line will be shortened between Chicago and St. Paul 20 miles at an expense of $3,000,000, the money for which has been authorized and the work started by sending out several corps of engineers.

The duties of trainmen are each year becoming more severe and exacting. The number of tons carried by the railroads for each trainman employed in 1893 was 5085, while in 1908 it was 7358, an increase of 2273 tons per man.

The average number of tons in a train in 1893 was 184, while in 1908 it was 352, an increase of 168 tons per train. The number of freight cars for each trainman employed in 1893 was 8; in 1908 it was 10, an increase of 2 cars per man. This increase in weight of trains, number of tons, and number of cars per man employed has been accompanied by a decrease in the number of train-miles run for each trainman employed. The number of train-miles for each trainman in 1903 was 5764, while in 1908 it was 5420, a decrease of 344 train-miles run for each trainman employed.

It is reported the Southern Pacific Co. is planning to build a large steel plant in addition to its railroad shops in Sacramento. The company is now compelled to send the broken, wornout and cast-off steel to the plants in the East to be worked over. Steel castings and machinery all come from the East. It is said that the proposed plant will be for the purpose of using up the many hundreds of thousands of tons of steel now piled in the yards in that city.

It is also reported that the entire arrangement of the shops there will be changed. An outlay of more than $1,000,000 is contemplated.

Phenomena of Antarctic Life.

Lltutenant Shackleton tells of a curious phenomenon of life in the Antartic regions. The daily journey is, of course, taken under atmospheric conditions involving the extremest cold. The danger of what is called "catching cold" is increased by the fact that the toil of dragging sledges over miles of snow and broken ice lands the workers at the end of the day in a condition of profuse perspiration. Nevertheless, during the whole of their stay in the Antarctic regions not a single one of the adventurers suffered from bodily infirmity ordinarily following on exposure of extreme cold. The peculiarity was the more marked in view of the fact that at the first port their vessel touched on the homeward voyage nearly ever man, including the commander, had catarrh.—[The Scotsman.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT HITS CALIFORNIA SCHOOLHOUSES.

The New Idea Versus the Old—Less of Cupola and More of Ventilation—Distinct California Style of Building Probably Will Be Adopted—Results of Trip of Investigation Through the State.

NO ONE sees more schoolhouses than the Superintendent of Public Instruction. He goes personally to the mountains, the valleys, the cities and the deserts. Mr. Hyatt has just completed a round of visits to every county in this great State, and writes some impressions for The Times upon school architecture in California.

The style of building schoolhouses does not change quite so rapidly as it does in ladies' hats, perhaps, yet school architecture does undergo striking changes and one does not need a very long memory to see it. Looking back a dozen or twenty years, the typical schoolhouse had a tall cupola or tower as its central feature. A town would be ashamed to build a house for public education that did not dominate the landscape and show itself afar to the naughty world. It was a monument to the enterprise of the town and to the public spirit of the trustees who built it. It was never less than two stories in height and was often three. Its windows were small and placed at equal distances all around the building. A blank wall, without windows, would have been an impossible monstrosity. The universal building material was wood, a frame of pine, covered by redwood rustic. There was only an occasional structure of stone and brick.

But now look at any of the newer buildings that are going up in this State, and a striking change is seen. No more cupolas pointing to the skies; because they are expensive, difficult to build and are of no use. Better use the money to build another class room or a gymnasium. The building is for the use of the children, not for the glory of the town. It is becoming severely simple, a rectangular box, filled full of windows where needed, and with blank walls where light is not needed. The windows are large and high, clear up to the ceiling, and they are arranged in batteries, six or eight of them as close together as possible, separated by the narrowest possible casings. The height of the building is lower, rarely more than two stories, and oftener one. This is on the theory that there is enough land in California to give the children sunshine and air, and that climbing long stairways is a curse to growing girls.

This change in the type of schoolhouse is visible not only in the cities and towns, but away out in the rural districts. The little country schools now building have their windows banked together to the left of the pupils and are built in tasty modern style with cupolas conspicuous by their absence. The faulty arrangement of windows in country schoolhouses is said to ruin a bushel of eyes per year. It is not so necessary to arrange the windows correctly in the homes, because every one is free there to move about and adjust himself to the light. But in school each youngster is fastened in a wooden cage, and kept right there in the same position all day, and made to take the light as it is given to him. Ergo, the proportion of spectacled children increases all the way from the kindergarten to the university.

The building material of the public school is rapidly changing to brick and concrete, particularly concrete. The reason for this of course is in the disappearance of our forests; and the wooden buildings will become rare as time goes on. The tendency toward lines of severe simplicity in school buildings, the discarding of ornamentation and gingerbread work, should be appreciated and encouraged by all intelligent people. In this climate and with this soil of easy, rapid and luxuriant growth the right way to adorn our buildings is by vines, shrubs, graceful and beautiful trees, rather than by artificial scrollery.

Naturally, the school architecture of the future will change no less than it has in the past. Very probably there will be developed a distinctively California type, based upon the old mission style, and looking to an outdoor life. A few days ago the writer visited the Bishops' school in San Diego, and had a talk with its thoughtful and enthusiastic architect, Mr. Gill. He has built his class rooms on a level with the outside ground, with great wide doors to throw them open to the sun and air. The polytechnic elementary school at Pasadena has two lines of class rooms, some distance apart, with an assembly room midway between them. All these structures are one story in height, and all are connected and bound together by long cloisters, roofed in from the rain, but open to the sun and wind. Here is a wholesome place for children to work and play, learning to live an outdoor life.

Away back in frozen New Jersey the school authorities have in the last few years been building outdoor schools for the delicate and tuberculous children of the public schools. These schools have a roof, but at least two sides are open to the chill blasts of winter. The poor children are wrapped in blankets, comforters, ear muffs, and they have hot bricks at their feet. But mark! Their health has greatly improved, their minds are more active, they outstrip their former classmates in their studies. Isn't there an object lesson for Californians? If they can do so much for an outdoor life in New Jersey, what ought we not do in balmy, genial California?

It must be remembered that even the best of our ventilating schemes are only pitiful makeshifts, mere imitations of the outdoor air that man was born to breathe. The proudest school building, with its latest machinery pumping the air into its classrooms in finest style, from the basement or the alley—it does not really furnish the children with the amount or the kind of air they ought to have. We are poisoning them at best, sometimes slowly, sometimes rapidly, but always poisoning them. Perhaps it's all right to bring the old horses into the city, work them, starve them for air, kill them off with indoor diseases—but one must give the colts a chance to run and play and really to breathe if the procession is to keep on in the future.

Wherefore welcome and encourage a California style of school architecture, with low, sun-kissed buildings, with abundant outside porches, cloisters, courts, with room for flower and tree and vine, all looking toward an outdoor life for the children. Sell the high-priced city lot and take the new school out to the suburbs, where the youngsters have room to play and to breathe real air. Build on every big city school a roof garden, and use it as a safety valve for the crowded classes. Do not so sedulously shut away the air, the freest thing there is, from the starving lungs of the youngsters who will be running California thirty years from now.

EDWARD HYATT.

CONGRESSMEN'S DIVERSIONS.

So long as a member of the United States Senate remains on his own side of the capitol he gets along famously. Page boys run at his beck and call, elevators ignore the presence of mere citizens whenever he rides, and, in fact, each individual Senator is lord of all he surveys.

When a Senator gets over on the House side he must conduct himself after the fashion of the members of that easy-going body, or else have his dignity jolted occasionally.

Senator Smith of South Carolina went over to the House building a day or two ago to attend a hearing of a committee. He did not like the way some visiting New York cotton exchange brokers were cross-examination the cotton growers from the South, and he arose to ask some questions himself.

"Will the gentleman please give his name?" asked Chairman Scott.

"Smith," replied the Senator.

"Please state your full name," commanded Mr. Scott, in a tone which indicated that there might be several Smith in the country.

"Ellison Du Rant Smith," responded the Senator.

"And where are you from and what do you represent?" asked Mr. Scott, endeavoring to be patient.

"I am from the United States Senate," replied Mr. Smith.

"Oh, yes; of course; to be sure; pray proceed, Senator," said Chairman Scott.

Senators have evolved a new pastime. It is not only a diversion but a means of athletic training, and is nothing more or less than old-fashioned medicine ball. It is an old way of exercising, but new to the Senate. Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, is reputed to be the author of it.

The Senators have found that the quarters for the new Senate café, in the Senate office building, offer an excellent place for playing medicine ball. When things get too dull over in the Senate chamber or when the statesmen get worn out by their exertions in the interest of the ultimate consumer, they hie themselves over to the office building and play ball.

Ten or fifteen minutes of the game is found both restful and diverting to the mind, and one can frequently see a procession of Senators coming out of the doors of the café quarters puffing, blowing and perspiring. Senator Bourne is often seen in the game. Senator Borah plays at times. So does Senator Cummins and many others.—[Washington Post.

The other day Senator Dolliver received a letter from a man in Iowa, as follows:

"I would not vote for you for the job of dog catcher."

Senator Dolliver returned the letter with the following written across its back:

"My Dear Man—You are laboring under a misapprehension. I am not a candidate for the position of dog catcher."

The insolence that comes from knowledge of one's power, and that would be resented if the power were not behind it, never offends when Champ Clark displays it, as he delights in doing. Once, for instance, a rash Republican, seeking the limelight, made an attack on Clark. The giant Missourian came back with a half-hour speech which tore the rash Republican limb from limb. At the finish of the half-hour, during which the Democrats had applauded rapturously and even the Republicans had laughed because they couldn't help it Clark tore down the aisle toward his flushed and uncomfortable baiter, and rent the welkin with this climax:

"Mr. Chairman, a few years ago a tenderfoot went out West looking for a grizzly. He was all togged out in the newest style of hunting suit and dawned like an incredible vision on the astonished inhabitants west of Missouri. He asked them where he could find a grizzly, and they told him reverently that at a certain place not far from there grizzlies were numerous and would come if you whistled. Lightheartedly he took his way to the place indicated, and two days later they buried his mangled remains in the local cemetery. Over his innocent young head they erected a tombstone whereon they rudely carved this epitaph:

"'He whistled for the grizzly, and the grizzly came.'"—[Washington Star.

there are authentic reports of a money stringency at Curry headquarters. It is probably only temporary. One of Curry's friends, a San Francisco baker, had 20,000 Curry window cards printed at his own expense, and this display gave impetus to rather wild accounts of the size of the Curry barrel. That Curry has some solid financial backing may be reasonably assumed, for he is a seasoned campaigner and knows pretty well what he is about.

There is much interest among the politicians regarding the attitude of the Hayes brothers and the San José Mercury. When the Mercury made an attack on the Republican organization last fall, the league claimed it for its own. But the brother in Washington shortly let it be known that, so far as he was concerned, he was not training with the Rowell bunch. That left it half and half. Johnson's nomination by the league met with cold silence on the part of the Mercury. Neither of the Hayes brothers regards his candidacy with enthusiasm. Nor do they look with favor upon Curry. They like Anderson personally, but are afraid of what will be said if they support an "organization" candidate, after professedly cutting loose from the aforesaid organization. The trouble with J. O. Hayes and the Mercury is a result of certain understandings, or misunderstandings, at the Santa Cruz convention four years ago. At that time, "Black" Hayes and Charley Curry each got the idea that he would have the organization support for Governor this time. The logical thing for the Mercury to do would be to raise the Stanton banner in the North. It is a great opportunity.

One of the curious developments of the last week has been the awakening of the candidates in the North to the fact that Stanton is a dangerous factor in the race. Reports that have come from the South the last few days have surprised them. All three, Curry, Johnson and Anderson, have been making large claims in that section, and now they are just beginning to woder how many southern votes there will be to divide after Stanton's are all counted.

There is a good deal of speculation regarding the attitude of the union labor vote toward the candidates for Governor. That Mayor McCarthy received support from the Republican organization in San Francisco and owes his election largely to that, is not denied. And the inference has been that McCarthy and the labor vote would pay the debt by supporting whoever the organization favored for Governor. But the fact is that the organization is far from being united. And the other fact is that while the labor union vote will sometimes stick together for a candidate from its own ranks, efforts to deliver it to others have generally failed. This was exemplified by Gompers and Bryan in the last Presidential campaign. The chances are that the unionite element in San Francisco particularly will be found for Curry, as always in the past. Anderson has no pledge from McCarthy and the labor leaders, and it is very doubtful whether it would amount to much if he had.

It is more and more evident that the league leaders are contemplating a bolt to Bell unless Johnson wins. The league organs are preaching mugwumpery consistently. And they are still encouraging Democrats to enroll as Republicans. President Rowell was asked flatly the other day by the Sacramento Union whether, if he were a Democrat, he would feel that he was observing either the written or the moral law if he registered as a Republican. Rowell replied that he would be observing the written law, and that the moral law part of it "would depend upon circumstances"—he to be the judge of the circumstances, of course. It is to be hoped that the party test will be applied by the challengers at the primary when these loose constructionists try to vote. Under the law, the party committee may prescribe a test in addition to that prescribed by the statute, and unless the voter subscribes to it, he cannot cast his ballot at the primary.

There would be no occasion for the use of this further test if the voters obeyed the manifest purpose of the law, and registered in their own parties only. By adopting the "closed" instead of the "open" primary system, it was the plain intent of the Legislature to preserve the integrity of the parties. But the Rowellites refuse to see the difference between the California law and that of Wisconsin, where party lines have been broken down by La Folletteism.

Bold as they have been, the La Follette leaders would probably be surprised at the audacity of the Rowellites, with their secret caucus methods of naming candidates, and then proclaiming the latter as the official choice of the league. Take, for example, the nomination of Florence O'Brien for Secretary of State. Now Mr. O'Brien is a very pleasant gentleman and a personal friend of mine. I have nothing to say against him. But the manner and wherefore of his injection into the political arena is so pertinent to the situation that I cannot forego using it for the purpose of illustration. It is safe to say that even Mr. O'Brien is rather surprised to find himself suddenly seized from his modest editorial sanctum at Chico, and without solicitation on his part, made a candidate for one of the chief offices of the great State of California. It is all due to the fact that Col. Ed Forbes needed placating. The colonel has money, and the league has a penchant for millionaires. The good colonel attended the Oakland meeting when the league was reorganized, and was somewhat surprised that his name was not included in the list of officers. They might have made him a vice-president, at any rate. But Col. Forbes had made no secret of his opposition to Heney. So he was given the glad hand and nothing more. He was for Belshaw for Governor, and the way Belshaw was buncoed did not improve the colonel's frame of mind. He said so right out in meeting. But there was a timely suggestion that Forbes would be just the man to run for Congress in the Second District. Alas for that, one William Kent, a carpetbagger from Chicago, with more money than the colonel had, and a burning thirst for reform, aspired to the same honor.

By this time it was evident to all that Forbes had to be placated or there would be a ruction. So he was given the blessed privilege of naming the league's candidate for Secretary of State. Mr. O'Brien was the business manager of the Sacramento Union when Col. Forbes owned the paper, and the colonel later sold him his interest in the Chico Enterprise. Only a few weeks ago, O'Brien was appointed a trustee of the Normal School at Chico by Gov. Gillett, in succession to Alden Anderson, and, it is said, at the suggestion of Anderson himself. It would be supposed that the league would not take up for so important an office a man who was obviously affiliated with Gillett and Anderson. But the colonel had to be placated—the colonel is wealthy, remember—and so the colonel has been placated. The league wants Forbes's money. Hence Florence O'Brien should be Secretary of State. Could anything be more logical?

Gov. Gillett was astonished one day this week when he read in big headlines on the first page of the San Francisco Examiner "Gillett is out as a candidate for Senator." There is no truth in the report. The Governor says the Examiner correspondent told him he had received a message from Los Angeles to this effect, inspired, possibly, by what I wrote last week to The Times.

Strike a Match—Water is Heated—Instantaneously

How to Have Unlimited Supply of Hot Water Day and Night For Few Cents a Day.

If you want to see the last word in household economy and convenience just drop around to the offices of the Independent Gas Appliance Co., 604 S. Hill St., and see a water heater that heats instantaneously all the water you can possibly use or want, any time in 24 hours, even in the middle of the night when every fire in the house is out. This water heater uses gas only while the hot water is actually running out of the faucet; gives you water steaming hot and not merely lukewarm; uses one-third the gas you now use in your kitchen boiler; heats water only as fast as you use it, and would keep pouring out hot water from now till doomsday if you would let it. This is what no kitchen boiler or any other water-heating system could ever do or ever has done, but what is now done by that marvel of ingenuity, comfort, convenience and economy—the Humphrey Instantaneous Bath Heater.

For instance, you place one of these heaters in your bathroom. Three people in your house want to take a bath in 2 hours' time. With a kitchen boiler to rely on, it couldn't be done. You couldn't heat the water quick enough in the first place. But with this "Humphrey Instantaneous," bather No. 1 goes in the bathroom, strikes a match, lights the gas under the heater, turns on the water. Quicker than it takes to walk five steps the hot water pours out full force, piping hot, as long as the faucet is turned on. By turning off the water you turn off the gas and the water ceases to be heated. Your expense stops.

When bather No. 2 is ready, the same simple "motions" are made, and steaming hot water flows from the pipe as though it had been heating for hours.

The "Humphrey Instaneous Bath Heater" does not store water, but heats it.

Your kitchen boiler stores water, which is its greatest disadvantage. Its supply of water is always limited, its water is never hot when most needed, it requires more gas than ought to be necessary, it never supplies water for more than one bath, and it takes an age to heat more water for another bath for another bather. Besides, in the kitchen boiler you always have to heat more water than you use and have to wait a long while before it gets sufficiently hot. This is an expensive waste of gas, loss of time and an inconvenience, and the water you get is usually lukewarm, after all.

With the "Humphrey Instantaneous" you have hot water instantly for any purpose, even in the middle of the night, when every fire in the house is out, just as quick as it takes you to strike a match. The supply of hot water never ends, unless you shut it off yourself.

With the "Humphrey Instantaneous" you get the cheapest hot water in the world. A family of five uses on an average of 60 gallons of hot water a day. With gas costing $1.00 for 1000 cubic feet, it costs 20c a day to heat these 60 gallons with your kitchen boiler. The "Humphrey Instantaneous" heats these 60 gallons for only 6 cents a day.

It is a perfect heater for summer as well as winter use. The heater is so constructed that only the water is heated. There is no radiation of heat in the room. It can be used in the hottest weather without adding to the heat of the room.

Send for our free beautiful book of illustrations and full explanations of the Humphrey Instantaneous Bath Heaters, by sending your name and address or calling today at the Los Angeles agents, the Independent Gas Appliance Co., 604 S. Hill St., where the Humphrey Heaters are on exhibition.

If you prefer a larger heater, for supplying a whole house with hot water instantaneously, any minute of the day or night, for kitchen, laundry, rooms and bathrooms, we manufacture the Automatic Thermal Water Heater. We have a separate booklet on these wonderful Automatic Heaters, which we will also send you free if you are interested. Send for it.

UNDER THE OLD GRAPEVINE.

The San Gabriel Historical Society has planned a series of entertainments, the first to be given Thursday evening, under the famous grape vine at San Gabriel. A genuine Spanish dinner will be served from 6 to 10 p.m., al fresco, and the historic adobe home will be thrown open to the guests. Music will be furnished for those who wish to dance. Decorations will be carried out in green. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the society. Cars leave the Pacific Electric building and stop at the entrance.

SUIT ON UNUSUAL GROUNDS.

Thomas Holmes yesterday brought suit in Justice Stephens's court to recover $228 for services he rendered Mrs. E. Swayze in assisting her to select a suitable resting place for her deceased kin. They spent several days in going through Evergreen, Inglewood, Forrest Lawn and Rosedale cemeteries and finally selected a lot in Hollywood. Holmes wants $5 a day for this service. He is seeking similar recompense for days spent in selecting tombstones.

SUNDAY NIGHTS IN EUROPE.

"Switzerland, the Playground of Europe," is the subject chosen by B. R. Baumgardt to open his series of European travelogue talks in Blanchard Hall on Sunday night, the 20th inst., at 8:15 o'clock. These tours through Europe on Sunday evenings are attracting more than ordinary interest this year, as is evinced by the large season ticket sale.

FAMOUS IRISH SONG, AND ITS HISTORY.

"The Wearing of the Green."

DION BOUCICAULT.

Oh! Paddy, dear, and did you hear the news that's goin' round,
The shamrock is forbid, by law, to grow on Irish ground;
St. Patrick's Day no more we'll keep, his colors can't be seen,
For there's a bloody law agin' the Wearing of the Green;
I met with Napper Tandy and he tuk me by the hand,
And he said: "How's poor ould Ireland, and how does she stand?
She's the most distressful country that ever you have seen;
They're hanging men and women there for Wearing of the Green."

Then since the color we must wear is England's cruel red,
Sure Ireland's sons will ne'er forget the blood that they have shed;
You may take the shamrock from your hat, and cast it on the sod,
But 'twill take root and flourish still, tho' under foot 'tis trod;
When the law can stop the blades of grass from growing as they grow,
And when the leaves in summer-time their verdure dare not show;
Then I will change the color I wear in my caubeen,
But till that day, please God, I'll stick to Wearing of the Green.

But if at last our color should be torn from Ireand's heart,
Her sons with shame and sorrow from the dear old soil will part;
I've heard whispers of a country that lies beyant the say,
Where rich and poor stand equal, in the light of freedom's day;
Oh! Erin, must we leave you, driven by the tyrant's hand,
Must we ask a mother's welcome from a strange but happy land!
Where the cruel cross of England's thraldom never shall be seen,
And where, thank God, we'll live and die, still Wearing of the Green.

To all classes of the Irish race there is no song more dear than "The Wearing of the Green." On St. Patrick's Day, March 17, the day of the Shamrock, on the buttonhole nearest the heart, is carried the national emblem, and on the lips of all true Irishmen, at some time during the day, are repeated the words of the song as the late great Irish actor, Dion Boucicault, arranged them from a song of probably several generations earlier, the author of the original of which no one has ever been able to learn.

A song is the song of a nation only when it is a song men sing when they face death, or for the singing of which they are willing to risk imprisonment. There is no method in the musical madness of fighting men. This has been demonstrated in the spirited French "Marselliaise" in a lilting quickstep, musically worthless and fitted with any words such as "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie," or in a solemn hymn such as "Ein Feste Burg."

In the trenches of the Crimea the song was "Annie Laurie." In the trenches of Cuba it was "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." There was no more reason for the lads from Kent and Yorkshire to choose a Scotch love song for their "hymn before action" than for Yankee boys to discard their national airs for a ragtime tune—but they did.

So there can be no argument why Irishmen from one end of the world to the other are stirred by "The Wearing of the Green," as they are by no other earthly sounds, rich as their mother land is in rival melodies.

It has a proud history—this old song which once brought forth a royal prescript against its being sung in the British dominions. Long before that eventful singing it sent men to the scaffold because it symbolized a patriotism that was the assurance of death. Prison was the penalty down almost to the present day. Yet men never cease to sing it.

The origin of "The Wearing of the Green" is not easy to trace. The well-known Welsh chronicles of the Eisteddfod furnish a clew to the genealogy of most of the old songs of England and Scotland, as well as those of Wales. But the beginnings of Irish melodies are lost in the haze of traditions that merge into folklore.

Antiquarians are of the opinion that at first the tune was a "keen"—the hereditary funeral song of one of the royal houses of the island before the days of Cromwell. Certain it is that it was a song of the camp when James made his hopeless stand. But the words are lost, and it is not until 1745 that it is found linked with stanzas that begin:—

The pikes must be together
When the moon is on the green—

The present words—the present song, in fact—may, however, be accredited to Dion Boucicault, the actor. The words are his, written to the ancient melody and introduced by him close to fifty years ago in the popular Irish play "Arrah na Pogue." They are sung by Shaun the Post.

It was on the evening of March 22, 1865, that "The Wearing of the Green," in its present form, was first sung. The play was produced at the Princess Theater, London, soon after Clerkenwell Prison was blown up by the Fenians. There was a storm of indignation on London, and Boucicault's English associates and admirers advised him not to sing it, but sing it he would and did, and it almost caused a riot.

It resulted in the Cabinet Ministers of the late Queen Victoria issuing an edict prohibiting the singing of the song in the British dominions, and for years, although it thrilled the heart of every Irishman, it was never heard in public in England.

If Boucicault could have lived until the Queen made her last visit to the Emerald Isle, when she consented to the wearing of the shamrock, he would have seen, as the royal party landed from Her Majesty's yacht, the Dragoons, Fusileers and Lancers drawn up in full uniform to salute their ruler; a sprig of shamrock was on every breast, and the Queen was greeted by the same old song, "The Wearing of the Green."

In those intervening years the air that seems to hold all the pathos of Ireland has been sung from the cabins of Galway to the camps of Irish regiments, fighting England's battles from the Cape to Afghanistan. Kippling has told in "Namgay Doola" how it had reached to the mountains of Thibet.

Lovers of research of this character have found that there was an old Revolutionary street ballad in Ireland, in which a conversation was imagined between Bonaparte and an Irishman, in which Bonaparte inquires: "And how is ould Ireland, and how does she stand?" and to this he is given reply: "'Tis a poor, distressed coun-the-ry, oh, poor I-arland."

Mr. Boucicault, it is said, was given the idea for rewriting the song by his mother, but she was only able to remember the first four lines. All the rest is original with Boucicault. Nor is this the only song he adopted in the same way. The old-time popular song, "Pat Molloy," was also written by him to an old Irish air.

Mr. Boucicault was born in Dublin on December 20, 1822. He was educated partly in that city and partly at the London University, and became connected with the dramatic profession in the year 1841, as author of "London Assurance," a play first performed at Covent Garden Theater on March 4 of that year. Mr. Boucicault did not make his stage début until Monday, June 14, 1852, in a play written by himself, entitled "The Vampire." In 1853 he came to America for the first time, and made his appearance in "The Fox Hunt" at Wallack's Theater. He returned home two years later. In 1860 he wrote and produced in London his famous play "The Colleen Bawn." He came to America to reside permanently in 1876, and took up his residence in New York City, where he died on September 18, 1890.

James Napper Tandy, the Irish agitator, referred to in the song, was born in Dublin in 1740 and died in that city in 1803. During the American the effort to prevent the use of English goods in Ireland; was an enthusiast in the "volunteer movement;" on May 27, 1782, commanded the corps of artillery that guarded the approaches to receive the answer of the ministry to the demand for legislative independence, and was one of the foremost in the volunteer convention of November, 1782.

Ten years afterwards when Napper Tandy was about to be tried for writing a seditious pamphlet called "Common Sense," he fled to the United States. In 1798 he went to Paris and was put in command of a vessel for an invasion of Ireland. He remained on Irish soil, however, but eight hours, and then went to Bergen and from there by land to Hamburg. At the latter place he was seized and delivered to the English, and upon his arrival in Ireland was condemned to death. Bonaparte, however, brought such pressure to bear in his favor that the prisoner was released. He soon after went to France and was made a general of division.

SHORTAGE IN CUSTOMHOUSE.

SHAKE-UP IN MEXICAN SERVICE ON ARIZONA BORDER.

Collectors Have Been Changed at Nogales, But Courts Have Taken no Action—"Kid" Kirby Is in Tucson Hospital Suffering from an Accidental Gunshot Wound.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 10.—There has been much of a shake-up in the Mexican customs service along the Arizona border. At first there was a report that the Nogales customhouse had been found short about a million pesos, the shortage having accrued within the last calendar year. Inspector Larrea of the Mexican Customs Service reported upon this and summarily suspended from office Collector Calderon and a number of the office clerks and guards.

Close upon this action, however, followed the news that Calderon had been transferred to the charge of the customhouse at Guaymas, from which Collector Montaña had been sent to Nogales. This change already has been effected. Inspector Larrea has been called to the City of Mexico to submit his report in person. There are rumors of the discovery of grave irregularities, but no action appears to have been taken in the Mexican courts.

CITY COUNCIL ROW.

An echo of the old Ben Heney row came up yesterday in the City Council, in the passage of a resolution requesting the Mayor to submit nominations for the several appointive city offices, in which, according to the Council, all incumbents are merely "hold-overs." The individual especially aimed at is Tom Richey, City Attorney, who happens to be a very partisan sort of Republican. The fees already have been taken away from City Health Officer Dr. H. E. Crepin, following his refusal to resign. Another who is to be "lifted" is City Water Superintendent H. G. Brown. Mayor Jacobus is a Republican, though elected on a non-partisan ticket, but a majority of the Councilmen are Democrats.

BOXER IN HOSPITAL.

"Kid" Kirby, a well-known Coast lightweight boxer, is at the Whitewell Hospital, suffering from a wound from a bullet that entered his right side above the hip and that lodged in the left leg. The shooting was accidental, the bullet being from the revolver of Policeman J. D. White, who was exhibiting the weapon at the time to the barkeeper of a saloon, Kirby being an interested bystander. Kirby has been in Tucson about six months, coming here from Los Angeles, where he is reported to have been matched for a contest within a couple of months with Frank Picato.

Private advices from Florence tell that, a few days ago, a successful break for liberty was made by Pedro Lorenzo, an Italian sentenced to three years' imprisonment for complicity in the "white-slave" traffic. He was followed for ten miles up the Gila River, when the trail was lost. Then the roads all were picketed, a move that resulted in the capture of the fugitive about eighteen hours after he had left the prison.

Judge Campbell has refused to dissolve an order on file in the District Court forbidding Miss Marian Malarky from disposing of any of the property of John Scanlon, the aged miner with whom she fled into Mexico a few months ago. Scanlon is believed to still be in Mexico, but Miss Malarky is reported to be in New York.

BREVITIES.

Col. Epes Randolph denies the story that headquarters of the Consolidated Telephone system are to be moved from Tucson to Phoenix.

The office of the United States Attorney for Arizona have been changed from Phoenix to Tucson, as the greater part of the business of the office originates on the border. Attorney J. E. Morrison applied to have the office moved to his home city, Bisbee, but this could not be done.

The start of the mechanical hare coursing at Elysian Park last Sunday was disappointing, as the apparatus broke down after the first race.

Tucson members of the Typographical Union are starting a campaign printed matter used by local business houses.

Harry Heighton has been elected Exalted Rule of the local lodge of Elks. Oscar L. Pease will be representative to the Grand Lodge of the order.

YOUR LAME BACK WILL FEEL FINE

OUT-OF-ORDER KIDNEYS ARE REGULATED AND BLADDER MISERY VANISHES.

A few doses of Pape's Diuretic will clean and regulate your Kidneys, curing Backache and Urinary trouble. No man or woman here in Los Angeles, whether young or old, can afford to neglect the slightest Kidney Disorder for a single day.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night,) smarting, offensive and discolored water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a 50c treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—50c treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

SAYS PATENTS ARE INFRINGED.

DENVER COMPANY SUES TWO BIG COPPER COMPANIES.

Asks for a Permanent Injunction and for Destruction of Concentrating Tables—Commonwealth Installs Machinery—Bunker Hill Suspends in Order to Improve Plant.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 12.—The Mine and Smelter Company of Denver has sued the Arizona Copper Company of Clifton for $15,000, and the Detroit Copper Company of Morenci for $10,000, damages claimed for alleged infringements upon the concentrator patents of Arthur R. Wilfley. It is also asked that a permanent injunction issue against the companies and that certain concentrating tables in their mills be destroyed. These tables were secured by the companies from the Diester Concentrator Company of Fort Wayne, Ind., twelve of them by the Arizona Company and eight by the Detroit. All are claimed to be infringements upon the Wilfley patents of 1897.

New machinery costing $40,000 is being installed in the reduction works of the Commonwealth mine at Pearce, embracing a new process for separating gold from the ores that now are getting too low grade to be profitable to work in the usual way. A new townsite has been laid out and there are hopes that the place will become an important mining and agricultural center.

Work has been suspended on the Bunker Hill mine at Tombstone. Superintendent Wallace states that he is preparing to erect a large quantity of new machinery, including a compressor plant.

Thirty mining claims near Mammoth are being negotiated for by an eastern company, which is to pay $150,000 to the present owner, G. G. Young. The property includes an immense ledge of low-grade copper ore, eighty feet wide at 150 feet of depth. In the same vicinity, the Childs group of six claims are being bargained for. Childs asks $300,000.

Col. W. F. Cody has invested in some mining property south of Tucson, whereon work is to be started at once under H. D. Sherman of Nogales.

The Imperial Company's smelter product for last month was about 850,000 pounds of copper.

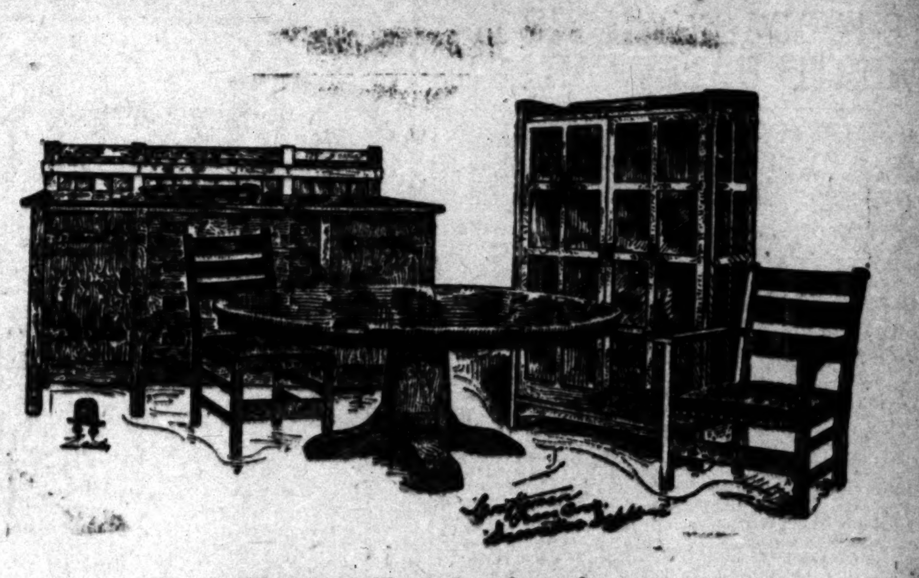
Why Do Men DRINK?

When you stop to think of the terrible results which come to men who indulge to excess in intoxicating beverages, well may you ask, Why do men drink? The fact simply stated is "A victim of the Drink Habit can no more resist liquor than a man with ague can stop shivering." Drunkenness is a disease and must be treated as such. The wives and mothers of those who drink intoxicants will be glad to know there is a remedy which will restore their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Many thousands of grateful women praise Orrine for its benefits. Orrine has been known to effect a cure after all other means failed.

Paxson & Rockefeller, 24 West Park St., Butte, Mont., tell about a case of drunkenness of 25 years' standing. Read what they say: "A gentleman well known to us, who has been a hard drinker for twenty-five years, stated he had been entirely cured by Orrine. We consider this a remarkable case, as this gentleman has been treated three different times at a well-known sanatorium. This and other cases that have come to our knowledge gives us confidence in your preparation, and it gives us pleasure to recommend it to those needing a reliable cure for intemperance."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 919 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by The Owl Drug Co., Inc., 320 S. Spring st., Fifth and Broadway, 625 So. Broadway.

They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and



The above illustration shows five splendid Craftsman pieces sketched from furniture on our floors...

CRAFTSMAN furniture is made in Gustav Stickley's shops, at Eastwood, New York. It was first offered for sale in 1898 and formerly introduced at the furniture exhibition in Grand Rapids in 1900. It was also exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition in 1902, and an exhibit which we made at Seattle carried off first honors.

In Craftsman furniture we have a distinct modern American period, pure in design. The generous lines and ample proportions seem to express the character of our people. During the twelve years that it has been on the market it has remained practically unchanged.

Our white oak is to Craftsman what mahogany is to French, English and Colonial furniture of the eighteenth century.

Craftsman has had an army of imitators from the very first, and while this is an evidence of popularity and stability, it creates some confusion. By exercising a little care one may be sure of getting the genuine. Every piece of Craftsman bears a trademark consisting of an ancient joiner's compass, with the motto "Als ik Kan," and Gustav Stickley's signature.

We are the exclusive representatives of Craftsman in this territory....

A Fifty Year Lease ON
640 Acres of Proven Oil Land
In Ventura County Is Held by the Ventura Oil Development Company

There is sufficient room on this property to drill from 250 to 300 wells and the company has an option to purchase the property outright at the end of fifty years. The royalty is one-sixth, and the property is located near Piru, Ventura county, California, on Section 18, adjoining the Modelle Oil Company's property.

The oil here is of high gravity, running from 25 to 35 degrees, exceptionally adapted for refining purposes, and, therefore, in heavy demand at a high price. The market is unlimited.

The property is located within a few minutes' walk of the railroad, and a mile of pipe will bring the oil to tank cars by gravity, thus eliminating the cost of pumping through the pipe line.

Two wells are being drilled on the property at the present time. Well No. 1 is down 500 feet and Well No. 2 has reached a depth of 450 feet. Work on both these wells is progressing rapidly and it is, therefore, a question of only a short time before one or both wells will be finished.

Why You Should Invest at Once

Just as soon as the first well is brought in on the property leased by the Ventura Oil Development Company, the stock is sure to advance in price very materially, and for this reason it is certainly to your interest to secure a block promptly, otherwise, you will be forced to pay the advanced price.

You can buy stock both for cash or on the installment plan, but it is to your advantage to pay cash as in that event we allow a discount of 5 per cent.

We simply cannot begin to outline in this space the many reasons why we recommend this investment, and we have, therefore, prepared a prospectus regarding the Ventura Oil Development Company which will supply you with full information, and we, therefore, trust that you will fill out and mail the coupon below without delay, and you will promptly receive this prospectus and a map showing the location of the property.

FORTUNATE FOOTMAN WHO IS WORTH HALF A MILLION.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—One of the fa- … themes of the old-fashioned … writers was the poor young … from the country, who came up … London and entering the service of … wealthy man either married his … ghter or was adopted by him and … herited his wealth.

… a case has just come before … British courts and owing to the … minence of some of the persons in- … volved in it no doubt the bare facts in … case have been cabled to America. … story is so interesting and roman- … however, that it is worth telling in … It may be called the "romance … of the fortunate footman and the two … ladies."

London woke up a couple of days … to read that Lord Rosebery, once … Prime Minister of England; Lord … Rothschild, the world's greatest finan- … Arthur Cohen, K.C., who is one of … England's leading lawyers, and Arthur … who isn't any one in particu- … were bringing suit as executors of … estates of the late Misses Lucy … Anna Louisa Cohen, against … Frank Bradley, to compel him to ac- … count for more than $300,000, which it … not disputed had been given to … during their lives by the two old … In fact, it was alleged that they … given him nearly $500,000 alto- … but only the amounts about … there was no dispute were men- … in the legal proceedings.

… who is Frank Bradley, and who … the two very generous old ladies … made him a present of such a … fortune? The Misses Cohen were … the very elect of English Jewry. … were relatives by blood or mar- … of the Rothschilds, the Monte- … the Salomons and all the other … whose names spell great … to those who are familiar with … financial world in this country. … aunt married the late Baron … de Rothschilds, the father of … late Countess of Rosebery, while … aunt had already married Nathan … de Rothschild, the grandfather … the present Lord Rothschild. They … very wealthy in their own right, … when Miss Lucy Cohen died in … she left $750,000 to the Hon. Neil … Lord Rosebery's younger … $25,000 to Lord Dalmeny, his elder … and $100,000 each to his daughters, … Crewe and Lady Sybil Grant.

Frank Bradley began life in quite … circumstances. When he was … years old he entered the service of … Misses Cohen's mother as an un- … footman. The elder of the two la- … was then about 24, and the other … couple of years younger. This was … 1871. Four years later he was pro- … moted to valet to their uncle, John … and a little later he became … Mrs. Cohen died in 1879, but … was in 1885 that Bradley did the … stroke of business which was destined to make him a rich man. He married the ladies' maid, who had had the two Misses Cohen in charge since they were old enough to have a maid and to whom they were devoted.

Thereafter his rise in life was rapid. Friends of the ladies, who gave evidence in court, said that soon after that it was evident that they treated him as an equal. He began to eat at table with them, and from butler he soon developed into their man of business and general factotum. They showered gifts on him. One of the first was a fine house in the country. As his children were born they became their godmothers, and they sent his daughters to school in France, where they received the education of daughters of the nobility. When the eldest Miss Bradley was married they gave her a trousseau, $25,000 in cash and lent her their country house for the honeymoon. Then there were many gifts in cash to Bradley. In 1891 they gave him $30,000 in three different sums. In 1892 they gave him $10,000, and in 1897 they handed over to him securities worth $160,000. There were lots of smaller gifts, and the last recorded was in October, 1902, when they gave him a check for $50,000. At this time he was drawing a salary from them of $5500 a year. Bradley's own explanation was that they often expressed their gratitude to him for his management of their affairs, and promised to leave him a substantial sum in their will. He pointed out to them that he was nearly as old as they were, and might not survive them, and suggested that they might as well give him what they intended to leave him while he was alive to enjoy it.

At any rate, he got the money, and when the suit was brought against him he was described as of the Hall, Wivelsfield, Sussex. Some of the witnesses said that he was now a county magnate, and spoke of his regular appearance in the hunting field.

The basis for the suit against him was not any allegation of undue influence. Every one agreed that the Misses Cohen were particularly shrewd and businesslike old ladies, and that they were not likely to be unduly influenced by any one. There is a very salutary provision in the English law, however, which prohibits a person who acts in a confidential business relation for another, such as a lawyer, manager, doctor, or agent, from receiving large gifts from that person unless the donor has taken independent advice about them. It was alleged that Bradley occupied such a relation to the two old ladies, while he denied that he had ever been anything more than an upper servant.

Just what his relations to them were will probably never be known now, for, after the case had been before the court two days, which were occupied by the statements of the lawyers and a little preliminary evidence, it was announced that a settlement had been arrived at. I am told that Bradley will keep nearly all the money.

UNFROCKED AND JAILED.

Priest, Who Was Subjected to Political Persecution, Now Bishop in Old Believers' Church.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Saturday, Feb. 26.—Bishop Michael of the Old Believer sect, who was appointed bishop of that sect in Canada, but was subsequently withdrawn by the synod of Old Believers because irregularly selected and consecrated, has now been named bishop of Orenburg and the Urals, in Russia.

Michael, who was formerly an Archimandrite in the orthodox church, was unfrocked and sentenced to confinement in a monastery because of political activity. He is a member of the Social Revolutionary party, and entered the Old Believers' church, it is said, to shake the traditional conservatism of the members of that body.

Fat Defeating Extraordinary

MARGARET KNOLLY

Margaret Knolly

SLENDER Margaret Knolly, now, if you please. The fascinating leading lady of the Bijou, now more fascinating than ever, astonished all her friends on Broadway the other day by presenting to their admiring gaze a svelt and willowy form in place of the plump, not to say fat, outlines with which she gaily sailed away to new triumphs and foreign shores last January. After a good deal of diplomatic cross-examination from interested fat acquaintances the secret was cautiously whispered to a few dear friends, with the result that everybody knows it now. It was not exercise, nor fasting, nor sea air, nor worry about her new venture that had brought about this wonderful willowy change in the charming Margaret; no, none of these; nothing but a simple mixture which all good druggists are familiar with and can supply at small cost, to-wit: One-half ounce Marmola, one-half ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and three and one-half ounces Peppermint Water. "Grown folks need a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime," explained the now slender Margaret. "It is simply wonderful. It takes off the fat quickly, as much as a pound a day, and keeps it off. You can eat what you like, too. In that respect it is unlike anything of the kind I ever heard of, and besides it has another splendid feature—it is entirely harmless, and will not cause wrinkles. I think it is about as essential a toilet article for the woman who is fat and wants to get thinner as face powder. In order to get the best results, however, you should buy the Marmola in the original package and mix it in with the other two ingredients after you get home."

Will Hold Pow-Wow and Assign Land.

Judging from contracts placed with Los Angeles machinery houses, the Indians out at Soboba are undismayed by the catastrophes attending Brook Farm and other "high-brow" coöperative colonies. They have looked upon the white man's ways for a century or so and they can't see anything in most of them.

They are going back to their old tribal life—but with modern improvements. They have declined with thanks to become white men. They are going to have the old tribal assembly house, like their forefathers; but they are going to have it lighted with electric lights and heated with gas.

They are going to till the tribal lands as they did for countless centuries before the white men arrived, but they are going to till with modern machinery and irrigate the lands with water pumped by electric and gasoline engines.

The Sobobas say they have decided to refuse to become white men on account of the disasters that have attended their old friends, the Indians at Pala.

The Sobobas are a peaceful, kindly, fat people whom the first white men found living on the slope of the hot San Jacinto hills. The high plateaus of the "Ramona country" were then covered with grazing deer and the Sobobas practiced farming in a crude, simple way.

By the encroachments of the white men and the Mexicans, they were driven back to the foothills where the government set aside a reservation for them. There are some 4800 acres set aside by executive order and about 750 to which they have possessory title as long as they remain there as a tribe.

WORK FOR WHITE MEN.

Here and there they have planted little garden patches, but have made no general attempt to support themselves by farming. They have eked out a living by working around on the white mens' ranches.

Within the last year or so, the government has been at work in Southern California on its well-known recent policy of turning the Indians into white men. It divides the reservation lands into farms, plants the Indian farmer thereon and leaves him to his own resources.

The Indian department is now apportioning the land of the Pala agency to which the unfortunate Warner's ranch Indians were removed. The Sobobas have been watching this apportionment with interest, inasmuch as they knew it was proposed by the government to also set them up in business.

They found that each Pala Indian is to receive but two acres of land with water and some seven acres of grazing land. This grazing land is so steep and unpromising that one of the government agents has reported to Washington that it would take 100 acres of it to support a cow. These conditions being reported to Washington, the Indian department is reported to have tried to purchase adjoining ranches, but the price exceeded the appropriation.

GOVERNMENT WANTS NAMES.

An order is said to have recently come to Pala to send to Washington the names of all "eminent Indians." It will help an eminent Indian a lot to know, while he is starving on two acres of land, that his name is duly enrolled on the fame charts in Washington.

After hearing of these conditions, the Sobobas held a pow-wow of the old men.

They couldn't see the philosophy of being white men. Their wishes seem to have been respected and, it is said, there will be no allotment of their land, at least for the present.

Instead, under the guidance of their agent, they will put the agency lands under cultivation and try to fend for themselves, working together as a tribe. Their agent is an energetic young man, named Will Stanley, who is said to be one of the most efficient ice. He has done a great deal to inspire them with a desire to get busy.

The digging of wells in the valley below has drawn most of the water out of the old wells they once had for domestic purposes, but the government is digging several new ones which will develop a flow of 110 inches of water for irrigation purposes. The government has sent big gasoline pumping plants. A fine assembly hall for tribal meetings has been erected and will be lighted by electricity. A gas plant has also been erected on the reservation.

WILL HOLD POW-WOW.

In the near future, the tribe will have a big pow-wow, attended by every member. At this meeting the lands of the reservation will be assigned by the captain and the judge to the various heads of families. This assignment of land does not, of course, carry with it title to the land, but it is merely a tribal arrangement made by the Indians themselves through their elected chiefs.

The ranchers about San Jacinto are skeptical. They scornfully refer to the new arrangements as "a lot of money wasted on them Injuns," but the agent and the priest stationed with the Sobobas are both confident that it will be the dawn of a new day for their charges.

Although the Sobobas have lived at San Jacinto so long and have raised simple crops longer than their traditions go back, they know nothing of modern farming.

They have made a request of the Great Father at Washington that he send them an educated farmer to teach them how to grow their crops and run their engines. They much prefer an Indian from one of the government agricultural schools.

CROSS-COUNTRY WORK.

CHINESE WALL REACHES THIBET.

AMERICAN EXPLORER TRACES ITS FULL COURSE.

Material in the Vast Work Would Build a Double Wall Six Feet High Around the Earth—A Hitherto Unknown Portion Has Now Been Discovered.

Dr. William Edgar Gell, the explorer and writer who lives in Doylestown, Pa., started out in 1901 to study the most primitive races of the world wherever he could find them. He crossed China and Africa, in the course of his search and ventured farther into the pygmy forest of Africa than Stanley had gone. He was gone for four years and traversed 120,000 miles. The great Chinese wall was followed from end to end, and it was found, that the plan of the whole mighty undertaking and the structural design varied according to the conformation of the terrain. Where the wall passes a town like Shan-hai-Wei, near its eastern end, it coalesces, so to speak, with the mural battlements and thus supplies a lofty and powerful defence to the town itself. Where it crosses a plain, as it does before ascending the mountains, it is both lofty and broad, with crenelated walls and room enough on the top for several horsemen to ride abreast. Thirty-five feet in height and thirty-nine in breadth are the measurements applied by one authority.

A broad river cuts through the wall, but here a substantial castle stands to keep watch and ward over the opening and the strategic opportunity thereby afforded for access and attack. After this the wall proceeds to crawl up the face of the mountains in zigzag fashion, with commanding towers at the salient angles, effective communication between the towers being provided for the defenders. Where the precipitous scarp of the mountain presents a sheer face of a thousand feet or so nature's defence is in itself practically sufficient, so as to need but little artificial aid, but even here the great Emperor's commands were inflexible and the wall had to run continuously for the whole length of its appointed course.

This brings us to the question of the date of building. In 221 B. C. Shih-Hwang-ti found himself master of the whole of China from the plains of Chili to the banks of the Yangtse and from the great Tungting Lake in Hunan to the Yellow Sea. He proclaimed himself First Emperor of China and decreed that everything, including literature, was to commence from his reign, a command which resulted, as is well known, in the virtual destruction of all the then existing Chinese records. Infraction of this decree was punished with branding and four years labor on the Great Wall, which the Emperor caused to be built along the northern confines of his dominions to keep out the dreaded Hsuingnu, or northern nomads.

Even here it would appear that there were preëxisting walls, which had been built by the former independent princes of Shansi, Shensi and Chili. As, according to old Chinese records, the attacks of the Tartar nomads date back to 1400 B. C., it is probable that the most ancient portions of the wall are nearer 3000 than 2000 years old. It is curious to learn that when the breach was made in the wall near Shan-hai-Kwan to enable the railway to be continued to the Manchurian port of Newchwang the railway engineers came across the pile foundations put in about twenty-two centuries ago. The wood was petrified and well preserved, and many interesting souvenirs were made out of the portions disinterred.

Dr. Gell agrees with the conclusion generally arrived at by authorities that the various portions of the wall have been built at vastly different times and under different circumstances. In fact, he speaks of ten walls rather than the one uniform structure of which school geographies are wont to discourse. Some of his photographic views show how extraordinarily capricious is the line of the wall. At one time it plunges into an abyss out of sight, to emerge a few miles further and crawl up a steep incline, disappearing again over the crest of a hill, and finally reappearing on the horizon and crowning the ridge of a distant mountain range which bounds the whole panoramic view.

When Lord Macartney proceeded on his embassy, his vice-minister, Sir George Staunton, described it in terms which the photographs prove to have been singularly faithful. "On the morning of the fourth day from Peking, a prominent narrow line was descried, like the veins of quartz in the sides of the mountains of gneiss in Scotland. The form of a wall, with battlements, was in a little time distinctly discerned. What the eye could from a single spot embrace of these walls, carried along the ridges of hills, over the tops of the highest mountains, descending into the deepest valleys, crossing upon arches over rivers and doubled and trebled in many parts, to take in important passes, and interspersed with towers or massive bastions at almost every hundred yards as far as the sight could reach—all this presented to the mind an undertaking of stupendous magnitude."

Dr. Gell declares he has discovered a hitherto unknown portion of the wall, a loop of considerable extent running westward of Sining-fu, the well-known mart between China and Northern Thibet. It is possible that Dr. Aurel Stein and Maj. d'Ollone, who have just returned from the same region, may be able to supply further information regarding these western sections of the wall and thus help to complete our knowledge of the structure; but this will in no wise detract from the merit of Dr. Gell's discovery and researches, which, indeed, are simply unique.

John Barrow, F. R. S., who was private secretary to Lord Macartney in 1793, calculated that the amount of matter in the stupendous fabric was more than sufficient to surround the circumference of the earth at two of its great circles with two walls, each six feet high and two feet thick. Considering, moreover, that numerous offshoots and branches of the wall have been brought to light by travelers since Mr. Barrow's time, even this extraordinary calculation would seem to be below the mark.

BAR WOMEN LAWYERS.

Minister of Justice of Russia Denies Request of Duma to Pass Qualifying Law.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Saturday, Feb. 26.—The Minister of Justice, to whom was referred the request of the duma for the introduction of a law authorizing the admission to the bar of women lawyers, has declined to do this, finding that the profession is already overcrowded; that the education of women in Russia is not on a sufficiently high plane, and that this question can best be discussed in connection with the general subject of broadening the sphere of female activity, now awaiting demonstration.

The Liberal members of the duma will not introduce their own measure, using the parliamentary right initiating legislation.

The question was presented by the recent presentation of Miss Kretzingen as an attorney in a criminal case. The prosecutor refused to proceed with the case, holding that women, under Russian law, are not authorized to practice law, in which he was supported by the Imperial Senate.

BOY PROPHET.

When the collections at the meetings pay my expenses I can devote all my time to the work.

HEALS BY FAITH.

"I believe in healing by faith, although I practice it but little, and do not preach about it much. I believe in communication with the spirit world, but not about material things. I think the time has arrived when men are so far developed that they may receive direct and individual guidance.

"I do not try to form an organization, but urge people to stay in the churches, if they can do so. The churches, however, are against me. It has been revealed to me that the church shall not stand, and that God sees but little difference between the people inside of the church and those who are outside of it. In fact, much of the real religious spirit of brotherhood, kindness and charity is outside of the church today.

"The things I say that most interest people are the historical revelations. It has been revealed to me that there will be a great European war over the Ottoman empire. The Sultan will lose his kingdom, and will flee to Palestine. In the British empire the warfare between capital and labor means the decay of commercial supremacy. I have seen the English ships rotting in the harbors.

"In America there are to be many disturbances, but they are of a minor character. It is the chosen land, and ultimately there will be peace and good will.

CHRIST'S SECOND COMING.

"The second coming of Christ is here and now. People did not recognize Christ when He came before because He did not appear in glory, as they had expected. They do not recognize the setting up of His kingdom now, because it is being established in the hearts of men. Material things have reached a stage that is near completion. Men have solved most of the problems of the earth and the heavens. Everywhere you see divine revelation in the hearts of men. To some it comes through Christian Science, to others through spiritualism, and to the great multitudes it is a sort of creedless religion of love and trust."

To the scientist, Inger would present a psychological study. He seems to have a sincere belief in what he says, but a peculiar attitude toward truth in the concrete. It never seems to enter his mental vision to discover whether his historical revelations agree with history. He frankly admits that he has never studied history. He discusses Biblical history, but says he has studied the Bible very little. Bible students find him in error in some of his explanations. He says others have told him that he was correct in statements of history about which he knew nothing, except that certain things had been revealed to him.

REVELATIONS HIS GUIDE.

He says he believes in study and education, but that he finds little time for it, and is impelled to move according to the directions he receives by revelation, rather than to plan his own course. He says he condemns fanaticism, and believes in being practical, and, to a certain extent, conventional. He eschews most of the things that are included in the freak religions, and has no rites or fetishes which would mark his followers.

He considers the faith-curing sects as mistaken in playing upon the selfish interests of the followers in seeking to be well.

"I believe in spurring people on to take care of the poor and the sick," he says, "but I do not believe in building up a church on the promise of curing people. Health will come with spiritual development."

Inger says he is 26 years old. He has an extremely boyish appearance, and is short in stature. His education has not gone beyond that of the common schools. He says he never thinks of what he is going to say until he begins to talk. He believes it is not himself that speaks, but some voice through him.

DEATH VALLEY SINKS.

refreshing features there is the desolation and heat of hades.

The valley, over 100 miles in length and from about fifteen to thirty miles in width, blends into a blue haze of heat as you look to north or south. The sun shines relentlessly every day during most of the year, and by night the over-heated atmosphere wakes the commotion of winds, warm as the breath of a furnace. But even the heat of midsummer does not seem to cause acute suffering; it just makes you feel depressed and downright lazy. To keep cool you drink so much water that you are bleached out all the time. I actually drank from about sixteen to twenty-four pounds of water per day when in the sun. The water carried in an ordinary canteen becomes as hot as you would wish to use in a bathtub, but you drink it and it seems comparatively cool. The clothing you wear in Death Valley comes to have a scorched smell from the heat of the sun, but you stand it somehow, and can traverse the valley at any time of year, though it is extremely hot in June, July, August and September.

SUN, SAND, SAGE AND SOLITUDE.

Sun, sand, sage and solitude are the features of Death Valley. The lower portion of its bed, attaining about 280 feet below sea level, consists of unknown depths of sluggish slime, bitter with borax, salt, nitrate; in fact a wonderfully complex and powerful solution of natural chemicals. This strong chemical solution I know from repeated observations, disintegrates and dissolves the very rocks.

The lower bed of Death Valley is a vast, natural cyanide vat and has dissolved everything that has been precipitated into it through the ages. All the untold thousands of millions of tons of quartz and formations bearing the precious metals that have been precipitated into the valley from the sundered belts and zones of the surrounding mountains, lie there in great basins of solution, for miles and miles, crusted over by the suns of centuries and veiled by the forlorn, brooding solitude, these vast and peculiar mineral deposits have been overlooked by every one. But this sea of mineral solution may some day prove very valuable. The field is of such extent as to be beyond the reach of monopoly, and I make free to mention it, hoping it may soon be verified by scientific investigation.

TO DREDGE FOR TREASURES.

These strong, natural chemical combinations, the result of a great volcanic crater, may have also turned to solution the precious metals which they contain, just as would cyanide. It may be that dredges and a system of settling tanks could glean great mineral wealth from these vast caldrons. The present surface of this extinct crater, which was later the bed of a long-vanished sea, is constantly heaving and fermenting like yeast, under the influx of waters from snows and cloudbursts on the surrounding mountains. Its surface for miles is broken into a million miniature, fantastic mountains, and crags and shapes [illegible], weird confusion like the [illegible] wonders of the inferno. [illegible] under the heat discouraged me from making extensive tests, but some of this mere surface spume I had assayed gave 50 cents in gold per ton. Extensive beds of earth, which would give 50 cents average in placer gold per ton, would be considered, indeed, a bonanza.

There is a peculiar kind of spontaneous fire that kindles about these Death Valley marshes and has been seen at night by many. Once in crossing the valley by night, my burro kicked up a ball of red fire that sputtered like "spitting devil" made of wet gunpowder. Big fires of this sort often seen about the valley at a distance in the night are called "ghost fires." They are caused by the natural, combustive chemicals in these mineral lakes. It was from such substances as this in the similar dry lake bed of the Desert of Gobi that the Chinese are said to have discovered gunpowder as early as the sixth century.

A big company has now gone to work in the south end of Death Valley to extract materials for making dynamite and other high explosives of which they claim it contains enough to blow up the world.

GOLD IN SOLUTION.

At depth, these big mineral lakes might be rich beyond belief, and they should be investigated by means sufficient to make the necessary tests. To say that there is not great value existing in these corroded lakes is to say that there is nothing in the gold belts of the Bullfrog, Goldfield, Tonopah and other belts and zones of the Nevada treasure fields.

Great riven belts and zones of highly mineralized granite, slate, lime, porphyry; in fact, most of the known mineral-bearing formations, are everywhere about Death Valley. They have been denuded and scarred and carried by cloudbursts and all the wrath of the elements through the drift of the lost eternities to be dumped into and dissolved in the vast natural cyanide vats and the process is still going on.

It is a known fact that salt with a few simple chemicals of the right combination will dissolve gold, and as gold exists in sea water usually to the fraction of a cent per ton, considerable has been invested from time to time in the stocks of companies which claimed a process by which to profitably extract this small percentage of gold from the waters of the sea. So it is plausible that in the hands of energetic promoters vast concerns could be evolved, engaging in the extraction of gold and other precious metals from the bed of Death Valley, for it contains the remnant of a sea that has been condensed and simmered down, and its chemical substances combining with those in the erstwhile volcanic crater, and augmented by untold millions of tons of rich quartz dissolved into liquid slimes, has made a solution infinitely more rich in precious metals than ever were the waters of the sea.

A GOLDEN SEA.

It might even be figured out that the wealth of the world's greatest millionaires would pale before the golden depths of liquid treasures that lie deep down in the darkness of the unfathomed bed of this mysterious valley, and the kings of earth would hasten to corner it, lest the great wealth, dispersing among mankind, would destroy the potency of the world's hoarded treasures.

Let us unveil the vistas of the vanished eons and see by what creative process this colossal wonder of terrestrial desolation came to be: At some time in the far lost ages the present site of Death Valley and its great surrounding deserts may have been a fair land of verdure. But as the ages drifted, seismic wrath arose from the deep, sundering these verdant vistas from surface to foundation, disclosing to the affrighted heavens a flaming wound in the earth's fair surface as she staggered amid the stars. Then awoke fierce lightnings and the thunders raved and the breath of vast blackness in wild hurricane engulfed the world. Rains poured in torrents and through that long night of doom arose the reeking, towering flames of this tremendous volcano of the valley of death.

Time lulled the tempests and the earth regained its equilibrium, but for ages the great fissure was a reeking, seething caldron, where tongues of flame shot upward and black smoke and steam and ashes blew across and blanched the broad expanses that today are still the deserts. And in all this time the alchemy of the underworld was working its wonders in the fusing and forming of mineral wealth, through reeking fumes in the fissures and crevices of the great crater and its surrounding fields that are today the golden El Dorados of Nevada.

VULCAN AT WORK.

If one might have stood in those primitive ages upon the peaks of the Panamints, when the wind blew strong from the western oceans, they would have seen the great crater's columns of high-towering smoke and flame wafted to the eastward through the summits of the Funeral range to where lies the Amargosa and the Ralston deserts, or northward along the Grape Vine range, to where are now the treasure cities of Goldfield and Tonopah. Again, if an off-shore wind was blowing, one might have stood upon Pyramid peak, in the eastern verge of the valley, and have seen the tongues of flame from that same tremendous crater wrap themselves about the summits of the Panamints on the valley's western verge, 11,000 feet above the level of the sea.

But in still later periods of change the great fiery crater became a receptable for the flow of waters, or maybe from subterranean inundation it became an inland sea, its former fires deep smothered and lulled below a thousand fathoms of surging flood.

Then slowly the waters receded or seeped away through the insecure bottom of the crater sea, leaving its tremendous blackened mountain walls forever bare and lone and its bed white with salt and alkali deposits, and all the intermingled chemicals of the crater.

AS IT IS TODAY.

Thus we see it today; a great white, sunken rift, defined in rugged mountain walls. And solitude reigns over and around it. The sun beats down upon it ceaselessly, winter and summer. Blanching winds drift and pile the sands upon its sunken bars, and its waters are salt and bitter. Bats, owls, centipedes, tarantulas, rattlesnakes, hydrophobus skunks and coyotes dispute even a peaceable existence to the harmless species of lizards, horned toads and chuckawallas, [illegible] less to the prospector and his patient burro, who sometimes venture within its precincts.

Perhaps not so many treasures are to be found about Death Valley as has been commonly represented, but it has plenty of latent mineral wealth, and will yet be successfully exploited, as will more of the vast vocanic zone which has produced a Tonopah and a Goldfield and scores of other camps.

It would take 100,000 men 100 years to prospect all these far-reaching and forbidding deserts of Nevada and Southeastern California, and they are sure of a long-continued, golden future.

Fixed Her Overdraft.

A prominent banker in the city was talking the other day of the foibles of some of his feminine depositors.

"Women are queer creatures when it comes to business," he said. "For one thing, no woman can understand why we won't send her unlimited amounts of money if she asks for it over the telephone.

"But the funniest incident I've known happened the other day. We sent word to one of our woman depositors that her account was overdrawn. We expected her to be angry. They usually are. But she wasn't.

"No, indeed. She sat down and wrote us a gracious and lovely little letter on crested paper, thanking us for letting her know that her account was overdrawn.

" 'I am so glad to oblige you by remedying the defect at once,' she wrote.

"And she inclosed a check for $750 drawn on our own bank."—[Philadelphia Times.

When They Pour Buildings.

Guest: What? I can't get a room until this afternoon? That's a nice state of affairs.

Hotel Clerk: Sorry, sir, but it isn't entirely our fault. We ordered four new stories last night and told the contractor distinctly that we wanted them by 10 o'clock this morning.—[Sunday Magazine.

10 Reasons Why

The One-Price System Is Best

To charge a man just as much as he will pay is a short-sighted policy in any business. We realize the intelligence of the piano buying public and understand that in the long run the ONE-PRICE policy pays. Every piano in our wareroom is marked in plain figures and sold to everyone at that price, which is the lowest price consistent with conservative business.

Here are ten good reasons why the ONE-PRICE policy reacts to your benefit and ours:

(1.) It is right, for a dollar has an unchangeable, universal value.
(2.) It strengthens the salesman morally and intellectually.
(3.) It secures the confidence of the customer.
(4.) It grades pianos where they belong.
(5.) It sells better pianos.
(6.) It secures the house the respect of the community, increasing number of sales.
(7.) It saves valuable time; no bickering.
(8.) It helps collections—customers feel they have been dealt with squarely.
(9.) It enables business to be conducted on closer margin, for profits and expenses can be figured more accurately in advance.
(10.) It imparts an enduring reputation to the house—
—AND THIS IS THE "BROWN" SYSTEM OF SELLING PIANOS.

We are the exclusive agents for the following pianos, representing the best in the different grades.

THE KRAKAUER—The artist's piano. $400 and up.
LYON & HEALY—An instrument of wonderful tone quality. $375 and up.
SHONINGER—An old and reliable make. Over 1200 in So. Cal. $325 and up.
R. S. HOWARD—Best for the price. $250 and up.
APOLLO PLAYER PIANO—The best player ever made. $750 to $1250.

Whitney Canyon Siphon, on the Aqueduct, experiment which may change and facilitate the original engineering plans.

NEXT month the Los Angelas aqueduct engineers will make a test which will be watched by the enineering world with intense interest, nd which may cut a big figure in furher construction of the great conduit. he Whitney Cañon siphon is being ushed to completion in order to deterine whether it is the proper method f construction for crossing the many avines and cañons on the route. It is ow half-finished, and will be ready or the test in April. It will be the rst section of the aqueduct to carry he full head of water that is ultiately to flow through the entire ngth.

The Whitney Cañon siphon is being uilt of reinforced concrete. Its total ngth is 850 feet, and it spans a deression 250 feet deep. It is ten feet n diameter, and its walls are nine nches thick. It is calculated to carry head of sixty inches of water.

The problem of constructing a siphon is to resist the immense pressure exerted by the weight of water. If cement alone were used in the siphon the water would shatter it like an eggshell, but with the reinforcement of steel bands that is used, it is believed the resistance will be equal to that of steel pipes.

In order to test the siphon it is merely necessary to bulkhead the ends and make a small boring at the bottom of the curve in which to set an inch stand pipe. By carrying this pipe to a considerable height and filling it with water a pressure can be secured that will test the large pipe to any capacity, the hydraulic principle utilized being that the pressure upon one inch of water will be transmitted to every square inch of resisting surface.

Contracts have been let for but two steel siphons in the Jawbone division, and all others are held up pending the experiment in Whitney Cañon. This will be the first reinforced concrete siphon built in the United States.

OURTHOUSE WEDDING.

ut that the couple had been sweetearts for some years, and that the appy event of yesterday was but the ealization of hopes in which both had nduiged for a long time.

When the trip was made to the ourthouse it was fully intended by Hollinger and his bride to be wedded n the tower if possible. There seemed o be an element of romance about he selection of where the nuptial knot hould be tied. With the coveted ocument, the party went to the stairway on the fourth floor of the Courthouse, leading to the tower, which is lways open for the accommodatin of isitors on Saturday.

No attention was paid to the quartette as they wended their way through the labyrinth of stairways leading upward more than one hundred feet, for it is no unusual thing to have many people make the journey to cloud-land. Neither did the fact that the young lady wore a white dress, and that a wreath of orange blossoms hung pendant from the latest creation of woman headgear, excite any comment among the few who saw the party ascend the steps leading to the tower. White dresses and orange blossoms are often seen about the Clerk's office.

One of the colored porters showed the company the way to the tower, and no time was lost in carrying out the ceremony. Rev. Palmer confessed that it was somewhat unusual to perform his holy office so far above terra firma, but the blushing bride laughingly told him that it was a good thing to have her intended and herself start so high, even if they were afterward compelled to come down a bit.

When the party reached the last landing, the colored porter was asked if he would retire, and in a few moments Hollinger and bride were made one. The father and mother pressed forward to kiss the daughter, and Dr. Palmer added his congratulations to theirs.

Then the whole party stepped outside, where the beautiful panorama of the busy city was presented to them, and after admiring the picture descended, and repaired to the home of Hollinger, No. 122 West Fifty-second Place, that had been made ready for the reception of the newly-married couple.

BITS OF VERSE.

What's the Use.

What's the use to fret and worry,
Make a fuss and try to hurry,
When you're born to take it easy
And to win a lot of fame.
What's the use to strive and clamor
For the gay life and its glamour
When you haven't got a bank roll
Or a copper to your name?
Why the schemes and subtle planning
To be ever, always spanning
Some big chasm when you're Jonahed
Every step you turn to go?
What's the use of ever trying,
Ever hoping, ever sighing
To be popular and lauded
When your name is Uncle Joe?
—[St. Louis Star.

Night Song.

Fair night, and rare night!
Sweetheart, you are there,
You with the dawning in your eyes,
And the sun-gold in your hair!

Dark night, and stark night!
Still, love, you are there,
You with the morning in your eyes,
And the day-gold in your hair!

Sweet dreams, but fleet dreams,
And ever you are there,
Love, with the love-light of your eyes,
And the glory of your hair!

Morning and Evening.

When the mists grow bright with the morning light,
And the winds come fresh from the sea,
Our boat beats down from the waking town,
And the cordage sings in glee.
As the leaping hull like some great gull
From the salt spray shakes her free.

When the day is done, and the sinking sun
Slips down in the afterglow,
Our boat drifts back on a silver track,
That the moonbeams gently show,
A starlit way at the close of day,
For stately ships to go.
—[Philip P. Frost.

Happy-Go-Lucky.

Happy-go-luck, he lives at his ease;
Happy-go-lucky is easy to please;
Happy-go-lucky will weather all seas—
Weather all storms but the last.
Gay, with a feast or a famine to dine,
Happy-go-lucky drinks water like wine;
Naught to forbode and naught to repine,
Fearing not future nor past.

Happy-go-lucky is lord of the earth;
Free of all lands as the land of his birth;
Making his way with the freedom of mirth;
Taking the world at a breath.

Happy-go-luck, he lives for the day;
Never grows old, though he's grizzled and gray;
Gay as a child in the morning is gay
Happy-go-lucky meets death.
—[Pall Mall Gazette.

Coming Home.

Sweet, is the hour that brings us home,
Where all will spring to met us;
Where hands art striving, as we come,
To be the first to greet us.
When the world hath spent its frowns and wrath,
And care hath been sorely pressing;
'Tis sweet to turn from our roving path,
And find a fireside blessing.
Oh, joyfully dear is the homeward track,
If we are but sure of a welcome back.

What do you reck on a dreary way,
Though lonely and benighted,
If we know there are lips to chide our stay,
And eyes that will beam lovelighted?
What is the worth of your diamond ray,
To the glance that flashes pleasure;
When the words that welcome back betray
We form a heart's chief treasure?
Oh, joyfully dear is our homeward track
—[Detroit News.

Guarding the Bank of France.

There are plenty of ingenious burglars in the world, but he would have to be a very ingenious burglar, indeed, who should find a way to rob the Bank of France, says Harper's Weekly. The measures taken for guarding the money are of such a nature that burglary would seem to be impossible.

Every day when the money is put into the vaults in the cellar, and before the officers leave, masons are in attendance, whose duty it is to wall up the doors of the vaults with hydraulic mortar. Water is then turned on, and kept running until the cellar is flooded.

A burglar would thus have to work in a diving suit, and break down a cement wall before he could even begin to break into the vaults. When the officers arrive the next morning the water is drawn off, the masonry torn down and the vaults opened.

BRANCHING OUT.

TO REINFORCE BOOZE BATTLE.

W.C.T.U. Organizes for Work in Old Mexico.

Government Rules Already Strictly Enforced.

Liquor Evil Is Largely a Matter of Caste.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, March 7.—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has held a meeting in Mexico City and perfected its organization for this country. This organization consists almost entirely of American residents of Mexico and is an offshoot of the strong body of temperance workers in the United States. Undoubtedly it has a beneficial influence among the 30,000 or more Americans who reside in Mexico, but beyond that, it has not made itself felt to any considerable extent.

However, there is in this country a temperance movement that is making itself felt. It proceeds from several sources and numbers among its advocates men high in business, professional and official life. Among these, possibly first praise should be given to Mexican physicians for their scientific expostulations.

Drunkenness is a calamity in Mexico, but it is largely a matter of caste. The Mexican gentleman takes his wine with his dinner and possibly some drinks between meals, but it is seldom that one is found intoxicated. The peon, at the other end of the social scale, lives and works only for enough money to buy a jag. It does not require a great outlay of money. For twenty-five centavos one may buy enough of mezcal to knock him silly. Mescal is a highly alcoholized liquor that sells for 2 cents a glass and can be bought at any corner grocery store.

In Mexico City, however, and indeed in most places throughout the southern part of the country, the thirst of the lower classes generally runs to pulque, a native beer. Both mezcal and pulque are made from the juice of the maguey, but in the north the tastes for the distilled product, while in the south the less alcoholic fermentation of the agua miel is the common beverage.

CLOSING HOURS.

The efforts to control the liquor traffic in the Federal District are instructive in a way. They began a few years ago with a law requiring all saloons to close at 10 o'clock at night. Restaurants where liquors are sold may keep open until 1 a.m., but at that hour they are closed. This law is strictly enforced and no subterfuge by way of dodging it is permitted. Of course, people who are in a saloon or restaurant at the time of closing cannot be put out except by the proprietor, but when the doors are closed and new business ceases to come in the proprietor makes it a point to get rid of his lingering customers as soon as possible.

By a provision of the same law pulque shops are closed at 6 p.m. So the common laborer must get his fill by that time and go home. The rapidity with which he fills on this white ropy liquid with a small percentage of alcohol during the short space of time allowed him after work hours, is remarkable. Often he does not get home but lies down to sleep on the sidewalk and wakes up in the Police Station.

The law regarding the closing of saloons and other drinking places on holidays is worthy of the study of sociologists and politicians. While in other respects the continental idea of Sunday as a day of recreation, particularly of bullfights, obtains here, all the drinking places must close at 1:30 p.m. On petition of the saloon-keepers, most of whom are Spaniards, it is said that a half-hour extension will be added to this limit.

It is noticeable also that the pulque shops are being permitted to keep open until a later hour, and as part of the scheme is to put beer against the temptations of stronger drinks, places that sell beer exclusively are not closed. The corner grocery store may keep open all day if it likes, but it must not sell liquor after the hour named for the closing of the saloons.

SOBERING-UP DAY.

The theory of these regulations is that the workingmen must have time to sober up before Monday. Formerly in this city—and it is true at the present time in many parts of the country—laboring people were expected to observe Monday as a half holiday, at least for the purpose of recovering from the festivities of the day before. For this reason Monday has been mockingly named "San Lunes," in imitation of the many saints' days which the people of the country are wont to observe.

The observance of religious feast days has brought up a question with which the government deals as a fact and not a theory. The more strenuous life that has been introduced into Mexico has reduced the number of them, but still the most important church occasions are observed by a cessation of all kinds of labor. Now, the government does not recognize the church in any way. The separation of State from church is most complete, religious processions through the streets are forbidden, and priests must not wear their sacerdotal garments outside the sacred precincts of their churches. But the government does recognize the fact that on certain important religious occasions the average Mexican is going to take a day off. Lest he be too "crudo" to work next day, the police regulations require that the drinking places on such occasions be closed during the afternoon, just as they are on Sundays. This is done not in recognition of the church, but purely as a police regulation.

STATISTICAL.

There are in Mexico City at the present time 390 regular saloons and 1126 pulque shops. The increase in the number of each is being discouraged by the government. A recent law commands that no new cantina shall be permitted to open within 200 meters of one already established. This means that if anybody is looking for a location for a saloon he must find a block in which none already exists, which is a difficult thing to do. In some instances even two bolcks would not count for the required measurement.

As to pulque shops, their number has been actually decreased. Stringent measures have been adopted to push them from the central parts of the city, and these are meeting with some success. In this movement the government is being assisted by the pulque trust which now controls the largest pulque plantations from which the liquid is shipped into the city. It has been positively denied that the Mayor of the city and the Governor of the Federal District are financially interested in this trust, but whoever is behind it is doing a good work, especially in the way of supplying a pure and unadulterated article.

This is done not in recognition of the church, but purely as a police regulation.

STATISTICAL.

There are in Mexico City at the present time 800 regular saloons and 1126 pulque shops. The increase in the number of each is being discouraged by the government. A recent law commands that no new cantina shall be permitted to open within 200 meters of one already established. This means that if anybody is looking for a location for a saloon he must find a block in which none already exists, which is a difficult thing to do. It has been positively denied that the Mayor of the city and the Governor of the District are financially interested in the trust, but whoever is behind it is doing a good work, especially in the way of supplying a pure unadulterated article.

[illegible] Escandon, as it is his habit in regard to factories, schools and othed institutions, made a surprise visit to a number of pulque shops. As a result of this visit an order has gone forth requiring better sanitary arrangements. The bars are no longer to be covered with zinc and the floors must be laid with tile imbedded in impervious cement. The walls must be of similar material or painted in oil so that they may be thoroughly cleaned after the closing hour at night. Nothing is said about the multicolored slashed paper that advertises a pulque dispensary, but fortunately in this country there are not many flies. It is microbes and not visible insects that the Governor is after.

The regulations of the Federal District have been largely followed in the States, but there are many variations, from the wide-open idea in some of the States to the almost prohibitive regulations adopted by the State of Chihuahua.

REMEMBERED A POSLAM AD.

Good Fortune Results in Freedom From Distressing Skin Troubles.

To their good fortune in remembering a poslam advertisement many have recently attributed their extraordinary cures of eczema, acne, tetter and othter skin troubles. The necessity for a skin remedy like poslam might not have seemed pressing at the time the announcement was read, though they have since found that there is always a necessity in the household for poslam. Apart from its use for serious skin diseases, whenever minor skin affections appear, such as pimples, muddy complexion, inflamed skin, rash, herpes, insect bites, itching feet or scalp, these yield to it readily and are quickly banished. The unusual properties of poslam are demonstrated when it stops all itching with first application and restores the health of the skin in cases where an entire limb or a large part of the body is affected.

Every druggist keeps both the 50c size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained at The Owl Drug Co.'s Stores, as well as other reliable drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining a sample package, which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

TREATS CASE OF RABIES.

Pasteur Fluid Being Used in Caring for Infection of Santa Monica Plumber.

A case of rabies in a human being is now under the care of Dr. W. J. Chambers, who will begin this morning the administration of the Pasteur treatment at his office.

The patient is E. R. Selden, a plumber of Santa Monica. Ten days ago he went to the home of Mrs. O'Fallon, in Santa Monica, and reached his left hand over the gate to unlatch it. As he did so a pet terrier leaped at his hand and bit it.

The injury resulted in inflammation and an alarming swelling of the hand, and it was decided to kill the dog and take its brain to City Bacteriologist Durfee for analysis.

Dr. Durfee found positive evidence of rabies in his analyses of the brain portions, and Selden at once put himself under the treatment of Dr. Chambers.

This morning an abdominal injection of the Pasteur liquid will be made. This liquid is the solution of the spine of a rabid dog and was furnished to the city health department for such uses by the United States government.

Dr. Chambers is a member of the health board. He says the prompt course of Selden in putting himself under medical treatment will probably result in the arrest of the disease. He says Selden has shown some of the symptoms of affliction, but the infection has not had time to develop its full character.

The health authorities are watching the case with interest, as the treatment will be educating to them should any other cases result here or in surrounding towns.

SCORCHED AND DISMISSED.

Two charges of having failed to provide for his wife, against Edward Pennypacker, an employé of the Baker Iron Works, were dismissed by Justice Pierce, yesterday. The defendant was given a scorching lecture about spending many nights "out with the boys." He draws a salary of $175 a month and had said in his defense that he had to spend much of it in being a "good fellow." The magistrate told him he knew that the employers did not demand "mixing" of him and, in fact, would rather have men who did not drink. Pennypacker promised to take care of his family.

OZO MULSION

Liquor Drinkers Drawing Blanks

In the Lottery of Successful Business the Drinking Man Gets No Prize—His Brain Isn't the Kind to Engineer Business to Success.

LIQUOR HABIT CURED IN THREE DAYS

If You Drink Liquor At All, You Need to Be Cured—Come to the Gatlin Institute for THREE DAYS and Learn How a Man Renewed Feels.

"IF HE WAS CURED TO STAY CURED THE GATLIN DID IT"

IT HAS been said that but one man in ten succeeds in business—the others fail. The percentage would be greatly changed for the better if whisky were eliminated. Liquor doesn't create or develop business brains.—it destroys them. You, or any other liquor-drinking business man, may get along fairly for awhile—even seem to be making a success—but sooner or later the master fool stroke will be given your business through the workings of a whisky brain—then it's good-bye business.

A "business man" is the man who makes his living with his brains instead of his hands. To make that "living" worth while, his brain has got to be kept clear, normal, strong, but it can't be in that condition if liquor isn't kept out of the system.

The man who works with his hands, by keeping his brain working without the interference of alcoholic poison can go up into the non-hand-working class; but the business man who goes backward and takes up "hand work" will never rise again—so the records will prove.

Alcohol is a cumulative poison. Once in the system, it creates craving, desire and physical necessity for more. The nerves demand it, the stomach demands it, every vital organ of the body demands it and the poisoned brain tells you to drink it—and you do drink it and will keep right on doing so until you take treatment.

The Gatlin treatment cures any case of the drink habit in THREE DAYS by eliminating the alcoholic poison from the system. That removes the cause of continued drinking. With the cause go the effects—craving, desire and physical demand for and inclination to drink liquor, and the liquor drinker is as the day he took his first drink. That's the day you should get back to. Treating effect instead of cause is why other methods fail to bring about many permanent cures.

Each patient is accepted for treatment at the Gatlin Institute under contract that a cure shall be effected in THREE DAYS—a cure satisfactory in every particular—or the full fee paid shall be refunded at the end of the third day and treatment shall cost NOTHING. Any expression of dissatisfaction on leaving the institute with either the cure, the treatment, the institute itself or with any person connected with it, means that the fee paid will at once be refunded.

There are no hypodermic injections, no "strong" drugs, no disagreeable features—and but Three Days' Time required.

The Gatlin Home treatment is for those who cannot come to the institute for three days, and is just as efficient as Institute treatment if directions are followed.

Write or call for books of particulars, copies of contracts and other information. Institute located at 1125 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles. Long distance and local telephones, Broadway 1377, Home 1022.

Other Gatlin Institutes are located at 1425 Cleveland Place, Denver, Colo.; 340 So. Highland ave., E. E., Pittsburgh, Pa.; 1414 Seventh st., Parkersburg, W. Va.; 1919 Prairie ave., Chicago, Ill.; 1333 Jefferson st., Kansas City, Mo.; 403 Seventh st., So., Minneapolis, Minn.; 1322 High st., Des Moines, Ia.; 8 Howard st., Toronto, Ont., Canada. This Is For Men

Nature is appealing to you every moment to save yourself. The slight pains that you feel; the momentary spells of weakness, the periodical loss of memory, dullness of brain, drowsiness—all point to the necessity of curing yourself, now. We have a positive cure for you in our Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

It will make you strong. It will send the life blood dancing through your veins, you will feel the exhilarating spark warm your frame, the bright flash will come to your eye and a firm grip to your hand, and you will be able to grasp your neighbor and feel that what others are capable of doing is not impossible to you. This grand appliance has brought strength, ambition and happiness to thousands in the past year.

It is a quick and lasting cure for all Nervous Debility, Weakness, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back and Hips (Sciatica,) Lumbago, Constipation, Indigestion, Weak Kidneys, Failing Memory, and all evidences of breaking down. It cures when all else has failed.

Our arguments are good, our system is good, but we know you haven't time to study these. You want proof, and we give you that and lots of it. When your own neighbors tell you we cured them you will know we did it.

H. E. Englehardt, Congress, A. T., writes: "Your Electric Belt is certainly all that you represent it to be. The weakness, which was one of the principal troubles, was overcome after wearing your Belt a week. The pains in my back are gone and I feel stronger in every respect. I am certainly well satisfied with your Belt."

I publish my true photograph, correct name, personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. I make this statement so that you will know you consult a celebrated Specialist, who sees and treats patients personally. I possess skill and experience, acquired in such a way that no other can share, and should not be classed with medical companies. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued, and it is unwise and expensive to embrace the statements of medical companies. It is impossible for a medical company to attend college. Companies have no diploma or license to practice medicine in California or any other State. Medical companies usually are named after a doctor. A portrait whose personality and identity are indefinite, is selected and published as the legitimate specialist of the office. Hired substitutes, ordinary doctors with questionable ability, give consultation, examination and treatment.

A thorough investigation should be made by every ailing man as to the specialist he consults. Duty and destiny to self and those who depend upon you demand the best medical attention. I have the ability and can give you this service. I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be obtained by any man who sincerely desires to be cured. I make no misleading statements or unbusinesslike propositions; neither do I desire to be particularly independent, and I would like to have you for a patient, if you will come to me on a strictly professional basis, and the inducements that I offer, which are my ability and thirty years' successful experience Time-Saving Treatment; and Guarantee of cure of certain Diseases

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor, because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such men. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

WRITEN GUARANTEE.

Dr. Tillotson's Written Guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me for my services. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Ulcerations, or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay. Established 1880

MANY CASES PERMANENTLY CURED IN ONE TREATMENT. MOST TIME-SAVING, MOST NATURAL, MOST SAFE. NO DETENTION FROM OCCUPATION, FAMILY OR HOME. A RADICAL AND PERMANENT CURE. I WILL GIVE $500 TO ANY CHARITY AS A GUARANTEE THAT EVERY STATEMENT IN THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS TRUE.

I cure rapidly, painlessly and at small expense. I will demonstrate actual results in your case. I will give conclusive evidence of my merit which is obtained and maintained by ability. I invite you to come to my office; I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases. I will give you free a physical examination; if necessary, a miscropical and chemical analysis of secretions to determine existing pathological and bacteriological conditions. Every gentleman should take advantage of this opportunity to learn his true condition. Certainty of cure is what you want.

VARICOSE VEINS.

In the cure of Varicose Veins, Rupture and Associate Diseases of the Pelvic Region, I am successful in bringing to bear the curative power of Nature's forces in such a manner as to supplant the old-time, wide-open surgical operations. Once it required several weeks to cure these conditions, and the method which some still use is such to endanger the life of the patient and require a long period of convalescence. Now an absolute cure can be accomplished in a few days and with perfect safety.

TRUSSES SELDOM CURE RUPTURE.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced on the public in connection with the alleged cure of Rupture, and when I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured, I do not expect any one to accept my statement without investigation of my professional work. My claim to your confidence is based on absolute facts; accomplished results. At a personal consultation I will make a free examination and can explain every detail of your Hernia and demonstrate to you the curative value of the method I have discovered. I invite the careful investigation of any person who sincerely desires to be cured. I cure Rupture, in selected cases, with perfect safety and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation under Written Guarantee. Many cases cured to stay cured by one treatment.

PILES, FISTULA, RECTAL DISEASES.

These diseases are very common; most frequently found in persons of middle or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful, and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently unfit one for pleasure or occupation. My treatment and success are the result of years of experience; my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. Some cases are cured by one or more treatments. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases, so I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Fissures, Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.

LIFE'S BLOOD STREAM.

The great clearinghouse of a man's body is the blood stream. Your blood cells are your bank account. Your only defense against disease is by and through blood corpuscles. My blood-making, blood-purifying remedies have been tried and proven. My blood-cell remedies nourish, strengthen and increase the blood cells and nourish the nerve centers. I want to prove to you at my expense that my blood-making, blood-purifying remedies give power to weak brains and life to nerve centers.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.

With these dieases you may have more complications than are presented by any other diseased organs. By my searching illumination of the bladder I determine accurately the disease and by microscopical examination and urinalysis I make sure the condition of the kidneys, thus laying foundations for scientific treatment.—[Announcement Copyrighted.]

READ MY BOOK. It contains information every young man, husband and father should have regarding himself. Book sent Free to those who, in my opinion, will be benefited by it. Call or write before treating for disease or disorders.

MARBLE FORM.

SELDOMS AND HIS MODELS

REMARKABLE ACT IN STATUE IMITATION.

Pretty Erna Claren, Vivacious German Model, Who Doesn't Object to Being the Real Thing in the Altogether, But Blushes at American Girls in Tights.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Paul Seldoms, an alert and keenly intelligent young German of serious purpose, is presenting the most artistic "posing act" which the writer has ever seen in vaudeville.

Mr. Seldoms has the assistance of Erna Claren, a vivacious young German model; a sturdy German boy and a Swede athlete. This team has an ensemble, a unity and a collective perfection of line which makes such a conception as "The Winning Post," for example, seem like a great masterpiece in marble.

Their art is demonstrated by the fact that they never seem "naked," though they wear fewer clothes, by far, than any performers of their sort ever seen here.

Seldoms began life as a Turnverein acrobat, and later turned to art.

"It occurred to me," he said in his Orpheum dressing-room the other day, "that art would be a better thing than mere gymnastics, so, after a good deal of Turnverein work, I took up the study of drawing. Later on, I put my muscles to advantageous work as a model, and went through a diverse line of performances. The Kaiser often came to our studio, and you may rest assured that he is not only a patron of the arts, but he knows what good art is. As in music, he is not to be fooled by that which is not first class, and he can discuss form, modeling, the classics and the old masters with any of them."

Erna Claren is 21 years of age, and is the daughter of a German family once wealthy. She, too, was an art student, and when the necessity for family assistance came, she turned to art for a livelihood. She was a sculptor's model, and a little over a year ago received an offer from Seldoms to come to America.

Judged from the classical standpoint, her figure is faultless.

I asked her if she ever felt—well, embarrassed, at the complete display of her charms.

"I certainly should feel embarrassed," replied Fraulein Claren, "if I had to walk about the stage showing my figure off in all ways and from all viewpoints. But art is art, and when I drop my bathrobe and step into a still-life pose, I am like the statue I am portraying; I haven't any physical being."

"Could you wear tights comfortably?" I asked.

"Tights?" said Fraulein Claren. "Never! I should die of mortification!" And she blushed to the roots of her hair.

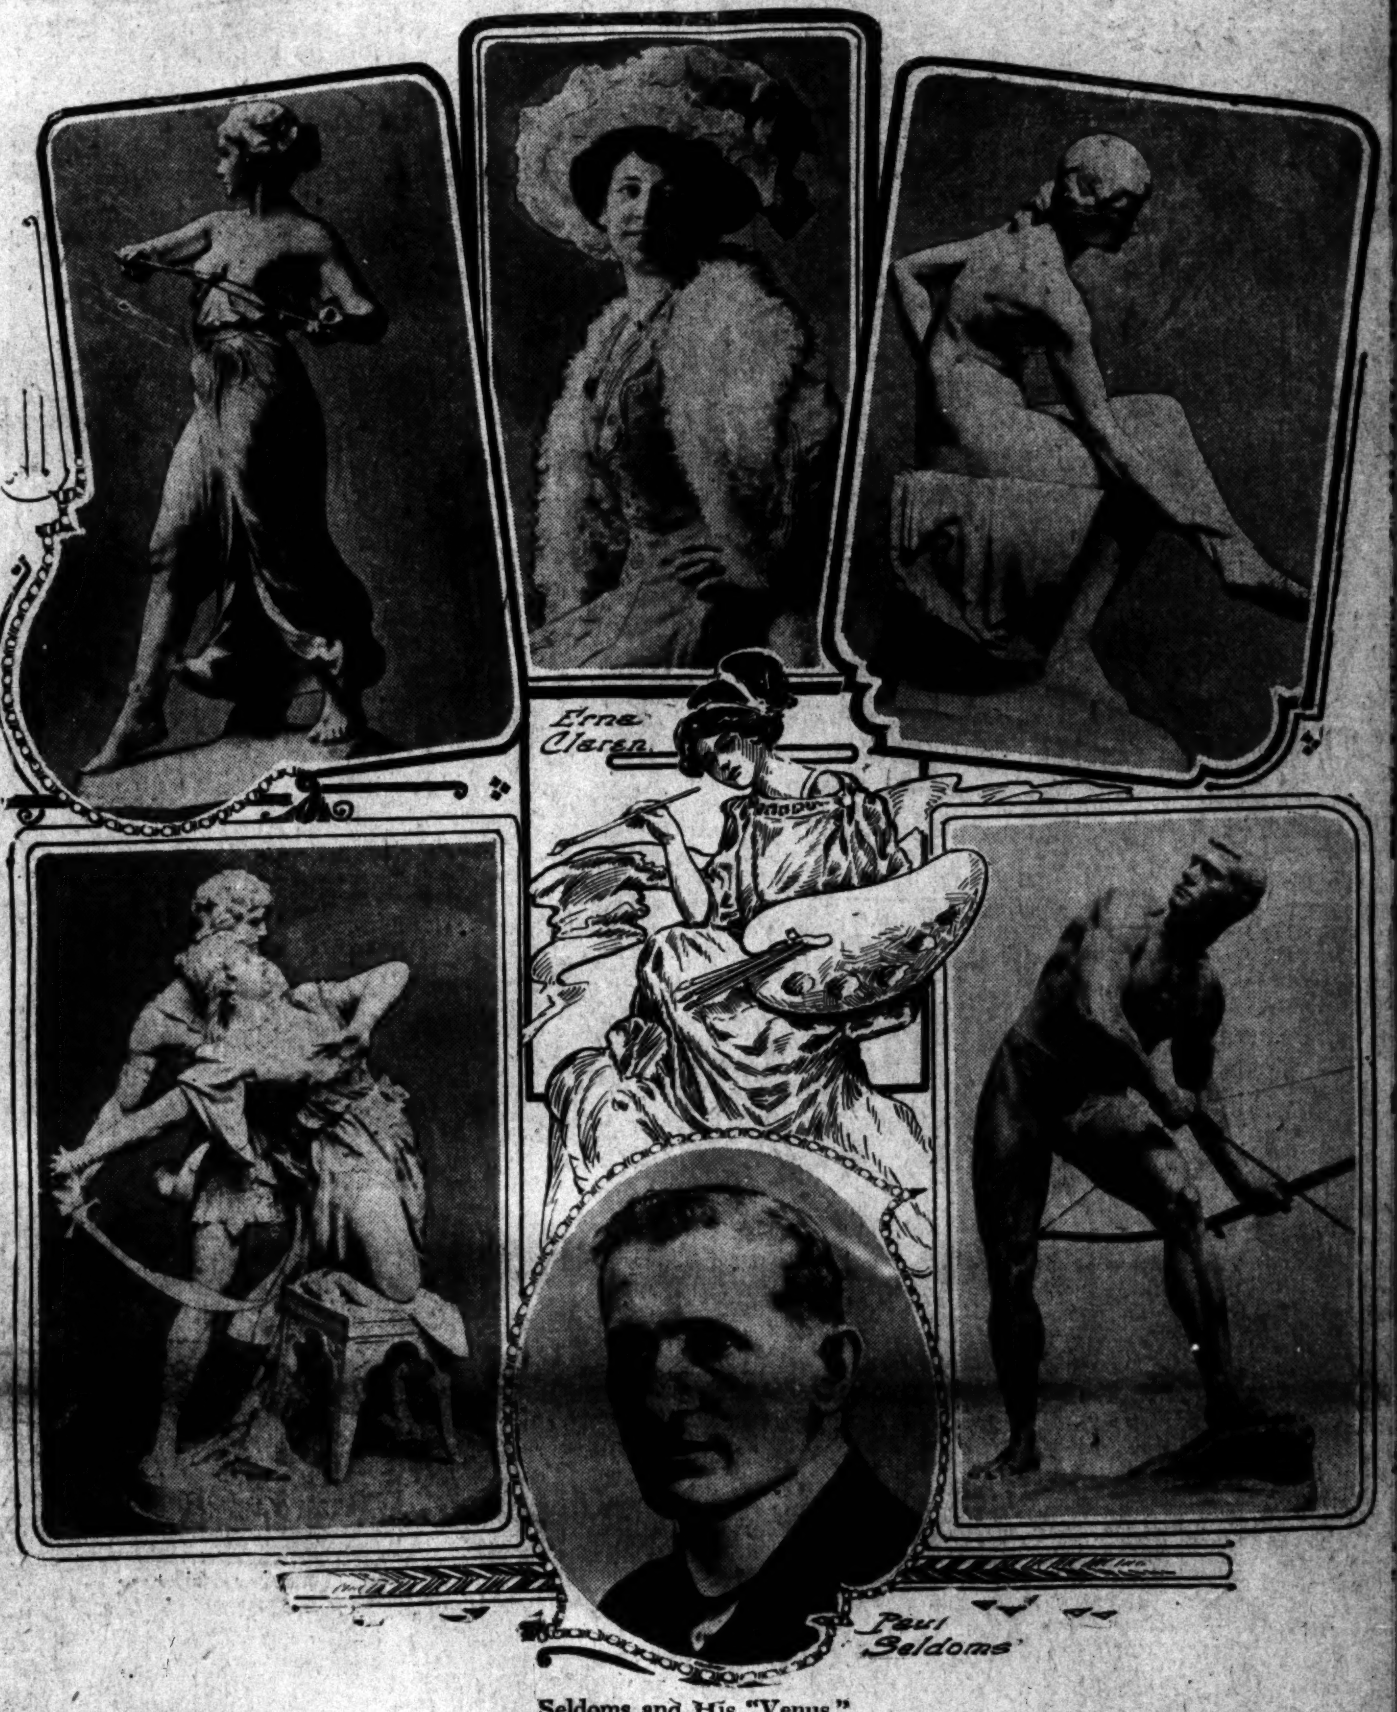
Save for a loin-cloth and a liberal coating of a secret white preparation, Seldoms and his people, all of them, are in the costume of Mother Nature.

This white is a Seldoms secret, but the basis of the mixture is zinc oxide. It is washed off with castile soap and lukewarm water, and not only Fraulein Claren, but Seldoms and the other two men have complexions as clear and delicate as a child's.

Seldoms does not believe in coddling or warmly wrapping the human body. In Minneapolis, recently, he and his men ran a race through the snow clad only in their postage-stamp stage attire.

Light clothing, long walks in the open air and a small amount of gymnasium work keep them in condition.

Seldoms and Miss Claren are from Berlin. The other young German in the company has been in the United States for several years and is a New York Y.M.C.A. athlete.



Seldoms and His "Venus."

The Aphrodite in question is Fraulein Erna Claren, a pretty young German model. Seldoms's posing act has been unusual for its freedom from any taint of grossness and as well for the perfection of detail evidenced in the groups. The studies above are poses of Fraulein Claren, and Fraulein Claren and Herr Seldoms, executed under Seldoms's direction.

George Broadhurst says he thinks the public is ready for a revival of the romantic drama. Manager Blackwood of the Belasco Theater says the same thing, and just to prove it his force of stage carpenters, scenic artists, property men, electricians and the rest of the hard-working men whose names never appear on the theater programme, but whose results are so all-important, is getting in readiness a production of the newest Broadhurst play, "The Garden of Lies," which is to be revealed to the Belasco patrons a fortnight hence.

That Lewis S. Stone believes the public is going to come out to see the romantic plays once more like it did in the days when E. H. Sothern played "The Prisoner of Zenda," and when James K. Hackett was a thing of beauty to the matinée maidens and a joy forever to the box offices throughout the country, is eloquently manifested in a series of brilliant uniforms that he has just had himself moulded into for "The Garden of Lies."

For some unaccountable reason dramatists have fought shy of the romantic play field for a number of years. Time was when the ambitious Anthony Hopes, the E. E. Roses, the Louis N. Parkers and the others who fashioned gallant young fellows for the stage and whose Princess Flavias were as popular as Richard Harding Davis heroines, held the attention of the theater-going public to the exclusion almost of other playwrights.

Now, however, after everybody who attends the theaters has apparently had a fill of the modern business men's play, and when musical comedy has ceased to be as attractive as when the pretty maidens first warbled "are there any more at home like you" to the sextette of well groomed chorus men, and when the salacious drama as exemplified in "The Easiest Way," "The Girl from Rector's" and the various other misses from other places has palled for a time, romance as displayed on the stage is seemingly in for an inning.

In "The Garden of Lies," Broadhurst will reveal himself at his very best, says one who has read the script.

Broadhurst's work is a stage version of Justus Miles Forman's well-known story of the same name, although the playwright has left the original story behind at the end of the third act, and has evolved a brand new ending to the Forman tale.

Mr. Stone will have, in "The Garden of Lies," a role that ought to fit him very much after the style of the proverbial wall paper. Stone is to appear as a young newspaper correspondent—the representative of a London paper—in Paris. He's a lovable sort of a fellow, careless, big-hearted, a typical soldier of fortune, who cares more for a glass of absinthe every once in a while than for almost anything on the face of the earth. The part will permit the head of the Belasco company to indulge in some exciting dramatics—he's to have a chance to fight a duel, to make love to the leading woman in language that would put Claude Melnotte to shame with its beautiful imageries and poetical caresses, and eventually he wins the hand of the beautiful princess, just as every man, woman and child in the audience will want him to do.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual matinée benefit to be given Thursday afternoon, April 7, under the auspices of the Theatrical Managers' Association, the entire proceeds from the sale of tickets going to the charity fund of that organization. The date selected is a most happy one as both the Majestic and Mason Theaters will have strong musical attractions, entire acts from which will be given places on the benefit programme. Thus, the Mason will contribute the big act from the "Merry Widow," which Henry W. Savage is sending to that house with an unusually strong cast, headed by George Damerel as the Prince Danilo and a new Sonia who is reported to be one of the very best interpreters the part ever has had.

From the Majestic will come an act from Mortimer H. Singer's new musical comedy, "The Prince of Tonight," in which Henry Woodruff is starring at the head of a large cast. The piece is by Adams and Hough and never has been heard on the Coast.

From the Orpheum will come the best four acts on the programme for that week. The Grand will contribute several specialties, and Ferris Hartman himself has promised to take part. Every member of the Burbank stock company has volunteered to serve, and the Burbank may be counted upon for an interesting contribution.

No amateur talent will be employed, and a uniform price of $1 a seat will be charged all over the house except in the gallery, to which admission will be 50 cents. Sedley Brown will direct the stage. Tickets are now on sale at the Burbank, Grand, Orpheum, Majestic and Mason theater box offices.

Florence Roberts has been making an unusual success in "The Transformation," in San Francisco, and will be seen at the Auditorium here, beginning late in March.

"THE ROUND-UP" AT THE MASON.

BIG PRODUCTION OF ENORMOUS WESTERN MELODRAMA.

After Six Weeks' Run Belasco Bill Changes at Last—"Sweet Kitty Bellairs" Continues at the Burbank. "Right of Way" at Majestic—General Stage News.

Klaw & Erlanger's massive production of "The Round-Up," with Macklyn Arbuckle, will be presented at the Mason for five nights, beginning Tuesday.

This spectacular melodrama of life in Southwestern Arizona, when Gen. Cook was chasing Conchise, the famous Apache marauder and his band of truant redskins back to their reservation, has made a remarkable appeal to theatergoers. It touches the romantic spirit inherent in everyone. Its story is true to nature. Its characters are striking, well drawn and cleverly contrasted and the entire performance teems with dash and spirit. The scene of witnessing stage mimicry seems entirely lost in the auditor of "The Round-Up." This is the secret of the success of the play. "The Round-Up" is a play with the bigness of outdoors. In "The Round-Up" the vigorous atmosphere of life in the open is preserved with fidelity.

The incident of twenty mounted Indians riding along a ledge on a cliff in the third act and the realistic battle scene add an element of realism to the play, which has rarely been equaled on the American stage. There will be an auxiliary organization of over 150 people, representing soldiers, scouts, cow punchers, Mexican vaqueros, Arizona girls and Apache Indians. A feature is made of the Indian fight in the third act, the scene of which is the lava beds of Southern Arizona.

romance, comes to the Majestic for one week, starting this evening.

The scenes are laid in Canada, first in a fashionable home in Montreal; from which a change is made to a riverside drinking place; and then to the mountains.

The principal character is Charley Steele, a dissolute and cynical attorney, believing in neither God nor man, who drops out of his wife's life that she may marry the man she really loves. Courting death in a drinking place of the rivermen, he is injured and carried off to the mountain retreat by Joe Portugais, whom he has saved from the gallows, and who serves him with all the fidelity of gratitude. Steele's memory is a blank for three years, but is restored by trepining performed by a French surgeon, brother of the village curé. In the meantime he has learned to love Rosalie, who returns his love with all the strength of immature womanhood. The return of memory brings realization of his debt to society, and the forced loss of the girl who is his salvation. At first he rebels against the church authority which will not permit their union, but is persuaded along the right path by the curé and when he has resigned himself to separation, learns that his wife is dead—and back to happiness.

Steele is played by Hallett Thompson, and the French boatman, Joe Portugais, by P. Aug. Anderson, and Rosalie by Miss Arleen Hackett. For dramatic effect the novel is changed in the finale. In the book, Steele is again injured on the head by the church fund robbers, and after being cautioned by the faithful Joe that movement will cost him his life, he moves and dies of his injuries. The play is more satisfying, Steele lives and the curtain falls on the lovers reunited.

George Broadhurst's most successful laugh play, "What Happened to Jones," will occupy the attention of the Belasco company this week.

The part of Jones, the glib-tongued young man who travels for a hymnbook house and whose presence at a prize fight that is attended by a staid and respectable professor, who is responsible for most of the fun of the play, will be in the hands of Richard Vivian, who has proved his expertness as a comedian in this same part on several previous occasions. Mr. Scott will be the professor, and Mr. Ruggles, Mr. Applebee, Mr. Yerance, Mr. Goblyn, Miss Farrington, Miss Taylor, Miss Lewis and others of the Belasco company will be seen in the cast.

Miss Fanchon Everhart will once more appear in the role of Helma, the Swedish servant girl, while Miss Helene Sullivan will make her first appearance with the Belasco company in the role of Cissie. Miss Sullivan is a newcomer to the Belasco ranks, but her previous successes with Daniel Frohman's companies and with Marie Doro should insure her popularity.

Following "What Happened to Jones" the Belasco company will give a revival of Mr. Broadhurst's play, "The Easterner," which was used by Nat Goodwin last season.

In the offering for the week, commencing with the usual Sunday mat-ciates at the Grand Operahouse will be seen in "The Girl from Paris." It is Louis Mann's musical piece and is one that offers Mr. Hartman's public the spice of variety. "The Girl from Paris" is frisky and full of action and contains sufficient plot to be floated as a comedy, sprinkled with light, catchy music.

Mr. Hartman will again be seen in the Louis Mann role of the German spa keeper, Hans, a part which he has played in Los Angeles. Edith Mason will be the Girl, Julia Bon Bon.

The production will also serve to introduce the new baritone of the Hartman company, Harold Reeves, who comes to the Grand Operahouse after years' experience in comic opera. Thomas H. Persse will be seen as Maj. Fosdyke, a role well suited to his talents; "Muggins" Davies will have the character role of the servant Ruth, while the part of Pompier, the French spy, will be in the hands of Walter De Leon. Other members of the company will find opportunity in the long list of parts. There are a number of catchy musical selections in "the Girl," and an elaborate production has been promised.

Following "The Girl from Paris" Mr. Hartman will be seen in Frank Daniel's "The Office Boy."

The third and last week of Manager Morosco's picturesque production of "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," David Belasco's love-comedy, will begin this afternoon at the Burbank Theater. The play, with Miss Frances Nordstrom in its name role, has attracted uniformly large audiences during its first fortnight.

Miss Nordstrom will be immediately succeeded by Miss Marjorie Rambeau who will make her début with the Burbank organization in Israel Zangwill's interesting comedy-drama, "Merely Mary Ann," playing the part created in this country by Eleanor Robson.

Myrtle Elvyn,

beautiful young Chicago pianiste, who has won great distinction in the last

Presented at the Burbank under the personal stage direction of Frederic Belasco, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" has proved one of the most elaborate stage offerings ever made by a western stock company. In fact it is within the bounds of truth to say that it has had very few equals anywhere in the country. The comedy itself tells a dainty story of romantic love, jealousy and matrimonial misunderstandings, attractively spiced with intrigue, leading up to a duel which provides just the popular thrill needed. There are occasional tears as well as the gayety of laughter; and it's all in David Belasco's happiest vein.

Miss Nordstrom as Kitty Bellairs, A. Byron Beasley as Lord Verney, and the otheers of the Burbank Company have merited praise for the way they have entered into the spirit of this play and made its characters their own.

Fun will predominate on the new Orpheum bill, opening Monday, as all the newcoming acts are of the lighter nature.

Bert Leslie, well-known "King of Slang," is the new headliner. Leslie's slangisms are famed, and his line of talk has long supplied a big bunch of imitators with ammunition. However, Leslie has grown weary of being a slang mine for less worthy folk, and now copyrights his odd expressions, so only from him can they be heard. His present vehicle is "Hogan in Society," and its title tells its own story —of a Bowery boy who is taken into a "swell" home, as a guest, and the happenings therefrom.

Thorne and Carleton have a skit called "The Soubrette and the Yap." Grace Carleton as the world-wise soubrette is described as very funny, and she has a line of talk which, in its way, is as unique and hilarious as is Leslie's. In fact, the rivalry of the "slang-slingers" will be one of the real features of the coming week. John T. Thorne does a political speech.

LeVeen, Cross & Co. return, after a long absence, with a new edition of "Roman Sports and Pastimes." Athletics and comedy combine in the offering, for powerful physiques are possessed by several of the participants, and their exhibition is along new lines in acrobatics.

Emma Francis, a dainty and accomplished dancer, brings with her a couple of tumbling Arab boys.

Seldoms's Venus, the most perfect act of its sort known, Charles Kenna, the street faker, the Five Mowatts, club swingers, and Watson Cohen & Co., in "The Hoosier Girl," with new pictures, will complete the bill.

The Unique Stock Company, at the Unique Theater on East Third street, near Main, will present the comedy, "A Country Judge," during the week commencing tomorrow.

Attempts have been made to make a record presentation, and the management hopes for the best week in the theater's history.

Herbert Y. Cramer has directed the rehearsals, and in the cast are Frank Frayne, Ernest Winters, Ruth Vernon, Otto Peck, and others.

The usual matinées will be given and there will be vaudeville specialties and moving pictures between the acts.

Commencing Monday afternoon, Sullivan & Considine will offer an attractive vaudeville programme of six new acts to the patrons of the Los Angeles Theater.

The new programme will be headed by Augustus Neville and his company in the new political playlet, "Politics and Petticoats," and the Bessie Valdare Troupe of Cyclists. In "Politics and Petticoats" theater-goers will find one of the best sketches that has been seen at the Los Angeles in many months. Mr. Neville will be seen in the role of the practical politician.

The Bessie Valdare Troupe consists of six charming young woman, all adept bicycle riders. These young women not only do clever and difficult trick riding, but some ensemble work upon wheels.

Other entertaining acts on the new bill are William Coleman, monologist, who comes with a new line of talk; Probst, whistler and bird imitator; Winifred Stewart, baritone soloist, and the Musical Craigs, who get melody from a score of freak musical instruments.

McIntyre & Heath will return to Los Angeles soon, presenting "In Hayti," their newest burlesque of typical McHeath character.

Francis Wilson is to remain in New York for the balance of the season in "A Bachelor's Baby."

Richard Strauss has sold the printing and selling rights of his new opera, "Sylvia and the Star," for $62,500. The Furstnerschen Musical Company is the purchaser.

Richard Carle distributed colonial mirrors as souvenirs in honor of his seven hundred and fiftieth performance of "Mary's Lamb," which occurred at the Academy of Music in Baltimore on February 23.

Mrs. Fiske will begin her spring tour in Rochester on March 24, at the Lyceum Theater. Four weeks later she will appear in New York.

All the people upon the pay roll of the Shuberts are to be taxed 1 per cent. of their salaries, which is to be donated to the Actors' Fund Fair. This means quite a sum of money.

Fritzi Scheff has signed a three years' contract with the Shuberts, as was expected after her break with Charles Dillingham. Hereafter her New York engagement will be played at the Casino.

A cable dispatch from London last Friday announced that the first recital given by Augusta Cottlow, the American pianist, in that city, was a great artistic success. Miss Cottlow has recently been winning triumphs in Berlin.

The enterprising Mr. Hammerstein of the Manhattan Operahouse is following up the thrills of Richard Strauss's "Elektra" with other and different thrills peculiar to the art of the same composer's "Salome."

Among the plays which Mme. Nazimova has in rehearsal is "The Sea Gull," a drama of Russian life by Anton Tchekhoff, in which she acted during her first engagement in Chicago. She then spoke the lines in the original Russian.

A new dramatic version of "Tom" Gallon's novel, "Tatterley," written with a view to the requirements of the American stage, has been secured for J. E. Dodson, who will be seen in the leading part—or, rather, parts, as he will have a dual character.

Charles Dalmores, leading French tenor of the Manhattan Operahouse, has been engaged for the opera season at Covent Garden, London, during July and August. He will appear in "Aida," "Louise," "Peléas et Mélisande," "Romeo et Juliette," "Faust" and other operas.

Elizabeth Robbins's play, "Votes for Women," produced last spring in New York, is in process of condensation into a vaudeville act. The mob scene will be used. Miss Mary Keegan, the suffragette who was imprisoned in Holloway Jail for three months, will appear in the Trafalgar Square crowd which the heroine addresses.

MUSIC NEWS.

MYRTLE ELVYN ON TUESDAY.

BEAUTIFUL YOUNG CHICAGOAN TO PLAY HERE.

Delayed Koenen Concert Will Take Place at Simpson Auditorium Tomorrow Evening—Variety of Musical Events for the Week, Including Gosnell Concert.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Myrtle Elvyn, beautiful young Chicago girl, will play at Simpson Auditorium on Tuesday evening, presenting a masterful programme.

Beauty and genius seldom combine, where virtuosi are concerned. Here however, we have a supremely beautiful girl of true American type, who has been hailed by critics of steadfast knowledge and sobriety as a consummate artist.

She has appeared with great success with the largest American orchestras, and has done much solo work in prominent places.

Her master was Godowsky, from whom she seems to have learned much.

She will give but one recital here.

Miss Elvyn's programme will include: Etudes Symphoniques, Op. 13 (Schumann;) Pastorale, "Angelus" (Corelli, 1654-1713;) "Spinning Song" (Mendelssohn;) Ballade A Flat Major, Op. 47, Nocturne, Op. 37, No. 2, Polonaise, Op. 53 (Chopin;) Prelude, for the piano (Debussy; Andante Finale, from "Lucia" (Donizetti-Leschetizky;) Etude de Concert (MacDowell;) "Hark, Hark, the Lark," "Erlking" (Schubert-Liszt;) Berceuse (Henalt;) En Automme (Moskowski;) Arabesques on Strauss's "Beautiful Blue Danube" (Shulz-Evler.)

Those who were disappointed at not hearing Tilly Koenen last Tuesday—she was deterred by washouts and other railway impediments—may reclaim their chance tomorrow evening, when she will be heard in recital at Simpson Auditorium.

At the Symphony concert Friday Miss Koenen demonstrated herself a great artist, and not only an artist, but the possessor of a superbly rich contralto voice, used in a well-nigh perfect manner.

Her programme is of very wide range. It includes: "Dem Unendlishen," "Die Krahe," Schubert; "Sapphische Ode," "Wehe so willst du," Brahms; "La Zingarella," Pailisello; "Ah se tu dormi," Bassani; "Ridonami la calma," Tosti; "Furibondo spira il vento," Handel; "Sunbeams," Landon Randal; "Baby," Mallinson; "Kyjk zoo'n lustig spannetje," "Poppendedoe," "Een Dansj," (three Dutch children's songs) Cath-

Easter Showing of Suits, Dresses, Wraps

To this exhibit of women's apparel you may come tomorrow expecting to see all that is approved by Fashion. Every late Paris creation, every worthy idea, fad and fancy.

Smart Tailored Suits

Particularly important is our present showing of tailored suits, which, from all indications, will enjoy greater popularity than ever before.

To this important branch of wearables we have given more thought than in seasons past; have studied the wants of our patrons more closely as to materials and colors, resulting in a collection of suits that, for style and variety, will not be matched in the West.

Imported Tweeds, Bannockburn Suitings, Serges, Sharkskins, Novelty Suitings, Worsteds, Pongees, Tussahs and a host of other smart, fashionable materials of the better class, all modeled, tailored and finished in a manner that bespeaks painstaking care and ability.

Handsome Tailored Suits at every price from $19.50 to $137.50

Beautiful Dresses

For the more dressy occasions our present display of gowns is complete.

Creations modeled after the latest and most approved foreign designs, and exclusive affairs from New York's most famous modistes are here in varieties to satisfy every fastidious taste.

There are pongees, foulards, chiffons, linens and an almost endless array of handsome, daintily made lingerie dresses of the highest type.

Prices here range up from $20.00

Handsome Coats

Owing to the unprecedented popularity of dresses and gowns, wraps of all kinds will be in greater demand this season than for many years. And the Blackstone store is prepared as it never was before to meet that demand.

Wraps of pongees and tussahs, taffetas, laces and fine French serges for street, afternoon or evening wear.

Coats of tweeds, coatings, heavy linens and worsteds for auto or traveling.

There's a style, color and weight for every purpose and popular prices prevail throughout the entire line.

In order to keep in close touch with Fashion one should pay frequent visits to this interesting section as new ideas are arriving almost every day.

New Blouses

Exclusive styles in blouses of chiffon marquisette and batiste are here for Monday's visitors.

EASTER MILLINERY

What Paris assumes to be the best and newest in millinery is now on display in our showrooms.

Authoritative designs, exquisite materials, artistic workmanship and popular prices go hand in hand to make the Blackstone millinery display the most talked-of in town.

Particular attention is called to our showing this week of exclusive styled Flower Hats. You will marvel at the variety of styles, the class of trimmings employed and the price of these exquisite creations.

We extend to you a cordial invitation to come tomorrow and view all this finery.

Pongee Silks

All Styles for All Purposes

If there's a single kind of a pongee silk, either imported or domestic, not represented in this present collection, we do not know of it. And as for its popularity, consult any fashion authority. It's not only popular, it's the rage. It is employed for every dress purpose:

Tailored suits, one-piece dresses, afternoon and evening gowns, separate coats, blouses, waists and even for trimming purposes.

Gossard Corsets

"They Lace In Front"

Without being showy or unrefined, this corset is sumptuously beautiful—surely grace of line was never more apparent.

It is impossible to realize without a fitting that fashion and beauty (from the art view point) and comfort (measured by the physician's standard) could be so closely harmonized in one and the same model.

Made of finest batiste or everlast and boned with ELECTROBONE, which is an important and exclusive feature of all Gossard Corsets. The price is $6.50.

The same model in $10.00, $18.00 and $22.50 qualities.

We have other Gossard models designed for different types of figures as low in price as $5.00.

Parasols

Radical style changes, this season—decided "Novelties" again coming into vogue. Flowered Chiffons; Pompadour Silks; Dotted Silk Mulls with Persian borders; Plaid and Checked Taffetas with Dresden borders; plain Rajahs and Taffetas in all wanted colors. Many of the fancy silk parasols have plain silk linings. All have the long La Tosca handles—birdseye maple being the favorite wood. Two-fifty to twenty-five dollars.

Silks and Dress Goods

In "Silktown" as well as our dress goods aisles the fashionable weaves will be found in all the popular varieties. Luster finished materials seem to be in the ascendency of popular favor, both in the silk weaves and woolens. Foulards and pongee silks are strongly favored in decisive patterns. The woolens include all the silk face weaves and the panamas and serges in a range of wales from finest to those most strongly expressed.

Foulards Are Most Popular This Spring

Our range in 24 to 45-inch widths at from 75c to $4 per yard includes this favorite in varieties suitable for all occasions. There are exclusive designs in both French and American makes. The rich, new colors are here in both satin and twill weaves.

The Very Newest Plain Colored Silks

Of these, too, there seems to be a never-ending assortment. At $1 to $3.50 a yard there are 20 to 36-inch widths. Shantungs, Modjeska, tussah pongee, cloth of gold, corded silks, crepes, satins and many others in every shade.

The American and Foreign Woolens

Soft, light clingy materials, and severe effects for tailored suits, etc., 45 to 56-inch widths, $1 to $5 a yard. Choice shades in satin cashmere, satin soliel, corded bengaline, Epingle cloth, taffeta, tweed, worsteds, mohair, voile, poplin, broadcloth, sharkskin, serge, etc.

Pretty New Evening Woolen Materials

We show an exceptionally large assortment of 42 to 54-inch fabrics at $1 to $3 a yard. Dainty light shades and cream, white and oyster white. Not a tone or weave missing. Indeed, ours is without doubt the most complete collection for suits, gowns and dresses in the West.

Hamburger's

When we moved to this Big White Store on Quality Corner something over a year and a half ago, 90 per cent of the mercantile interests in town prophesied failure. Merit tells. We have carried the trade to this part of the city, until a new iness center has been started here. We knew this would be the case. We knew we had the buy- public's confidence. Our success in this move and our great increase in business has made us wonder and admiration of Eastern merchants. Styles are first here; prices proportionately low.

25c and 49c

One of the most complete assortments we've ever been able to show. Just the most picturesque bisque novelties, daintily colored. Easter Bunnies, Eggs, and other symbolic figures artistically worked into "nick-nacks" for the parlor, boudoir or den. Suitable little gifts for "him" or "her"—just the sort of trifling remembrance—quaint but inexpensive—that you'll want to give a friend.

These range in size from 2 to 6 inches.

The World's Best Cottons

—they're here for you. Hamburger's going into every market of the world bring to you the choicest productions of Europe and America. That this is the greatest cotton goods store in the country is the verdict of scores of people who know. What wonder that here, in Sunny California, where out-of-door life abounds all the year, there should be found this wonderful exhibit of beautiful cotton dress fabrics. Our "Aisle of Cotton" is a guide to the new Spring fashions. Enter by any of the doors near Eighth and Hill streets, and you are at once in a veritable Fairyland. Here are hints of the new fabrics:

Cotton-and-Silk Mixtures for Dress, 50c

Shimmering pongees, shantungs, bengalines, cantons, moires, chiffons, Satsumas, louisines and foulards in complete color assortments, 25c to 58c a yard. We specialize in this beautiful 50c grade.

Charming Novelty Poplins Here at 25c

Also other good weaves for tailored suits. The heavier and coarser grades of pongee, English Repp, poplin, diagonal, pique, madras, Shantung, etc. Stylish, durable and inexpensive.

Sheer Printed Cottons from 10c to 50c

At 15c alone there are upwards of 25,000 yards. Dainty, filmy, lacy cottons that make up into the loveliest of summer frocks. Beautiful swisses, batistes, organdies, lawns, dimities, flaxons and mulls.

Staple Cotton Fabrics Shown 12½c to 50c

No worthy name missing. They are all here in vast quantities and matchless variety. Zephyrs, ginghams, madras, chambray, galatea, percale, cambric, prints, sateens, crepes, etc. A wonderful array.

Modish Dress Linens from 25c to $1.50

These in white and natural as well as the latest shades. Tailored suits in rough linen will be one of the strongest of the coming season's styles. That's why we're ready with such variety.

Unequaled Rug Stock

That is a strong claim but we feel it is justified. Patterns are selected with the utmost personal care. The newest colors and combinations are well represented. Here is the largest and finest stock of rugs on the Coast, so exhibited that selection is a pleasure. Let us aid you with suggestions on floor covering.

BODY BRUSSELS RUG $30

9 by 12 foot—only the best materials used in these fabrics. Every rug a work of art. Oriental, beautiful chintz and art noveau designs.

Seamless Wilton Rug $45

A 9 by 12 foot rug of peculiar merit. Made different from any other rug manufactured. These are exact replicas of famous Oriental patterns.

Hamburger's Store for Men

A store within a store—and a store which has fairly won its proud title—"The Best in the West." Our men's department is not merely an annex. It is a full fledged, full stocked men's store, complete in every detail, managed and priced with the same care that pervades the entire Big White Store. The values so strong that every man who has once traded here comes back and brings his friends.

Dress Business Suits at $25.00

This is the most popular line, we think, of our whole assortment of suits—including a price range of from $10 to $37.50. No wonder the $25 line is so popular. You couldn't duplicate the suits at less than $40 at any custom tailors. They are beautifully cut and finished, with every late style and durability touch. Materials and colors the newest.

ManhattanShirts
$1.65 to $5

Most exclusive patterns and colors for Spring and Summer. And the assortment is one you'll enjoy selecting from. Do you wear Manhattans? They're best.

Stetson Hats
$4.00 to $10

Soft and stiff felts for Spring and Summer—new colors and many shades. Both bound and raw edges. Leather sweats and silk bands. Every size and shape.

Spring Shapes in "E. & W." Collars are Here

We take especial pride in our assortment—we KNOW it to be the most extensive collection of this well-known brand on the Pacific Coast. See it.

Easter - 1910

EXQUISITE conceptions in Eastertide Millinery. Adaptations of models from the ateliers of the leading designers of Paris. Magnificent creations from New York's most exclusive shops. And equally important —charming originals, and smart reproductions, from our own work-rooms. Many of the hats this spring are of even greater dimensions than ever. They are beautifully proportioned, however, and so fascinating that one readily forgives their size. Nearly all brims have a roll or flare at some point—imparting to the hat a style and a dash that charms.

PRICE is, of necessity, an important consideration in the purchase of a hat. But it is not necessary to spend lavishly. The most becoming effects are frequently the result of good taste, rather than high price. Tailored Hats from $7.50 to $12.50; Dress Hats from $7.50 to $40.00. Plain figures—one price—Scofield policy.

EASTER comes much earlier this Spring than usual—March 27th. Only two weeks away. Getting the Easter Bonnet ready in time is always a task—if one puts it off too long. Avoid the flutter of excitement incident to the last days, by making your selection this week—while assortments are at their best.

VERTICAL GRAND PIANO
SOUNDING BOARD

Five Patented Points of Superiority

Equalized Tone Reflecting Sounding Board The object of this sounding board is to secure a more mellow and deep, as well as greater volume of tone. A tone of marvelous sweetness is obtained through the use of this patent sounding board, equal to that of the flat grand.

Diagonal Tension Back Frame Support A device by which the heavy back frame of the piano is made to withstand any strain put upon it, without giving away even one thousandth part of an inch, thus causing the piano to stay in tune longer than any other.

Cushion Hammer Rail and Key Bed An invention by which the falling of the keys and return of the hammers following the impact of the wire, are perfectly silent, doing away with all woody and rumbling reverberation.

Non-Harmonic Scale An invention which makes possible an absolutely perfect scale. It is arranged in such a manner that the upper bridge can be adjusted, thereby eliminating any false harmonic overtone.

Cushion Flange One of the greatest and far reaching piano improvements now in use. It cushions each impact of the hammer in such a manner as to entirely eliminate the metallic quality of tone so often complained of in other pianos. You will say that it is the most satisfactory action you have ever used.

WE ASK YOU TO COME AND HEAR this piano before you buy. It will be a revelation to you. The above specified improvements are patented and controlled by Frank B. Long, and are found in all 1910 Frank B. Long Pianos.

Remember Cawston Has Only One City Store

Cawston

Ostrich Feathers

Were Awarded the Gold Medal

At the great Paris Exposition in 1900. It was the first and only occasion on which this coveted prize had been won by any manufacturers outside of France; the center of the European ostrich feather industry.

Since then Cawston feathers have been awarded six First Prizes at the World's Expositions in this country: in competition with the largest manufacturers.

This conclusive evidence places beyond question the superiority of Cawston Feathers.

This superiority is easily explained by the fact that Cawston uses only the feathers of the male bird for his finest plumes, the inferior grade not being worked up by him but disposed of at public auction where they are snapped up by those manufacturers who cater to a less exacting public than that which insists upon seeing the Cawston trade mark attached to a plume before they will invest.

Today's Ostrich Story

A theory has just been advanced to explain the reason for the "ostrich dance" which has always been a subject of wonder since the first man witnessed the wonderful gyrations of this remarkable bird in the wilds of Africa.

The movement resembles that of the dancing dervish in his wildest frenzies.

The bird begins to practice the step when a chick of only a few days old and unable to make one complete turn.

The theory which is now offered by the Commissioner appointed by the British government to investigate the ostrich industry in Africa is that this dance develops a set of muscles which enables the bird when in flight from an enemy to adopt that peculiar zig-zag motion, which makes it almost impossible for a wild animal to jump on its back.

Your Old Feathers

can be made over in our repair department where they will be handled by the same expert workers who make up our new goods. We can change any plume into a willow plume employing our regular high-grade stock and can redye to match any costume.

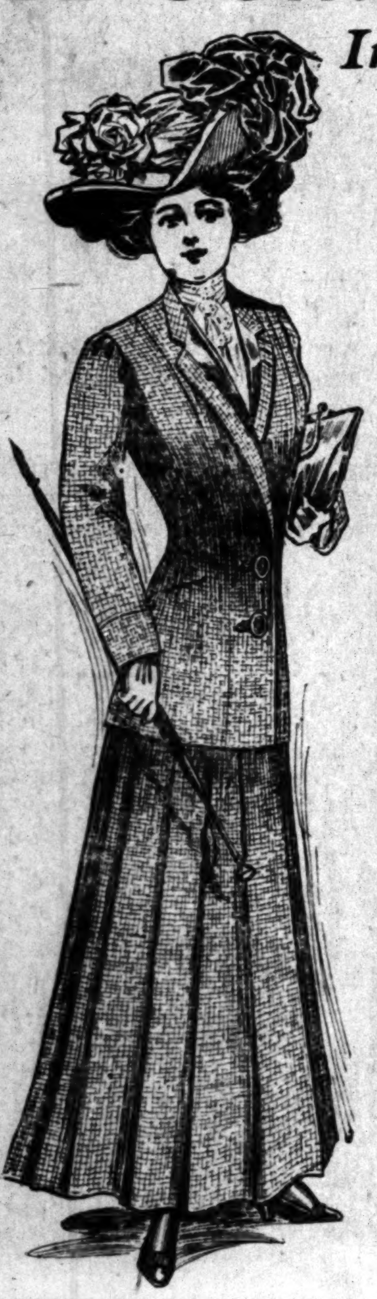
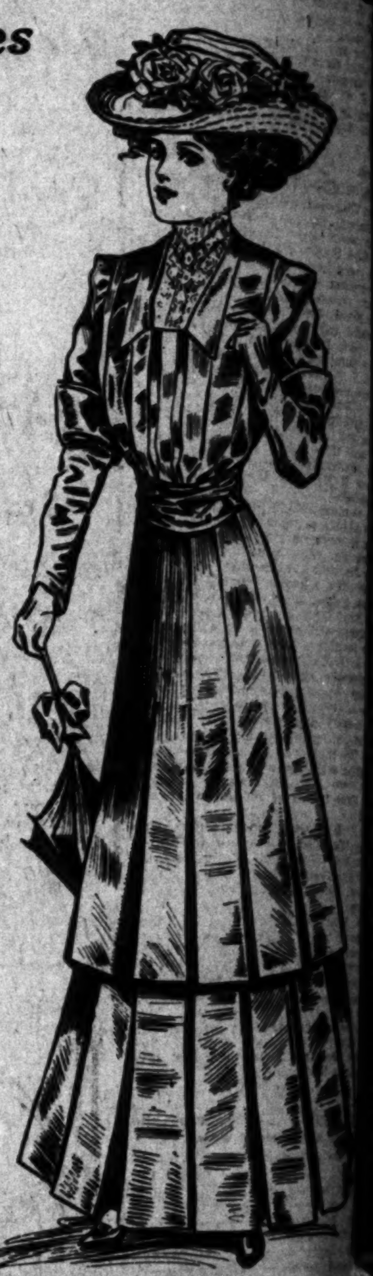
A Complete Showing of Easter Attire

In Women's, Small Women's and Misses' Sizes

Tailored Suits, Silk and Lingerie Dresses, Coats, Etc.





OUR assortments of Spring Attire for Women are at last complete. They represent the newest modes from Paris and New York embodied in garments that are perfect examples of tailoring, workmanship and finish. Many of the new models are shown exclusively in Los Angeles by us. This fact, together with our superior service, places us in a commanding position, enabling us to assure you garments that possess real style individuality, so perfectly fitted that they become individually your own. We invite you to come to our Women's Department tomorrow. You will be charmed with the clever models shown, and astonished at the modest prices at which they may be purchased.

¶ TAILORED SUITS—The season's innovation in Tailored Suits is the short coat, ranging in length from 31 to 36 inches, with the 34-inch model most generally accepted as correct. This coat is a semi-fitting, single-breasted model, cut with the new long roll revers as well as the notched coat collar, plain or silk faced. There is no end to the many smart ideas the designers have brought out. Collars are often finished with embroidery in high colors. Skirts are the plaited models and are mostly trimmed in their own fabrics. Usually the decorative scheme is accomplished in the plaiting and cutting.

¶ Materials include the newest all-wool fabrics—French serges in solid colorings, fancy diagonals and wide wales. Quite an assortment of novelty cloths, hairline stripes and shepherd checks is also shown—and a collection of mannish worsteds unequaled in Los Angeles. The Suits are priced at $20, $25, $30, $35, $40, $45, $50 and upward.

¶ GOWNS AND DRESSES—The new Silk Gowns and Tailored Dresses are beautifully styled garments. Materials include crepe de soie, taffeta, messalines, rajahs and eoliennes, in plain colorings—evening shades and black. Skirts are made in tunic and plaited styles. And fancy lace yokes and sleeves permit the widest variety of charming effects. These new Dresses are just here—our first general showing takes place tomorrow. No complete idea of their beauty and real style distinction can be given in print. See them—you will then appreciate how superior they are.

¶ NEW SPRING COATS—Our collection of Coats is also complete. They are full length garments in tan covert cloths, novelty worsteds and black and white checks—made in a variety of smart styles and lined in self colors. Beautiful white serge and pongee coats are also shown—wonderfully well tailored and exquisitely finished. Prices range all the way up to $50, with an assortment of garments at most moderate cost.

¶ Tailored and Lingerie Waists, guaranteed Silk Petticoats, Tailored and Lingerie Dresses for Little Girls—these are some of the other specialties of our Women's Department. Visit it tomorrow. You will find merchandise and service alike most satisfactory.

No522 $5.00
SELF-REDUCING WITH LASTIKOPS BANDLET

Corset Talks No. 3

The success of the new Nemo No. 522 is nothing less than marvelous. That's because it DOES SOMETHING for every woman—stout, slender or medium—that no other corset CAN do.

Stout women—even those who have worn our other Self-Reducing Corsets—find that No. 522 still further reduces the figure by from 2 to 4 inches.

Women of medium and even slight build are wearing No. 522 because it produces a sylph-like form with perfect comfort.

No other corset is so delightfully RESTFUL, whether you're seated, standing or walking.

Self-Reducing No. 522 with Lastikops Bandlet $5.00

The semi-elastic Bandlet perfectly supports the abdomen and internal organs, allowing extreme reduction of upper limbs as well as back, hips and abdomen—an absolutely smooth effect; and the front steels CAN'T stick out, even when you're seated.

There are now in the Nemo

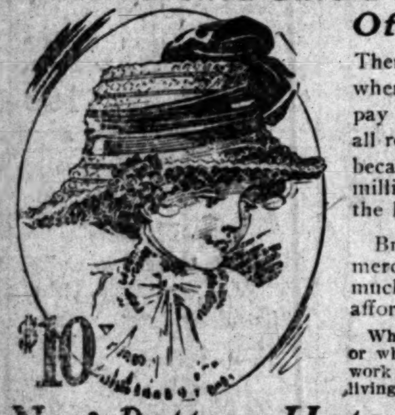
A Quartette of Price Opportunities in New Easter Suits

Broadway Millinery

Has Marched Into Popular Favor Because Of Merit and Low Prices



There seems to be a general opinion that when you buy millinery you must pay the retailer profits that are beyond all reason. This has been brought about because of the many so called exclusive millinery shops who mark millinery at the highest possible price it will bring.

Broadway millinery is based upon true merchandising principles. Not how much can we ask, but how little can we afford to sell it for.

Whether it be a Paris hat, a New York hat or whether it be an adaptation from our own work rooms, rest assured that you pay just a living profit.

New Pattern Hats—Imported Models

Mill Ends 54 and 56-Inch

New, All Wool Suitings That Are Worth $1.50 and $2.50 Regularly.. 89c

Timeliness is the undercurrent of all Broadway sale features, but here's one that stands out in bold relief. A dress goods sale, mill remnants they are classed, but they might better be classed bolt ends, for they range in length from 6 to 12 yards. Such high class suitings, diagonals, cheviots, serges, panamas, nàtte and mannish suiting. Full 69 patterns to choose from. Not a piece in the lot that isn't practical as a suit pattern. Many of them contain two patterns. You have choice of navy, tan, brown, gray, wistaria, terra cotta, reseda, garnet, electric, sage and in fact the very best of the spring colorings. Remember the fact that they are 54 and 56 inches, that they are all wool, that they are up-to-date spring fabrics and that they range in lengths from 6 to 12 yards. Be early Monday. Aisle 4.

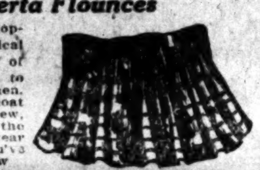
These are full pieces, not remnants. Ordinarily they'd be priced at 20c yard. An important purchase that we made enables us to offer them at 14c. There's a choice of gray, tan, brown, copenhagen, navy, cream, black and pink. Aisle 6. Yard 14c.

20c All-Linen Aberdeen Canvas 14c

For interlinings and paddings, natural color only. Our 20c grade. Yard 14c.

They Are Here—The New Gilberta Flounces



Here's the development of a practical idea that will prove of economical value to thousands of women. Perhaps your petticoat is just as good as new, excepting that the flounce shows wear and heretofore you've thrown it away, now

The Gilberta Flounces Add to the Life of the Petticoat

Like the illustration they can be adjusted to any of your old petticoats. Made in the proper proportions, they can be adjusted to any size foundation, sewed on by hand or on a plain sewing machine.

At the Lining Counter prices start at 75c, $1, then $1.48.

$15, $19.50, $25 and $29.50

This ready-to-wear section has a mission to perform—to be ever on the alert that we may secure merchandise most in demand at prices within reach of the popular purse. To be able to furnish merchandise that is a credit to the house and yet so reasonably priced that it will be disposed of in vast quantities. This serves a double purpose, a big outlet, a greater purchasing power, which naturally results in lowest prices. It has been necessary for us to have our representative in the market from four to six times a year. This means five months of actual time spent in New York with about two months and a half of actual traveling. By doing this we give our patrons almost an equal opportunity with the New York City stores. You'll find this one of the reasons why we can afford to offer such a quartette of prices in such charming Easter suits. $15, $19.50, $25 and $29.50. At these prices we've covered the popular demand.

The Flag That Peary took to the North Pole on Exhibition Here Monday. See ad. Page 16, Part III.

Four Styles Are Illustrated

With Easter such a short period away, we advise you to make early selection that the necessary alterations may be covered.

At $15.00

We are showing some 250 tailored suits. The new spring tints and shades. Cream serge, fine panamas, French serge and black and white suitings are the materials used. Black and various colors. Full satin lined.

At $19.50

Man tailored models of fine cream and colored serges. Choice of black, blue, tan, cream, as well as light, dark and medium grays. Coats lined with peau de cygne. 32-inch lengths. Skirts have wide knife pleats. Perfect fitting garments.

At $25.00

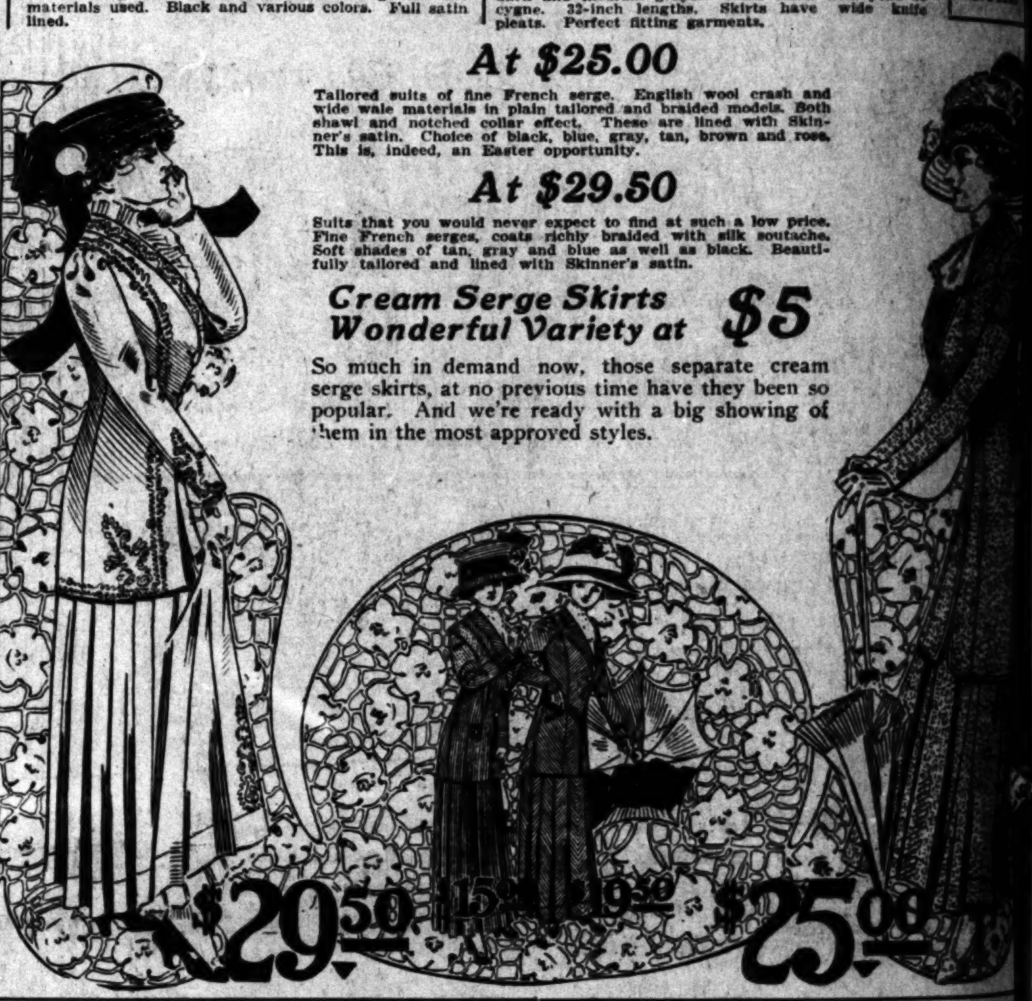
Tailored suits of fine French serge. English wool crash and wide wale materials in plain tailored and braided models. Both shawl and notched collar effect. These are lined with Skinner's satin. Choice of black, blue, gray, tan, brown and rose. This is, indeed, an Easter opportunity.

At $29.50

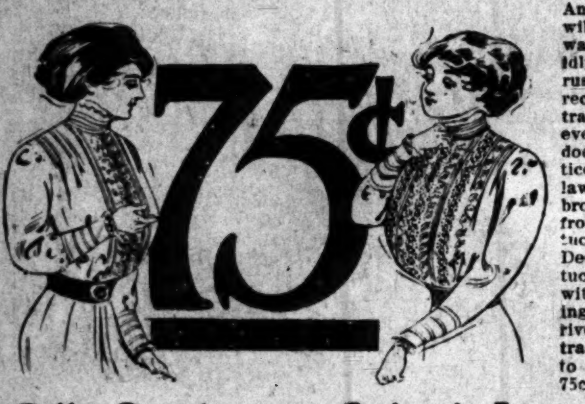
Suits that you would never expect to find at such a low price. Fine French serges, coats richly braided with silk soutache. Soft shades of tan, gray and blue as well as black. Beautifully tailored and lined with Skinner's satin.

Cream Serge Skirts Wonderful Variety at $5

So much in demand now, those separate cream serge skirts, at no previous time have they been so popular. And we're ready with a big showing of them in the most approved styles.



Spic and Span Come These Lawn Waists Priced at 75c



And that's a price that will carry out these waists almost as rapidly as they were rushed up from our receiving room. So attractive are they that even the illustration does not do them justice. Made of sheer lawn with fancy embroidered stripes down front alternating with tucks. Open back. Deep cuffs and collar tucked and finished with dainty lace edging. Just 20 dozen arrived and priced to attract greater attention to the waist section, 75c.

Silk Petticoats Priced Low at $2.95

We dare say you will stamp these as the best $2.95 silk petticoats you've seen in a long time. They're made full with deep flare flounce. Deep under ruffle. Colors include brown, blue, black in beautiful changeable effects. While 10 dozen last price will be, each, $2.95.

SILK PETTICOATS AT $5—These are made in several different styles. Some with full flare tailored stitched flounce. Others with accordion ruch trimmed flounce.

DRESDEN PATTERN SILK PETTICOATS $3.95—These are unusually attractive. Made with full flare flounce. All lengths, $3.95.

SATEEN OR COTTON TAFFETA PETTICOATS, $1.50—Either in deep knee flounce or full flare style. All lengths, 10 dozen priced at each, $1.50.

WASHABLE GINGHAM PETTICOATS 25c TO $2—We direct attention to this splendid and complete line, which includes styles too numerous to mention.

Art and Artists.

BY ANTONY E. ANDERSON.

The Close of Day (Fragment).

And now the close of this fair day was come;
The bay grew duskier on its purple floor,
And the long curve of foam
Drew its white net along a dimmer shore.
Through the fading saffron light,
Through the deepening shade of even,
The round earth rolled into the summer night,
And watched the kindling of the stars in heaven.

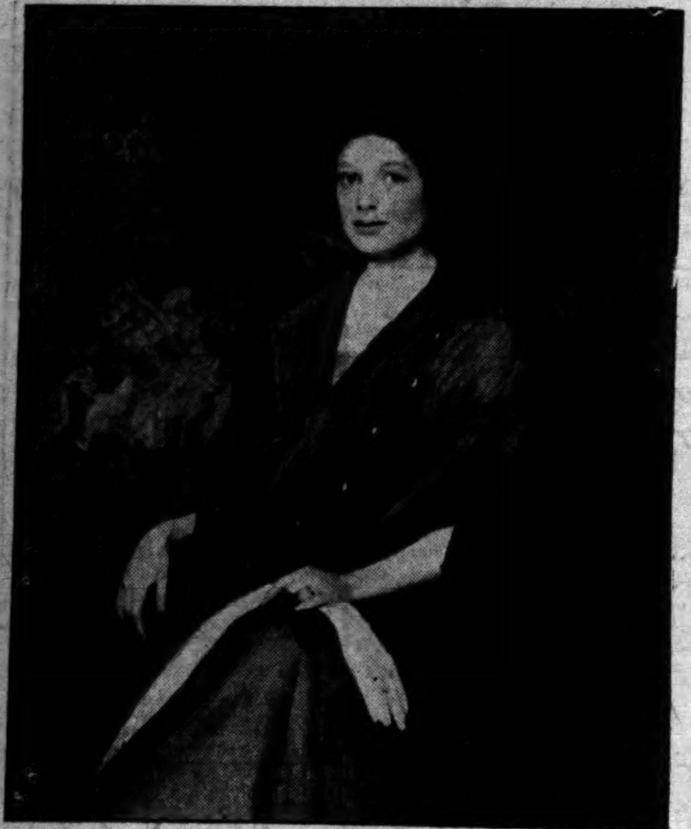
Pictures by Mr. Avery.

An exhibition of paintings by Kenneth Newell Avery was held in the artist's studio, No. 371 Arroyo Terrace, Pasadena, on Saturday and Sunday of the past week. Twenty-five titles appear on the catalogue, though Mr. Avery also showed two or three small sketches made in Spain—true studies of brilliantly vivid sunlight on walls and figures.



Portrait of the Artist's Wife.
From an oil by Kenneth Newell Avery.

The artist was born in Detroit some twenty-six years ago. At the age of 20 he went to Paris and studied under Jean Paul Laurens. Among his fellow students were Rob Wagner and Jack Stark. During his second year in Paris he exhibited a picture in the current Salon. Later, at the earnest solicitation of Laurens, he sent his "Model Resting," which was shown in the Pasadena studio last week, to the Exposition of Orleans. The model, who is of course nude, with a cloak thrown over one shoulder, is a blonde with wonderful white skin, whose quality and texture are rendered by the young painter in a manner that does not fall short of the masterly.

Mr. Avery, who came to California two years ago, has built himself a studio overlooking the changefully picturesque Arroyo Seco. The studio is high-ceilinged and roomy, and might be termed a "show" studio if it were not also so artistically simple and so practical. The upper part of the walls are dingy and smoky through the carefully directed efforts of the painter's house-painters, who, no doubt, thought Mr. Avery somewhat "cracked." The chairs and tables are old and exquisite, the rugs are quietly colorful, the north light is perfect for the painting of portraits—and the view from the windows is glorious. The artist has arranged for and achieved ideal conditions for the pursuit of his chosen art.

While in Paris Mr. Avery painted two nudes that are now found in the Pasadena studio. One is a study in symphony of color, the other a seeking for strong contrasts. "Model Resting" is the study in contrasts, "Girl and Dog" is the title of the symphony.

A course of close copying of the old masters in the Louvre influenced the young student, for a time, to a somewhat thin application of paint that was brownish and bituminous, with hardly more body than a frottee. This period soon passed, however, and Mr. Avery is now working for light, brilliancy, reality, and with plenty of paint that is neither brown nor greasy, neither dry nor monotonous. A case in point is his recent portrait of Mrs. R. C. Milbank of London, which is juicy in color and free in handling, and which somehow suggests a study for a bachante by reason of its arrangement and its sparkling, good-humored vitality.

Vital, too, is "En Fete," a self-portrait, the young man with the top hat and the white silk muffler being very much alive, indeed, in color and expression. This vitality of expression in eye and mouth and chin is gotten by good drawing and a careful manipulation of pure and broken pigments. The portrait called "Artist's Wife" has the same feeling of life and reality, the same vivid appreciation of the surface of things, be they black top hats, white scarfs, wraps a luscious cerise in hue, or the light-smitten curves of old mahogany chairs.

Good as this "Artist's Wife" is, Mr. Avery has another study of his wife, just begun, which promises to be even better, in color, pose and character. Still a third portrait of Mrs. Avery is that which he calls "Nancy," Madonna-like in pose and expression, and with a striking background of broken greens and blues which may be anything that comes to your fancy of the moment—peacocks' plumes, waving foliage, a restless sea. When looking at it, I first imagined the peacocks, then the sea, and at last, drawing farther and farther away from the picture, saw the fairy forest of trees.

"Señorita," though by no means impeccable in drawing, has much of the haunting, enigmatic charm that we are taught to think we see in the "Mona Lisa." "Old Man," "Veteran Beggar," "French Workman," "Stone Cutter," are all excellent studies from the brush of a strong and gifted student. "Miss X." also painted in Paris, the portrait of a tall, lithe young woman in a gown of black tulle over white, is a study by the same student much farther advanced in technical knowledge. Other fine studies are "Old Man's each making manifest the painter's keen sense for character, and fully justifying Mr. Avery's choice of portraiture as his proper avenue of artistic expression.

The portraits that do not come under the head of mere studies—"William C. Baker," "Mrs. R. C. Milbank," "Artist's Mother," "Charles Baker," etc.—prove the portrait painter without cavil or doubt. Men and women are his theme, and must ever be so.

Mr. Avery, as I have said, did much earnest work from the old masters. Two of his copies are shown, Velasquez's splendid "Portrait of Sculptor Martinez," and a head by Rubens.

An interesting sketch is the small and hasty study of a large picture of "Portia," which now hangs in a Detroit hotel. The sketch is only 2½x1¼ inches, but the finished picture is ten feet high. Mr. Avery went to Versailles and dug up, from the archives of the gallery, an old picture of Portia. It was only a few inches square, it was dingy and faded, its author was unknown. Portia is severe, stern, masculine, and one wonders, when looking at the ancient artist's conception, how three sane men could have been so fatuous as to bother with the three caskets at all. However, this, in miniature, is the impressive Portia who was wanted for the ladies' parlor of the Detroit hotel, and who was later transferred to the bar-room, the parlor proving to be too badly lighted. Mr. Avery's own head appears in the carving of the Louis XIV table against which the judicial lady is leaning.

We have many good landscape painters in Southern Califorfnia. The painters of portraits are almost too few, and the fact is that a man of Kenneth Newell Avery's talent has joined the ranks is a cause for genuine congratulation.

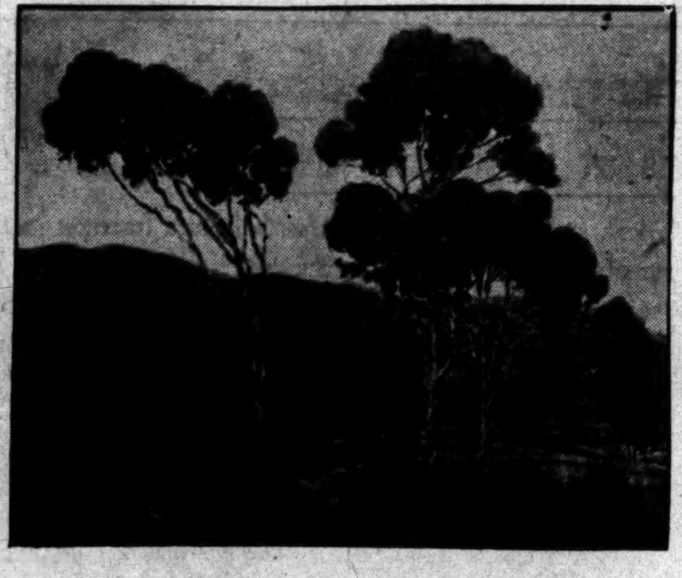
Landscapes by Norman St. Clair.



Eucalyptus Trees.
From a water color by Norman St. Clair.

Norman St. Clair, whose technically delightful and poetic work in landscape painting is well known to all art lovers in Southern California, will hold an exhibition of about fifteen of his late pictures, at the California Academy of Art, in the Copp building, No. 218 Broadway, beginning tomorrow and continuing for the rest of the week.

Mr. St. Clair has worked for many years among us, and we have seen him grow in technical dexterity and in expression, till he stands today a strikingly finished exponent of the difficult medium of water color painting. He has always been a keen lover of nature, and, true to his convictions of the meaning and message of art, has never painted that which seemed to him trivial or unworthy. He always puts on paper the very best that is in him, always his newest thought, his latest inspiration. His drawing is firm and sure, his interpretation fresh and sane, his observation keen and searching. As a technician he has few equals, and the tender suggestiveness of many of his pictures proves him to be an artist as well as a painter.

Recently Mr. St. Clair showed a few of his pictures in the exhibition of the New York Water Color Society, bringing forth comments from the eastern critics which tend to show that we have not been wrong in our estimate of his work. A writer in vogue declared "Awakening Hills" to be one of the very best pictures in the exhibition. An art collector, negotiating for the purchase of "Awakening Hills," says: "To me it seems that this picture was one of the strong pictures of the recent exhibition. Not only was the air in shadow well indicated, but the advancing light was rendered with peculiar happiness. The restfulness of the composition, and the light on the distant mountain, added to the charm."

This restfulness and this light Mr. St. Clair introduces into almost all his pictures. Certainly the new ones that he will show at the California Academy this week have them to a marked degree.

"Leaves of Gold," which the artist painted while looking directly into the light, is one of the loveliest of these, a technical tour de force as well as a poem. The leaves of gold are on two sycamores, whose partially-denuded trunks are seen against distant hills. "Where Spring and Summer Meet" also shows us sycamores in a fine play of light and shadow, and the far-off hills are delicately pink and lavender in hue. "Hillside Harvest" is a poem of the fruitful year. Yellow barley is stacked on the undulating hills. The breeze blows freely through the sky, the sun lies warmly tender on a landscape whose quiet blending of colors makes a picture that is charming in tone.

There are two beautiful spring-time pictures, one with a tender grayish-blue sky, with gnarled stumps of sycamores to the right, with a stream running swiftly over the yellow-gray of the river bottom below, and with a noble stretch of terrace and palisade in the hills beyond. The other, "Early Spring," has greens in grass and tree that are exquisitely true and tender. Its cloud sky has merely a hint of blue. The very spirit of hope and renewal breathes through the picture.

Some pictures that we have learned to like from previous study of them will also be shown.

ART NOTES.

Two collections of Japanese prints are now being exhibited in the large gallery at Blanchard Hall, on opposite walls. One is that of Taisuke Uchida, to whom the prints were recently imported from Japan. The other, consisting of seventy-five prints, is the property of Mary Eleanor Curran. Some excellent things are shown, especially in Miss Curran's collection. The exhibition remains open to the public from March 8 to March 26. Next Tuesday a private view will be held from 3 to 5 o'clock p.m., when the small gallery in the rear will be converted into an exact reproduction of a Japanese tearoom, from which refreshments will be served in the Japanese manner to guests. Friday, March 25, at 3 o'clock p.m., Mrs. Lobinger will give a lecture on Japanese art in the gallery.

The California Art Club has postponed its first exhibition until the end of October. Many of the members are planning sketching trips this spring. On their return, and after a summer of work, a showing can be made that will so far outvie anything that could be gotten together now, that the club thinks it wiser to wait.

An exhibition of some half a dozen tapestries by Bjorn, a Norwegian artist, sent out here from Douthett, N. Y., is now being held in the small front gallery in Blanchard Hall. Apparently all are copies, and all but one are hunting scenes, very well done. Three samples of early paintings by members of the famous Hudson River School are also shown. These are interesting archeologically, rather than artistically.

HEREABOUTS.

"IT'S INK that makes the world go round," said J. A. Macauly, who has sold ink far and wide, and is at present registered at the Hol-[illegible] from Chicago. "Where there is civilization, there is ink, and if there isn't, there should be," he said. "I have sold ink in Norway and in Persia, in India and in Sweden, through Japan and in China, and what is more, it has always been American ink, showing the superiority of the product of this country," he continued. "Tastes in ink are not similar. In China, red is the favorite color and is used in preference to blue or black when the pen is employed for writing. When the brush is used, black is the rule. The Norwegians are particularly fond of purple ink, while [illegible] favor green. The quality is not all the same. It is the kind that [illegible] in a few months, but lasts [illegible] years, something peculiar to the [illegible] inks manufactured in this country. The writing fluids manufactured a century ago have all proven [illegible] against the test of time. They have faded from black to gray and from blue to yellow. As for the demand, I think there is more ink used at the present time than ever before. With the spread of learning has come the spread of ink or rather its use has increased. More letters are written, more postals sent, more books are kept and printing has increased. All of this takes more ink and the commodity, which may at first be looked at as one not half worth while, is really one that occupies a prominent rank in the products of the country."

Even the Chinese are aware of the benefit of insurance. Leon Mooser, president of the Shanghai Mutual Insurance Company, who spent several days the past week at the Alexandria, declares that every wealthy Chinaman is anxious to take out a policy. "They are quick in picking up anything, and insurance was not an exception to the rule. They took to our insurance like we took to their noodles when first introduced in the United States," said Mooser. "The development in all of the coast provinces of the great empire is rapid. Shanghai, with its modern improvements, is one of the most wonderful cities in the world. In it are found the two extremes, the very modern and the ancient customs and buildings dating back before the beginning of the present era. On the streets at any time may be seen the powerful American automobiles traveling alongside of the little wheelbarrows propelled by the Chinese men and women, who trundle not only their belongings, but passengers for small sums. In the harbor, the steam launch is fast superceding the clumsy sampan and junk. Americans are not slow in finding a big field before them in China. American oil, machinery, lumber, flour, meat and hundreds of [illegible] as well as luxuries may be found in the large cities, and are [illegible] the other lines of trade. Justice is meted out in approved fashion. The United States, besides its Consul-General, has a district judge, who hears all important cases of Americans. Other nations have the same system, which is that of extraterritoriality, which obtains in Shanghai and other large cities of the empire." Mooser left yesterday for San Francisco. When he arrives in China he will have completed a trip around the world.

Discoverer of the Mariposa grove of giant redwoods, Galen Clark, who has lived in the Yosemite Valley for the past [illegible] years and who is 96 years of age, is visiting friends in Los Angeles. He is far from as old as his years would indicate, for he travels alone and is sprightly and energetic. He is arranging for the publishing of his latest book, "Yosemite Valley; Its Indians, Characteristics, Features and Theories Regarding Its Origin." Having made his home for so many years in the valley, he knows its every nook and cranny, is familiar with all its details. He has lived among its shadowy [illegible], has explored in many parts of the year, and is considered an expert naturalist on all of its growths. While in the valley he has met many of the great people of the world who have gone to see this wonderful fancy of nature and who have talked with him. He is considered by the guides an integral part of the place. Where he has lived he will be buried. Near Yosemite Falls he has dug his grave and quarried his tomb, surrounding them with a fence and having planted at each corner of the lot a sequoia tree, which in the hundreds of years to come he expects to grow into mighty monarchs, as [illegible] he discovered. A hunting trip in [illegible] led him to the big trees. He had come West by way of the Isthmus of Panama, and had spent some time in the search for gold when he found the trees, and lost little time in making public his find.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

MAJ.-GEN. LEONARD WOOD has recovered from the two serious operations he recently underwent at Johns Hopkins's Hospital, and has returned to Governors Island to resume his active duties as commander of the Department of the East, which have been conducted by Brig.-Gen. Walter Howe during his absence. That the operations were successful is evident from the fact that a very noticeable limp in the general's gait, due primarily to a wound received on his head which caused partial paralysis of the right leg, is now barely perceptible. Assurance is further given that the trouble will eventually disappear now that the cause has been removed in the shape of a small tumor from the brain, and an abnormally thick portion of the skull.

Maj.-Gen. William H. Carter, U.S.A., has been detailed by the President as a member of the General Staff Corps to take the place of Brig.-Gen. William [illegible] Wotherspoon, who is at the head of the Army War College. Gen. Carter has been relieved from duty in the Philippines and will at once proceed to Washington for duty with the general staff.

Maj. Jay J. Morrow, Corps of Engineers, has been relieved of duty in charge of the water supply system of the District of Columbia, and of the improvement of the Potomac River and ordered to take station at Portland, [illegible] for duty in charge of river and harbor improvements in that engineering district, including the Territory of [illegible]. He is succeeded temporarily in charge of the Washington city office by Capt. Warren T. Hannum, now principal assistant.

Col. Leonard A. Lovering of the [illegible] Regiment of Infantry has been placed on the retired list of the army on account of disability incurred in the line of duty. The regiment is in California, but Col. Lovering is in [illegible], N. H., on leave of absence. He is from Vermont and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in June, 1876. With the exception of two years' detail to the Inspector-General's Department his entire service has been in the infantry. He became colonel of the Thirteenth Infantry in September, 1909.

Lieut. Frederick H. Mann, recently assigned to the Philippine Scouts, is a [illegible] soldier of wide reputation, his [illegible] being in the famous [illegible] Cavalry, where he soon became [illegible] as a fine athlete and bareback rider. He belonged to the regimental bareback squad of that organization, which was so noted throughout the [illegible] ances. His vaulting of four horses running abreast over a hurdle has never been excelled, and seldom equaled. Lieut. Mann has vaulted over five horses time and again in this class of work. In other lines of athletic work he has also been very active, particularly in the pole vaulting, having won this event during the Department of the Philippines meet in 1905. He has had many tempting offers from first-class circus organizations to leave the regular service, but has always declined.

Medical Director Howard E. Ames has been relieved of command of the naval hospital at the Boston yard and ordered to his home to await further orders. This is preliminary to sending Dr. Ames to a new field of duty. He preferred the charges recently made against Past Assistant Paymaster George P. Auld and Surgeon Ansey H. Robnett, in the case which attracted so much attention recently.

Col. George S. Anderson of the General Staff of the Army, on duty in New York as chief of staff of the Department of the East, bears a remarkable resemblance to Maj.-Gen. Frederick D. Grant, for several years commander of the department.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has presented a large-sized photograph of himself, inscribed with the words, "From an ardent admirer," above his autograph, to President Wheeler of the University of California, who has just closed his service as Roosevelt professor at the University of Berlin.

Frederick Weyerhauser, called the lumber king of the Northwest, has decided to quit active business, and will retire from the directorates of about thirty banks in the Northwest. He came to the United States from Germany in 1852, and is now interested in so much timber land that his wealth is estimated at $1,000,000,000. His age is 76 years.

Mayor Gaynor of New York worries Tammany Hall by utterly ignoring that organization. Since he has been in office he has effected so many reforms by consolidating or abolishing useless departments that he has effected an annual saving to the city of $2,000,000. This has meant the cutting off of nearly $750,000 of Tammany patronage.

William Stotler of Wellington, Kan., edits a newspaper when he is not presiding in the local police court, and the other day he printed a story that led to a street fight with a fellow-townsman. After the fight, Judge Stotler summoned himself to court, pleaded guilty and fined himself $5. Then he called the other man to the bar and fined him a like sum.

John J. Youngson of Meadville, Pa., has served for forty-seven years as superintendent of the water system of the Erie Railroad Company. He commenced work as a lad of 18 years, when the old Atlantic and Great Western was first completed. He continues in the service of the company not because he is obliged to do so, but because work has become a habit with him and he can't live happily unless he is "on the job."

Caleb Powers, who spent eight years in prison for the alleged murder of Gov. William Goebel, is going to be a candidate for Congress in the "big Eleventh" District of Kentucky in the next campaign. Powers was Secretary of State at the time Goebel was slain, and there was very slight evidence that he knew anything about the matter. The district in which he lives is overwhelmingly Republican, and his nomination will be equivalent to an election.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

MRS. MARGARET BARNES, a Massachusetts woman who is an invalid and has enough of money to secure all the ordinary comforts of life, has taken up her abode at the poorhouse in Canton, where she pays her board, just as fashionable people do at the high-toned hotels and sanatoriums. She says that she likes it very much at the poorhouse, the fare and attention being as good as she could obtain at a fine hotel. But she likes it better than life at a hotel on account of the inmates, every one of whom has a life-story filled with interest. Many of the accounts she hears are humorous, some romantic, and others pathetic. All of them are fascinating, she says, and furnish never-ending diversion for her.

Molly Elliot Seawell, whose new novel, "The Marriage of Theodora," is to appear immediately, has been a winner in three big competitions. In each case she was the only woman who won, although thousands of women competed. The first prize winner was "Little Jarvis," the second was "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac" and the third was "John Mainwaring, Financier."

Miss Helen V. Carson of Bedford, Iowa, has entered upon her second year as superintendent of the high schools of Exira, Iowa. She was recommended by the Governor of Colorado for the place and was just 22 when she was elected. She is said to do the work just as well as her masculine predecessor and to receive the same salary.

Mrs. S. A. Kidder of Grass Valley, who is frequently in San Francisco on business, enjoys the unique distinction of being the only woman railroad president in California and probably the only one in the country, unless Hetty Green has that position in some of the roads she controls. Mrs. Kidder heads the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad, which connects with the Southern Pacific overland at Colfax and gives Grass Valley, Nevada City and other towns, as well as a rich mining region, connection with the outside world.

Mrs. William H. Gove and Mrs. D. M. Little are the first women to be appointed trustees of the Plummer Farm School in Salem, Mass. They were appointed by Mayor Howard at the request of persons interested in the welfare of the school.

Mrs. Russell Sage gave $10,000 to the clubwomen of New York with the understanding that they were to raise $15,000 more. They have already raised $7000 of the amount and are working now to make up the balance in as short a time as possible.

Mrs. Judson Harmon is pushing the campaign of the clubwomen of Ohio, asking the Legislature for $400,000 for a building for the Industrial School for Girls, at Delaware, O.

EDUCATORS, SCIENTISTS.

LUTHER BURBANK celebrated his sixty-first anniversary last week by putting in one of his busiest days. He is personally supervising the planting of 150,000 packages of seeds, many of which have been carefully selected from his own plants, the qualities of which he is developing by years of work.

Dr. Henry H. MacCracken, chancellor of New York University since 1883, has informed the council of the university of his intention to resign upon his seventieth birthday, September 28.

Dr. C. P. Wagner of the University of Michigan, who has witnessed many Spanish bullfights, says there is a good side to these exhibitions, and that is, that the meat of the slain animals is sold to consumers at a much lower price than would have to be paid at the regular meat markets. Butcher shops are maintained at the arenas to care for and dispose of the slain animals.

Dr. Edward Meyers of Berlin University, one of the greatest living writers on ancient history, is lecturing in this country before a number of educational institutions.

Prof. Edward C. Pickering, director of the astronomical observatory of Harvard, says no one can predict with certainty what will happen on May 18 or 19 when the earth passes through the tail of Halley's comet. "There is more danger of serious consequences than the ordinary public is likely to believe. If the poisonous gases and the meteors, of which the tail is composed, pass near the earth they undoubtedly will fall on the sphere and damage many buildings and possibly injure many people. "I quite agree with the French astronomer, Flammarion, that such collisions will be matters of great public danger."

Robert Underwood Johnson, who has been chosen to succeed Mr. Gilder as the editor of the Century Magazine, has been on the staff of that magazine for thirty-seven years—almost since its first publication. He is a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France and cavalier of the Crown of Italy.

Rev. Samuel Skrene, vicar of Laneham, Nottinghamshire, has seven sons and they are all priests of the church.

OVER THE SEA.

SIR WILLIAM RAMSAY says radium will last forever. "We can tell," he says, "how long it will take radium to half-change into the emanation, and the time we have just measured in our laboratory is 1750 years, so that if any one feels inclined to invest in radium he will retain half his capital for 1750 years."

Prince Christian of England, now in his eightieth year, is a vigorous old man. He leads a strenuous life and delights in it. His present vigor is shown by the fact that it is his custom to rise at 7:30 o'clock and walk two miles before breakfast. After breakfast he may take a ride round his farm, and luncheon is sometimes followed by a walk of several miles. Twice a week the Prince is out hunting with the Garth hounds, and is in the saddle from four to five hours at a time. In the summer he is a regular attendant at race meetings. Cumberland Lodge abounds with trophies of the chase secured by the Prince. He is very fond of stalking in Germany and was there as lately as last autumn.

It has remained for Hubert Latham, the aviator, to introduce the aëroplane into high society. The other day when invited to go hunting he packed his double-barreled shotgun into his monoplane and flew over to his host's shooting-box, nineteen miles away, arriving in time for breakfast. Later in the day he flew home with his share of the game.

Claude G. Montefiore, founder of the Religious Union of London, will make his first visit to the United States next June. He is the author of many religious works, a lecturer of ability, and came prominently before the public recently by his advocacy of a new form of religion.

Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson says she dances in public to secure the necessary funds to found a home for a few orphan boys. "My idea," she says, "is to adopt about five little boys of from 1 to 2 years old, orphans, and preferably of Scottish birth, and educate them on the lines on which I think a sound, practical education, which is to fit a man for life, should be conducted. Then, after that, I should start each one in the world in some useful career, the choice of that career being left partly to himself and partly decided by any particular tastes or talents he might show during his education. I shall bring up these little boys just as I bring up my own, giving equal attention to their mental and physical training."

An Ohio judge has advanced the proposition that a fire insurance company which changes an agency must notify every holder of a policy issued through that agency that his authority has been canceled. This interesting decision was rendered in a case growing out of policies which had been canceled after the agency had been changed. The broker who canceled the policy had a running account with the agent who issued it. The company credited the return premium to the agent and the broker took no action for several months, when he demanded the return premium from the company, although he still had the running account with the agent. He sued, and the court gave judgment against the company, in its charge to the jury ruling that a company in changing an agency must give notice to all its policy holders. The company has appealed.

BRILLIANT GIRL.

YOUNG AMERICAN SINGER'S LATEST SUCCESS IN ITALY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Enrichetta Godard,
Boston girl who has won success in opera in Italy.

ROME, Feb. 10.—Enrichetta Godard, the brilliant young American soprano, has again taken up her profession after an absence of two years from the operatic stage.

In private life she is Mrs. John Quinby Wood. Her husband is engaged in the United States consular service and is now located in Italy. She was born at Boston and her father was a well-known physician of that city. The cause of her retirement was little Manon—named after the opera in which Mme. Godard scored such a triumph.

Few Americans have achieved such a decided success on the operatic stage of Italy—of all countries the hardest to be won by a foreigner and the most appreciative when the real talent is forthcoming. Mme. Godard's début was in a small Italian town, and was followed by more important engagements at Brescia, Salsomaggiore and other cities. The well-known conductor, Campanini, heard her at this time and immediately had her engaged for the Scala at Milan, where her success was a cause of great rejoicing to all the Americans.

Enrichetta Godard is a soprano for all the roles ranging from Gilda in "Rigoletto" to "Aida" and "Tosca." She has a superb voice of rare quality, while her beauty of face and form is exceptional. She is tall, slender and graceful with a face capable of portraying every emotion, yet full of dignity and refinement. In a recent concert at the Kursaal at Lucerne she created a sensation. She has been engaged to sing this winter at the famous San Carlo Theater at Naples.

The Front Row

If every man and every woman would begin now to use Newbro's Herpicide and teach the children to use it, the front row of the next generation would not be bald headed and none of the ladies would be wearing false hair.

Falling hair means trouble. The dandruff germ is there and will in a short time ruin the best head of hair that ever grew.

Too many people, finding they need a hair remedy, allow themselves to be duped into buying and using something said to be just as good or very much like Newbro's Herpicide.

Why do it? Such a remedy is but an imitation, a substitute. Herpicide is the original dandruff germ destroyer. Insist on having genuine Herpicide and take nothing else.

Newbro's Herpicide
Saves the Hair

The results from the very beginning are often astonishing. The hair will cease to fall and instead of being dull and dead takes on the sparkle and luxuriance of true hair beauty.

Herpicide possesses a delicate fragrance which appeals strongly to persons of taste and refinement.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. 10B, Detroit, Mich., will send a nice sample and booklet to any address upon receipt of 10c in stamps or silver.

One dollar bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Applications may be had at the better barber shops and hair dressers.

HALL OF HEROES.

OUR NATIONAL "VALHALLA" BUILT BY AMERICAN WOMEN.

Stately Memorial Hall Erected by Daughters of the American Revolution—Most Impressive Monument Ever Erected by the Sex—A Temple of White Marble in the Corinthian Style.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) March 7.—The Daughters of the American Revolution a few days ago established their national headquarters in the beautiful Memorial Hall, the building of which has been the paramount ambition of the society since its inception in October, 1890. Some few details in the exterior decorations remain to be completed, but for all practical purposes this stately Valhalla, erected from motives of the purest patriotism by this organization of noble and public-spirited women, stands ready for occupancy. This Valhalla is unique. It is the costliest and most impressive monument of its kind ever built by women in this country or any other. Many other halls of fame have been erected and other grand monuments consecrated to the memory of some individual heroic figure in the history of the nation, but this is the first building dedicated to all the recognized heroes of the American revolution, men and women alike. From the artistic standpoint, it is one of the finest buildings which the beautiful capital contains, and from the utilitarian, it is destined to become one of the most useful. But most of all does it typify in the loftiest form what its projectors intended that it should, a perpetual memorial to the heroic dead who made the nation, erected and paid for by the efforts of women who are their lineal descendants.

Mrs. Matthew T. Scott,
president-general D.A.R.

The history and achievements of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is written in marble and made imperishable in tablets and figures of bronze in its Hall of Heroes. October 11, 1890, is hallowed in the annals of the society as Founders' Day, for on that date the organization was effected, eighteen women signing the original draft. Miss Eugenia Washington, Miss Mary Desha and Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth are honored as the original founders and had previously organized the society in a tentative sense. They had frequently discussed the formation of a patriotic society for women after the lines drawn by the Sons of the American Revolution, and on August 9, 1890, they took the first steps toward determining the scope of their embryo organization. Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood sent forth the most ardent appeals to patriotism which resulted in spreading the interest in the infant organization wherever the Starry Banner waves. From the very beginning the necessity of owning a suitable building was apparent, not only for administrative purposes, but to preserve the relics which were flowing in a steady stream as the society expanded. From small beginnings the society has gradually collected the fortune which is represented in the completed hall and in the spacious valuable tract of land on which the Valhalla stands. They consider the spectacle an impressive lesson in the conservation of resources, a policy to which the society is loyal nationally and individually considered.

The Hall of Heroes as it stands today in majestic completeness is a temple of white Vermont marble of the Corinthian style adapted to modern usages. The frontage is 120 feet by 135, the former dimensions facing on Seventeenth street, where the stately main entrance is located. This measurement includes the porticos, the main building being 140 by 140 feet. On the south side is a terrace of 36 by 135 feet on which are arranged the thirteen monoliths, commemorative of and presented by the thirteen original States. The hall is situated in Seventeenth street, between C and D streets and opposite the rolling ground of the Presidential park, where it gradually descends to the river front. Near by is the fine gallery of art presented to the national capital by William W. Corcoran. A near neighbor is the magnificent temple of peace which Andrew Carnegie gave the nation for the use of the Bureau of American Republics. The Hall of Heroes will be a beneficiary in the far-reaching plans which propose to make Washington one of the show cities of the world. Its site, fronting on the Executive park, will always be assured of having no objectionable environment, but rather that it will be included in the general survey of the magnificent sweep of buildings and landscape which the enlargement of the park system will accentuate.

From the inception of the idea, the interior arrangement of the Continental Memorial Hall has been the subject of loving solicitude and unremitting thought on the part of those charged with this arduous duty. Viewed in its completeness it must be regarded as a model of graceful Colonial elegance united with symmetry and practical use. Entering from Seventeenth street, the visitor will find a spacious corridor in marble and stucco, 23 by 24 feet. This corridor leads into the various apartments given over to the national officers and to the auditorium by a series of handsomely carved doors. Over each door and ornamental niche which rounds the entrance hall is placed the bust of some hero of the Revolution presented by States or chapters or individual at the cost of $500 each. These busts have been selected as follows: The State of Washington, the bust of Gen. Washington; the John Hancock Chapter of Massachusetts, Hancock; Mrs. J. E. McWilliams, of Nathan Hale; John Adams Chapter of Massachusetts, John Adams; State of Georgia, George Oglethorpe; Kentucky, Isaac Shelby; New Hampshire, John Stark; and New York City Chapter, Gen. Clinton, and Vermont, Ethan Allen. Kansas has secured a site for a bust, but has not yet announced its hero. The State of Pennsylvania paid $6500 for this handsome corridor. On the right of the main door into the auditorium is a handsome fountain presented by the Army and Navy Chapter of the District of Columbia at the cost of $1500. Opposite on the left wall is the fine bronze bas relief by David d'Angers representing the heroes of the Revolution. It is the gift of Mme. Le Ferme, daughter of the sculptor, and is one of the most interesting objects in the hall. It is marred, however, like so many other gifts from France, by having misspelt words on the inscription tablet.

The auditorium is one of the largest and most conveniently arranged public halls in Washington. It has a seating capacity of nearly two thousand, the stage is spacious and surrounded by numbers of retiring rooms and the acoustic properties are almost perfect. Not only is this hall of value as the setting of the continental congresses, but it has been utilized for scientific gatherings and for lectures given under the auspices of learned societies and it is by far the best fitted for the holding of scientific congresses and conferences. The auditorium soars to majestic height and is finished in a glass opalescent roof in which fretted iron work forms medallions. The walls are tinted in a soft cream and are embellished in stucco designs of apples, grapes and laurel leaves in graceful garlands. From the roof depend four monstrous chandeliers of colonial shape in bronze and crystal. Each cost $450 and are the gifts of Tioughnioga Chapter, New York, and the united chapters of Kansas. The chairs are of green leather in red setting and wide and commodious. There are four boxes arranged on each side of the stage and these are to be furnished in gold, chairs and lounges and crimson velvet hangings edged with gold by the John Marshall Chapter of Kentucky and the Timothy Bigelow Chapter of Massachusetts. The stage has a number of handsome possessions, among which are a table and chair in exact duplicate of the ones used by Thomas Jefferson and others when the Declaration of Independence was signed. A recent gift is a handsome brass lectern, the gift of the Flint Lock and Powder Horn Chamber of Rhode Island. This lectern represents an enormous eagle on the outstretched wings of which rests the Bible from which the chaplain reads every morning at the opening of the sessions of the Continental Congress.

From the auditorium, a series of mahogany doors, all perfect specimens, and of chaste colonial design, lead into the adjoining apartments, which are the library on the north, the museum on the south and the main lobby on the east. These doors were paid for by the following chapters: The Lucy Holcombe, Columbia and Elizabeth Jackson of the District of Columbia, Tuscarora of New York, Letitia Green Stevenson of Illinois, Mary Floyd and Sabra Trumball of Connecticut, Sarah Caswell, Angell of Michigan, Colorado of Colorado and Winona of Winona, Minn.

Mrs. Donald McLean's famous chapter, that of New York City, has furnished the museum and it naturally will be one of the most attractive rooms in the hall. The society is already rich in historical possessions, and these, pending the building of the Valhalla, have been in the safe keeping of the United States Museum. One of the interesting curios now on exhibition is a model of the old frigate Constitution, presented by the Sons of the American Revolution. To visit the library is to learn many new and interesting things about the men who fought the War of the Independence and to appreciate the yeoman work accomplished by their descendants in rearing this stately memorial. The walls of this handsome room are pale buff and the general idea is that of a large, commodious reading room in a rich colonial home. The mantel is especially handsome, and the decorations in soft stucco are twined wreaths of laurels with their berries, and above the mantel and doors are the Greek lamps, symbolic of the light of patriotism and learning. The library has been given by the Mary Washington Chapter of the District of Columbia. Grouped in a convenient suite off these main rooms are rooms devoted to the uses of the national officers. Those on the ground floor have been furnished by the State societies of Missouri, Tennessee, Maryland, Iowa, Ohio and Illinois.

Ascending from each side of the auditorium north and south are two magnificent stairways in white marble, with mahogany rail topped with brass knobs of colonial pattern. These stairways cost $7000 each, and were given by the State chapters of Minnesota and by the Fort Greene Chapter of New York. A brass tablet on the wall between the first and second landing will record these generous gifts. The elevators leading from the basement to the third floor are a memorial gift to Josiah Bartlett, signer of the Declaration of Independence, from New Hampshire, and were given at the settlement of the estate of one of his descendants, Miss Ella Bartlett of Kingston, N. H., and a member of the Mary Bartlett Chapter of the District of Columbia. Of the three massive bronze doors which lead from Seventeenth street into the main corridor, one was given by the State of Massachusetts. Mrs. Francis Berger Moran of Virginia, has promised to pay for the second, and the third remains unassigned.

On the second floor the galleries grouped about the auditorium occupy a large portion of space, but there are many handsome rooms used by the national officers and by the general executive and clerical force of the society. The board room, furnished in magnificent style by the State of Connecticut, occupies a commanding position in the center of the second floor and directly above the corridor. As required by the regulation, this apartment is furnished in colonial design. The doors, divided into small panels of mirror, are especially attractive. Indiana has furnished the room which is to be used by the president-general. It is filled with interesting gifts. Among these may be mentioned the handsome mahogany desk presented by Mrs. Donald McLeon in 1906. A magnificent mahogany clock was presented by the Caroline Scott Harrison Chapter of Indianapolis, in memory of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, who was the first president-general. This room, intended for the Recording Secretary-General, also contains a handsome tribute to Miss Mary Desha, a mahogany chair, on the carved back of which is a panel of oak leaves and acorns, over which a scroll bears the words, "Coeur de chene." It was presented by the "Heart of Oak" Monmouth chapter, Illinois.

The New Jersey room is one of the unique parts of the hall. The woodwork alone cost $1325 and is made from the sunken British ship Augusta, which went down off the Jersey coast during the dark days of the revolution. After lying over a century in its briny grave, it was raised and its well-seasoned timbers became relics of priceless value. The wainscoting, ceiling, rafters, all the massive chairs and tables in the room are made from the British ship. Over the east wall are the arms of New Jersey carved out of the same historic timber. The rooms on the second floor, in addition to those already mentioned, have been decorated and furnished by the following States: Alabama, Texas, New York, Michigan and California, while the rule demands that only colonial furniture and interior decoration are per-colonial, and the various rooms offer a pleasing variety.

The third floor contains the spacious banquet hall and several small rooms adapted for prandial purposes. Virginia has furnished one of these and another has been furnished by Mrs. James Furbee and Miss Harriet W. Mahon as a memorial to their sister, Mrs. Dennison, and it is credited to the State of Delaware.

The Children of the American Revolution have furnished a pleasant room on the third floor for their meetings. It is filled with interesting trophies and when the young patriots are in session the scenes are as animated as those which marked the days of the Virginia Assembly. Mrs. Daniel Lathrop, founder of the Children of the American Revolution, has been a zealous champion of the hall and induced her young charges to contribute liberally to the building fund. It is therefore entirely proper that these embryo great men and women should be given appropriate quarters in the hall. Miss Floretta Vining of Hull, Mass., has furnished two rest rooms adjacent. A commodious kitchen and extensive pantry with various small apartments incident to the administration of the building and some small committee rooms complete the arrangement. Overhead is a pleasant roof garden looking down the broad sweep of the river and far down its windings past the pretty islands and along the splendid park which marks the improvement of the water front since the erection of the new memorial bridge.

This beautifully constructed Pantheon represents the patient accumulation of funds from the modest sum of less than $700 when Mrs. Benjamin Harrison called the first continental Congress together in February, 1892. The site which occupies the greater part of the block from C to D on Seventeenth street cost more than $50,000 and the memorial hall is valued at not less than $500,000. Mrs. Adlai Stevenson and Mrs. John W. Foster, the second and third presidents-general, labored earestly and successfully to add to the fund which was then climbing up to several thousands. But it was not until the second régime of Mrs. Stevenson that enthusiasm reached a national scope. Associated with her was Mrs. Henry M. Shephard of Chicago, chairman of the continental hall committee, and under their joint and able leadership the work became more active and far reaching.

Mrs. Daniel Manning was the fifth supreme officer and she was zealous in this endeavor to bring the memorial hall plan to a successful issue. To her belongs the honor of being the first president-general to become the chairman of the continental hall committee and to direct the work personally. In 1901, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks was elected to the leadership and the funds then amounted to $82,190. Believing that no site could be expected of Congress, a measure which Mrs. Manning had pushed most energetically, Mrs. Fairbanks gave unremitting attention to selecting the best possible location and obtaining it for the least expenditure. On June 4, 1902, at the call of the committee on continental hall, a meeting was held in Mrs. Fairbanks's home and there in the presence of many women who had labored for this end from the very moment that the organization had existence, the present site was purchased with the funds then in hand. Immediately after the purchase of the site, the building of the memorial hall was commenced. Mrs. Fairbanks had the honor of presiding over the laying of the cornerstone when the scene was of unsurpassed brilliancy and in the annals of the society must stand as an epoch. It was Mrs. Fairbanks's priv-congress in this great Pantheon erected by the organization.

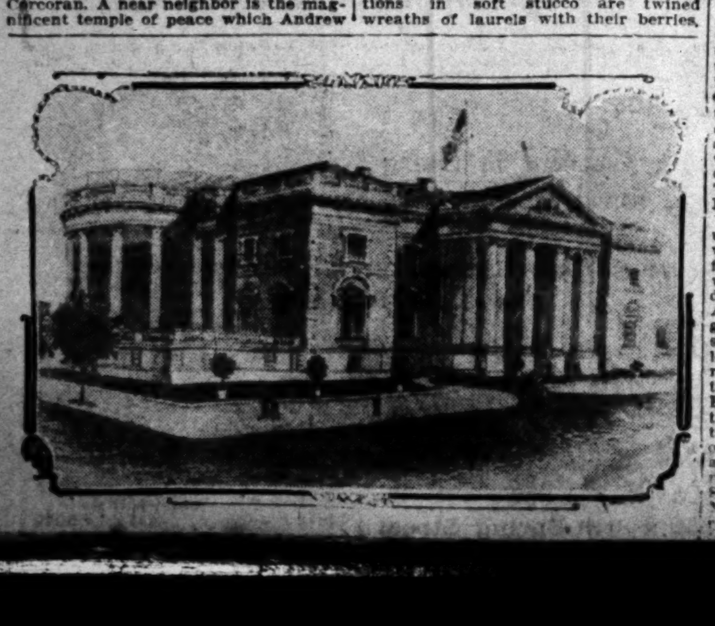
Mrs. Donald McLean, who was the sixth president-general may be said to have crystalized and centralized the plans which have made the memorial hall possible of erection in so short a time. Mrs. McLean took control of the organization when a slight deficit existed and active work had been suspended. Instead of waiting weary and discouraging years to collect the funds, according to the ordinary methods prevailing, she borrowed it by issuing bonds. With ready cash, she set to work energetically with the result that the hall now stands in almost perfect completeness and the society must always remain the debtor of her clear-minded policy.

Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, who succeeded Mrs. McLean last April, and who will have the honor of taking formal possession of the hall, has marked her administration by many measures of keen business acumen. Mrs. Scott has entirely reorganized the method employed by the society in its routine labors and has introduced the newest and most approved ways of handling its complex affairs most economically and expeditiously.



Very Far Away.

One touch there is of magic white,
Surpassing Southern mountains' snow,
That to far sails the dying light
Lends, where the dark ships onward go
Upon the golden highway broad
That leads up to the Isles of God.

One touch of light more magic yet,
Of rarer snow 'neath morn or star,
Where, with her graceful sails all set,
Some happy vessel seen afar,
As if in an enchanted sleep
Steers o'er the tremulous stretching deep.

O ship! O sail! far must ye be Ere gleams like that upon ye light.
O'er golden spaces of the sea.
From mysteries of the lucent night,
Such touch comes never to the boat
Wherein across the waves we float.

O gleams more magic and divine,
Life's whitest sail ye still refuse,
And flying on before us shine
Upon some distant bark ye choose.
—By night or day, across the spray,
That sail is very far away.

The House of Pain.

Unto the prison house of pain none willingly repair—
The bravest who an entrance gain
Reluctant linger there—
For pleasure, passing by that door, stays not to cheer the sight,
And sympathy but muffles sound and banishes the light.

Yet in the prison house of pain things full of beauty blow—
Like Christmas roses, which attain
Perfection 'mid the snow—
Love, entering in his mild warmth the darkest shadows melt,
And often, where the hush is deep, the waft of wings is felt.

Ah, me, the prison house of pain—what lessons there are bought.
Lessons of a sublimer strain
Than any elsewhere taught—
Amid its loneliness and gloom, grave meanings grow more clear,
For to no earthly dwelling place seems
God so strangely near.

Will be shown in this exhibit, which has been attractively arranged on the Main floor in the rear of Aisle 5. And to give even greater realism to the occasion we have arranged by courtesy of Geo. J. Birkel Music Company to give each half hour, beginning Monday

Portfolio of Peary Pictures With Subscriptions for Hampton's Magazine Free

In connection with the exhibit we have arranged to take subscriptions for Hampton's Magazine, that is now carrying Peary's own story. These are handsome photogravures size 7x10 and 11x14. Subjects similar to the ones on exhibition. They are free of advertising and would be worth from 25c to 75c in Art Stores. These will be given free with a year's subscription of Hampton's, price of which is $1.50.

Peary's Lecture on the North Pole As Featured by the Victor Talking Machine on that Wonderful "Auxetophone"

A machine that produces full 70 per cent. of the original sound. For the opening days of the exhibit you will be able to hear Commander Peary talk to you almost as plainly as though he was standing in front of you.

This lecture of Peary's is instructive. The exhibit of that rare relic, Peary's flag, will be seen in but few places in America, and the Broadway Department Store in Los Angeles has been selected as one of these places.

Below We Illustrate a Facsimile of the Flag As It Now Appears

This flag was given to Commander Peary by his loving wife, when he made his farther North trip and six pieces have been cut from it one at a time and left at the termination of each expedition.

But the flag itself tells a story of suffering and privation in the far North, each jagged rent mended with a white patch represents a step of progress in the search for the pole, which finally ended in success on April 6, 1909.

Barker Bros.—Largest Dealers in Household and Office Furnishings in Western America—Established 1880—Barker Bros.

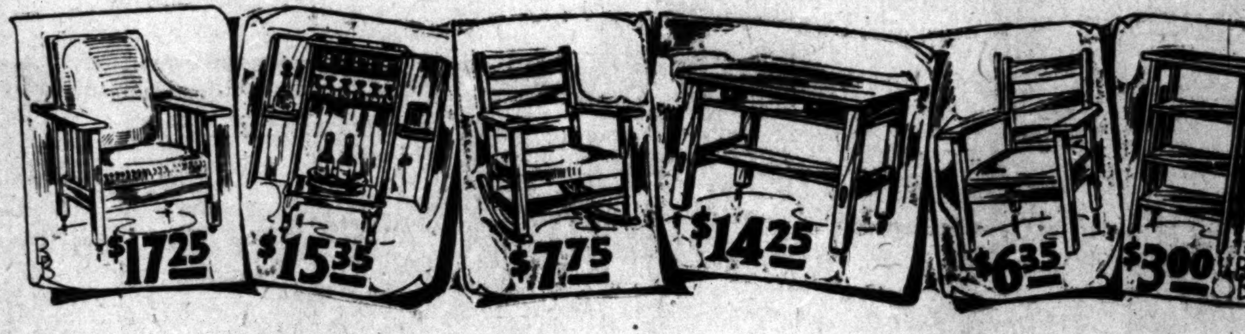
—This Sweeping "Competitive Clearance" Has Saved Many Hundreds of Dollars for Hundreds of Buyers!

—Worthy, Beautiful New Furniture Seldom Purchasable at Such Low Prices as Specially Offered Now

—Values This Week as Unusual as Those of Last Week—Hundreds of Pieces for All Uses Are Included

Reductions in Every Case From One-Fifth to One-Third

—This event stands out in bold contrast to the ordinary "every day sale," as an opportunity exceptional in more ways than one. The furniture itself, because it is all strictly new, carefully built by makers of established reliability—the better sort, all through—of splendid quality and artistic design. The range of choice, because of its broad and comprehensive character, giving so many styles in each particular class of articles, not only in style but finish, that pleasing selection is a practical certainty. And the reductions of such positive nature that the saving in cost leaves no room for doubt as to the assurance of genuine economy. It's an opportunity no furniture seeker can well afford to overlook.



—In spite of the overcast, rain-threatening skies prevailing the early part of the week, the furniture-buying public, not only of Los Angeles, but of the surrounding cities and towns, responded in large numbers, and were particularly liberal in their buying. Confidence in advance that the offerings could be absolutely depended upon, as being meritorious to an exceptional degree, brought them. The fact that the quality of the furniture was found to be strictly up to the high standard claimed, and the values equal to the extraordinary character stated, left but one result—record-breaking sales. It is certain that never did we experience such a volume of business in any February week before. Those who come this week will have equal reason to congratulate themselves.

Many Patterns Bedroom Pieces—Dressers, Chiffoniers, Dressing Tables, Beds, Bedroom Tables, Chairs and Rockers—a Wide Range of Selection—1-5 to 1-3 Off.

—Morris Chair shown above—fumed oak, Mission style; highest class throughout; genuine leather spring seat, and leather cushion with springs to prevent sagging; regular price $25; "Competitive" Clearance price, $17.25.

—Cellarette, shown above—fumed oak, of handsome design, and careful construction; complete with glassware; usual selling price $23; "Competitive" Clearance price, $15.35.

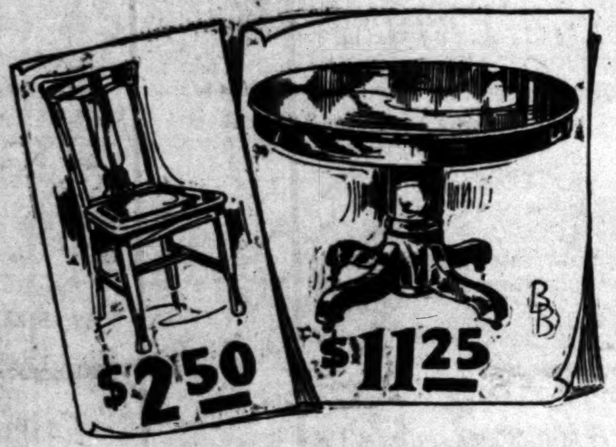
—Rocker, shown above—medium size, medium low, solid comfort style; leather seat; "Competitive" Clearance price $7.75.

—Living Room or Library Table above shown—L. & J. G. Stickley's famous make; fumed oak; keyed construction; top 36x24 inches; hammered copper drawer pulls; regularly $19; now $14.25.

—Living Room Chair, shown above—full quarter-sawed selected oak, fumed finish; genuine Spanish leather seat; both inviting in appearance and comfortable for use; regularly $9.50; now $6.35.

—Magazine Stand, shown above—fumed oak, substantially built, well finished; a piece that will harmonize nicely in any Mission furnished room; the value speaks for itself.

Mission and Colonial Chairs, Rockers and Tables, Ladies' Colonial Desks, Dining Tables and Chairs, Many Patterns at Worth-While Savings—1-5 to 1-3 Off.



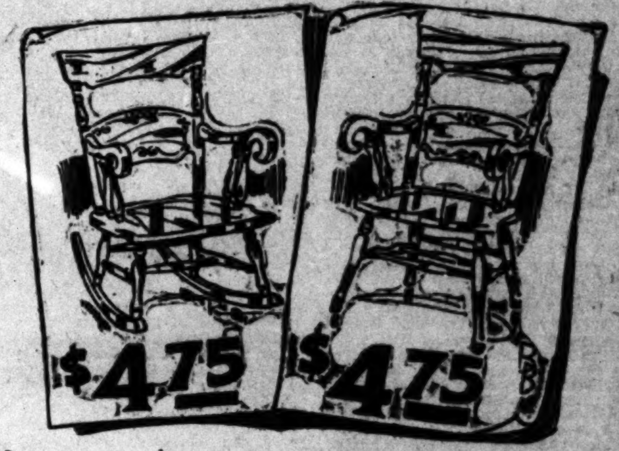
Brass Beds

Also Cellarettes Reduced

—added for this week's selling, are more than thirty patterns in beautiful ¾-size brass beds, every one at 1-5 to 1-3 less than our former low prices; also, fully twenty styles in particularly fine Cellarettes in golden and fumed oak and mahogany, every one at 1-5 to 1-3 reduction.

—There will be found furniture for every room in a home, and such an assortment that we are confident all seekers will be able to find articles to suit their individual taste—and in every case at most decided savings from usual cost.

—The only exception in this sweeping clearance of competitive patterns is office furniture, which is not included.



—Dining Chair, as shown above; a solid golden oak full box chair, with quarter-sawed back and genuine leather seat; at the price we feature this chair this week, we do not believe you could duplicate the value in a single store in the United States. Wise buyers won't overlook this offering.

—the dining table shown above is of golden oak, with 42-inch quarter-sawed top; six-foot size, solid pedestal style; dining tables as good as this are not offered every day, or every week at any such price as this. It's worth looking up!

Two Specially Attractive Clearance Offerings

Ladies' Colonial Desks

—about twenty different patterns, in mahogany, golden oak, and birdseye maple—some with the splendid carved posts and glass or wood knobs—others with beautiful inlay panels—all from the best Grand Rapids makers; prices ranging from $9.00 to $95—all now at

One-fifth to One-third Reductions

Mahogany Dining Chairs

—about twenty different patterns in beautiful mahogany dining chairs, mostly handsome reproductions of Chippendale, Sheraton, and American Colonial designs, in sets of six side chairs and one arm chair to match; regular prices from $1.75 to $30 each; all now at

One-fifth to One-third Reductions

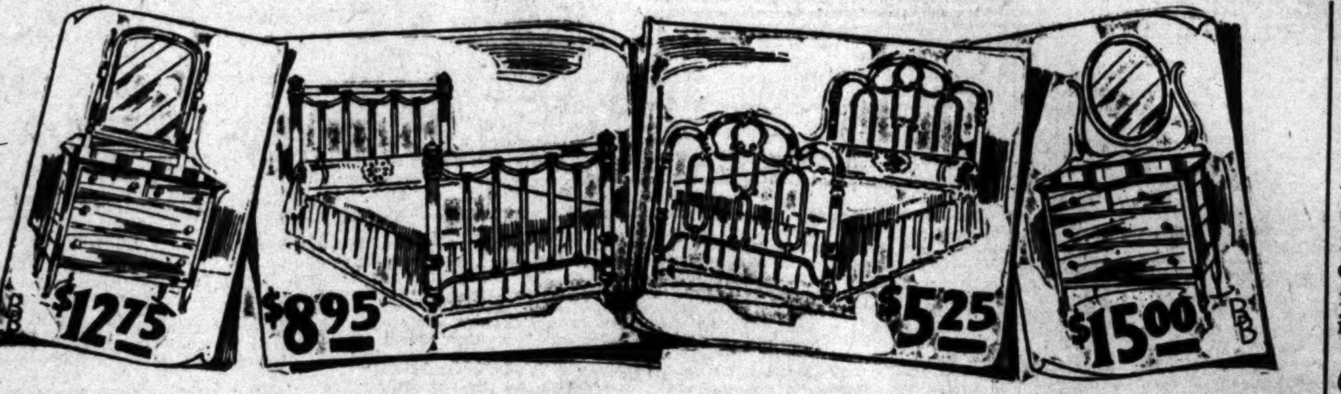
—the mahogany finish parlor rocker and chair above shown are two of the most extraordinary values that any store in Los Angeles has ever featured; the design is new, particularly artistic, semi-Colonial in character; back panels are beautifully inlaid with white holly and genuine mother of pearl. We have just about enough for one or two days' selling, and would therefore suggest that intending purchasers should not defer coming too long if they do not wish to be disappointed. If you want a particularly attractive parlor or living room rocker or chair, this is an opportunity to gratify your desire at a price greatly below ordinary cost. We can say without hesitation that it's an offering not likely to be duplicated for a good while.

—visit our new Mission Furniture Room, entire south main floor, devoted entirely to the display of L. & J. G. Stickley's famous line of fumed oak furniture—the finest Mission display in the city;

—visit our newly arranged and re-beautified Drapery Dept. and our handsomely appointed Decorative Dept., upon the Fifth Floor—the best equipped departments in these lines in Los Angeles;

—visit our interesting new display of Colonial mahogany furniture and showing of Flanders and Early English reproductions, including the beautiful Berkey & Gay products, upon our north main floor;

—these are all displays worthy of the attention of lovers of the beautiful.



—Colonial turned post dresser, of golden oak, as shown above, one of the season's late styles, and an exceptionally well built and finished piece of furniture; a pure English design; wood knobs, French plate mirror; regular value $17.

—full size Vernis Martin gold finish bed, with massive two-inch posts; built by one of the best iron bed factories in the country; a bed that would be considered an excellent value at $13; one of the new designs of the last season.

—another of the last season's most popular design beds, in Vernis Martin gold finish; heavy continuous posts; a particularly dainty pattern; one of the greatest values at the special price that has perhaps ever been offered in Los Angeles.

—maple or mahogany dresser, just like the illustration above; hand polish finish, with hardwood interior trim; wood knobs and French plate bevel mirror; a truly remarkable value and one which is seldom duplicated.

WOMEN DESTROY MEN'S COMFORT.

OLD-FASHIONED MAN WANTS EXCLUSIVENESS.

Believes Men Should Have Some Places Where They Can Smoke and Talk as They Could Before Women Invaded the Hotel Lobbies With Their "Flustery Activities."

"The trouble with me, probably," remarked the man with the old fashioned face, who sat curled up in a far corner of the fashionable hotel lobby, to a New York Sun reporter, "is that I'm a back number. That must be it. I can't belong to this period at all.

"Tell you why. Do you notice the horde of women flocking to and fro through this hotel lobby? Well, maybe I oughtn't to say it, but it sure makes me kind of nervous and irritable to see women ambling around a hotel lobby.

"Understand me. Of course, it's all right if the women want it that way. Any old thing that women want in the United States of America is right if they want it hard enough. All I'm talking about is the way the thing affects me, an out of date, behind the times, back number sort of old fogy person.

"It has been only a matter of about twelve or fourteen years since women first began to take possession of hotel lobbies in the United States. Now there's no dodging them.

"A hotel lobby, no matter how comfortable and luxurious in itself, never has seemed the same to me since the women knocked the bars down and took possession for their own more or less flustery, flabbergasted, aimless, attention attracting, disturbing activities.

"Their flitting hither and yon in a hotel lobby, according to my acknowledgedly crabbled view, knocks the tar out of all the comfort and repose that the lobbies of first-rate hotels used to have.

"How's that? Oh, yes, I've heard that idea expressed too—about the sense of sweetness and light and dignity and charm and all similar that the presence of women in hotel lobbies is supposed to impart.

"Unto which I reply fluff, and then some more fluff! Women impart charm and dignity and diffuse sweetness and light in places where they rightfully belong, but when they bust through the ramparts and take possession of places where according to my peevish view they do not rightfully belong and where they were never meant to belong they don't impart anything but a sense of their own pushingness, a sense of their implied challenge 'I want this and I'm going to have it whether you like it or not,' and they don't impart anything whatever of the feminine charm that is supposed to inhere to them.

"Now, there are all kinds of reception rooms and writing rooms and parlors and music rooms and such like set aside a purpose for the use and comfort of women in hotels. Why don't they use 'em? The only place where a male guest of a hotel can have any sense of freedom and intercourse with his fellow creatures without unnecessary and irksome restriction is the hotel lobby.

"In the gone time he could stand or sit in the lobby, meeting up with the bunch, exchanging talk with them and not feel any necessity to look over his shoulder to see if women were listening or to put the soft pedal on his speech or phrases. Now it't different.

"Quite recently in New York hotel lobbies I have seen fussy, arrogant looking women breeze into the lobbies and begin to sniff sniff. Then, after sniff sniffling, they'd make some perfectly audible, and meant to be audible observation of a very peevish and supposed to be crushing character about the horrid cigar smoke and then they'd brush away imaginary smoke from their faces with their hands, and in general they'd make it just as danged measly and ornery and unpleasant for the men sitting around in the lobby as they possibly knew how to make it.

"Now, where do these women want men who stop at hotels to go for their smokes? Down in the cellar with the firemen? Up on the roof? Out in the kitchen with the scullions? Or do they want them to hike out of the hotel altogether, rain or snow, or hail of sleet, or sunshine, and take their cigars on a park bench?

"Perhaps they'd like us to knock off smoking altogether, all of us at once? Ye-eh. Grand. Great chance for that, certainly.

"Get me. I'm for women. Like 'em amazingly. I'd do anything on earth that lay within my power for nice sensible women. I've got one of that kind for a wife, and I've had her for more than thirty years now. Got four grown daughters, too, that come pretty near measuring up to the standard of the modern women in the essentials that are worth while.

"But I took a little part in the education of the girls myself. My part was to impress upon them the fact that while it's up to men to go to any amount of trouble, depart from any comforting or beguiling path, take any reasonable pains to help women folks, yet men themselves are possessed of certain inalienable rights bearing on and appertaining to their sex and the stunts that they're called upon to perform in this life, that women have no right whatever to seek to take away from them. I made that part of the education of my girls so thorough that I think it came mighty middling nigh to being impressed upon them for something like keeps.

"A little while ago I went to a vaudeville theater in this town where the men are permitted to smoke. That being the case, I smoked.

"But I didn't get the least bit of fun out of my smoking, though my one purpose in attending that vaudeville theater was to sit down in a cheerful place with something entertaining going on, where I could enjoy a cigar or two. There were three or four women sitting near me who took all of the fun out of it so far as I was concerned.

"They fumed and sniffed over my cigar, three for half smokes, too, they were, son—and they fanned their faces with their programmes, and made cracks to each other about boors that had the audacity to smoke in the presence of ladies, and all similar, until in disgust I simply got up and came away from there long before the show was over.

"Now there are slews and slathers of vaudeville theaters in this town where there is no smoking and where exactly the same performers appear as at the houses where smoking is allowable for men, but the women wouldn't go to those non-smoking theaters. Nope. They attended the vaudeville theaters where men, often after arduous days, go for the solace of a smoke with music and such like, and then they make it so all fired miserable for some of the men that they can't stand it.

"Another little wail while I'm at it, for it isn't often that us old crabs get a chance. Women employés in hotel and other barber shops; let's knock them. Manicures and cashier girls, I mean.

"They get me on the raw, too. They get most of the men, I know on the raw. If the boss barbers who employ women in their shops only knew it there are heaps of men who deliberate-are women lolling around. A barber shop, too, you see, is one of those places where a man expects to have a certain amount of freedom to action and repose; where he likes to cast off his lovely manners and be sort of natural and maleish. He can't do that with women in the barber shop. He's got to keep up the old pretense, the old make-believe.

"Woman, lovely woman! I'm for her, but I'm for her where she belongs, and there only!"

EDUCATIONAL DRIFT.

Esperanto has a specially good purpose according to Dr. H. W. Yemans, army surgeon at Fort Wayne, president of the Detroit Esperanto Club, as a corrector of slovenly English. The Esperanto grammar has only 16 rules, he says. "It has no exceptions and is entirely logical and scientific. It gives a person such idea of correct grammar as could never be obtained elsewhere as readily, and it can be learned in an hour. The whole language can be learned in three months with one or two hours' study a day. It is the key to all languages and its sounds are general to all languages. Americans are behind Europeans in its use. On the continent business men use it quite generally."

"Equal pay for equal work" has long been the demand of women teachers in the United States, says a writer in the Delineator for March. Year after year, as their profession has been reduced more and more to a science in the widespread effort to improve the public schools, the great army of devoted women whose calling means more to the future citizenship of the country than any other of the learned professions, have become restive under the most patent injustice. Work has been increased, but the pay has not been adjusted so that it could be accepted as just compensation. There has been always discrimination in favor of the men members of the profession.

Dr. J. G. Bullock of Washington, a physician of national reputation, declares that a rigid medical inspection of every pupil in the public schools should be made, not only at the school but visits should be made to their homes to see that no child goes to school from an infected locality. "All visual and aural peculiarities should be noted and the throat thoroughly examined and all mental and physical defects carefully looked into."

The rapidity with which New York City is growing is seen in the fact that the appropriation for new schoolhouses during the coming year amounts to $6,799,000, while the total expenditure on public school buildings since Jan. 1. 1906, has been $33,060,785. During the past six years the total expenditures for new schoolhouses has been $60,000,-

Among the Public Schools

There have been a number of instructive talks at the Los Angeles High School during the week. One of the most interesting was that given by Mr. Sterrett, head of the art department, upon the subject of missions. Mr. Sterrett entered into the causes which led to the establishment of these landmarks, and traced the style of architecture back to its origin in Spain and Italy. He entered into the struggles between the various orders, in their attempts to conquer the desert, and incidentally gave a brief history of the Franciscan, Dominican and Jesuit orders. This is one of a series of lectures pertaining to the history of art and architecture, which is being given in this school. Lantern slides picturing not only the missions, but their prototypes, in the older lands, accompanied the talk.

Mr. Harvey addressed the school upon the subject of butterflies, showing his wonderful collection of these beautiful creatures, and giving much useful and interesting information. One of the strangest specimens shown, in illustration of prospective mimicry, was the Kallima, or dead leaf which so perfectly resembles the autumn leaf as to be completely protected from preying birds. Then there is the edible Viceroy, which mimics, in appearance, the inedible Monarch, thereby living to perpetuate his kind. Many lessons of the wonderful provisions made by nature for her children were learned from this talk, and a study of the handsomely-mounted specimens.

A collection of birds from Central America and Mexico, many from Matzatland, is displayed just now at the Los Angeles High School for the purchase of the scientific department, if it so decides. Gorgeous indeed are some of these feathered beauties. The cardinal fly catcher, with head and breast of a fiery red; the bluejay, with long sweeping tail, and great topknot, an exaggerated specimen of our bluejay, and a pretty, daintily-marked little dove, scarcely half the size of our wild dove, were among the specimens noted. Los Angeles High School already possesses a fine collection of birds; but there are many in the one under inspection which are not found here.

The elections of the Star and Crescent, which occurred on Friday, were followed by great festivities. The Senior B's Winter II were brave in their newly-chosen colors, emerald and white, the girls being clad in white and wearing white carnations, with green ferns, at the party which followed the election. These blended with the gold and white of the Senior A's, made a beautiful effect when pennants were waved, and festivity reigned. A spread, followed by a dance in the gym, the floor being waxed for the occasion, completed the event. The programmes were in green and white, and the High School Orchestra, under the leadership of Marco Wolff, furnished the music. Miss Cooper and Miss Du Boise are the teachers in charge of these classes.

The design for the school pin, the school seal, and for diplomas for the school, were made in the art department.

The staff for the Blue and White has been selected, Oscar Werner being editor-in-chief.

The Phrenocosmian Society will hold its election and a parliamentary drill next week.

The new gymnasium building is well under way, the foundations are laid and the framework is being raised, and a speedy completion is assured. Over 500 girls have joined the outdoor recreation classes at Los Angeles High School.

The selection of the emerald green as one of the class colors and the fact that St. Patrick's Day is so near, has given rise to considerable merriment among the students, and one of the Senior B girls, Miss Mae Thomson, has written a class song, parodying Columbia, and to be sung to the tune of St. Patrik's Day in the morning. It runs as follows:

Oh, Winter II, the gem of the High School,
To thee all our praises in honor we bear,
For behold there is always a something adoing
When Winter II, our class, is there.
Now, see Summer 10, Oh, how they tremble,
When we in our glory come in sight.
We laud thee as here in the hall we assemble—.
Three cheers for emerald, green and white.

Herbert Lee, head of the English department of Los Angeles High School, is a recent acquisition to the force of that institution. Mr. Lee is a Stanford graduate, and has had wide experience in teaching his particular branch, and has definite ideas upon the subjects of the teaching of grammar, spelling and several other fundamental studies, which have to do with good English. The Monday morning spelling classes have become a feature of the school, it being the plan to select the most frequently misspelled words through the agencies of the various teachers. The Seniors meet with the English teacher and learn correct pronunciation and then give out the words to classes. Another drill is given in the writing of business letters. "It is, I think, very necessary that we all have a thorough grounding in the principles of correct spelling, grammar and the ordinary uses of the English language," said the head of this department, "or otherwise any acquaintance which we may have with the classic gems of literature will be of little value to us." In studying the English classics, it is the plan of this educator to select the principal writer of each period, and to learn, through the chief work of this genius, all that is best of the time for which he stood. But, whatever else is learned, or unlearned, spelling and grammar will remain at the foundation, and hence the stress laid upon these branches and the drill maintained. Thus far, the Seniors, under Miss McPherron, have made the best record in spelling. It is the intention to take into consideration the spelling record in markings for the year.

Prof. Francis has gone North, upon invitation, and gave a talk at Berkeley, before the department of pedagogy, on the subject of high school management. At Stanford, Prof. Francis will deliver an address upon the effect of high school curriculums on college entrance requirements. This seems rather a novel way of putting it, since we have been in the habit of thinking that the requirements of the college dominated the High School curriculum; but it seems that the progressive movements in the high schools, such as the installation of the mechanical arts, have led the colleges to take this kind of work into consideration. This is something on the order of the child educating the parent, and, after all, is not that just what is happening every day? The influence of the school upon the home is very potent, whether through the parent-teachers' clubs or merely by means of association in the home. The upliftment of the masses through this source is inestimable in the progress of civilization.

In the foundry, at Polytechnic, the biggest piece of work ever undertaken there has just been completed. Two great wheels, weighing 650 pounds each, have been made, to use upon a gasoline engine. "We are doing this work for practice," said Mr. Davies, head of this department, "and with a view to studying the construction, and the working of this sort of machinery." This engine will be used for exhibition purposes in the new science hall. While this is the most ambitious casting which has been made, in this foundry, it is possible to cast a ton; and in fact three tons could be melted in the cupola. All of this kind of work to be used in the new additions to Polytechnic, will be made here.

Ground is being broken for the new art building, and there is little doubt that all will be in readiness in time for the opening of school, next September.

At an Aud call, on Friday morning, Mrs. Edith Jackson Waite gave several readings before Polytechnic, which were much appreciated by the assembly. Mrs. Waite is a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory, in Boston.

On Thursday, Mr. Elliott gave a talk on "The Man of the Hour."

Miss Humphrey's class in journalism, paid a visit to the Echo Park playgrounds, one day last week, for the purpose of writing a newspaper story on the subject, putting into practice the teachings along this line.

Miss Ross and Dr. Bentley each gave talks to the girls during the week upon the subject of health and physical care; and Miss Gridley talked to them upon the best books to read. These talks are a part of the series planned, early in the year, for the purpose of bringing into closer relations the women teachers of the institution and the girl students.

When the new buildings are completed, the art department will place upon them its individual stamp, in the decorative tiles for halls and stairways and in mural decorations. The head of this department has a way of teaching which is quite original. Not long ago one of the students came to him for advice as to the framing of a picture which he had painted. The following conversation took place: "Would you advise framing this in bright or dull gold?" "Why in either?" "You think some color would be better?" "Certainly. You want to emphasize the principal note in your picture." Comprehension dawned. Then the instructor began to critically examine the work. "Is that background perfectly satisfactory to you?" he asked. "Well, no. I think I could do it better." Then, "Do you feel that you have done your best in such, and such a matter?" The student acknowledged that he did not believe he had. "Then, why do you frame it?" No answer. "If you can do it better, why not do it over before framing? You have more paper?" Yes, the pupil had more paper. "You see," the instructor went on, kindly, "if we frame a picture which we know is not our best, we begin to tolerate it, and to get fond of it, and insidiously, our standard is lowered by the presence of the thing; it absolutely injures us."

At Olive Street High School requisitions were being made out, during the week, for the equipment and supplies of the new Manual Arts High School.

It is no small task to think out and provide for the requirements of such an institution. Equipment means not only the drawing requisites, and books for the library, but seats, desks, book cases, and in fact, everything necessary for running the many departments. Dr. Wilson has been assisted in this work by Mr. Sterrett of the art department of Los Angeles High School. All requisitions for schools goes before the Board of [illegible] which body passes upon [illegible] either approves or disapproves [illegible] week was requisition week [illegible] the public school system.

erine von Rannes; "Weingenlied," "Die Wasserrose," Richard Strauss; "Die Ziegeunerin," "Er Ist's," Hugo Wolf.

Mme. Evelina Roberti, French Canadian soprano of considerable reputation and wide experience, will be heard in recital at Simpson Auditorium on Thursday evening.

Mme. Roberti will sing an aria from "Freischutz," Scotch and Irish songs, the Cavatina from "Il Trovatore," and the Rossini "Inflammatus." She will also play two of her own piano compositions, the Scherzo Caprice and "Dreamy Symphony."

Mme. Roberti will be assisted by several well-known artists, including William Edson Strobridge, Miss Beatrice Azuas, W. Oliver, Mrs. Claudia Hazen White and Mme. L. Audet.

Archibald Sessions's eighty-fifth organ recital will be given in Christ Church, Wednesday afternoon, with Miss Mary E. Gowans, contralto, as soloist.

The programme will include a Hollins Concerto Rondo, the Andantino from the Tschaikowsky Symphony in F minor, the Lamare Barcarolle, the Guilmant "Marche Funebre et Chant Seraphique," and the Gustin Wright nuptial march.

Miss Gowans will sing a recitative and aria from "The Light of the World."

With four new singers coming for his Café Chantant Monday, and the retention of Helen Byron and the Spanish trio, Al Levy feels that he is justified in declaring that the coming week will be the strongest musically that he has offered.

Mlle. Illon Bergere, the "Hungarian Nightingale," will be the new prima donna, soprano. She is from Buda-Pesth where she was a leading singer in the grand opera. She also appeared in a similar capacity in Vienna, and has made a success in many of the European capitals. She has a fine operatic soprano, a wide repertoire, and much is expected of her.

Miss Jeanie Fletcher, Scotch character singer, will give songs of her native heath in the tartan and plaid. Miss Fletcher has toured extensively at the head of her own company, and is a singer of repute. Her selections will be largely confined to the best Scotch ballads.

Sig. Sirmo Locagli, violinist, pianist and baritone, will be heard not only in operatic solo numbers, but will render instrumental solos on his violin.

Miss Clara Van Zandt will be a novelty, in that she will be the first monologue artist to appear on the Levy stage.

With Helen Byron's new songs and costumes, and the Spanish trio, de la Sierra, Pia and Calvo, in solo, duet and trio numbers, and with the music of the Kammermeyer Orchestra, and its instrumental soloists, the programme is completed.

The Young Men's Auxiliary of Holy Cross Catholic Church will present a novelty in honor of St. Patrick at Rhode's Hall, Fifty-fifth and Moneta on Wednesday, the eve of St. Patrick's Day, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Father T. F. Fahey. The proceeds will be applied on the parish school fund.

The entertainment, which has been in preparation for the past four or five weeks, will be under the direction of Phil A. Kilfoil, who will be seen as interlocutor of the Irish minstrel show which will form part of the performance. The "bones" and "tambo" of the show will be John Poole and W. L. Murphy, and the musical programme will be presented by Tony Daley, John Donohue, Paul O'Neill, Will J. Daley, Frank Brady, Peter McClean, Vincent Daley, J. P. Sullivan, Sam'l Crawford, Paul Daley, Charles Schoenbaum and Joseph Cox. The customary "nigger business" of the old-time minstrel show will give way to Irish songs and stories and the participants will dispense with the "burnt cork" make-up. A special feature will be presented by Miss Margaret McClean and little Lillian Merle Dix, assisted by the chorus of male voices.

Paloma and Karla Schramm have returned to Los Angeles. All lovers of music will be glad to welcome "Little Paloma Schramm," whom many will remember as the child pianist of ten years ago. During the intervening time, Paloma has been at work, with all the earnestness and enthusiasm characteristic of her. She has not only studied faithfully in the art for which she is so eminently gifted, but has also acquired a thorough and practical education along other lines, and today is well fitted to take her place among the mature artists.

As a little child, Paloma gave promise of exceptional musical attainments, and this promise she has apparently fulfilled.

Paloma and her sister, Karla, will give two concerts at Simpson Auditorium, one on the evening of March 24, the other on the afternoon of March 26. During these concerts the audience will be invited to submit musical themes, written out, and from these themes one will be selected, from which Paloma will improvise. She did this, it will be remembered, when she was a child.

Maud Powell, delightful American women violinists, will play at Simpson Auditorium March 22.

Her programme will include the Tartini "Devil's Trill," the Vieuxtemps Concerto in D Minor, the Cesar Franck Sonata for Violin and Piano in A Major, the Dvorak Slavic Dance in A Major, the Mozart Minuett, Miss Powell's arrangement of Massenet's "Twilight" and the Wieniawski "Airs Russes."

Miss Mabelle Clarke, soprano, will be heard in recital Wednesday evening, next, in Symphony Hall, Blanchard building. She will be assisted by Miss Frieda Pycke, pianist, while Miss Helen Werner will act as accompanist. Miss Clarke's programme will include the "Vainka's Song," by Wishaw; "Shadow Song," from Dinorah; song cycle, "Life of a Rose," by Liza Lehman, and two songs by Frieda Pycke. The concert will be presented under the direction of Carl Bronson.

The Orpheus Club is planning to give future concerts in the Auditorium.

The Flonzaley quartette is booked at Simpson Auditorium April 29.

Mary Le Grand Reed will leave for San Francisco the last of this month. She will give recitals in Northern California, the first of which will take place at the St. Francis Hotel.

Alice Marie Wentlund, soprano, assisted by Ruth Rivers, pianist, and Harold Walberg, violinist, gave a recital last evening in Blanchard Hall. The programme was diversified and well arranged, and the audience manifested hearty appreciation of the numbers given.

A Lenten song recital will be given at the Woman's Club House on South Figueroa street, this afternoon.

The Municipal Band, under Harley Hamilton's direction, will play in Central Park this afternoon, weather permitting, and will present a programme including the "Tannhauser" march, the Pestalozza "Chiribiribin" waltz, Gillet's "La Lettre de Manon," Pryor's "After Sunset," the overture to "Der Freischutz," the Von Blon "Serenade d'Amour," Bucalossi's "A Hunting Scene," Clarke's Entr Acte "Mimi," and Tavan's "March Orientale."

Adelaide Gosnell, the brilliant 14-year-old pianist, whose accomplishments The Times described at length last Sunday, will be heard in recital Friday evening at Blanchard Hall. She will play the Mendelssohn Op. 28 Fantasie, the Bach Prelude and Fugue, Part 1, No. 21, the Haydn Andante and Variations in F Minor, the Scarlatti Sonata in A Major, the Beethoven Andante in F, a Chopin waltz and Scherzo, the Schumann "Papillons," the Leschetitzky Intermezzo in octaves, the Liszt Liebestraum, the Moszkowski "Jongleur," and the Second Rhapsody of Liszt.

Richard Lucchesi of this city has just received a congratulatory letter from Arthur Foote, the American composer, on Mr. Lucchesi's new manuscript opera, "Marquis de Pompadour." With the letter he sent, also, his last Trio, Op. 42, for pianoforte, violin and 'cello, a friendly dedication of which the local composer feels very proud.

Lillian A. Smith, pianist, assisted by Tenor Roland Paul, gave an interesting and well-attended recital at Hotel Raymond on Friday evening.

Moore's Band, at Eastlake today, will present a programme including the Benediction of the Swords, from "Les Huguenots," Bachmann's "La Mondaine" waltz, Balfe's "The Siege of Rochelle" overture, the Dvorak "Humoresque," a selection from Tschaikowsky's "Eugen Onegin," the Donizetti Funeral March, the second Suite L'Arlisienne of Bizet and several popular selections.

MARY TURNER SALTER.

Illinois Woman Wins Fame as Singer and Composer—Songs Show Great Versatility.

To have achieved double fame in her professional career—first as singer and later as composer—has been the good fortune of Mary Turner Salter, says a writer in Musical America.

Born in Peoria, Ill., and inheriting a sensitive, musical nature, Mary Turner, while still a child, played and sang in concerts with a younger sister, who was a contralto. Her early study was with Dr. Max Schilling, in Burlington, Iowa. Her family realized that she had a rich mezzo-soprano voice, and she was sent to develop it further by study with John O'Neill, at the New England Conservatory of Music, at Boston, and with Mme. Erminie Rudersdorf, in New York.

She soon became known as a concert and oratorio singer of great charm, and in this capacity filled engagements under such directors as B. J. Lang, Theodore Thomas and Leopold Damrosch in company with such well-known soloists as Annie Louise Cary, Myron W. Whitney and the famous Ole Bull.

Although accustomed from early childhood to give expression to her fancies by means of the piano, it was only after her marriage that Mrs. Salter began to give more definite attention to composition, and then chiefly as a diversion and rest from the duties of a busy domestic life.

While the change from the concert platform to supervising a home was a very happy one, yet when the care of babies made such demands upon her strength that singing was for a time given up, the longing for musical expression was so insistent that the songs "just happened," as Mrs. Salter expresses it. Yet every one can read between their lines the inspiration of a talent not to be denied.

Mrs. Salter says it never seemed as if any one else could care for the songs, because they were just the natural expression of herself, modestly ignoring the fact that that is the principal desideratum in art.

Many of her songs are pure products of musical feeling, without preparation or special study, since Mrs. Salter has given only meager attention to the theory and technic of musical composition. Indeed, it is delightful to hear her say she "made them up" while engaged in such essentially feminine domestic occupations as baking, sewing, marketing and others of the homely duties of everyday life. "Contentment," for instance, was written while she was busy making cakes; and, with a delicious sense of humor—so often lacking in women, 'tis said—Mrs. Salter adds that the cake, in spite of the diversion, was a success. Certainly the song has proved to be. The oriental cycle, "A Night in Naishapur," was composed on "moving day," while the family was packing, and "The Pine Tree" "just came" while the mother was looking after her small youngster in Central Park.

The first song which Mrs. Salter had the courage to write out, "A Water Lily," was offered as a birthday remembrance to her husband, who is the well-known organist and composer, now director of music at Williams College, Massachusets.

Often she is able to "think out" a song during the night and hold it clearly until day, but hundreds of melodies conceived are never put on paper, for Mrs. Salter almost thinks in rhythm, so insistently does her musical thought clamor for expression. Many times words and music come simultaneously, and many charming songs, both sacred and secular, testify to her ability as poet-musician.

Her friends are rejoiced that Mrs. Salter has been persuaded to take up recital work again, for the reason that the solace and joy that music has ever been to her are exquisitely communicated to an audience through her interpretation of the songs of Schubert, Schumann, Rubinstein, Grieg and others of the masters.

Mrs. Salter's compositions range from the delicious little lullaby, "The Sky-Meadows," to the intensely dramatic setting of "The Cry of Rachel," a cycle of songs, "Love's Epitome," being especially appealing.

WHO HAS THE CULTURE?

A Scientific Writer Gives the Palm to Women and Another Authority Hands It to Men.

[New York Times:] Prof. Muensterberg, who is always very severe with people who have opinions unsustained by tabulated facts, may have weighed and measured the relative amounts of "culture" possessed by men and women in America. Certainly he should have done so before he declared that our women have vastly more of that rather vague thing than have our men; but some folks will have a suspicion that his conclusion was drawn from inadequate data; that its truth is at least questionable, and that he doesn't really know whether it is true or not.

How could he? He has lived a few years in Boston, and he has made a few journeys to other parts of the country. The professor is very distinctly a wise one, and doubtless he has used such opportunities for observation as he has had with more than ordinary skill and judgment. He has seen and studied only a minute fraction of the American population, however, and the fact, if it be a fact, that the women whom he has observed show more culture than the men is not very significant except of a little group in which leisure is unequally divided between the sexes.

Mary Garden, who has for a number of years been closely acquainted with Debussy, describes the composer as "at once the tenderest and cruellest of men." "Think of the American novelist Hawthorne," she says; "shy, sensitive and reserved—there you have Debussy. His first wife, who was my intimate friend in Paris, was broken-hearted when his affections were captured by another woman. His wife shot herself. It seemed to make no more impression on him than would the casual flight of a bird. That's what I mean when I call him cruel."

New Ideas In Women's Suits

OUR exclusive assortments of Women's Suits are constantly being augmented by the arrival of new models. Among them are the beautiful Forsythe Suits—and Waists too—both of which are shown in Los Angeles by us alone.

With us each suit received is an individual model, not to be duplicated here or elsewhere. Thus general descriptions are quite inadequate. Only by actually seeing the garments can you gain a clear idea of their unusual style and distinction.

All are tailored models of the finest type, new ideas in Worsteds, exquisitely fine French Serges, in Woolen Crashes, as well as in the serviceable Linens.

Our standard of service is as high as is the quality of our merchandise. Visit our Women's Department—we take pleasure in showing the new ideas.

OUR EACH-AND-ALL GROUP—Sunshine Society—With The Young Folk

HOPE RUSSELL AGAIN.

After Prolonged Silence She Writes to Her Sisters of Each and All Society.

After a long absence I am again asking admittance to the family circle in the Each and All home corner. Regretting that so many of the familiar names are missing, it is reassuring to still find Ariel our omnipatient, ever-active president; also Marguerite Winnifred, whose enticements toward a literary career are ever so alluring as to make even the least of us want to start bravely out on the race to fame, almost—believing in our running ability and final victory.

Beaver, too, is there with her always helpful suggestions, which did we but follow them, would make us all better members. Yet another friend we find who gave us the "belated Christmas story." I am sure she has always been one of us, though we have not known each other before. And I am going to "fess" that it was this same story that tempted my pen into action again.

"Belated?" Ah! but are relatives of good deeds ever belated—too late? Rather, are they not always timely whenever they come? For they stir us to like thoughts and deeds, with thankfulness that we may each add our little "mite" to the vast need in the world; for all together what may we not accomplish?

Are we not too often engrossed by the needs and demands of our own immediate circle or family; thinking we have no further time, even if our small efforts would make any difference in the great whole? It were better, did we take our family or friends with us—as did the little postmistress—and let them help us do for those whose need is so much greater.

We cry out against the encroachments and cruelties of these aliens among us; yet what do we do to better their condition or teach them differently?

It is good to hear of one courageous woman who, in her large-heartedness, gave her best efforts to the uncared for, nearest her hand and sight. And who can tell what may result in future years from that one little gathering of happy hearts, for the child is always open to love and kindly deeds, and through them we may reach the others who so need these helps to better living?

Let us then have more "belated stories," being sure that though the pens have been idle, the hands have been busy with labors of love and helpfulness.

With Beaver also we would like to ask for "little deed reports"—motto memorandums we might call them. And would that we could do so in megaphonian tones, so that all might hear and feel it necessary—and loyal—to answer.

Tell us then if you will, where you have been and why so silent these several moons? "With the loved ones back in the old home, after years of separation." "At home in blessed happiness, with our own little flock." "Revelling in Yule tide pleasures." "Wandering in the land of loving deeds"—these and many other replies we should doubtless hear, and though the year has already lived nearly one-fourth of his alloted time, I think such reviews would be good both for us to tell and to hear.

Some, it may be, have been traveling the paths of sorrow and pain, or disappointment and trials; yet not alone, for the great heart of love—which permeates all humanity—at the Yule-tide—the love-tide of the year—has been with you and in you; touching you with sympathy compassion, kindliness; giving cheer, faith, hope and thankfulness for blessings and comforts that have come to you. So even from sorrow shall come a tenderer sympathy, a keener interest, a greater effort for others.

If there are those who have just been gathering the gladness and happiness, tell us about that too; for sharing our joys does but multiply them and so increase our own. The Lenten season being here, when all womankind are overlooking, planning and replenishing the outer adornments, would it not be wise to also take stock in the adornments of the inner self, the real self, that the invoice may show what is our capital in character?

Now, I am sure that you are all agreeing with me that these suggestions would be excellent for some one else to follow—but they mean you. We, who are shut in, and many others who are interested and might lend their aid to yours, have no other way of knowing what Each and All is accomplishing except by these weekly visits.

Having no story to tell you of things accomplished, just a confession of weakness and blessings received, I will yet try to sketch for you a pen picture of an experience, for it bears a moral which I trust you will find it easy to see.

Early in November a certain member of our acquaintance made the strongest resolutions to evolve from her inner consciousness—for that seemed the only capital at hand—a remembrance of some kind for each one of the many friends who had so freely given to her for long months, even years, in such generous measure.

Resolutions became actions — and from a few bits of material wealth, long hoarded for such emergency, were developed tiny tokens for this or that loved one; but so meager were the results as compared to the desires of her heart that enthusiasm grew less till effort almost ceased, leaving only the determination to at least try to give expression to her thoughts in letters—letters full of love to her friends, both old and new. Then came those weeks of strong breezes from Peary-ian climes, developing, penetrating, till one's whole being was a bunch of aches, speech impossible, even to breathe difficult. The days were dark; time seemed to stand still; no word came from loved ones or friends busy with their happy holiday plans. Life seemed useless; only weariness and heartsickness were left. So came Christmas Eve.

Thus does pain darken all the sky and envelope us in clouds that seem to have no "silver lining." Yet there, beyond sight, was the steadfast sun of joy and love, eager to dissipate the clouds, scatter the snowdrifts and brighten our gloom. Some telepathy must have occurred, for consciousness came that no sunshine could reach such a bunch of grumpiness, absorbed in her own ill feelings. The shades were raised; windows thrown wide open, that fresh, sweet thoughts might enter with the bracing air; aches were smothered with faith that tomorrow would bring cheer. How royally was that faith rewarded! When morning came the sunshine of loving remembrance came fairly pouring in—not one day, but many days thereafter. Gifts, flowers, sweets, messages and letters from friends, some of whom had been long silent.

Ah, that shower of happiness! How heart-warming, how precious!

Does the world look gloomy now? No, indeed. The days are full of gratefulness for friends, for the absence of pain, for sight, mind, the use of hands.

"To live in hope, to trust in right,
To smile when shadows start,
To walk through darkness or through light,
With sunshine in the heart."

EACH AND ALL MOTTO.

Golden thoughts, golden deeds,
Rid life's garden of its weeds.

OUR PLEDGE.

"To make one another happy, to lighten one another's burdens, to share one another's cares, to be lifters, not leaners, to make the world a little sweeter place to live in, to be mutual encouragers, never discouragers of any one, to start songs, not complainings, and to do every day something beautiful, some kindness which will cheer and strengthen another."

HELP SORELY NEEDED.

The "Mme. Canada Fund" Needs Nearly $50 Before Relief Can Be Given This Deserving Woman.

President Ariel sends the following earnest appeal in behalf of the "Mme. Canada Fund:"

My dear girls, readers of this page, and those who are interested in "Mme. Canada's" struggles, I wish to report we have yet nearly $50 to raise before we can help Mme. Canada to realize her heart's desire, "to go where she can get work that she can do, and make a living for herself and three little girls and keep the children with her."

It would be far easier for us to find homes for those lovely little girls, than it is to help this mother make the home for them. Not one, of us who is without a little daughter, but would want one of this little flock. Louise, Grace and Doris are their names. She will leave one of her little girls in a Christmas time grave. She has placed one in loving hands. This one she will see once more before she goes to her new home; the "little three" who are left she wants to keep awhile longer and bring them up herself, if her life and circumstances will permit. It is these circumstances and this environment that a few of our Each and All girls want to change, so that this little "down-and-out" mother will have one more chance while she is yet in health and has not lost all her courage, and we have only a few more days to complete our task. As soon as she is rested from her journey we have a way in which she can manage nicely to care for herself and little ones, and keep them under her own care. Will you not, dear reader, you who are mothers, especially, help us before we lose the opportunity? If you have not added your mite will you do so at once, sending it, if a check or money order, payable to Mrs. Emily Daniels, No. 754 Hemlock street, Los Angeles, direct the envelope to the President Each and All Society, care of the secretary, Mrs. L. Mitchell, No. 345 Clay street, Los Angeles. Thus it will be accounted for properly. If we could only help "Mme. Canada" before it is too late, how fine it would be. She is one of the earliest members of the society, and we are trying so hard to fulfill all the obligations of the society to those early members. This fund we are raising for Mme. Canada is called the "Mme. Canada Fund," and as the money is returned to the treasury, we will return it to the donors if they wish it, or keep it as a fund from which to draw amounts to loan without interest to the brave women who are battling alone for home and children, those who are discouraged just for lack of a few dollars, with which they could grasp an opportunity. We are especially interested in those who are unfortunate from circumstances over which they have no control; who are silently suffering mental agony, before they dare make an appeal for help. We are not trying to help beggars; we only wish to help those whom we know are deserving, to help themselves Will you help us with our Mme. Canada fund?

Calendar.

The Order of Ooggy Wugg will meet March 31, with Mrs. Redaker, No. 522 West Eighth street. The meeting will be in the nature of an April Fool party.

Members of Each and All Society will hold open house, Thursday, March 17, St. Patrick's Day, from 2 to 4 p.m., at Mammoth Hall, No. 517 South Broadway, room 306.

Wise Old Uncle: Remember, Tommy, as you go through the world, that you can't get something for nothing.

Precocious Nephew: Oh, yes, you can, uncle; when I don't eat nothin' I git an awful pain in my stomach.

FROM THE PRESIDENT.

She Urges Consideration of the Subject of Honorary Membership for Men.

Just another word, girls, to remind you that plans are now being laid, the purpose of which will be to replenish our treasury. These plans I hope you will give your careful consideration, as your executive officers find the financial drain on their private purses for expenses incurred in chapter work, car fare and stationery for the benefit of the local work, as well as that which is carried on through this page, to be more than it is right for them to assume. It is rather poor encouragement for them to have services exacted, and time and money also given, especially as none of these members sought office.

Many gentlemen have sought admission in our society lately, and it is whispered some one intends to "move" we allow them membership, so that they may partake of the benefits of our various chapters, Authors, Bible Study, Esoteric, Health, Suffrage and Anti-Suffrage, taste some of the cooking that our girls will learn through the correspondence of the Domestic Science Chapter, and, perhaps, even arrange a "Oogy Wugg" meeting some evening for their edification, which of itself would repay them for their membership fee. Of course, we will only allow them to come to us as honorary members—voteless, just to let them enjoy the benefits of our civilization and give them the privilege of helping us pay the taxes as they come due. Think well over the plan, girls, and let me hear from you about it. I rather expect Marguerite Winnifred will vote for this measure. I am telling you about it, so that when the question comes up at our next meeting, those who cannot be present will send their written opinion, and vote for or against it in this way.

Remember, all who have been members previous to March 10, 1910, and whose names are on the roll, or who hold a membership card, are entitled to a vote on all questions. In the meantime, just whisper to those men friends and relatives of yours, dear girls, and find out just what amount they would like the privilege of paying as dues into our treasury. It may be only 10 cents, and, again, it may be $10. How would it be to leave the matter to each honorary member?

I have always liked the idea of each one doing the right thing at the right time and place from one's own point of view, than to be subject to any particular law; and, yet it is well to have laws enforced. Because the promoters of this society did not foresee that procrastination and forgetfulness in "encouraging each other" would lead to a deplenished treasury, is one reason that some step must be taken now in regard to finances. As your president, I advise you to consider this measure in its entirety. You love the work, and the workers. Many of us have formed beautiful and lasting friendships. Our page has brightened and cheered many a reader; but your officers and chapter workers need the inspiration and coöperation of their "brother-kin," and I am sure that you do not want this work to sink into "innocuous desuetude." You, as members, love it, as well as we whom you chose to guide you; so bestir yourselves, think, act, find out how many honorary members you can bring in, and be ready to vote at our April meeting. Whatever your decision, your Executive Committee will think "it is well."

Lovingly, PRESIDENT ARIEL.

Teacher: Tommy, what part of speech is "nose?"

Tommy: It ain't any part of speech.

Teacher: But it must be.

Tommy: Well, maybe yours is, because you talk through it, but the only part of speech I've got is my mouth.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY.

Resignation of Mrs. McLeod Accepted With Deep Regret—New Presiding Officer.

It was with moistened eyes that the members of the Sunshine Society accepted the resignation of their president, Mrs. William W. McLeod, at the meeting held last Thursday. But she has been ill for some time, and has overtaxed her strength for years, until now comes a final warning from a weakened body. While the officers of the society would gladly perform her duties for her, Mrs. McLeod would not permit it, saying: "No, I will not take an honor I cannot earn," and they felt it unwise as well as unkind to protest further. No woman can lay down a work which she has learned to love, as Mrs. McLeod did the Sunshine work, without a wrenching of the heartstrings, and a pausing to wonder why it is. Even while knowing that an all-wise Providence will continue in His ever watchful care. Although Mrs. McLeod will not be quite so active in Sunshine work, she will always be with us with her love and friendship and kindly advice.

Mrs. McLeod organized the Sunshine Society in California about eight years ago, with a few members, who are still active in the work. Since then she has given her home, time and money; in fact, has been, leader, helper and friend to all Sunshiners. She leaves the society with a membership of nearly three hundred, with her committees in splendid working order, and she now says: "Go on with faith in God and courage in yourselves, although I must rest a little while. The Sunshine work has been a joy to me always, and the Sunshine friendship will ever be a golden thread in memory's tpestry. The first vice-president, Mrs. James Fox, will preside until the annual election, which will be held in May.

The meeting of the board will be held at Mrs. Fox's, No. 2801 La Salle avenue, Wednesday, March 16. All members of Sunshine Society who can attend will be welcome.

We have now our new lot of year books on hand. The chairman reports that she is sending them all over the United States, and into England. Mrs. C. P. Hanley has been appointed to take charge of the selling of single copies. She also has charge of the Sunshine pins.

Mrs. James Fox, No. 2801 La Salle avenue, who will hereafter prepare the weekly report of Sunshine work for publication in this department, requests that all branches send in their reports of meetings, and of work that is being done along Sunshine lines, in order that it may appear in the weekly report of Sunshine news in The Times.

"Your best is never too good to give,
And your best is never too good to do,
In the service of those for whom you live,
Who repay with their love and their faith in you."

Send Your Names.

Invalids and shut-in members of the Each and All Society and those who are interested in this page, are invited to send their names and addresses to the chairman of the Invalid Cheer Chapter, who will arrange a letter or post-card party for you, if you are far away, or some one of her numerous helpers will call on you if you are near. Her address is No. 754 Hemlock street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Wheeled in Go-Cart.

Mary C. Miller, No. 724 West Forty-first Drive, Los Angeles, would like to receive and exchange post cards with some of the shut-in members in other parts of the United States. She writes that she is not as much shut in as some people who are out in the world. Her mother wheels her in a go-cart. She would appreciate letters and exchange cards.

FAME.

Ambition's fire burned high,
Outside her temple. Fame
Stood beckoning, and I
Was sure she spoke my name.
The road between was steep
And rough and sore beset,
Yet still the fire burned deep
Despite what must be met.

Upward my sturdy feet
With purpose firm I set,
Nor have I made retreat
Along the line, and yet
Seems like as distant lies
That temple on the hill,
While on its topmost rise
Fame lingers, beckoning still.

LUCY SHERMAN MITCHELL.

Report of Meeting.

A very satisfactory meeting of the Each and All Society was held in room 306, Mammoth Hall Building, Wednesday afternoon. A full report of the benefit for Madam Canada held in Symphony Hall was made, and thanks were given for assistance rendered both by members and those outside the society.

Arrangements were made to hold "open house" Thursday, March 17, at room 306, Mammoth Hall, from 2 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Daniels will be hostesses of the afternoon, and light refreshments will be served. Persons interested in the work of Each and All Cociety will be welcome to come in and have a chat over their cup of tea.

A plan is on foot to hold a "rummage sale" in the near future for the benefit of the treasury. A carpet weaver offers to pay 10 cents a pound for balls of carpet rags; this is also to add to the funds. The rags are to be left with Mrs. Carpenter, No. 820½ South Broadway (opposite Hamburger's.) There are many calls for aid coming daily to the society, and outside the free gift, it is hoped we may be able, from funds on hand, to make loans of small sums which are often needed by worthy people to help them to "tide over" hard places.

Several letters were read and measures suggested for the good of the society, one being the admission of gentlemen to honorary membership. This matter will come before the next meeting in the form of an amendment to the constitution, so whoever wishes a voice in the matter must be present. Due notice of the time and place of that meeting will be given.

It was reported that Mrs. F. N. Speare, No. 215 Rosemont ave., is quite ill, and it was thought it would be a truly sisterly act for members and friends to show their kindly feeling by sending her postals.

The Fashion Again.

Home-made rag carpets are again in high favor. A friend of ours, Mrs. McFarland, at whose home we lately enjoyed a delightful Oogy Wugg affair, has offered 10 cents a pound to the Each and All girls for all the rags cut and sewed that they will leave at No. 820½ South Broadway. This offer is made for the benefit of the Each and All treasury.

Another friend of this dear girl has offered to give us enough rags, all ready sewed, to make a carpet. Who wants a lovely rag carpet? Are you members of Each and All Society interesting your friends as is this dear girl? Can we not forgive her for squandering more than the stipulated 25 cents for the "Oogy Wugg" supper?

Hard to Be Patient.

Mrs. M. A. Strickland, Box 722, Union City, Mich., would like to hear from the Each and All girls. She has been confined to her bed for nearly twenty-five years, and would appreciate letters and orders for bed socks, embroidered quilt blocks, embroidered linen picture frames, or doilies. She is fond of picture postal cards. She says "it is hard to be patient and suffer."

Babies and School Children—Striking Pictures and Points Here and The POLLY'S QUEER RIDE.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

Polly was christened Pauline, but was nick-named Polly. Sometimes mamma called her Sweet P. and occasionally when her playmates wished to teaze her they called her Pollywog. Polly was 5 years old and her brother Harold 7. Mamma and Martha, the nursegirl, took the children to see the great circus and, oh, how their eyes danced when they saw the wonders of that circus! Mamma permitted the children to feed peanuts to the elephants and one of the guards allowed Polly to ride on a tiny pony, which he led around the tent where the animals were kept. Shortly after the visit to the circus Polly had a strange adventure, almost as strange as a ride with Mr. Paulhan in his big aëroplane might have been. Mamma took Polly and Harold to visit their grandparents, who lived on a ranch a few miles out of the city. Polly's grandpa had a large white pig—a mamma pig, with several babies. Grandpa turned the pig out of the pen into the apple orchard that she might have a few hours of freedom. When Polly discovered the pig in the orchard the thought came to her, here it would be a fine chance for a ride. So she climbed the fence and managed to get on the pig's back. Then she reached some apples which were hanging upon the lower branches of the tree. With one hand she held on to the pig and with the other hand threw apples far enough ahead so when Mrs. Piggy ran for the fruit it gave Polly a little ride. Polly continued this mode of travel for quite a few moments unconscious of the great risk she was taking. We have heard of children who have been severely bitten by pigs, and occasionally the bite has proven fatal. When the hired man saw Polly he shouted to mamma, grandpa and grandma to come quickly to see the young bareback rider. Mamma was so frightened she could hardly get to the fence. I think Mrs. Piggy must have understood that Polly's mamma loved her child, for when Polly ran into mamma's arms, Mrs. Piggy gave a grunt of satisfaction, as if to say, "Your little one is safe; I did her no harm."

THE BRINGING OF FIRE.

Mother Coyote Tells Jean How It Was Brought to the World—Why the Squirrel's Tail Is Curled.

BY MARGARET ADELAIDE WILSON.

As I told you before, (said Mother Coyote,) things went peacefully for a long time after the earth was dried. Now that there was so much room the animals had separated and each found a home, that is, all except Owl and Coyote. Owl was too lazy to do anything for himself so he continued to live with Gopher. And Coyote had no dwelling because he wanted to be near Man, and Man was always restless, moving from place to place. Even now that there was enough food he did not seem to be contented.

One evening as they sat together, Man spat the acorns he was eating out of his mouth.

"I don't like the taste of them any more," he said. "They do not warm just going through the blue curtain of the sky to the west. "If I had a little of Sun's fire," he said. "I am sure I could make the food taste better. Something tells me I could. And if we had fire from him, we should not be in the dark and cold so long. We should always have light with us. I am going to ask The Old Man in the Chair of Stars for some of that fire."

"Oh, no," said Coyote, "he would never give you of Sun's fire. It would be of no use to ask him, it would only make him angry. Anyway, we've got along well enough without fire."

"Well, yes," said Man. "But now I am cold and it is dark; and my food does not taste good to me. It tastes—it tastes," he could not tell how to say it.

"Uncooked?" said Coyote.

"Yes, yes," cried Man. "That is it. But how did you know? I never heard that word before."

"Neither did I," said Coyote. "It came to me just then. And I don't know yet what it means, though you

Man shivered. "I must have some fire," said he. "Something inside of me longs for it, and will not let me rest till I have it."

Coyote sat and thought a long time, till the sun came back again. Man slept meanwhile by his side. As he opened his eyes Coyote spoke to him.

"I have been thinking about the fire," said he. "I will travel toward the west today to the place where Sun goes through the curtain of the sky. That must be where the fire is kept, and maybe I can pick up some."

All that day and another Coyote was gone on his journey. At last, on the next evening he came loping back from the west, very tired, with his tongue hanging out. Man saw that he had no fire with him and was disappointed.

"So you didn't find any fire," he said. "What shall I do? I am cold, and it is getting dark again already."

"Ha, brother, wait awhile," panted Coyote, as he flung himself down. "Yes, I have found fire. But I have not brought any. I know where it is, but it will be very hard to get, that fire. Two old Hawk-women guard it. They live in a tent of gray cloud and never sleep, day or night. In the middle of the tent the fire is always burning. At night when Sun comes home they rekindle the fire on his shield ready for the next day's journey. But they would allow no one else to have any fire. They would tear anyone to pieces who tried to get it."

"What shall we do then?" said Man. "I can never be happy again without fire."

"On my journey home I thought out a plan. But we must ask all the rest to help us. It will take a great many of us to do this thing. Let us call them now before they are asleep and I am sure they will agree to help us."

He stopped speaking and rising to his haunches sent forth his call—ahee—no—ah—hee—no—you may have heard us call that way at night, my dear, (said Mother Coyote, looking at Jean.)

At his call all the animals came running, for they knew by his voice that something very special was wanted.

When they were all together, Coyote told them how much Man wanted fire, and how he had been to fetch it for him, but could not get it alone.

"But if you will all help," said Coyote, "we can get the fire, get it very easily, and no one will be hurt. First Man and I will go together to the Hawk-women's tent at the outside of the world. Then you must follow after and make a long row clear to the edge of the world, so that the fire can be passed from one to the other. This I have found, that the Hawk-women have not power to pass under the blue curtain of the sky. So when we get the fire inside the sky we shall be safe. But we must be very quick, all of us, for they can run very fast with their thin skinny legs. And when they wish they can turn themselves into hawks and fly."

The animals all promised to help. So next morning at sunrise they started on their journey westward to the edge of the world. They reached it at evening, just as Sun lifted the blue curtain of the sky. They were standing there ready, and slipped through before he could close it down again, standing close behind him, so that he did not notice them.

side of the sky they saw a long, dark plain covered with gray bushes, and in the distance the tepee of gray cloud, where the Hawk-women lived. Coyote showed each animal where he was to stand along the plain. Frog, who was the smallest of all, he put near the earth, right at the edge of the sky. Next came Squirrel, then Wild Cat, and so on, till the procession reached to the very door of the tent itself. There Coyote stationed Man.

"Now I will go up to the door of the tepee and knock," said Coyote. "When they ask who is there I will beg them to let me in. After I have been in a little while do you come to side. I will manage the rest."

Man promised to do this, and Coyote slipped up to the door and knocked.

"Who is there?" screamed the Hawk-women.

"It is only I, Metsi," said Coyote, in a soft, pleading voice. "I have lost my way, and am very cold out here in the dark. Do, kind women, let me in by your fire awhile."

The Hawk-women talked together doubtfully, but Coyote begged them again, calling them all sorts of flattering names. And he made his voice so soft and winnnig that they at last let him in. He thanked them very humbly, and went over and sat down

RICHARD MANSFIELD.

ART OF RICHARD MANSFIELD. Winter. Moffat, Yard & Co., In two volumes, $6 each.)

fact that Mr. Mansfield, in the vigor of his brilliant career, selected William Winter as his official biographer would alone make the work valuable. However, the is valuable for its own sake, as It is a complete, voluminous and history of the man who, per more than any other in our day generation, left his mark on the as an actor.

The interest of the public in an actor ually confined to the actor's work his lifetime—to his goings and the little stories, anecdotes gossip concerning him, and to his tions of life on the stage. But the actor no longer lives in the when the curtain goes down for last time, it is then that the public is moved by a curiosity to know ence and from what he came and desire to look into what was his life, provided he has been great to inspire the interest necessary for such an investigation. By this not mean the little mummer-w of which George Moore has w so delightfully, but the interest from the appreciation of the powers of the actor.

Mansfield spent a good deal of time William Winter; the two were companions whenever possible, the actor unfolded his whole his to the critic in confidence, and sometimes, too, as a duty he his future biographer.

We learn now from Mr. Winter's that Mansfield, like many an man who rose to fame and greatness went through a hard and cruel and struggled to his crown of on pathways that were rough and As a boy he was beaten and and he tried other paths necessity before he found it to enter upon the road which heart had chosen and which was to lead his steps to heights great as but few actors had ever before.

And we also find from the present that the impression that was throughout his career taskmaster and a cold-blooded was entirely erroneous. It he compelled those who were aids and assistants in the work to toil ceaselessly toward but he set no man nor a task so hard as the task he himself. And, in his private life, the days of play, he was as genial as kind-hearted as any man well be.

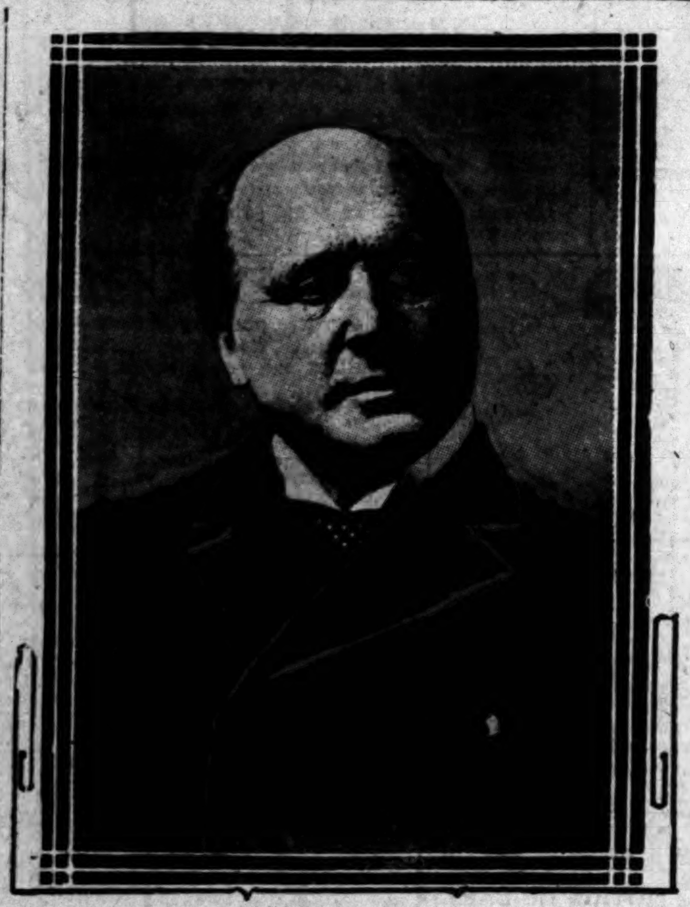
Letters have been seized upon immemorially biographers, and in the present in Mr. Winter is no exception. the recipient of a vast number from the actor—letters from all over, from hotels, from actor's country home, from railway and sometimes from the dressing-rooms of the theaters. And these form not the least pleasant part the biography. They reveal Mansfield in many-sided lights, but always the earnest, eager and desperate the tireless striver, sometimes dreamer and always the man of heart.

In these volumes Mr. Winter follows penchant for straying into compari his fondness for wandering into of reminiscence and his ability to with a sharp tongue. He uses to strike home many old con to take a rap at the modern, stage and those who run the theater solely with a view receipts of the box office. Un Mr. Winter occasionally in in dramatic criticism. We could be spared this. But, the fascinating story of a fascinating character is dealt with. The ground covered in a pleasing manner.

INNOCENT SOCIALISM.

FOR ALL; AND ALL FOR EACH. By Parsons, D.D. Sturgis & Walton Co., York. (Price $1.50.)

R. JOHN PARSONS has a great advantage over the other writers of sociological tracts, inasmuch as knows nothing whatever concerning subject. He can approach his with a mind of innocent can with a fresh and unsullied view with a mental aspect uncontam by history, biology or statistical tion. He is not bothered with nor has he the slightest of science. In a word, he fitted and perfectly com to write a book on the merits socialism. To say that he has add nothing new to the great mass of and religious jargon would superfluous. The book is an intro and quasi-philosophic treat of the obvious fact that the so manifestations of modernity pro the growth of the individual and superman. After having stumbled his way through the tor of nebulous rhetoric and hav this conclusion, one would that Dr. Parsons would be to stop. But no. He pursues and discovers also that, the individual has been subject the universal and correlative the average man has been given opportunity for individualistic ment. Here endeth the doctor's though optimistic propaganda. be rude, I know, to carry his a step farther and inquire if, all, the result in the apparent of universal individualism is or even desirable. But let Such a condition of affairs is reversal of the natural law survival of the fittest. Now, so is an elaborate system for the of the unfit. It is an attempt the law of physical and in development by attempting the weak at the expense of and by favoring the main those who, did they not borrow the strength of the strong, would become extinct. It lifts to an exalted plane the parasites and the satellites of strength and efficiency.



Henry James,

the expatriated American, who holds the world's endurance record for long distance sentence-writing.

It is superficial and sentimental to object to the commonplace; to wish to do away with the human mediocrities—in short, with the working class. The dominant law of nature is caste; and in the history of the world the highest efficiency has evolved from the most strongly differentiated castes. Your socialist (whether a theologian or an agnostic statistician) is a well-meaning but unintelligent being who either cannot, or refuses to, see the necessity of caste. Dr. Parsons does not see (and he probably would be very shocked if he did) that the whole tendency of his innocent philosophy is to undermine the moral and physical health of the lower classes; to inspire in them an unrest which breeds discontent, and which, in a short time, evolves into hatred and a desire for vengeance, and, ultimately, into moral degeneration.

"IN AFTER DAYS."

IN AFTER DAYS. THOUGHTS ON THE FUTURE LIFE. By William Dean Howells, Henry James, John Bigelow, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Henry M. Alden, William Hanna Thompson, Guglielmo Ferrero, Julia Ward Howe and Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. Harper & Bros., New York. (Price $1.25.)

A BOOK as futile as it is unique and as platitudinous as it is futile is this symposium by nine authors on the thought of the future life, which is issued under the title of "In After Days." The contributors are William D. Howells, Henry James, John Bigelow, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Henry M. Alden, William Hanna Thompson, Guglielmo Ferrero, Julia Ward Howe and Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. It is interesting to note how these nine people, in a sense differentiated by environment and the resultant mental aspects, approach this most debated of all human inquiries.

While the method in each instance is slightly different from the others, the net result of each essay is practically the same. If you imagine for one minute that you will find any satisfaction or the hint of a solution in any of these papers you will be disappointed. Whether they take an abstract attitude toward the subject of immortality, (as in the case of John Bigelow, Mr. Alden and Mr. Ferrero;) or whether they build their belief on the simple and platitudinous faith of inoculated doctrines, (as in the case of Mr. Higginson and Julia Ward Howe;) or whether (like Elizabeth Stuart Phelps's paper,) the whole question is answered by cheer-up-and-be-sweet exhortations; the result in each instance will be equally unsatisfactory to the uneasy souls who would a-seeking go for consolation. It is unfortunate that to these nine essays is not added at least one biological or scientific paper on the subject. There is not one paper in the set that escapes the platitudes of evasion. A platitude is a universally accepted untruth; but to repeat one often enough is accepted as irrefutable logic. On such a syllogism are the conclusions reached in each of these papers. Several of them frankly and innocently fall back on the teachings of the Bible or attribute their knowledge to some kind of undemonstrated religious faith. Mr. Howells very naively directs his readers to the Bible and to the poetry of Tennyson. Mrs. Phelps simply believes in immortality, but admits she knows not why she believes. In order to make her position secure, she says that not to believe is neither noble nor grand.

There will be those who will deny that Mr. James ever utters platitudes, but I take strenuous issue. Mr. James merely befrills and befrocks platitudes so that they are not recognizable at first sight. He will take a simple phrase which may be expressed in three or four words and build upon it one of his Leaning Tower of Pisa sentences, until it bears no resemblance to the original. In his present essay he seems unusually and unnecessarily excruciating in his verbal throes. His parturition here is very painful and severe. In his present essay he really gets nowhere except to the end of his sentences. But let no one think that this is a small and insignificant feat.

DRAMATIC REALISM.

THE AWAKENING OF SPRING. By Frank Wedekind. Translated from the German by Francis J. Zeigler. Brown Bros., Philadelphia. (Price $1.25.)

THE injection of esthetic realism into the Mellins's Food literature of our fair United States is not a thing to be despised. Farina pudding as a steady diet may be wholly satisfactory to the matinée girls and to the literary committees of the woman's culture clubs, but the ultimate rot to which American letters is swiftly sliding can only be put off by an occasional injection of continental preservative. The ladies and young things who patronize the circulating libraries, for some strange reason, demand joy. If a book does not end happily they blame the library clerk for not having warned them against it. The popular writers are the literary vendors of saccharine optimism. They do not wish passion or emotionalism in our fair land. Deep sorrows and ecstacies of delight are vulgar. A luke-warm mediocrity is the thing. Innocuity is the supreme goal. Thus all the truths of life are sweetly avoided.

Wedekind has written a play which, because of its poetic frankness, will probably be damned in no faint manner by the middle-class ladies, who sip the quotidian virtue of Mrs. Deland. "The Awakening of Spring," which has been translated from the German by Francis J. Ziegler, is a tragedy of childhood, which deals with the development of the natural sexual instincts in the adolescent of both sexes. This physical phenomena which follows the age of puberty is a theme from which the Anglo-Saxon writer would shrink. But Wedekind has written a remarkable play, full of imagination and melancholy poetry. He has entered into the lives of the children in no detached and critical way, but as a child himself, so that the idea of pathology is wholly eliminated. Probably it is, in its essence, an arraignment against parental reticence in regard to sexual matters, for it deals with the tragedies which follow such conditions. It is, however, in no sense of the word, doctrinaire; and Wendla's mother, who kills her child by the administration of an abortive, is characterized as an affectionate and well-meaning woman. The beauty of the play alone is strongly enhanced by the sympathetic treatment of the tragedies with which it deals. And although Mr. Ziegler's English has about it at times an irritating Teutonic clumsiness, it only in a very small degree detracts from the inherent beauty of the play.

GUILTY.

GUILTY? By John W. Arctander. Cochrane Publishing Company, New York. (Price $1.)

ALONG with a copy of this book the publishers sent me an earnest request not to convict Mr. Arctander of plagiarism, because of the similarity of one of his scenes with one of the scenes in a novel by Hall Caine. The publishers have frankly misjudged me. I do many shameless things, but I could not be guilty of anything so ruthless as that. I might accuse Hall Caine of plagiarism, inasmuch as I am assured that Mr. Arctander's scene has a priori existence to Caine's novel. But I have said many horrible things about Caine, so I won't add to my obloquies. I shall say nothing whatever of the similarity of these two passages.

In the first chapter of what is said to be the crowning effort of Mr. Arctander's literary work, I read that James Barker, the leading criminal lawyer of Minneapolis, could read in the face and in the eyes, as in an open book, the human mind and heart hidden within; that he could see one's strong and weak points, divine one's likes and dislikes, and from a moment's investigation determine whether to trust a man or not. All of which impressed me greatly. The hero of Mr. Arctander's literary labors was certainly a wonder. But imagine my further astonishment when, from an eleven-word telegram which said, "Innocent woman, accused horrible crime, requires your eminent assistance. Come immediately," he deducted the following facts: She was guilty, beautiful, young, a foreigner, reared abroad, shrewd, had seen a great deal of life, was romantic and sentimental, and had chosen Byron as her favorite poet. Her crime was that of poisoning some one, and there was a man in the case.

When I read these minute and detailed deductions which James Barker made from his eleven-word telegram, said I, "Here's a real swell hero." But in chapter two, my admiration knew no bounds, when the lawyer's virtues and clairvoyant powers were enumerated to the extent of eight pages.

So on I read, feverishly, eager to see what wonders Mr. Barker could perform. Feverishly I read until I got to page 66. . . .

Dear reader, to have one's faith in a real hero cruelly blasted is not a small thing. And here, on page 66, in one small sentence was my total and utter disillusionment. It was here that James Barker turned to his fair client and said, "You had better take the train and come down to my office and tell me honestly and frankly all about yourself." My faith in my hero was shattered. I had great and fond hopes for James Barker, but now they were utterly crushed. For when he could seriously ask a beautiful woman to tell him honestly and frankly all about herself, I lost all respect for his mental perspicuity, and gave up in despair.

RHYMING BARDS.

THE DREAM OF LOVE. By Henry Abbey. Riverside Press, Cambridge, Mass. (Price $1.25.)

THE HUDSON AND OTHER POEMS. By George S. Hellman. G. B. Putnam's Sons, New York. (Price $1.25.)

DORIAN DAYS. By Wendell Phillips Stafford. The Macmillan Company, New York. (Price $1.)

THE BLUSHFUL SOUTH AND HIPPOCRENE. By Robert Loveman. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia. (Price $1.)

THE roll-call of American poets is getting alarmingly large. Scarcely a day goes by that does not bring me a sheath of verse from some aspiring young bard. (I realize that no faith whatever is put in a review of a poet unless the literary history of the reviewer is known.) Poets are a catty lot. So at the outset I wish to confess to my past: I have written poetry, and am naturally jealous of all the rising geniuses who crowd the market with their pink lemonade. First, let us look upon "The Dream of Love," by Henry Abbey. I have not read it all. There are tasks at which even I, with all my conscientious scruples, balk. The sub-title of the theme characterizes it. It is called "a mystery." Even in my most callow and halcyon days I never did anything quite so bad as "The Dream of Love." It is bizarre prose divided into iambic pentameters, each line being begun with a capital.

Let us pass on to George S. Hellman. He is a quiet, emasculated bard who, luckily for himself (to say nothing of you and me, patient reader,) is without poetic ambition. He is content with simple and sweet strophes on commonplace themes. Occasionally he wanders into dramatic prose, but let us not go with him there.

"Dorian Days" is a volume which has the merit of being bad poetry. This is more than can be said of much of the verse which appears. To write bad poetry is no mean feat. The majority of poets does not succeed in writing poetry at all. The merit of this volume is when we get Swinburne served to us greatly diluted, although there are a few workman-like sonnets which would probably tickle some magazine editors but which don't tickle me in the slightest.

Robert Loveman has gathered together sixty-nine songs under the title of "The Blushful South and Hippocrene." The four-line stanza from Keats, from which he takes his title, contains more poetry than his whole book, but here are songs on every subject that have no meaning or significance. One vehicle starts, "Flora is a famous flirt," and ends, "but I love her so." In another the poet flings his soul against a wall; and different kinds of poses adorn the aenemic lines of many others.

I was going to include in this review at least a dozen rhyming gentlemen, but my spirit already is too downcast.

LITERARY GOSSIP.

It is now announced that the novel chosen to follow "The Return of the Native" in the new pocket-size thin-paper edition of Thomas Hardy, which the Harpers have in preparation, is "Jude the Obscure."

It will be recalled that "The Future Life," the just-published symposium on the prospect of immortality for which the chapters were written by nine distinguished men and women, first appeared in successive chapters in Harper's Bazar, and now an almost equally interesting discussion has begun in this same periodical on "The Turning-point of My Life." Under this title well-known men and women will tell of the most dramatic moment in their artistic careers. Mark Twain initiated the series with an article in the February number, and in the March number the turn-point described is that in the life of William Dean Howells. Among others who are to contribute are Henry James and Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR DISAPPEARS LIKE MAGIC

LADY WILL SEND FREE TO ANY SUFFERER THE SECRET WHICH CURED HER.

From childhood I was distressed and humiliated by an unwelcome growth of hair on my face and arms. I tried all the depilatories, powders, liquids, creams and other rub-on preparations I ever heard of, only to make it worse. For weeks I suffered the electric needle without being rid of my blemish. I spent a great deal of money on various things in vain, until a friend recommended a simple preparation which succeeded where all else failed.

This simple remedy, a harmless soluble liquid, enabled me permanently to find entire relief from all trace of unwelcome hair, and forever end all embarrassment. It is simple, safe, sure and can be used privately at home, without fear of pain or blemish. It makes the electric needle entirely unnecessary.

I will tell in detail full particulars to enable any other sufferer to achieve the same happy results as I did. All I ask is a two-cent stamp for reply. Address Caroline Osgood, 743 T., Vaughan Bldg., Providence, R. I.

MYRTLE ELVYN

"One of America's greatest woman pianists"

Buffalo Enquirer, December 6: Miss Elvyn's reputation has been established in Buffalo and she may well be ranked as one of the greatest women pianists of the age.

Kansas City Journal: February 22, 1908: She fairly reveled in the tasks set for her by Bach and Brahms, the great piano masters, and as if this were not enough she triumphed with marvelous ease and authority over the most fantastic "arrangements" of which even Godowsky is capable.

Minneapolis Journal, February 12, 1908: The rhythms were firm and well rounded, the phrasing clear and consistent, the touch musical. Her readings were, all through, scholarly.

OMAHA Bee, February 14, 1908: The memorizing of such a prodigious program is a miracle. It is a work in itself, for which an artist should receive her laurel wreath.

Miss Elvyn has given upwards of 100 concerts and recitals since her American debut in October, 1907, in addition to her successful appearances prior to that in the capitals of Europe.

Kimball Piano Used Exclusively in All Elvyn Concerts

Plays For Royalty

Continental Times, Berlin, January 12, 1907: By special permit of the Emperor, the spacious rotunda and salons of the Reichstag's building were thrown open Sunday evening for a brilliant concert in aid of the Military "Huelfsverein" of the third Armeekorps. Among the artists requested to participate in the program was Miss Myrtle Elvyn, the American pianist. At 7:30 sharp the Court entered the rotunda headed by Prince Eitel Friedrich, who had been sent to represent the Emperor, followed by his suite and the elite of Berlin's diplomatic and military circle. After Miss Elvyn's group of solos, Prince Eitel Friedrich, by his own request, was presented to Miss Elvyn by Frau Excellenz von Buelow. Prince Eitel Friedrich expressed to Miss Elvyn his delight at her playing, complimented her repeatedly and made inquiries as to her career and intentions for the future.

London Times, May 9, 1907: Miss Myrtle Elvyn confirmed the success she made in Germany. * * * In a set of 11 variations on an original theme the concert-giver showed herself to possess a good deal of inventive power; the theme itself is original and characteristic, and its development as the variations go on is devised in a clever way.

As representatives of the Kimball Piano for over 25 years we are glad to commend Miss Elvyn to the musical public of this city.

Detective Connor's Heart Adventures.

V.—DETECTIVE CONNOR'S FRIEND JOE.

By William M. Clemens.

Author of "Detective Connor's Valentine," Etc.

(Copyrighted, 1910, by William M. Clemens. All Rights Reserved.)

"LA MANO Nera!"

The hoarse scream of a man in terror and a pistol shot. The sharp report on the stillness of the winter night aroused the neighborhood. Doors opened. Windows went up. Men came running from the corner saloons. Women, with shawls over their heads, emerged from the hallways. All the human rats of the quarter came out of their holes.

Detective Bill Connor had been detained at the station-house, and was passing through Bleecker street on his way homeward when he heard the shot. He turned into Mulberry and almost stumbled over the form of a man lying on the pavement. In the distance two men were seen running southward. They were too far away for Connor to take up the chase, so he gave attention to the prostrate form on the sidewalk. The man was writhing in agony, but was conscious and able to speak.

The detective bent over him. There was a gaping wound in the head, and the injured man moaned with pain.

"The Black Hand!" he kept repeating.

Connor asked his name.

"Giovanni Catelli," murmured the man, and then became delirious, muttering words in his native tongue.

A patrolman, coming up at the moment, hurried away to ring for an ambulance, Connor, meanwhile, endeavoring to obtain further information from the dying man. But only for an instant was his speech coherent, as he clutched Connor's arm convulsively.

"My little Beppo!" he whispered. "You watch out for him? Little Beppo Catelli."

The man gasped. There was a sudden twitching of the limbs. The crowd turned away.

It was several days later that Detective Connor found little Beppo Catelli. But as to the identity of the assassin, or the cause of the murder, he could learn nothing definite, and the crime was placed in the long list of unsolved mysteries of the metropolis. The passing of Giovanni Catelli was perhaps the final outcome of a feud having its origin years before in Italy.

In a Bleecker street cellar, sharing a blanket with Pietro, the ice man, Connor found little Joe. His age was 12. His baptismal name was Giuseppe Angelo Bertrando Catelli. He had almost forgotten the larger part of it. Among his own people he was little Beppo. To the hurrying throng he was simply Joe.

By dint of patient inquiry Connor learned that Giovanni Catelli and his son had come to New York six years before, and that Joe was a Genoese, born in the Via XX Settembre, in a tenement in the rear of the Church of Santo Stefano, almost under the shadow of the old tower.

There was no lamenting widow to weep with little Beppo, for the mother had died in Genoa, and had been sleeping in the Camposanto since Giuseppe was a mere babe. And little Joe at the age of 12 was a very lonely little soul in a very large town, fighting a very unequal battle, but determined to make the best of it. So after his father's taking off, he frequented the corner of Bleecker and Mulberry streets, where he sold papers, beginning with the morning issues and closing the long day with the pink sporting extras.

Detective Bill Connor, haunted, perhaps, by the dying request of Giovanni, kept his eye on little Joe almost from the very day of the Mulberry street tragedy, and, as the months passed, there were divers episodes and occurrences that had to do more or less with the cementing of a bond of friendship between the man and the boy.

One afternoon in January Big Bill came across his little friend, at a Bleecker street corner, shivering in the cold, blue-nosed, red-knuckled, dancing on one foot and then on the other, with a perpetual whistle keeping time to his steps.

"Poor little kiddie," thought Bill. "A cold day for him sure," and he noted the thin jacket and bare hands. Then, "Hello, Joe," he said, with a smile of sympathy.

"Hello, Bigga Bill!" replied the boy "Fa freddo!" And then he laughed.

"Aw, cut out the dago rot and talk United States!" exclaimed Bill. "Come over to John's, and we'll warm up with hot coffee—oh, don't worry about the price, Kid, it's on me."

"It's good and hot, isn't it, Joe?" said Bill when they got inside and were supping the smoking drink.

"Yep," replied Joe meekly. He cherished a profound admiration for the big detective, a sort of reverential awe. But whether his boyish adoration was bestowed upon Big Bill for his girth and height, or for the big gold badge that his coat hid from the popular gaze, was a question.

"I say, Joe," remarked Connor, as he emptied his cup, "you're a great lad. What you going to do when you grow up?"

"Me!" echoed Joe, rather surprised.

"Sure, you!" answered Big Bill. "You're not going to sell papers all your life? You'll be a man some of these fine days, and I want to see you on the right road."

Joe buttoned up his thin jacket over a contented stomach, and grinned. Then, on an impulse, he put his head close to Bill's ear and whispered:

"Bigga Bill, ascoltate! I maka de barkeep. Den I start de saloon. Den I maka de politish. Den de bigga man, and they will calla me Mister Catelli, no more Little Beppo."

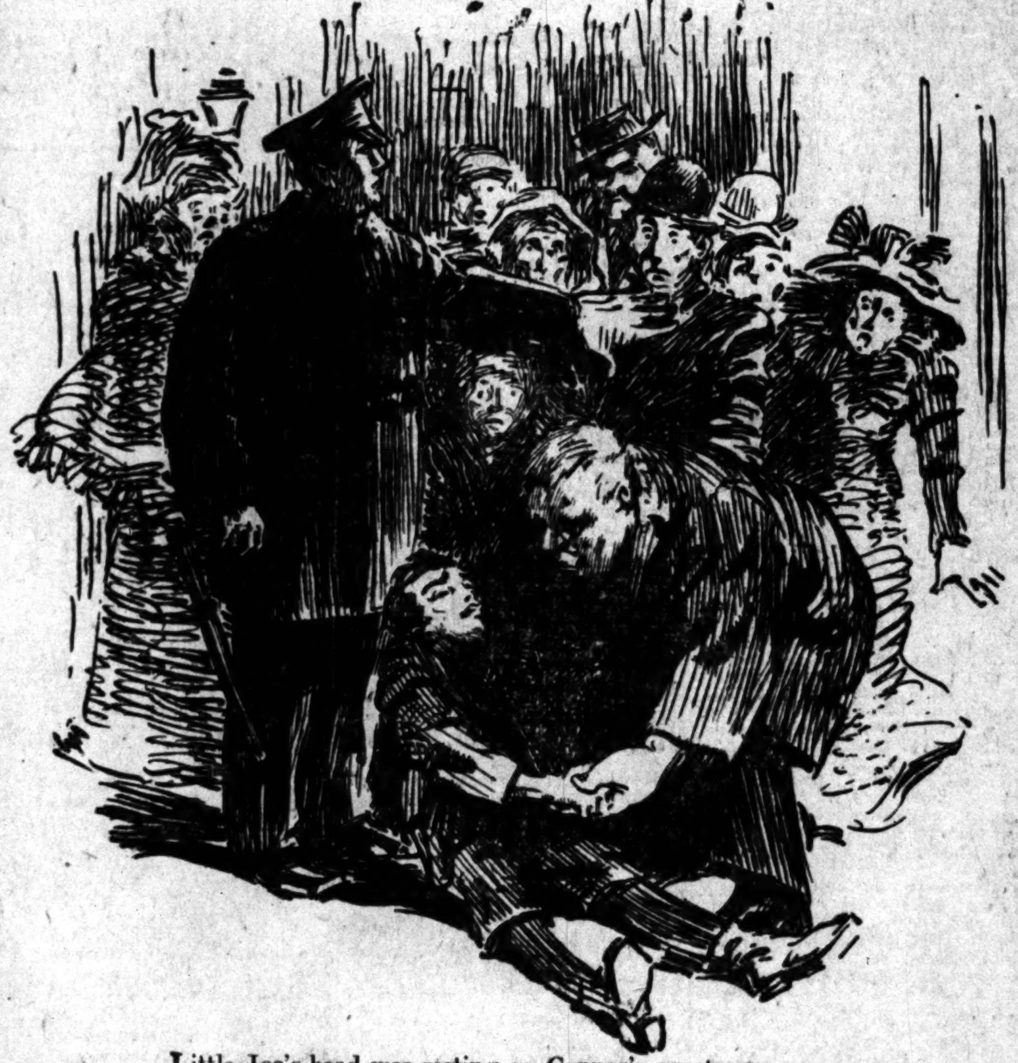
Joe started toward the door with a swagger, proud of his success in the planning of his hopes; prouder still of the big friend, to whom he could confide. As for Bill, he waddled after Joe, and he laughed as he pictured the boy a future Sheriff, with the backing of the reigning boss.

They parted at the corner, Joe to business with his pink editions, and Bill to the station house for a look at the blotter.

Two strange men were in the captain's office when the detective entered, and the desk sergeant nodded his head in a mysterious way. But before Connor was permitted to ask a question the captain came forward and introduced the strangers.

"Gentlemen," he said, "this is Lieut. Connor, my right-hand man; he'll help you out." The captain turned to Bill: "This is Mr. Barnes and this is Mr. Campbell, of the secret service. They want a third man in a hurry. You go with them, Connor."

Connor nodded acquiescence, and as the trio walked briskly down the street Mr. Barnes explained in whispers the object of their quest.



Little Joe's head was resting on Connor's great arm now.

They had found a cosy crib in a rear house in Bleecker street, where "Old Spike," a white-haired counterfeiter, and Eddie Buck, a younger member of the same fraternity, were making spurious silver coin; and, having shadowed both men to the very door of the house, the secret service agents had felt that a third man might help a lot when it came to the moment of making the arrest.

"Old Spike is a devil," confided Barnes, "one of the worst in the business. I guess we've been after him for over six months now, eh, Campbell?"

"Ever since September, when he flooded Coney Island with bad quarters," put in Campbell.

"Seven times he's been behind the bars for shoving the queer stuff," continued Barnes. "Twice on the other side and five times here. He's nearly 60, white-headed, and all that; he's got a fist like a sledge hammer, eyes like a hawk's, a quick wit and a ready gun. We've got the both of them cooped up in a shanty back of Bleecker street."

To reach the rear of No. 42 Bleecker street they passed through a very narrow alleyway, between brick walls. In the back, under the shadow of a big tenement, was a story-and-a-half house, with a large living-room on the lower floor, and two sleeping places under the roof. Old Spike and his younger pal had been living there in seclusion for a long time; and among their crucibles, and smelting pots, and ladles, and molds, and chemicals, they had been turning out half-dollars and quarters and spreading them broadcast. But to their neighbors, in the front tenement, Spike and his pal were a couple of harmless tinsmiths who had more or less mending to do at night.

It was dusk when the secret service men and Connor reached the alley. There were no loiterers about, for the bitter cold had driven the human goats into the shelter of the neighboring bar-rooms. The three, with drawn revolvers, stepped softly, and reached the door of the house. Barnes and Campbell put their shoulders to the panels, and bore the weight of their bodies against the door, which fell with a crash. Old Spike, perspiring in the stuffy room over a smelting pot, uttered an oath and dropped the ladle of hot metal on the floor. The secret service men covered him with their revolvers, and, seeing that it was impossible to escape, he held up his hands. His pal, however, young and active, who was near the door, gave one leap toward liberty, and dashed past Connor and out into the alleyway.

Seeing that Barnes and Campbell had seized the older man and were putting the cuffs on him, Connor turned, gun in hand, and gave chase to the one who was endeavoring to get away. Now, as the pal of Spike was slender and very fleet of foot, and as Bill was stout and rather heavy on his legs, it looked a very unequal race from the starting point.

Eddie Buck emerged from the front end of the narrow alley at the moment that Bill Connor entered the rear. Connor fired once, but the bullet only grazed the coat sleeve of the flying Buck as he turned down Bleecker street. Bill followed, running as fast as he could, and when he, too, turned from the alley into Bleecker street, he saw his man was less than a hundred feet ahead of him. Buck had his gun in hand, and turned once or twice to see if he was being pursued.

At this most exciting moment a small boy, whistling gayly, came around the corner of Mulberry street. In a glance he realized what was happening. He saw Bill Connor, gun in hand, coming down the street, like a war horse. And then he noticed, scarcely a step away, a wild-looking man, also with a gun, running apparently to escape from the detective.

It may have been an impulse, perhaps an inspiration; at all events there was thrust out a small leg, which tripped the man who was running away, and he staggered and then fell heavily a few feet beyond on the icy pavement.

He made no attempt to get upon his feet. His fall had doubtless crippled him somewhere; but, with a terrible oath, he raised himself on his elbow, pulled the trigger of his revolver and fired up the street toward the fast approaching Connor.

Barnes, meanwhile, having handcuffed Old Spike, left him in the custody of Campbell and hurried out and was close behind Connor when the shot came from the prostrate Buck. In another moment a blow from Connor's fist had knocked the gun from the hand of the fallen man, and Bill's big weight pressed down upon him. Then, in a twinkling, Barnes brought a second pair of handcuffs into play, and the game was over.

Red-faced and perspiring, Bill Connor turned and saw a little crowd on the curbstone not twenty feet away. He saw a man run across the street to the drug store, and two women wringing their hands. Barnes was walking away with his prisoner, who limped painfully.

A queer feeling came over Big Bill—a sickening nausea, and then a palpitation and a dizziness. Mechanically, he moved toward the increasing crowd at the curb. The people made way for him. He stepped forward to the inner circle. A small boy lay prone on his back. His white face was upturned. His eyes were staring wildly. A little stream of red was trickling to the pavement from a wound in the chest.

Bill Connor breathed very hard. The staring eyes on the pavement seemed to speak to him, and then he heard a little, plaintive cry, a moan of half joy, half sorrow—"Bigga Bill."

Connor dropped weakly upon his knees. His big, broad hand fell upon the pale forehead of the boy.

"Pool little Joe," he whispered huskily.

Then, in a flash, Bill Connor realized what had happened—the shot; the flying bullet; the fallen boy. The leaden ball meant for him had pierced the breast of little Joe. The lad had saved his life. But for the boy, Connor might at the moment be lying there on the pavement with a death wound in his chest. Poor little orphaned Beppo. Why had he not done more for this fatherless-motherless waif of the city streets? And then there flashed into his mind how only a few hours before Joe had confided his hopes and ambitions, and how he had laughed. Something pricked very deeply into Bill Connor's conscience.

The policeman on post, coming up and forcing his way through the ever-increasing crowd, glanced at the prostrate boy and the big man bending over him. Then, another policeman running up, the man on post hurried to the corner and rang for an ambulance.

"Joe," whispered Big Bill, and he bent over, his face almost touching the pale, pinched cheek of little Beppo.

A small voice, choking and scarcely audible, whispered in reply:

"I—trippa de man—Bigga Bill, de gooda Bill—de man he shoot—not shoot Bigga Bill—he—mi ha fatto male, molto male—" and the small body quivered with the pain.

Little Joe's head was resting on Connor's great arm now, and one of his thin, white hands was clasped in Bill's big palm.

"Mi sento male, assai male," he moaned.

"Poor little Joe," whispered Bill soothingly.

"Addio—Bigga Bill—de gooda Bill," came a lingering cry.

And while the winter winds blew cold upon them, and the shivering crowd pressed close, little Beppo closed his eyes, to dream, perhaps, of Genoa, and to hear the chimes of St. Stefano in the last, long sleep.

FOR THIS CONSULTATION THERE IS NO CHARGE.

We will for a SHORT PERIOD OF TIME reduce the price of our really world-famous ELECTRO-METALLIC FACE MASK, from $100 to $60.

This mask is made to fit each face individually in every detail, is heavily gold plated, is furnished with electrical battery and all attachments and is absolutely guaranteed to remove wrinkles, crowsfeet, flabbiness, sallowness, freckles, pimples, blackheads, red veins, large pores, moth patches and even skin diseases. (U. S. Patent.) The use of this mask has rejuvenated the face of the famous young man of 70, Mr. Sanford Bennett of San Francisco. (See article in Physical Culture Magazine, Nov. 1909.)

This mask does all its work while you are sleeping, it weighs only about 5 oz. Its use does not incapacitate its wearer for business or pleasure and the only change there is to your skin in the morning is a gradually increasing rejuvenation, a smoothing out of old wrinkles, crowsfeet and lines, a bleaching effect and a delicate tinting, indicating the returning bloom of youth. It is wonderful to notice the change from an old face into a young one. And once restored all that has to be done is to wear the mask once or twice a week. Any one interested in the mask may find out all about them by calling at our office, where we will be glad to give all information relating to it.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

305½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.
EXPERT ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST.

A resident of Los Angeles 26 years.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The HOROSCOPE—calculated from the PLANETS at your birth, will show what a powerful influence they have in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, domestic affairs, financial affairs; your talents; your environments; tells about children; when and where to travel; what to seek and what to avoid; when in danger of illness, accidents, death, losses, troubles, etc., etc., also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES OF THESE EVENTS FOR THE FUTURE. In fact, the HOROSCOPE gives ACCURATE AND RELIABLE information on ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. No important changes or ventures of ANY kind should be made except at such a time when the planets in YOUR horoscope are favorable. PREDICTIONS for the FUTURE—made by the trained judgment of Prof. Althouse, will stagger the senses. PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Lillian Russell, Calve, Sembrich, Admiral Evans, Baron Rothschild, H. E. Huntington, M. Paulhan, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Wm. H. Crane, Joaquin Miller, Annie Besant, Rose Melville, Fritzi Scheff, Capt. Hobson, Jefferson, Adaberto, Fritz Kreisler, etc. These are a few of the more NOTED PUBLIC PERSONS—and for this reason only are they here mentioned. All positively read by Prof. Althouse, besides hundreds of the best people of Los Angeles, with whom all his readings are strictly CONFIDENTIAL.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S skilled work must in no wise be classed with that of other readers; therefore beware of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics, clairvoyants, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING GIVES ALSO AN ASTROLOGICAL READING.

PROF. ALTHOUSE, in September, 1908, PUBLICLY predicted—by the PLANETS—the election of TAFT and the defeat of BRYAN.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences and I consider your work as the most thorough and reliable of any reader in the United States."

LOUIS JAMES says: "I wish to say that your reading was entirely SATISFACTORY."

FREDERICK WARDE says: "Your reading was most SATISFACTORY. Your knowledge and skill is REMARKABLE."

PAPINTA, actress, writes and says: "Everything has turned out just as you predicted, when reading my hand and Horoscope. YOU ARE WONDERFUL, and I cannot express myself of what I think about your WONDERFUL TRUE READINGS."

MME. BALDWIN writes: "The Horoscope you wrote for me is absolutely CORRECT. My friend, MME. NORDICA, the singer, first showed me her Horoscope, and recommended your work to me. Inclosed find check for four more Horoscopes—all friends of mine."

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK says: "I was greatly surprised to find how many of your warnings were well founded. YOUR READING WAS MOST MARVELOUS."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of horoscopes and hand reading has brought him a large and successful practice. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances.

HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and experience can produce; therefore, HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

Daily and evening. Sunday, 10 to 2.
STUDIO PARLORS, 305½ S. SPRING ST. x13

PERSONAL—

MRS. MASSON,

the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 323 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,) by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND-READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines, that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT INFORMATION.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PSYCHIC,

PROF. STANLEY,
STANLEY
STANLEY
STANLEY
STANLEY

247—SOUTH HILL ST.—247.

PROF. STANLEY HAS NO AUCTION PRICES. YOU KNOW WHAT YOU HAVE TO PAY—NO MORE; NO LESS. DOES THIS APPEAL TO YOU?

$1—TO ALL—$1.

ALWAYS CONSULT THE BEST. IT IS THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. IT IS BETTER TO CONSULT NO PSYCHIC THAN ONE WHO IS NOT ABLE TO HELP YOU.

WITHOUT YOU WRITING YOUR NAME AND THE QUESTIONS YOU WISH TO KNOW, OR EVEN SPEAKING, HE WILL GIVE YOU NAMES, DATES, FACTS AND FIGURES.

He believes that he has passed the experimental stages and finds no one who is not willing to pay this small fee of $1, providing they receive reliable advice. If you have already made a mistake, thrown away your money and lost confidence through dealing with much-advertised and self-styled palmists and clairvoyants, and their cheap methods, start anew, consult Prof. Stanley. He will tell you frankly your condition and what you may expect; if nothing can be done for you he will not take a cent of your money. Has not this honesty on the face of it?

If you want the truth, with reliable advice, you will consult BYRON STANLEY on past, present and future. Also remember what has been told you, which too often is not the case.

Before you go into anything of importance—or undertake anything serious—in business or love, or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult the master mind of psychics.

NO NEED TO TELL HIM.

There is no need to tell Stanley your story. There will be no "quizzing" or asking of questions. His talents enable him to instinctively know your wants and troubles. Without any attempt at mystification, but with unerring sight into the inner nature of things, he reveals that which you most wish to know. His advice on all matters, business, lawsuits, marriage, health, is invaluable. He is exact and correct — not guesswork. He gives names, dates, facts and figures and shows clearly and distinctly the road to success in business as well as in domestic and family affairs.

From Lillian Russell, the Well-known Actress:

I was greatly impressed with PROF. BYRON STANLEY'S reading. His powers are truly marvelous. He develops in one a force that enables them to attract people, to interest them and to please them to their good and to your advantage without the least effort on one's part. His advice and assistance have been of great benefit to me.

From a Prominent Minister:

I desire to bear evidence to the genuineness of PROF. STANLEY'S work. God does give to us an intuition whereby we may guide our lives. That PROF. STANLEY possesses this guiding power to a marvelous degree is evident. The fact that his clients are his warmest and truest friends is alone a tribute to his sincerity and honest methods in dealing with all. He has rendered me immeasurable assistance.
REV. W. C. JESSUP.

From M. Rothschild, the Well-known Financier:

For the past five years PROF. STANLEY'S advice and assistance have favorably influenced my business and financial affairs. I have tested nearly every psychic in this country and find PROF. STANLEY'S advice reliable and far superior to any that I have ever met.

PROF. STANLEY: I wish to give my testimonial for the benefit of those who wish to read it. Since I consulted you several weeks ago I have followed your advice and the instructions you gave me as nearly as I possibly could, and I can truly say the result has been marvelous. I shall consider it a privilege to recommend you to any person who will take the trouble to write me. Yours truly,
MAURICE WINKLER,
3529 State st., New York.

To whom it may concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. STANLEY, as a life reader of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental mediumship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his advices.
DR. JOHN WESTERFIELD,
President Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.
Chesterfield, Ind., September 4, 1906.

Don't struggle with a burden you can divide. A troubled mind begets a morbid conscience. Sympathy, consolation and timely advice heal the worst of wounds. Be advised and relieved of anxiety.

SPECIAL READING
50 CENTS.
506—SOUTH HILL ST—506.
Hotel Willoughby,
Over Park Bank,
Opposite Central Park.

STRANGE AND STARTLING ARE THE REVELATIONS THAT FLOW FROM THE CULTIVATED LIPS OF THIS WONDERFUL PSYCHIC. EVERY WORD A PEARL OF WISDOM. BORN AND BRED IN INDIA, THE LAND OF THE MYSTIC, THIS WIZARD OF PSYCHISM STANDS ALOFT AND ALONE, FAR IN ADVANCE OF THE ORDINARY READERS YOU MEET.

WOULD YOU LIFT THE CURTAINS TO THE MYSTERIES OF THE VEILED BEYOND? IF SO, CONSULT THIS GREAT PSYCHIC.

DIRECT FROM INDIA.

DOES EVERYTHING GO ALL WRONG? IF SO, THERE IS A CAUSE. DO YOU WISH TO CONTINUE ON THE DOWNWARD TRAIL, OR DO YOU DESIRE TO CHANGE AND CLAIM WHAT GOD INTENDED YOU TO HAVE? IF YOU WOULD RISE TO YOUR NATURAL SPHERE AND ENJOY LIFE AS OTHERS DO, SEE THIS MAN.

HE WILL TELL YOU THE CAUSE OF YOUR WOE AND HOW TO OVERCOME IT. HE IS THE MAN THE SAN FRANCISCO PAPERS SAID SO MUCH ABOUT FOR PREDICTING THE GREAT QUAKE AND FIRE.

THIS MAN OF MYSTERY HAS RIGHTFULLY GAINED THE TITLE, THE WIZARD SEER, THE NAME SO OFTEN APPLIED TO HIM. AND WE RECOMMEND HIM TO YOU FOR DEAD TRANCE READINGS AND DEEP PSYCHIC WORK OF ALL KINDS, AND TO BE THE MOST THOROUGH, CONSISTENT, CONCISE AND COMPLETE LIFE READER BEFORE THE PUBLIC TODAY, THE PEER OF ALL PSYCHICS. THE ONLY GRADUATE OF THE ORDOO COLLEGE OF OCCULTISM TO EVER LEAVE HIS NATIVE LAND, A HERALD OF THE MYSTERIES OF THE PROPHETS OF OLDEN TIMES.

THIS GREAT PSYCHIC HAS SPENT ALL THE YEARS OF HIS ACTIVE LIFE IN THE STUDY AND PURSUIT OF THIS HIS NATURALLY-ENDOWED SCIENCE, AND STANDS ALONE AT THE HEAD OF A VAST ARMY OF SEERS AND PROPHETS, MANY OF WHOM HE HAS TAUGHT AND PREPARED FOR THE PURSUIT OF THIS GRAND CALLING. SEE HIM TODAY. HE MAY CHANGE THE COURSE OF YOUR WHOLE EXISTENCE. MANY A SAD HEART HAS BEEN GLADDENED, MANY A WEARY LIFE MADE BRIGHT BY THE ADVICE AND MAGNETISM OF THIS WONDERFUL MAN. HE IS UNLIKE ANY YOU EVER SAW; DOES POSITIVELY ALL THAT OTHERS CLAIM TO DO AND DEMONSTRATES THE POWER OF MIND OVER MATTER FREE TO EVERY PATRON; THE ONLY MAN IN AMERICA POSSESSING THIS POWER. SEEING IS BELIEVING. TRY HIM. THEN TRY OTHERS AND SEE IF THEY CAN DO THE SAME. A CAPABLE MAN HAS CONFIDENCE IN HIS ABILITY, AND WILL NOT REQUIRE YOU TO DEPOSIT YOUR MONEY BEFORE HIS WORK IS DONE. MUNDO HAS READ FOR MANY OF AMERICA'S LEADING CITIZENS AND A FEW TITLED FOREIGNERS, BUT HE HAS MORE RESPECT FOR HIS PATRONS AND MORE CONSIDERATION FOR THEIR FEELINGS THAN TO PUBLISH THEIR NAMES BROADCAST FOR THE SAKE OF ADVERTISEMENT. NOR DOES HE CLAIM TO HAVE READ FOR DOZENS OF PROMINENT PEOPLE THAT COMMON SENSE WILL TELL YOU HE NEVER SAW. IF YOU NEED ADVICE AND WANT A READING FROM A REAL LIFE READER, WHO DOES NOT SPEND HALF HIS TIME SLANDERING HIS COMPETITORS, SEE MUNDO, THE REAL LIFE READER, WHO REALLY TELLS WHAT YOU DESIRE TO KNOW OR NO CHARGE. A FOOLISH WEAKLING ONLY WILL PAY FOR A READING THAT GIVES NO BENEFIT. STOP AND THINK, THEN SEE MUNDO, THE INDIAN SEER, WHO STANDS BEHIND WHAT HE SAYS WITH A SPOT-CASH GUARANTEE. IF YOU WISH, HE WILL TELL YOUR NAME FREE AND SHOW YOU HOW IT IS DONE. SPECIAL READINGS, 50c.

WANTED—ANY AMBITIOUS YOUNG MAN under 35 years old, should read this advertisement. The United States Navy is an excellent training institution. For such training as it furnishes you free, you'd pay tuition and expenses at a manual training school. Besides having a chance to learn a trade in the navy, you breathe pure sea air, have good, wholesome food and plenty of it free; have medical care and attention if sick; are made strong and healthy by systematic exercises and athletics. You don't work any harder than in the factory, office or farm, and have more leisure, while no occupation offers better pay and none gives more rapid promotion. Your pay begins the day you enlist. Nearest Navy Recruiting Station to you is San Fernando Bldg., 4th and Main sts., Los Angeles, Cal. Send for interesting free booklet telling everything you want to know about the training and opportunities in the navy. If you delay, you may be put on the waiting list; vacancies are limited, and applications will be considered in their order. Either go to above Recruiting Office immediately, or send for booklet and instructions to BUREAU OF NAVIGATION, box 225, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. x•

WANTED—MEN AND WOMEN. FREE lessons given in Stidger's Progressive American Shorthand at our branch, 500½ SOUTH BROADWAY. You can learn this system in a few weeks. You can become an expert in three months. Do not follow the example of your ancestors and attempt to learn any of the old superannuated, antiquated, complicated, incomprehensible and impossible Pitmanic Systems. We will teach Pitman if desired, but cannot recommend it. We have more shorthand students than any other school in Los Angeles, regardless of the fact that our main office is located on Central ave. near the Arcade depot, and we do little advertising. Is it not consistent to assume that these young men and women are attracted by the merits of our SYSTEM, not location? The new NIGHT MESSAGE plan adopted by the Western Union will call for hundreds of young men and women to fill positions as telegraph operators. Send for circular containing positive guarantee of employment to graduates of our Telegraph Department. Salary $75 to $100 per month. It was necessary that we adopt our present location in order that main line wires might be brought into the school from Arcade Station, but we have the advantage of lower rents, which enables us to quote lower tuition rates. PACIFIC COAST SCHOOL OF RAILROADING, 542 Central ave. Established by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, 1907, with a view of preparing young men and women for its service. x13

WANTED—

Young men to learn to operate the linotype machine; a good trade that pays above the average. The Mergenthaler Linotype Company is installing over 100 linotype machines per month. That means just so many positions to be filled at good wages.

The Los Angeles Times has installed a large auxiliary plant, and has placed in charge an expert machinist and operator, making it possible for students who so desire to learn either trade (linotype machinist or operator) in shortest possible time. Six weeks' course, 8 hours per day or night, $50. THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY, or phone Main 8200, and ask for manager of the Linotype School. •

MACDONALD SYSTEM OF HAIR DRESSING AND BEAUTY CULTURE, 204 Mercantile Place, corner Spring street. LADIES LEARN BEAUTY CULTURE. THE MACDONALD COLLEGE offers advantages superior to all others, being the largest, oldest, best equipped, reliable and refined college in Los Angeles EXCLUSIVELY FOR LADIES. Hair dressing, manicuring, facial massage, hair manufacturing taught by experts. Wages paid in our graduate department. Diplomas and formulas given. If you would be a first-class operator learn at MACDONALD'S; not the cheapest, but the BEST. Call or write for terms. x13

WANTED— Help, Male and Female. (Instruction Course.)

WANTED — LADIES, QUICK; BEAUTY culture pays big if learned right. You will find more "FLORENTINE" girls occupying good position than all other local schools combined, but this is the least of advantages offered. An ambitious student with very little capital, but a thorough training in this most fascinating of professions such as offered by a "FLORENTINE course," can make a grand success operating a parlor, with prospects limited only by your own ambition. Why will so many ladies and girls work at uncongenial employment? Are you satisfied with yours? A grand opportunity awaits you. Investigate it; "DO IT NOW." Don't be persuaded to part with your money until you see the Florentine Hairdressing College, world's largest. There's a reason. Hour lessons given to ladies wishing to dress their own hair in the latest modes. Remember the name, "FLORENTINE," corner Broadway, entrance 227 MERCANTILE PLACE, F7287, Main 7801.

WANTED—TRAVELING SALESMEN HUNdreds of good positions now open. No former experience needed to get one of them. Salesmen earn from $1000 to $10,000 a year and expenses. Over 700,000 employed in the United States and Canada, and the demand always exceeds the supply. Hundreds of our graduates who formerly earned from $25 to $75 a month have since earned from $100 to $500 a month and expenses. If you want to secure one of these good positions, our free book, "A Knight of the Grip," will show you how. Write for it today. Address nearest office. Dept. 657, NATIONAL SALESMEN'S TRAINING ASSN., New York, Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Atlanta. 13

THE MANAGEMENT OF YOUR PROPERTY.

OUR COLLECTION AND MAINTENANCE DEPARTMENT

Handles all classes of rental or income property of individuals, corporations or estates.

We have our own repair men and shop, which enables us to make repairs at a lower cost than can otherwise be done, and more promptly.

We pay taxes and attend to assessments, keep your property insured, adjust fire losses and rebuild when necessary.

We have the large volume and trained experts, which enable us to handle properties more economically than the individuals; therefore we can save you money, as well as annoyance and worry.

FOR SALE—BABY CHICKS ON HAND EVery day this week, several kinds. Prices 12½c and 15c. Wednesday, 2500 White Leghorns, finest selected stock of pure bred Leghorns on the Coast. If you want something good, come Wednesday after 1 p.m. Friday we expect to have off several thousand chicks; come Friday afternoon. We do not take phone orders for chicks; first come, first served. How about hatching eggs? We sell all kinds and sell for less than anyone. We buy the best eggs of the best breeders in the country and by contracting for them in thousand lots, we get a low price. Now is the time to put the incubator and hen to work to make money for you. Eggs run very fertile at present. We sell goose, duck and hen eggs. Call for 32-page book. 12,500 eggs setting right here in sight. Ten more 612-egg size "SUCCESS" incubators will be started this week to hatch, making 18,600 eggs hatching in the store every 21 days. Visitors welcome. Now is the time to get your fireless brooder and chicks. We make low combination prices; ask about this. PIONEER HATCHERY CO., 112 East 5th st. Main 5631, F1635. x13

FOR SALE—HOW ABOUT THAT INCUBAtor; have you bought one yet? More "SUCCESS" incubators were sold up to Feb. 28th than we sold all of last year. Does this not show that they have made good? Ask any one that owns one. We make 130-size, $14; 260-egg size, $20; 380-egg size, $25 and the famous 612-egg size at $40. We deliver them anywhere.

Send or call for free 32-page book. Success Fireless Brooders are the best brooders on the market regardless of price. We make them in outdoor and indoor types. Prices $2.50 to $6.50. Come and see them. Buy chicks and a brooder. Mr. Walker, our expert incubator man, will be glad to show you the Success Incubator and Brooders any day. Remember, we guarantee every part of the Success Incubator. Come and see them. E. E. M'CLANAHAN, 112 East 5th st. Main 5631, F1635. x13

PACIFIC AUTOMOBILE COMPANY,
1150-1156 South Main.
Wm. Grundy, Pres.
J. R. Grundy, Vice-Pres.
C. Fred Grundy, Mgr.

The story of the growth of the largest retail automobile business west of Chicago.

When this company entered the field and announced that they would sell new and second-hand automobiles, giving a guarantee on used automobiles more complete than that given by new agencies, the trade agreed that it could not be done and that further this company could not live up to their guarantee, but we can now prove they were wrong, and in fact the automobile dealers of Los Angeles will acknowledge that we have more than made good in every way. Ask any automobile agent for his opinion of The Pacific Automobile Company.

As to our guarantee we will gladly give you the complete list of our hundreds of customers to any of whom we refer you as to our treatment, both before and after purchasing.

You ask why all this talk about guarantees, references, etc., Just this, before our advent in this second-hand automobile business, this class of legitimate business was left largely in the hands of irresponsible dealers with neither financial standing nor any appreciation of their moral responsibility to their costumers, naturally the customers were generally disappointed and if a car was unsatisfactory they had no one to fall back on. We are here to stay and have invested more cash capital in good, machinery and fixtures than all other dealers in second-hand automobiles combined.

We have the most complete equipment in Los Angeles and our repair and rebuilding department has for foreman of the various departments the following well known mechanics:

Leslie Faulkner, formerly foreman of the Winton Co.

Lew Walsh, formerly head machinist for Pico Carriage Co. and later foreman of the Westlake Garage.

Chas. Fausel, formerly, two years head machinist for Mountain Bros.

If you need any repair work and want a square deal see us about it.

Our stock of rebuilt cars is very complete and prices the lowest. When we say rebuilt we mean every worn gear or bearing replaced with new.

A few sample bargains.

1909 CHALMERS 30.

THE SEELEY
IGNITION SYSTEM

Adds one more to its long list of victories. At Ascot Park, March 12, the 30-H.P. Corbin stock car, equipped with this system, won the 5-mile free for all in 4 minutes 57 2-5 seconds, defeating 45 to 60-H.P. cars, including the Marmon special racer, proving the Seely system is the one to bank on.

Better investigate this. Catalogue mailed on request.

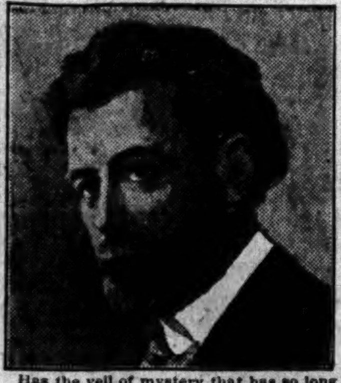
Can This Man Read Your Life?

The Rich, Poor, Exalted and Humble Seek His Advice on Business, Marriage, Friends, Enemies, Changes, Speculations, Love Affairs, Journeys and All Events of Life.

MANY SAY HE REVEALS THEIR LIVES WITH AMAZING ACCURACY.

Free Test Readings Will Be Sent for a Short Time to All Los Angeles Times Readers.



Has the veil of mystery that has so long shrouded the ancient sciences been raised at last? Can it be that a system has been perfected that reveals with reasonable accuracy the character and disposition of an individual, and so outlines the life as to assist in avoiding errors and taking advantage of opportunities?

Roxroy, a man who has for twenty years been delving into the mysteries of the occult, making a scientific study of the various methods of reading the lives of people, seems to have reached a higher round in the ladder of fame than its predecessors. Letters are pouring into his office from all parts of the world telling of the benefits derived from his advice. Many of his patrons look upon him as a man gifted with some strange, mysterious power, but he modestly asserts that what he accomplishes is due alone to an understanding of natural laws.

He is a man of kindly feeling toward humanity, and his manner and tone immediately impress one with his sincere belief in his work. A huge stack of grateful letters from people who have received readings from him adds to other convincing proof as to his ability. Even Astrologers and Palmists admit that his system surpasses anything yet introduced.

The Rev. G. C. H. Kasskari, Ph. D., Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, in a letter to Prof. Roxroy, says: "You are certainly the greatest specialist and master of your profession. Every one consulting you will marvel at the correctness of your detailed personal Readings and advice. The most skeptical will consult you again and again after corresponding with you once."

If you wish to take advantage of Roxroy's generous offer and obtain a free reading, send your date, month and year of birth, state whether (Mr., Mrs. or Miss) and also copy the following verse in your own handwriting:

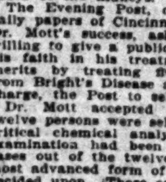
I have heard of your power
To read people's lives,
And would ask what for me
You have to advise.

Be sure to give your correct name, birth date and address and write plainly. Send your letter to ROXROY, Dept. 73A, No. 177A Kensington High Street, London, W., England. If you wish, you may enclose 10 cents (U. S. A. stamps) to pay postage, clerical work, etc. Do not enclose coins or silver in letters.

Note—Under the new postal regulations you can send a sealed letter to England for only two cents postage.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes

Under the Auspices of the Cincinnati Evening Post, Five Test Cases Were Selected and Treated Publicly by Dr. Irvine K. Mott Free of Charge.



Irvine K. Mott, M.D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, well and favorably known in that city as a learned physician—a graduate of the Cincinnati Pulte Medical College, class of 1883, and who afterward received Clinical instructions abroad, and has since 1890 been a Specialist for the treatment of kidney diseases — believes that he has discovered a remedy to successfully treat Bright's Disease, Diabetes and other kidney troubles, either in their first, intermediate or last stages. Dr. Mott says: "My method arrests the disease, even though it has destroyed most of the kidneys, and preserves intact that portion not yet destroyed. The medicines I use neutralize the poisons that form a toxine that destroys the cells in the tubes of the kidneys."

The Evening Post, one of the leading daily papers of Cincinnati, Ohio, hearing of Dr. Mott's success, asked if he would be willing to give a public test to demonstrate his faith in his treatment, and prove its merits by treating five persons suffering from Bright's Disease and Diabetes, free of charge, the Post to select the cases.

Dr. Mott accepted the conditions, and twelve persons were selected. After a most critical chemical analysis and microscopic examination had been made, five of the cases out of the twelve, those showing the most advanced form of these diseases, were decided upon. These cases were placed under Dr. Mott's care and reports published each week in the Post. In three months all were discharged by Dr. Mott. The persons treated gained their normal weight, strength and appetite, and were able to resume their usual work. Any one desiring to read the details of this public test can obtain copies by sending to Dr. Mott for them.

The public demonstration gave Dr. Mott an international reputation that has brought him into correspondence with people all over the world, and several noted Europeans are numbered among those who have been successfully treated, as treatment can be administered effectively by mail.

The Doctor will correspond with those who are suffering with Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or any kidney trouble whatever, and will be pleased to give his expert opinion free to those who will send him a description of their symptoms. An essay which the doctor has prepared about kidney trouble and describing his new method of treatment, will also be mailed by him. Correspondence for this purpose should be addressed to Irvine K. Mott, M.D., 912 Mitchell Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

We Cure Eyes

(Free Advice and Free Cure Book)

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME WITH OUR NATURAL HOME TREATMENT

Costs You Nothing for Our Free Cure Book Tells You How. Send for It Today.

We tell you how to treat yourself right in your own home with our Natural Method Treatment, without undergoing an operation, seeing a doctor, or leaving the house. There's no pain, no trouble, no danger, no knife; just the simplest and most natural method possible.

No matter how serious your eye trouble is, or how long you have had it, or who has treated you before, or whether you have cataract, failing eyesight, optic nerve disease, scums, sore or watery eyes, or ulcers, or any other eye trouble, we will advise you free of charge.

We have cured hundreds of cases like that of Rex Haughey of Snyder, Okla., who says: "My sister had cataract and was almost blind. They entirely cured her in three months."

M. C. Aldrich, Alva, Okla., says: "My doctor wanted me to go to Chicago. I was almost blind, could not see to read or sew or write. I could not go to Chicago because I was too poor. I saw the ads and they quickly cured me with their simple, painless, method."

Let us tell you how you can treat yourself, and be sure of results.

We do not treat people who were born blind or who are so blind from any cause that they have no perception of light. Where there is light, however, there is hope.

If you are interested, and want our book, write a description of your case the best way you can and we will tell you how you can treat yourself at home and be sure of results, telling you things your doctor never told you and that you ought to know.

Clergyman's Son's Testimonial of Tuberculosis Cure.

To neglect a cold, bronchitis, lung trouble or Consumption is dangerous. We all know how prone people are to deny they have Consumption. It is a flattering disease, and the sufferer is filled with bright hopes of improvement. Call Consumption by its own dread name—and then—take Eckman's Alterative, because it is effective in Tuberculosis. No one need doubt about it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following.

Amenia, N. Y., July 9, 1909.

Gentlemen: Prior to Feb., 1908, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and mid-day chills and losing flesh rapidly, having gone from 155 to 135 lbs. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home, my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alterative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier and gradually diminished and in a few days I developed an appetite, the first in months. I am now in perfect health, back to 155 lbs. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alterative.

(Signed) E. H. COWLES.

ECKMAN'S ALTERATIVE is good for all throat and lung troubles and is on sale at all Owl Drug Co.'s stores in Los Angeles. Ask for booklet of cured cases. It can also be obtained at or procured from your local druggist. If not send this advertisement with two dollars to ECKMAN LABORATORY, Philadelphia, Pa., and we will send you one bottle prepaid to your nearest express office.

Turkish Bath Quick Rheumatism Cure

Quickly Cures Kidney Trouble, Nervous Prostration and All Skin Diseases.

Well-known physicians say that the Robinson Thermal Bath at home, is about to become an almost universal conqueror of disease. Any man or woman can prove its results inside of 24 hours, in some cases 30 minutes.

In cases of rheumatism, especially, the uric acid poison is extracted from the system through the pores, almost as liquids are sucked up through a straw. Drugs merely smother the poison or ease the pain. They do not extract the poison from the body.

Anyone can now take Robinson Thermal baths at home and at a cost of only about 2c a bath. The only way to take these baths is by the use of the Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet, which is a unique and marvelous invention.

The Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet can now be seen and examined in Los Angeles at the Broadway Department Store.

Ask the dealer also for a copy of that great book, "The Philosophy of Health and Beauty." The regular price is $2, but you can get one free for only a limited time.

If you cannot go yourself, just send your name and address to the Robinson Manufacturing Company, Suite 77, Snowflake Bldg., Toledo, Ohio, for full illustrated information, free.

FREE TO THE RUPTURED

A New Home Cure That Anyone Can Use Without Operation, Pain, Danger or Loss of Time.

I have a new Method that cures rupture and I want you to use it at my expense. I am not trying to sell you a Truss, but offer you a cure that stays cured and ends all truss-wearing and danger of strangulation forever.

GREAT SIGHT.

BIG WINDOWS ARE THRILLING.

Trimmer's Consummate Art at Hamburger's.

Six Thousand Folks Witness the Unveiling.

Source of Pride to People of Los Angeles.

At 6 o'clock last evening, fully 6000 people were crowded before Hamburger's windows, as they were unveiled.

The Easter display is one which should cause a thrill of pride in the breast of every Angeleno. Any city might feel that it had done well, to achieve such a combination of fashion, fabric, art and skill.

On Broadway, the Rococo style is chosen, and is carried out to the most minute detail. On Eighth street, it is the Art Noveau, and on Hill street, the Grecian style of decoration prevails.

Not only is a certain style of decoration maintained, but the color scheme is carried out to the smallest particular.

In the background of the Broadway windows, large picture frames, surround scenes representing figures of Spring. The paintings bear the signatures of such artists as Hernando Villa, and A. Biorchi, well known to local fame. Real branches abloom with spring, stand out from around the great picture frames, and it is difficult to distinguish between these and the painted branch. A dainty peach bloom color is carried out in one window, the walls of papier maché being tinted in this color, touched with gol,d the same appearing in frieze, pillar, and in the caryatids, representing cupids, which seem to uphold the ceiling. Jardinieres of the same, hold feathery ferns and molded pillars uphold electroliers shaded in a like color. From a buttress, perfectly formed cupids are driving before them a flock of gorgeous butterflies, harnessed by satin ribbons. These, upon closer inspection prove to be of velvet, carved and tinted with consummate art. Panels of the same material—velvet carved and tinted, ornament the walls which form a background for the figures of fashion. These, in their turn repeat and add to the harmonious effect of shade and color, gown, coat and accessory being in a similar tone.

Another window is in spring greens, soft and exquisite, and touched here and there, with silver. Hyacinth blossoms give the needed life and breath of spring.

Sea blue and canary combine in another display. There are the quaint yellow roses of our grandmothers' gardens, myriads of them, abloom, and masses of asparagus fern. Walls, picture frames, lamps and all decorations repeat the delicate blue of the sea.

On the Hill street side of the store, a dainty lavender is used, shading through the violet tones, and into a rosy pink. Blossoms, draperies, walls and all decorations repeat these shades.

Another is in Nile green, which charming color pervades all decorations.

The figures which are placed amid all this beauty are the embodiment of the latest in the world of fashion, of course. One can notice only tendencies and general effects, in such a bewildering array. The soft chiffons, crepes and clinging goods of every kind seem to be a part of spring itself, and lend themselves graciously to the close clinging styles which seem to predominate. The queen of the occasion is an evening gown which is marked $500. It is of green and gold, almost entirely of silk and embroidery and gold braid. The lines of this creation are straight and slender. Another one marked $300 stands out from its associates. It is of soft white satin, embroidered in gold; and still a third, of heavier white satin, much bespangled, is made with a directoire coat effect. A white crepe is finished with a yoke of gold net, the only ornamentation. Nearly all have a more or less decided sweep, to the skirts; and many of the one-piece gowns have coats to match.

The hats which accompany the gowns, in many instances, are large, in the mushroom style, bedecked with plumes, or loaded with flowers.

The color scheme of the windows is borne out even in the hats.

And the hair, showing of course the latest styles, is in most instances worn rather low, often in the coronet braid, with curls peeping coquettishly from unexpected places—from behind the ear, or from under the barrette. Then jeweled and spangled ornaments gave a glitter to nearly every coiffeur. Bands and ornaments of carved shell, in very openwork designs, are seen, and others set with rhine-stones or pearls.

But whatever the style or effect or shape, it conforms in every instance to the general tone of the window wherein it appears.

With what nicety the colors of spring are chosen—those soft greens like the half unfurled leaves of young willows; the pastel of the budding peach; the blue of the sea, when the sky is clear above it; the new delicate yellows of the flowers which first gather the sun's rays.

Each separate window presents a scene in itself, and is a worthy setting for any theater. It is interesting to know that all the work is that of Los Angeles men. The head window decorator, F. E. Meline, was raised here, and every piece of painting and bit of molding was done here.

Another interesting fact is that the man in charge, Mr. Schuman, who has for several years been head advertising man for the establishment, is leaving to engage in business for himself, so this is, as we might say, his valedictory.

The head window decorator has twenty-seven assistants, upon this occasion, so one can understand that it is no small task to prepare such a feast for the eyes. It all looks so finished and natural that we are apt to forget the amount of work involved in getting up such a display.

At night, when the electroliers are turned on, and the soft glow is reflected in the harmonies of color and fabric, the effect is like fairyland. That it is appreciated is shown by the crowds around the windows, and is attested by the admiring exclamations upon all sides.

Yet the light of day discloses no defect in decoration or material. Consummate art has here created a world of its own, and a beautiful world it is!

XXIXTH YEAR. SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1910.

FACT AND COMMENT.

WE CAN all recall the time when the proud boast of Los Angeles people was, "This will some day be a great city." The aspirations of the old-timers have all come to pass, and now the great boast of Los Angeles is, "This is a great city." But we can look ahead as those before us did and now boast that this will be a very great city, one of the very greatest on the continent. It never has grown so rapidly before as this year. Whether the census to be taken next month will give us 325,000 inhabitants or something less, by the end of the current year there will be added 25,000 as the record for 1910.

—o—

An Indirect Advantage.

The dullest person who gives a moment's attention to real estate knows that the growth of population means an increase in real estate values. There is a direct connection between the two things. If the Los Angeles of 10,000 inhabitants, with very low values for the best real estate, would make a ridiculous showing alongside of the Los Angeles of 325,000 inhabitants, with the high value of the best real estate and good values for all real estate now, the present city will be small in comparison with the coming city, with its teeming population and great real estate values. But there is an indirect effect of this that perhaps all of us do not see. The Los Angeles of thirty years ago did not commend itself to people with money as a good place in which to make loans. In 1880 it would have been hard to have obtained a loan on any property in the city excepting in the very cream of the business district, the center of which was Temple block. The interest rates were enormously high. No money could be had at less than 1 per cent. a month, and the interest was paid generally monthly. This seemed a fairly low rate of interest to those who ten years before had been obliged to pay 18 per cent. per annum interest, payable monthly in advance, and if not paid added to the principal and bearing the same rate of interest as the principal. At the present time Los Angeles real estate is considered a very good basis for loans. The other day a piece of property on Spring street, not the very best and not the best improved, was made the basis of a loan for $250,000 at 5 per cent. There is no trouble in getting 40 or 50 per cent. of the present value of fairly well to very well improved property in Los Angeles at the present time. There is an abundance of local money, and foreign insurance companies are all making large loans here. That is the improvement over thirty years ago, when 25 per cent. of the current value of real estate was about all that could be got upon it at 1 per cent. per month.

—o—

What the Future Will Do.

From year to year it will be possible to obtain money from abroad as well as at home on Los Angeles real estate to a larger percentage of its real value and on lower terms than now. If one goes to a savings bank to borrow money on anything but the very cream of income property, the bank expert will estimate the value at about 80 per cent. of what the holder would be willing to sell for, and the bank will lend about 50 per cent. of its own valuation. If it is good business property fairly improved, instead of 50 per cent. of the actual value at which the property is held the bank may lend 40 per cent. If it is the very best property, one may get 45 or even 50 per cent. of the market value of the property. Of course the less solid the security the less percentage of holding value will be loaned on the property and the higher the rate of interest will be. At the present time 5 per cent. per annum is about the lowest rate at which money [illegible] the interest rate will drop lower and the amount to be borrowed will rise. There is property in Los Angeles today on which money was borrowed when a little easier than now at 4 per cent., and the amount was over 50 per cent. of the market value of the parcel. With larger population and greater stability in the earning powers of property, this will increase to 60 per cent. of the value of the property, and then to 70 per cent., and the interest rate will lower, unless something not expected takes place in the financial world, to 4 per cent. on long loans.

—o—

Conditions in the Great Cities.

In Chicago the highest-class business property is considered a good basis on which to secure loans up to 80 per cent. In New York the very best property might be pledged for 90 per cent. of its actual value. Of course conditions are very peculiar in New York. The business area is so circumscribed, so thoroughly defined for all time to come, that any shifting of the business center there is a thing not thought of. But here is a subject to be considered in dealings in real estate. The larger amount of money possible to borrow on realty the more easy it will be for persons desiring to get into the market to do so. Where one has to put up 60 per cent. or 70 per cent. of the actual value of a piece of property it takes a pretty heavy purse to secure control of a good piece. If you only have to have 10 or 20 per cent. of the price, it makes it a good deal easier. This high percentage at which loans are securable, coupled with the low rate of interest and the higher rents prevailing in large cities, adds very much to the stability of the value of real property. Where such large loans are possible it is much easier to hold on to real estate than where only small sums can be had on borrowed money, and this at very high rates of interest, and low rentals.

—o—

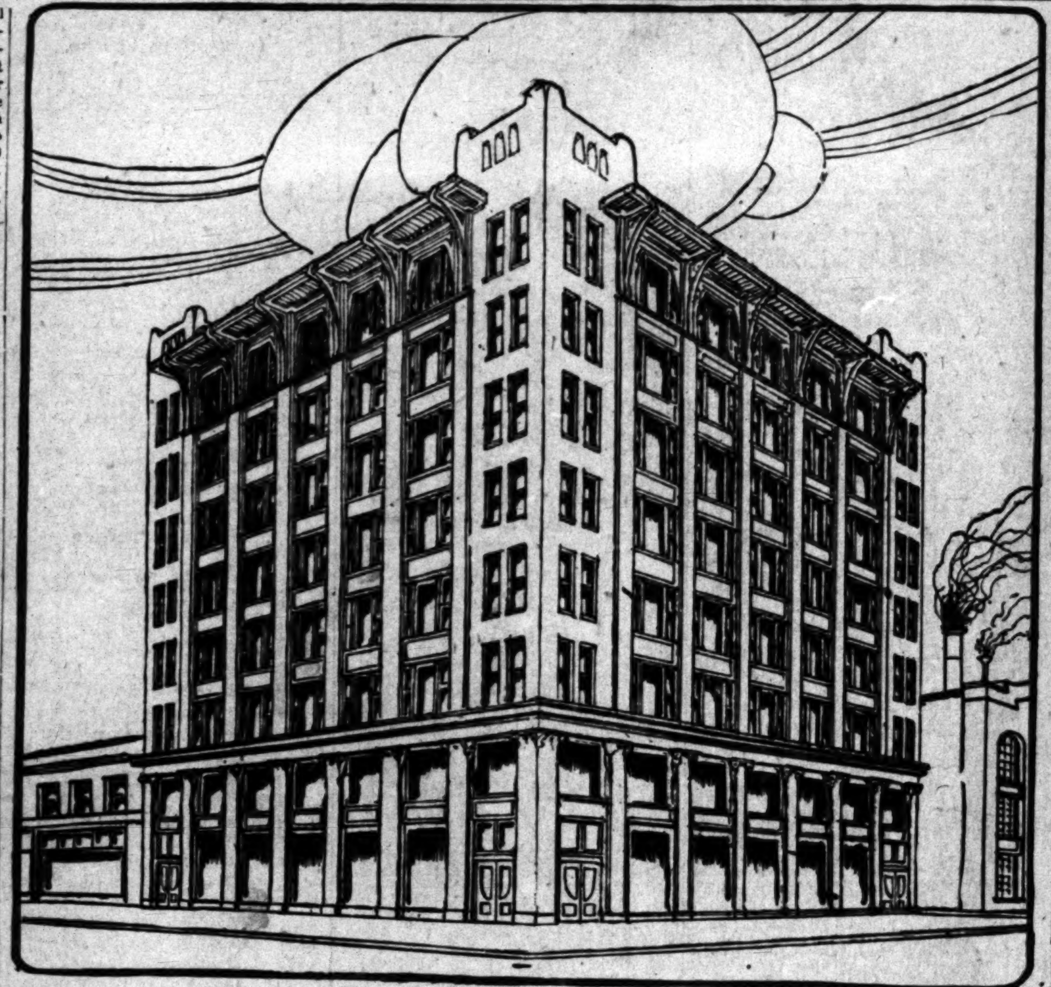
The Future Outlook.

The facts stated above show the future outlook for realty in the city of Los Angeles from a point of view not generally taken. As population increases, rentals will be higher and the assurance of tenants much more stable. At the same time, larger percentages of value may be borrowed, and the interest rates are likely to be lower. The more certainty there is that premises will be occupied and that rents will not go down, the lower the rate of interest and the larger the amount to be loaned. Under these very favorable conditions holders of real property can very well afford to make loans from a long period of time. With us here now notes secured by mortgages run for from one to about three years, not often to five. Under the changed conditions owners of realty will borrow larger percentages of the value of their property at lower rates of interest and the loans running from five to ten years. It will give a great deal of stability to the real estate market not noted under the conditions even of today.

BIG BLOCK PROJECTED.

Eight-Story Concrete Loft Building to Be Started Next Month at Fourth and Los Angeles.

A reinforced concrete fireproof loft building which is designed to reach a height of eight stories will be started by the Herman W. Hellman estate on the northeast corner of Fourth and Los Angeles streets about April 15. Plans for the structure, which will cost about $100,000, have been prepared by Architect A. F. Rosenheim. The block will be one of the finest improvements ever built on Los Angeles street, which is rapidly taking a sure and important place among the city's business thoroughfares, not only as a wholesale and jobbing center but as a manufacturing section.



Huge building for Hellman estate, Fourth and Los Angeles. A. F. Rosenheim, architect.

The building will cover a large ground area, fronting 118 feet on Los Angeles street by 12 feet to an alley on Fourth. Part of the structure will be continued for seventy-five feet across this alley. The big block will be designed to meet all the requirements of light manufacturing as well as of a heavy wholesale and jobbing business, having floors capable of supporting 400 pounds to the square inch, which is 150 pounds in excess of the requirements of the building laws. The exterior veneer will be either of brick or terra cotta.

The stairs and elevators will be inclosed in solid shafts. Each floor will be provided with a lobby opening to the elevators, making each story available, if necessary, for an individual tenant. The frames and sashes will be of metal and all the glass will be wired. The jams and heads are to be of plaster. The building will be equipped with an automatic sprinkler system.

The present plan of the builders is to raze the two-story brick building now on the site about April 1, after which four stories of the new block will be finished at once. The upper floors will then be added as tenants are secured. The owners do not, however, anticipate any delay in the completion of the entire project, as the adaptability of the building to the important purpose stated above and its exceedingly desirable location at the corner of two of the leading business arteries of the city practically insure its early occupancy.

BEAUTIFUL HOME SOLD.

Thaddeus Lowe has sold to A. Scott Ormsby for a reported consideration of $22,500, the home place on Garfield avenue, in South Pasadena. The property immediately adjoins the palatial home of Mrs. Dobbins, and is situated on the brow of the Stoneman Arroyo. It contains eighteen rooms, finished in Spanish cedar. The grounds contain almost two acres. Mr. Ormsby will make the place his home. The sale was made through the agency of the R. B. Chapman Company, associated with A. A. Lawyer.

BIG.

PAST RECORDS ARE ECLIPSED.

TWO MILLION MARK IN SIGHT FOR MARCH PERMITS.

Figures for First Ten Business Days of Month Four Hundred and Fifty-five Permits at Eight Hundred Thousand Valuation—Twenty-three New Houses a Day.

With only one large permit, that for the addition to Polytechnic High School representing an outlay of $74,000, issued thus far this month by the chief inspector of buildings, the month of March for the first ten business days reveals a record of ordinary every-day construction activity which totally eclipses all previous figures for similar periods in the entire history of the city. Indeed, it is to be doubted if any other city of anything near the population of Los Angeles ever even approximated the building animation of the present moment in the metropolis of the Southland.

Every indication points to a valuation for March in excess of $2,000,000 for ordinary buildings, and there isn't the shadow of a doubt that the filing of a permit for one of the larger of the imminent projects, such as the Alexandria Annex or the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank block would bring the totals for the third month of 1910 far in excess of the previous high month of the city's history, namely, June, 1906, which boasted a permit valuation of $2,371,620.

From March 1 to 11, inclusive, the city building department issued 455 permits, representing buildings to cost a total of $780,923. This was at the rate of forty-five permits and $78,000 valuation daily, a record which, if maintained, would insure for the month of twenty-seven business days in all, 1230 permits and $2,106,000 valuation. The gain over the corresponding period of last year is 138 permits and $354,557, or 83 per cent., in valuation. Enough permits were issued yesterday morning to bring the valuation total to date to over $800,000.

For residences alone, 233 permits, representing houses to cost an aggregate of $446,652, were issued. The average cost of these residences was $1940, and the average daily number of permits for this class of building was twenty-three.

Following is the classified report:

	Permits.	Valuation.
Class A, reinforced concrete	1	$ 30,000
Class C	18	84,840
Class D, 1-story frame	179	249,408
Class D, 1½-story frame	22	55,450
Class D, 2-story frame	32	141,796
Class D, 3-story frame	1	5,500
Churches (all classes)	1	1,000
Public buildings (city)	2	84,528

Brick alterations	1[illegible]	84,923
Frame alterations	112	34,180
Demolitions	2	150
Total	455	$780,923

Comparison with last year: From March 1 to March 11, inclusive, 317 permits; $426,266 valuation.

SALE ON TEMPLE STREET.

The Title Insurance and Trust Company as trustee has conveyed to a local investor the northwest corner of Temple and Beaudry streets, a lot fronting 104 feet on Temple by 164 feet on Beaudry. The site is improved with a two-story frame residence. The consideration was $0,000. The Erkenbrecher Syndicate represented the sellers; the Tatum-Winstanley Company the purchaser.

FOR SALE—
BEAUTIFUL WEST ADAMS HTS. HOME.

This magnificent place must be seen to be appreciated. The owner has spent a great deal of time and thought in the construction of this house and the entire work has been done under his personal supervision by day labor. It is built for a HOME and is in our estimation, one of the show places of Los Angeles as well. There are 10 rooms, including 5 bedrooms and 3 baths. The downstairs is finished in weathered oak, with the exception of the den, which is a large and beautiful room, with a fireplace and a world of bookcases, this is finished in real mahogany, hardwood floors throughout. The bedrooms are all papered with imported hangings. The woodwork being white enameled. The bathrooms are all tiled floors and walls, with magnificent marble tubs and lavatories. The place has just been completed, and was built by the owner for a home, but circumstances forces an immediate sale at a big sacrifice, and for a quick sale can be bought for $15,000, which is just about the cost of the improvements alone. As this is a 75-ft lot, it is worth at least $[illegible]. If you are in the market for a fine home, we are absolutely convinced that all you have got to do is to see this place and you cannot help but buy. No one ever in the history of Los Angeles, had as good a thing to offer as this, and some one is going to make, at least, $10,000 this week, because the minute you purchase this house, you are that much ahead.

If you are looking for a beautiful home in the most exclusive section of Pasadena, investigate this property; 200 feet east of Orange Grove blvd., on Madeline Drive; lot 104½x185; large 10-room house, with two baths and 3 toilets; lath summer house, 50x30; planted to exotics; garage, outbuildings, etc.; entire grounds planted to rare shrubs and plants.

This beautiful home is unique in its surroundings. From the standpoint of handsome residence, there is probably a no more attractive corner on Orange Grove blvd., than at Madeline Drive. The four corners are occupied by Messrs. Crevece, Macomber, Sharp and Montgomery Ward, with the beautiful Busch gardens one block away.

Mr. Sharp's residence occupies the center of a [illegible]-ft. lot on Orange Grove blvd. A tennis court on the Madeline Drive site forms my westerly boundary; a beautiful private club, old English style, and a tennis court, form my easterly boundary, while directly opposite are the beautiful grounds of Mr. Montgomery Ward.

ONLY $6500.

Southwest corner lot, 53 feet wide with the most beautiful 2-story 8-room bungalow ever built. On approaching this property you are attracted to this bungalow in particular on account of the exterior design and finish. The porch is a massive one, being built of heavy white stone columns with cement floor and steps. On entering the front door you stand gazing in amazement. WHY? Because you have seen nothing to compare with the interior finish of this large living-room and reception hall. The windows are plate glass; best that money could buy. From the living-room you approach the dining-room which is finished in mission. The buffet is 8 feet wide and shows the workmanship finish at a glance. This room has beam ceilings and paneled walls. Leaving here, we step into a very cheerful den with built-in furniture. This room is finished in mahogany. The breakfast room you can enter either from the dining-room or kitchen. This is a very cheerful little room. The kitchen is finished in white enamel and very convenient. The screen porch is a very large one and has stationary tubs, etc. There is a very large cement basement which has furnace and Pittsburgh heater. We will leave this floor now, and inspect the bed chambers, of which there are three. The front room extends across width of house, making an extra large room. Another nice feature of this room is the French windows. The other two bedrooms are large and finished about the same. Each room has a large clothes closet and built-in dresser. The bath is an extra large one and is finished in enamel. This also has the French windows. There is furnace heat in every room throughout the house. The floors are all quarter sawed oak. Another nice feature of this property is the lawn in front and rear yard. Also garage. The beauty of all is the twenty year old pepper trees along the curbing. This beautiful residence is located on Budlong avenue and if you want, or are looking for a home of this description and have $10,000 to pay for a home, allow me the pleasure of saving you $3500 as you could not in our estimation, duplicate it for less money. $2500 will handle this property. Balance reasonable.

COMPLETELY FURNISHED BUNGALOW.

This is a modern up-to-date bungalow of five completely furnished rooms, the kind of a home that any young couple would be delighted to own. The owner is obliged to sell at a sacrifice or you could not possibly buy it for less than $4200. The furnishings are of the best and in very good taste, a good piano is included and everything necessary for housekeeping purposes; lot sets high, and is in an excellent neighborhood, convenient to cars and not too far out—in the West Washington district. There is a cozy living-room prettily decorated, delightful dining-room with artistic built-in buffet and many windows which make it an unusually sunny room; kitchen finished in white enamel buffet style with many cupboards and drawers; two large bedrooms daintily decorated, and equipped with large closets, excellent bath with modern plumbing; big screen porch; yard nicely improved with lawns and flowers. We do not hesitate to say that this is one of the most tempting bargains we have ever placed on the market, and we are ready to congratulate the lucky purchaser.

FOR SALE—BUNGALOW NEAR WILSHIRE.
Words are not at our command to discribe this charming bungalow home, and you will have to see it to appreciate the many artistic and beautiful points.

There are 7 delightful rooms, all opening into a large cement patio, 20x20, with a flowing fountain, surrounded by a plat of tropical plants, etc. The living-room is all in a class by itself, large and elegant. Dining-room, buffet, etc., all finished in mahogany. Hardwood floors throughout. The most expensive imported papers and tapestries used. Large cement cellar. Two or three elegant cement porches, with plenty of room. Located on northwest 75-ft. corner, which is being laid out in a beautiful manner. We are going to offer you in this home, a genuine bargain. This same bungalow on a $3500 lot in Redlands, sold for $12,000, but we will deliver this on a fine 75-ft. corner for $7500 and make liberal terms. This house was designed and built under the supervision of one of Los Angeles best architects, and as no restriction as to the cost was given, he has naturally built this place right. We can absolutely convince you that no man living can buy the lot, build this house, and sell at this price and make one dollar. Phone Sunday until noon, any time week days.

HOLLYWOOD—THE PLACE TO LIVE.

To enjoy the greatest beauty of Southern California, one should live close to the hills; this beautiful home commands a broad and expansive view of the Hollywood hills and at the same time is only about a 20-minute ride from the business center of Los Angeles. It is an ideal Southern California home, large grounds, 100x300 feet, laid out in beautiful landscape garden effect, planted with many expensive flowers, shrubs and trees, including a large number of expensive palms; garage large enough for two machines; servants' quarters above; cement drive; about $1000 worth of cement work in the yard; house has ten rooms, built with the broad front effect. Reception hall paneled high in curly birch, with velour above; living-room in mahogany, also den; dining-room paneled in oak to plate rail; these woods are all superbly finished, being smooth and soft and perfect; there is large Gruby tile mantel, with mirror, in living-room; circle bay window at one end; built-in bookcases; hardwood floors throughout the house; very fine buffet in dining-room; pass pantry and buffet kitchen finished in cedar; large sink, numerous windows; screen porch, with laundry tubs; cement basement; furnace; rear hall downstairs has several large closets; there are also two large bedrooms and fine bath on first floor; bath has tiled floor; full-length mirror and two smaller ones; very finest plumbing; bedrooms have full length mirrors and large closets, one extending entire length of room; different switches in each bedroom for the different lights; the corner room is beautiful, with its many windows on two sides; three splendid bedrooms upstairs and bath; full-length mirrors, built-in seats and open fireplace in one of these rooms. Every little thing about this place has been carefully done, as owner lived in rear of house while it was building and watched everything most closely. There is no need for any one to go to the trouble of building a house when such a place as this can be had, ready for occupancy; the price quoted includes many of the hangings and floor coverings, which were selected and made for each particular room, downstairs there are heavy silk velour hangings at windows and doorways and most expensive lace curtains at windows. It is well worth your while to let us show you this house.

FOR SALE—

HOLCOMB'S GOOD HOMES.

We have just completed a series of twenty bungalows, have twenty more under way and are about commencing a third series of twenty, making a community of sixty houses, all of the latest designs and all most substantially finished. Such a group ensures a desirable neighborhood, and gives a permanent and constantly increasing value to each individual property.

[illegible] one dollar, at a price of $2250, and on [illegible] terms of payment, a thoroughly [illegible] 5-room bungalow, of the most [illegible] design; built in feature, beamed ceilings, [illegible] floors in principal rooms, oak [illegible] floors in bed and bathrooms, complete [illegible] kitchen, with wood-stone sink, drain [illegible] back; handsome lighting fixtures; 50-foot lot, lawn, outbuilding, garden walks and lawn; one block from yellow car line, [illegible] minutes from 7th and Broadway.

[illegible] for $2000, a five-room bungalow, rooms a little smaller than foregoing and not quite so elaborately finished, but as well built and with all the appurtenances.

Also four, five and six-room bungalows in like proportion.

Take Stephenson avenue cars at 7th and Broadway, east to Spence st.; get off at Spence st., walk one block south. Time, 15 minutes. This is way inside the city and no further from the center of town than 44th and Moneta. You know how much more you would pay for the same proposition in that locality. Good elevation and fine view.

We are repeating here our usual experience of rapid sales; and if you are looking for a cosy, comfortable, GOOD home, on easy terms of payment and at CASH VALUES, it will be unwise to delay.

FOR SALE—
$8500. Wilshire district. $8500.
This 9 room, story and half home is exceptionally well built and the finishing of woodwork and decorations is equal to that found in the higher priced homes; nothing in the Wilshire district, at equal prices, compares with the finish and beauty of this place. The large living room contains exceptionally attractive fireplace and mahogany mantel, with large plate glass windows; is finished and beamed in mahogany; decorated with beautiful satin effect decorations; full length French plate glass mirror in door to cloak room. Library is beamed; contains circle windows on one side, bookcases, writing desk, and walls are decorated to match woodwork. Dining room is beamed, finished in leatherole to plate rail, with beautiful decorations above, and contains an especially attractive buffet with bent glass doors. Kitchen (with woodstone sink and fire hood) and pass pantry, are finished in white enamel. Cellar with furnace, entered from screen porch. Four bedrooms, hall and bath, (with very swellest fixtures,) are finished in white enamel. Bedrooms are expensively decorated. The large billiard-room is one of the special attractions. Large room in rough for storage. This place is just finished and must be seen to be fully appreciated.

FOR SALE—AUCTION.
REAL ESTATE IN THE WALRATH TRACT,
ON TOWNE AVE.,
SATURDAY, MARCH 19,
AT 10 O'CLOCK A.M.

A very desirable residence lot, 40x130, known as lot 13, in the Walrath tract, on Towne ave., ¼ mile south of the Pacific Electric car barns. Take San Pedro st. car to end of line. Only 4 minutes' walk from end of line.

Lots in this locality are valued at from $600 to $700 each. Sidewalks in, street work all completed, and water on the lot, ready to connect. This lot is in a growing district, a desirable residence location, and as the owner is obliged to sell the lot will positively go to the highest bidder on above date.

The lot will be sold free and clear of all liens and incumbrances and the title guaranteed perfect.

TERMS—One-third cash, balance one and two years, at 7 per cent. interest. An unusual opportunity for the home builder or investor. For full particulars inquire of auctioneers.

FOR SALE—
ONE WHOLE ACRE.
GIVES BREATHING ROOM AND NEW LIFE.

In the spring a wise man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a suburban home. The dusty, smoke-clogged city palls upon his taste. It is the same with his wife and children—they long for the large acre lot, with its rich green grass, its growing flowers, the shady trees and the conceited cackle of the industrious fowl. An acre lot at Somerset Acres is ideal—it's superb. The soil can't be beat. Water in the greatest of abundance is furnished free. Rent money will pay for one of these acre-lots. Begin now. Go out and see Somerset; it's only 30 minutes' ride on the electric line; excursions daily every hour, Sunday up to 2 p.m. $10 starts you on the way and $10 monthly finishes the payment. Only $350.

urbs wonder how it is that we are mak-such an extraordinary success in the and development of subdivisions in gle Rock. For their benefit we briefly the summary of the actual attractions
Eagle Rock. Can you think of any other
E suburb that can claim ALL these?

FIRST—DISTANCE.
t is six miles from First and Spring—
rer than Hollywood, about the same dis-ce as Highland Park, and less than a e farther out than Adams and Arlington
; almost in town, and yet a country
e place.

SECOND—CAR SERVICE.
Eagle Rock is on the Los Angeles Railway pany's lines, and gets transfers to all ts of the city. Take the car marked

FOURTH—SITUATION.
f you have not already looked over Eagle ck you will be astonished to see how utifully situated it is. From every point the valley are views of surpassing beauty.
e is almost bewildered with the luxury one's choice for a building site.

FIFTH—WATER SUPPLY.
robably the purest natural water in the nty today is the Eagle Rock water. Its utation is established for purity and soft-
. The Eagle Rock Water company is orporated for $300,000, of which $86,000 subscribed. It owns three pumping sta-s, and has never yet exhausted any one them by continuous pumping test. These lls are driven through solid rock and ch an immense and inexhaustible body water.

SIXTH—BUILDING RESTRICTIONS—NEIGHBORS.
Most all the Eagle Rock tracts we know are protected by suitable building restric-ns, ranging from $1500 to $5000. The uses already built are indicative of the d of neighbors you will have in Eagle
ck. The associations your children form
Eagle Rock will be the kind you want;
at's worth thinking about, too.

SEVENTH—SOIL, TREES, ETC.
The soil of Eagle Rock is a rich, disinte-ated granite of wonderful depth and ferity. One of the noticeable features of gle Rock is its greenness and freshness ring the hottest and dryest summer. This caused by the looseness of the soil, which rmits much vegetation to thrive with-t irrigation, and by the multitude of it and shade trees.

EIGHTH—PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.
Although Eagle Rock is one of the city's ungest suburbs, it has already over 25 les of cement walks and curbs, with well nstructed streets, paved mostly under the trolithic process. All improved streets ve broad parkways, planted to shade es.

NOW—THE PRICES.
We are selling very choice residence lots from $100 up to $750. These prices in-de all street improvements, and easy rms can be arranged.
We do not claim to be the only people

A Broad 51 to 53-Foot Frontage Lot, Like Those in

ARLINGTON PARK

Is an absolute necessity to the observing, wide awake bungalow builder who wishes to embody and carry out all the strictly down-to-date ideas in bungalow construction, because it is the extra broad and pleasing frontages that attract the eye of the prospective purchaser, and above all one likes to feel that he has plenty of elbow room with his next-door neighbor, and you cannot carry out your plans and feel the same pleasure of living on a cramped-up forty-foot lot as on the large lots in

ARLINGTON PARK

You may often wish for a wide lot, but you think you are compelled to buy the narrow forty-foot lot because it is cheaper, but this is not the condition in

ARLINGTON PARK

As we are selling beautiful 51 to 53-foot lots at only $1000 to $1050 on very easy terms, and we can show you decided advantages to be derived from investing in

ARLINGTON PARK

The improvements will be the best that money can buy, and no expense will be spared in carrying out every little detail that goes to promote the general welfare of a first-class tract.

ARLINGTON PARK

Will have wide, macadamized streets, graveled, tamped, oiled, sanded and rolled smooth as a floor. Arlington Park will have five-foot cement walks, 19-foot parkways instead of the usual 5-foot ones on other tracts, and ornamental shrubs and shade trees along each and all the streets.

ARLINGTON PARK

Has gas, electric lights, city water, elegant car service; and, in fact, every convenience that goes to make up the ideal city home life.

ARLINGTON PARK

Is selling rapidly. Many homes are now being built, and now is the time for you to get in on the ground floor and reap the early harvest that is sure to follow.

ARLINGTON PARK

Is located in the heart of the Southwest, along Arlington avenue, Van Ness and Cimmaron, at Jefferson street, the great southwest cross-town street.

Don't delay. Go out to
ARLINGTON PARK
today. Tract office corner Jefferson and Arlington streets. Take West Jefferson car to Arlington street.

MR. APARTMENT BUILDER—

HERE IS WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR.

An elegant close in unrestricted lot in the Westlake district, near Burlington ave. and Orange, for only $3300. This property is excellently suited for flats or apartments and if improved at once would yield as great an income as a lot costing three times as much and not any closer to the business section. This lot is 51.48 feet frontage by 134.5 feet in depth and the price is only $3300.

Don't overlook this for good close-in lots at this ridiculously low price are not to be had, but this particular lot must be sold at once. We guarantee this to be absolutely the cheapest unrestricted lot in the Westlake district.

WILSHIRE BOULEVARD.

FOR ONLY $1750.
FOR ONLY $1750.

This is positively the cheapest lot (size, improvements, environs and distance from Wilshire boulevard considered,) in the Wilshire district. Any one can make this assertion, and lots of people do, but every one can't prove it. WE CAN. This fact remains. Our lots are close in, only half a block from Wilshire boulevard, and we sell 60-foot lots for less money than others ask for 50-foot lots. We offer a 60-foot lot (and not many left,) for only $1750. NOW, ISN'T THAT THE CHEAPEST LOT IN THE DISTRICT?

Magnificent homes going up all over the tract and over all the adjacent property. The purchaser of 60 feet frontage within half a block of this exclusive thoroughfare today will be able to sell at his own price a few years hence.

FURTHERMORE—We make terms that are easier than is possible for any other owners in this district to make, regardless of the price. See us at once for the largest, best and cheapest lots in the Wilshire district.

FOR SALE— Business Property.

FOR SALE—$2500 PER FOOT.
SPRING ST., NEAR 4TH.

60x150 TO 20-FT. PAVED ALLEY.

This lot now brings 5 per cent. on the price asked, with about the punkest buildings in Los Angeles on it. What it would do if properly improved your architect could tell you, but even as it is, it is no "dead" speculation while you carry it, for the future $10,000 per foot price which 4th to 5th on Spring will surely bring BEFORE this burg doubles in value again. It will bring it as sure as OTHER cities of 500,000 or 600,000 population bring it. And that's just what they do.

Some of you millionaires who have $180,000 lying idle come in and get a deed to this lot ($150,000 mortgage on it,) and you'll find that the new Hotel Alexandria and the big mate to the Security Bldg., to go up on N.E. corner of 5th and Spring and the other improvements around this section will do for you what the Union Trust and H. W. Hellman buildings did for this section when we "near" owners were begging you to buy in here at $2000 per foot.

Get wise! Get busy! Get next! I'm the only "near" owner down there, just holding on by the eyebrows. You can buy from me and pay for my equity in first-class local bank stocks (no other trade considered,) but my neighbors down there are such owners and "holders" as Hellman, Van Nuys, O. T. Johnson, et als. Did you ever see them sell down on Spring? Not many. So, if you want a bargain, see your Uncle Confed, who is a misfit down there, and wants to get out and get back down where he used to wus—down to Grigsby's Station.

There's no doubt about the future growth of this lot. It's only a matter of "Can you raise the price?"

After 13 years' experience down there I could tell you a lot of actual occurrences that would show you how many fellows have lost fortunes by listening to knockers, and how many have made fortunes by paying what "wiseacres" "CALLED" high prices, but who turned out to be fortune makers. The lot I am offering you will make you about $150,000 to $250,000 profit in about 7 years. I firmly believe. It only means that JUST AS SURE as our population prognosticators' predictions pan out, you needn't fear about prices following in proportion. There are right now SEVERAL MILLIONS of dollars worth of buildings planned to be erected within ONE BLOCK OF THIS LOT.

If you can afford to buy the cream, don't stand back because you can't get it at a skimmed-milk price. Los Angeles isn't built that way. Many a fellow has come within $10,000 or $15,000 of making a big fortune on Spring and Broadway, but stood out for $200 or $300 a foot "hold up," SO-CALLED, and let the lot go by; and the fellow who stood for the high price (so-called) made $3000 OR $2000 a foot profit. The instances are too numerous to mention, but if you want to hear them mentioned, just come up to 447 Wilcox Bldg., and the old man can accommodate you good and plenty. This is the proper place for some "wise one" to say that I'm writing like I thought my price was $200 or $300 a foot too high. Well, son, I'm "not guilty." It's the AVERAGE WISEACRE who has ALWAYS called our prices on Spring and Fourth "too high" ever since I pounded away on the lot the 12-story Union Trust Bldg. stands on, trying to sell it at $1000 per foot, and when later I sold it at $1147 per foot, several "conservative bankers" scared the sand out of the craw of the fellow who bought it. But he stood for the "big price" and more than doubled his money in less than 5 years. So much for "high prices." All I ask you is to come and see me if you can "afford the best."

MR. APARTMENT BUILDER
HERE IS WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR

An elegant close in unrestricted lot in the Westlake district, near Burlington avenue and Orange, for only $3200. This property is excellently suited for flats or apartments and if improved at once would yield as great an income as a lot costing three times as much and not any closer to the business section. This lot is 51.48 feet frontage by 134.5 feet in depth and the price is only $3200.

Don't overlook this for good close-in lots at this ridiculously low price are not to be had, but this particular lot must be sold at once. We guarantee this to be absolutely the cheapest unrestricted lot in the Westlake district.

Eagle Rock.

FOR SALE—
SOME SPECIAL SNAPS.

It is getting almost impossible to secure any property in Eagle Rock at old prices. On account of our large sales years ago, when property there was sold by the acre at about lot prices, we have a few exclusive listings, many by non-residents, which we can offer with the absolute guarantee that they are well below present values.

LOTS.

LEVEL LOT, 50x131, ALL STREET WORK IN AND paid for, including 5 foot sidewalks and cement curb; water piped to lot. Price $325, easy terms.

CORNER LOT, 70x135, WELL LOCATED, on one of the principal streets, both frontages improved with cement curbs and sidewalks. Price $650, about half cash.

LOT ON WESTERN SLOPE, ONE BLOCK from car line, 46x155, on highly improved street, price $550, easy terms.

HOUSES.

MODERN 2 ROOM BUNGALOW, ALL conveniences, beautiful large lot, with pretty garden and many fruit and shade trees, street well improved and built up with nice homes. Price $1600, easy terms.

NEW FIVE ROOM BUNGALOW, NEVER occupied, large lot on good street, close to business center, and on high ground. A thoroughly well built and attractive home. Price $2300, easy terms.

LARGE MODERN BUNGALOW IN VERY choice location. All rooms are expensively finished and of unusually generous dimensions. Very large lot, 100 foot frontage, covered with variety of shade and fruit trees. Handsome lawn, fine rose garden. House has furnace and all modern conveniences. One block from car. Owner forced to leave Eagle Rock, will sacrifice and would consider vacant property elsewhere in part payment.

ACREAGE.

This is the most difficult of all real estate to secure in Eagle Rock, when the pieces mentioned below are sold, we do not know where any more can be had at double these prices.

FIVE ACRES ON HILL AVENUE WITH 800 feet of street frontage, improved. From this property can be had one of the grandest views in California. Price $7000; easy terms.

SEVEN AND ONE-HALF ACRES, ALSO on Hill. Over 300 feet of Hill avenue frontage; property improved with good 7 room house, large barn and many grand old trees. Price $8500, or will move house off and sell for $7250, easy terms.

HARTFORD VILLA
FOOTHILL TRACT.
HOLLYWOOD.

LOTS $1000 UP.

Situated in the heart of Hollywood, one and one-half blocks north of Prospect avenue, on a gentle slope overlooking Hollywood's most beautiful and expensive homes. To the north rise the beautiful Cahuenga mountains, with their protection against cold winds; to the south the panoramic view of the wonderful Cahuenga Valley, with the city of Los Angeles in the east, and the waters of the Pacific glistening in the west. Every feature conducing to health and convenience, drainage, gas, water, elevation, is possessed in abundance here; pure sparkling mountain spring water piped to each lot; convenient to graded and high schools, churches and stores.

SOIL.
The soil is rich and free from rocks and adobe. The handsome grounds and prolific growth of vegetation proclaim its fertility.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.
Consist of five-foot cement sidewalks, cement curbs, properly surfaced and oiled streets, rolled and graveled and shade trees; most of the lots are planted with lemon trees.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS
Range from $2000 to $3000, and prohibit everything objectionable to a first-class residence section.

TRANSPORTATION
Through Hill-st. tunnel, giving fast and frequent car service; 25 minutes to business center of Los Angeles. Take Hollywood car, get off at Hartford, Canyon Drive or Warner ave., and go north one and a half blocks.

PRICES
Are extremely low, ranging from $1000 up. All lots 50x135 feet or 60x135 feet. Terms, one-third cash.

Alhambra.

FOR SALE—
HOMES IN ALHAMBRA.
WHY A HOME IN ALHAMBRA?
Because it is the best city in California for families. Look at this combination; no other city in California can match it, viz.:
The purest of mountain spring water. High elevation, good air.
Clean streets; well shaded, fine trees.
Low taxes, clean city government.
Fine breeze every afternoon (no high winds.)
Scarcely ever frost or fog.
Beautiful school buildings, highest grade.
Best of superintendents and teachers money can hire.
Live newspaper, awake to Alhambra's interests.
No saloons, and "cooler" empty.
Good churches and more building.
Good clubhouse, well managed.
Surely of all localities in California Alhambra leads for home and family.
We have the climate, fruit and flowers, and we have the lots, cottages, bungalows, houses, mansions, villas from $1000 to $100,000. We have the cream of Alhambra and San Gabriel property listed.
Good residence lots, $500 to $1250.
Single acres, $500 to $2500.
We have improved one-acre home place, or 5 and 10-acre improved ranches.
We have 4000 acres finest alfalfa and corn land in California, subdivided into 5, 10, 20 acres, at $75 to $100 per acre. This is choice land.

South Pasadena and Oneonta Park.

FOR SALE—

CAMDEN COURT, SOUTH PASADENA, has just been thrown open to public inspection. It is NEAR LA SENDA STATION, reached by either Oak Knoll, Monrovia, Sierra Madre, or Glendora cars. IT IS ADMITTEDLY IN THE FRONT RANK OF THE FEW MOST EXCLUSIVE AND ORNATE RESIDENTIAL PLOTS IN GREATER LOS ANGELES.

The "Fact and Comment" man of "THE TIMES," appropriately referred to it as a "LITTLE KINGDOM UNTO ITSELF."
There are but 18 plots, ranging in area from a half to three-fourths acre each, and at opening prices $4500 to $5500 each. All face the boulevard and park. So quietly has the little army of skilled artisans worked for three months, that few have even known of the TRANSITION IN PROGRESS FROM A GROVE LADEN WITH GOLDEN ORANGES TO A LANDSCAPE OF MARVELOUS BEAUTY. Hidden from Huntington Drive, though only a block distant, it is protected from its dust and noise, and the stare of the curious.
The owners reserve the right to reject offers of the full price for plots, at their discretion.
THIS IS A RARE OFFERING. Those to whom it may appeal should investigate promptly.

FOR SALE—
YOU CAN GET A COUNTRY PLACE ON A PRODUCING BASIS WITHOUT DOING THE WORK. SMALL PAYMENTS.

Why not have a country place that will support you in comfort within a few years? It is not beyond the possibilities at all, whether you have much ready cash or not. It's a practical opening. I develop the property for you free. This is the plan—straightforward and simple enough. Just select 5 acres of land at Etiwanda. Pay $2.50 per acre cash and $2.50 per acre monthly. I will plant the variety of vines you prefer, cultivate and care for them free of charge for 3 years, until they come into good bearing, with a full stand guaranteed. You can take possession of your vineyard then, or I will continue to care for it 3 years more for a small percentage of its net income. Your vines will make you a handsome profit, for this is the banner grape-growing district, where grapes come to their best and growers get big returns. It's in the San Gabriel Valley, a short ride from Los Angeles, level land, with water piped to every 5 acres. Pleasant surroundings here. A beautiful place for a home, and purchasable with free care and on the conditions named above, at only $200 to $250 an acre. Act upon this proposition at once. It's planting time now and I can start you this very season. Come to my office, and get full particulars.

FOR SALE—
WASCO LANDS FOR SALE.
4000 Acres.

Now is the time to buy lands in Wasco. Thousands of acres are being bought up by settlers and laid out in alfalfa, gum trees, peaches, apricots, grapes, corn and, in fact, anything under the sun that will grow. Wasco has the climate of the tropics and an unlimited supply of water, as can be evidenced by the wonderful artesian wells on certain sections of this land. We have sold thousands and thousands of acres during the past year and a half and are now offering a splendid section at $25 per acre, distant a few miles from Wasco in the artesian belt. Eastern capital is laying out section after section in eucalyptus and alfalfa. It is a well-known fact that bare alfalfa land in other districts is worth from $100 to $250 per acre, whereas you can buy this for $25. This land is virgin soil—never has had a plow in it. Has been used for the past 50 years as grazing land. Farmers are the ones who are reaping the rich harvests in wheat, hay and other farm products. Write us for full particulars.

Investigate this carefully. Be reasonable, and so will I; but you cannot equal these for bargains. You be the judge, and if I am wrong I will refund the fare.

470 ACRES.

You would call it garden soil, and four crops of grain will pay for the land in full. Right on the edge of Madera, in the San Joaquin Valley; 1½ miles to depot; living streams with lots of shade form the north and south boundary lines, affording ample water for stock and irrigation, leaving the land all in one solid body and not an acre of waste; no overflow; all summer fallowed. This place will raise anything under the shining sun and I recommend it as one of the best hog, alfalfa and dairy ranches in the State, bar none. It can be cut in two pieces. Price $40 per acre.

4300 ACRES.

Very fine land, all in crop; several sets of farm buildings. Will cut up splendidly in tracts. It is level except about 1000 acres, which is gently rolling. All can be irrigated. No alkali, and in its present state as farmed to grain will net purchaser 10 per cent. from landlord's share. Six and one half miles from shipping point.

PRICE $22.50 PER ACRE.

FOR SALE—
SNAPS IN CHEAP LANDS IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

Some of the greatest bargains to be found today in cheap alfalfa and fruit lands, anywhere in the United States, are to be had in the northern part of Los Angeles county, only a short distance from Los Angeles by a main line railroad. We are headquarters for FIRST-CLASS CHEAP LANDS in that section and can show you where they will make you money. THINK OF IT—THE VERY BEST SOIL, SMOOTH LEVEL LAND, NEAR GOOD TOWN AND RAILWAY, AND IN EXCELLENT PROVEN WATER BELT, and in many instances adjoining fine producing ranches, for only $10 to $35 per acre. You cannot equal this kind of land, under as favorable conditions, and as close to a great city, anywhere else in the country, for these prices. If you will go and see for yourself you will realize this. HERE ARE FOUR BIG BARGAINS—all deeded land—640 acres close to town, on main road, fine soil, mostly smooth land, in fine water district, near land that is selling for twice the money. ONLY $15 PER ACRE. 160 acres, 10 miles from town, elegant smooth land, finest soil, good water district, and a big snap at $30 an acre. 40 acres, 5½ miles from town, adjoining 2 improved ranches, best soil, smooth and in artesian belt, at ONLY $37.50 per acre. 80 acres, 3 miles from town, sandy loam soil, fairly smooth, adjoins nice ranch, and is a bargain at $35 per acre. TALK WITH US, THEN SEE THE LAND.

ORANGE GROVES, $400 PER ACRE.

ORANGEHURST.

IN THE FAMOUS LINDSAY DISTRICT.

Five to fifty acre orange groves at $400 per acre, easy terms if desired, the best Valencia orange trees, plenty of water and located at ORANGEHURST, in the famous Lindsay orange district, where the highest prices are obtained and the only district in California where frosts are unknown.

A five-acre orange grove located in this district will yield at the age of four years at least $2000 net profit per year. What more could you expect? This is the best investment ever offered you and there is no better proposition that will pay so great a profit for such a small capital.

Join our weekly party next Thursday and visit the most famous and prosperous orange district in the State.

Write us or call at our office and we will be glad to answer questions.

FORCED SALE.
10-ACRE ORANGE GROVE.

10 acres, all in oranges, 7 acres in 7-year-old trees, 3 acres in 1-year-old trees. These are good trees and are on excellent orange soil, being a very deep, dark, sandy loam. Nice six-room bungalow, new and modern, and very attractive. Only one-quarter mile from railroad station; in fine neighborhood. In THE FROSTLESS BELT. Owner bought the place on contract, and failed to get his money, therefore he is forced to sell, at a very low figure. His balance back on place is $4800, to run from 1 to 5 years, and he will take $3500 for his equity. This is a good deal less than he paid for the grove a year ago, but HE MUST SELL. Here is your chance. If you appreciate a bargain, let us show you this place early this week. This place is only 45 minutes from Los Angeles. For this and other good buys in country property, see

ESCONDIDO VALLEY

The growing of table and raisin grapes at Escondido is the best paying business in the fruit line in California. At one cent per pound the table grapes will pay you $150 to $250 per acre, at the price realized this year, they will pay you from $300 to $500 per acre, according to the care you give them.

We plant and care for vineyards for those who are engaged in other business. The Escondido Muscat is the finest in the world. The yield is larger than in any other district. The soil and climate are the best in Southern California. Churches, schools, stores, banks, telephones, electric lights and all other modern conveniences are within reach and—most important—our prices are the lowest of all. All of the above statements are capable of proof. Let us produce this proof for you. Call or write for our booklet, it's free.

FOR SALE—6 MILES EAST OF RIVERSIDE, 1½ miles from Santa Fe Railway, 70 acres, $6000. This property is on a well protected slope of Box Springs Mountains, and, while it has some rough land, is mostly tillable. It is improved with an 8-room California house, with cement milk-room and large porches, an extra large barn, cow sheds, blacksmith shop, chicken yards, etc. The buildings are insured for two years for the sum of $3000. Quite a large portion of the land is at present in grain. Two acres, however, are in orange trees about 15 years old. From these two acres, the income is about $500 per year. The property has its own water supply, developed through tunnels, and two large cement reservoirs. It is ready to move into at once. Satisfactory terms can be made and a portion of the purchase price can be paid in other property. H. H. MAYBERRY, 764 Pacific Electric Bldg. x*

ALFALFA LAND WALNUT LAND.
ORANGE LAND.

THE FAMOUS OLD RANCHO LA PUENTE—A DIVISION OF THE BALDWIN RANCH—in the heart of the great San Gabriel Valley, consisting of thousands of acres of the most fertile soil in Southern California, is offered for sale and will be sold in lots of TEN ACRES and up. It is located 14 miles east of the city, between El Monte and Covina, and on the main line of the Southern Pacific and the Pacific Electric railways.

We have two subdivisions containing 3000 acres of deep sediment loam soil, that cannot be equaled anywhere for ALFALFA, walnuts, vegetables or small fruit. Its merits are so well known that but little comment is necessary. We simply invite you to go out and see this land and you will be convinced.

THE WATER QUESTION.

That is already demonstrated. Wells that have been bored on tracts that we have sold tells an eloquent story. The water in many instances stands only fifteen feet from the surface.

There is not another tract of land so close to Los Angeles that can be bought at so reasonable a price. Now is the time to buy.

If you are looking for a home or for an investment, don't let this opportunity go by. Adjoining improved ranches cannot be bought under $500 and $600 per acre. Hundreds of acres already sold. We are simply besieged with buyers.

MARKETS.

Being close to the foothill section and to Los Angeles, there is always a good demand for alfalfa in the field at highest prices. Price $250 per acre—one-third cash, balance on or before three years with interest at 7 per cent.

FOOTHILL ORANGE LAND.

We have a tract containing 1000 acres of choice foothill orange land in the Covina district, that is as near frostless as any land in the State. The soil is a deep sediment loam and is extremely fertile. It is water-bearing land and water for irrigation can be developed at moderate cost. Lots of 10 acres and up. Price $250 per acre. Terms—one-third cash, balance on or before three years at 7 per cent.

THE SUB-IRRIGATED LAND.

Ten miles east of the city and one mile south of El Monte, and the electric car line, we have a tract of land that requires no irrigation to grow ALFALFA, WALNUTS, celery or any other kind of vegetables or small fruit.

Just think of it, no labor expense for irrigating; just plant your crops and watch them grow. If you doubt this statement just board the Covina line cars, get off at El Monte and we will "show you" whether you are from the good old State of Missouri or not. Lots of ten acres and up. Price $300 per acre. Terms—one-third, balance on or before three years, interest 7 per cent.

Unlimited certificate of title by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company given with each purchase.

Our offices are closed on SUNDAYS.

HERE'S FOR "ALFALFA."
THE CHOICEST IN THE COUNTY.

20 acres in the handsomest stand of ALFALFA, new and fresh, thick and clean. Nothing finer in Los Angeles Co.; location splendid, high ground, only 15 miles from the city. A red, loose loam soil that we doubt can be beaten anywhere; it's good enough to raise a prize orange grove.

Elegant independent pumping plant to flood the place; no limit to this cheap water supply; underground cement pipe line, and the entire place is leveled and checked perfectly for irrigation. Crop now almost ready to cut; AN INCOME FROM THE START.

Very fine 6-room, nearly new, hard finished modern home; splendid, big new barn; fine chicken equipment; fine well, windmill and tank; water piped over place; improvements attractively fenced; EVERYTHING IS INCLUDED; good team, cow, 40 big thoroughbred Plymouth Rock hens; all farming implements and tools.

THIS IS A MOST UNUSUAL BARGAIN IN AN EXCEPTIONALLY CHOICE PROPERTY. Very easy terms.

FOR SALE—
OWENS RIVER VALLEY.

A stock or dairy ranch of 800 acres, located in the most beautiful and productive section of Owens River Valley. Large enough for a stock ranch and especially adapted for a dairy proposition, having a fully equipped creamery on the ranch. The improvements consist of a 12-room house, barn that will hold 40 head of stock and 100 tons hay, blacksmith shop, apple orchard, etc. The ranch is well fenced and irrigated by the first right in a mountain stream upon which is a good water power, right that goes with the land. We can deliver this property for $35,000, and on easy terms; 160 acres of adjoining land can be purchased to augument the proposition if desired.

1200 acres of the best alfalfa land in California, with an excellent water right in one of the best ditch companies in Owens River Valley. Railroad runs directly through the land, with a siding.

Adjoining land produces and markets ten tons of alfalfa hay to the acre, and owner has refused $200 per acre for this ranch.

We offer this land in a body for $40 an acre, with water, $20,000 cash, balance on easy terms. Our weekly excursion to the valley leaves Los Angeles Saturday night, March 12. Broadway 4087. KUCK-TOBIAS-HAMILL CO.,

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.

FOR SALE— TWELVE THOUSAND ACRES FOR COLONIZATION. MADERA-MERCED COUNTIES.

This tract lies along the Chowchilla River, which forms the boundary line between Madera and Merced counties. The river runs practically through the center of the land, leaving about 6000 acres in each county. Madera City is 15 miles south of this land and Le Grande 3 miles north. The Santa Fe Railway runs through the tract, with three stations on the 12,000 acres. The soil is a rich sandy loam, free of alkali, adobe or other objectionable features. Approximately 3000 acres is of the finest quality of river bottom land and it has been estimated that this portion alone is worth the price of the entire tract. The 12,000 acres form, with the exception of about 1500 acres of hog-wallow, an entirely level body of land. There is no waste land whatever in the tract. The Chowchilla River, Berenda and Fresno sloughs, each carrying a considerable body of water throughout the year, run through the land; pumping wells at 75 to 150 feet develop an abundance of water with not more than a 20 to 30-foot lift. The land is on the main drain from the Sierra Nevada Mountains and scientific reports show it to be water-bearing land of the best character. This land is suitable for alfalfa, vineyards and fruits of the various kinds grown in the San Joaquin Valley. Consider the location, transportation facilities, easy water conditions and high grade of soil and you must agree with us, if you are at all familiar with the San Joaquin Valley, that this is one of the best subdivision properties now obtainable in that section.

Price $35 per acre; one-third cash.

The 12,000 acres lies in one body, but comprises three separate tracts, one of 5600 acres, another of 3880 acres and a third of 2600 acres, each of which can be sold separately. For further particulars, maps, etc., SEE

FOR SALE—ORANGE GROVES THAT PAY
BY
H. G. HAGERTY CO.,
314 H. W. HELLMAN BLDG.

The following groves show big interest on price asked and this year's prices for fruit will far exceed the prices received in the last 3 years.

FIVE ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
Located on the electric line and consisting of 200 Valencia, 150 navel and 150 lemon trees. Trees are in good condition and worth more than the price asked if there was not a tree on the place. Full water right under the Covina system. Price $8000. Easy terms.

TEN ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
All navels, 8 years old, excepting 100 Valencias, which are 3 years old. Azusa water. Crop worth $3000. Located within a ¼ of a mile of the electric line. Price $15,000.

TEN ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
Located on the electric line. Consisting of lemons, Valencias and navels. 20 shares of Covina water stock. $3000 crop. Price $16,000.

EIGHT AND HALF ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
All navels, 17 years old. Crop now on trees worth $3000. Azusa water. Price $17,000, including crop, or owner might exchange for good Los Angeles property.

TEN ACRES, SUNNY SLOPE, CAL.
On the Monrovia electric line. Vacant land in this district is selling for more per acre than is asked for this improved ranch. Beautiful homes surround this property on all sides and for a suburban home this place cannot be beat. Improved with 700 navels, 95 Valencias and 3 rows of seedlings. Price, including crop, $25,000.

THIRTY ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
Valencias, lemons and navels. Income $3500 and will increase as trees grow older. Covina water stock. $5000 worth of new and modern improvements. Cheapest buy in the district. Price $23,000.

TWENTY ACRES, RIVERSIDE, CAL.
15 acres in navels, 5 acres in Valencias, 6 to 10 years old. $6500 crop now on the trees. Gage water rights. 5-room California house and barn. One of the biggest income-producers on our list. Price $26,000.

TWENTY-FIVE AND HALF ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
20 acres in Valencias, 5 to 8 years old, 5 acres in navels, 6 to 8 years old. Azusa water rights. Has the finest soil in the San Gabriel Valley. Located on the electric line, close to schools, etc. Price $35,000. Easy terms.

FORTY ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
25 acres in Valencias and navels, which are the largest trees for their age in the valley. These trees are only 6 years old, but look to be 8 to 10 years old. Income this year should run close to $10,000. Balance of 15 acres unimproved. Price $35,000.

FIFTY-ONE ACRES, COVINA, CAL.
One of the cheapest buys we have had on our list for some time. Absolutely the best soil and water rights in the valley. 30 acres in Valencias and balance of land graded and ready to set to trees. $15,000 worth of improvements. Price $40,000. Terms $10,000 cash and balance at 6 per cent.

ONE HUNDRED THIRTY ACRES, FOOTHILL RANCH.
This is one of the finest improved country home places in the San Gabriel Valley. 21 acres of oranges and balance in walks, drives and gardens. 11-room house, new and modern, garage, foreman's house, etc. Price $75,000.

If you are looking for a good-paying orange proposition, we believe that we can show you more good property than any other agent in Southern California. All the above properties are as represented and worth the price asked.

AN ORANGE GROVE.
Not only do you SEE the crop on the trees but you GET it.
By seeing the matured fruit on the trees you can judge the quality of the grove. By getting the present crop you save about one-fifth the cost of the grove. The Covina district has not been damaged at all by frost.
THESE ARE UNQUESTIONABLY THE BEST
GROVES IN COVINA
FIVE ACRES IN YOUNG VALENCIAS. Family orchard and three-room house; well located, one-half mile from electric. Good barn and outbuildings; trees in first-class condition; $5000, part cash.
IN THE FOOTHILL DISTRICT—5 ACRES OF 8-year-old Navels, in perfect condition and a good crop, which goes with the property. Improved with modern 5-room house, bath, etc. Good barn, windmill and tank. This is a fine property. Can deliver for $8500; $3000 cash.
A BARGAIN IN A YOUNG GROVE—[illegible] acres in the foothill district above Covina, set half Valencias and half Navels. Trees are in first-class condition. Full water right. Fine soil. This property is increasing in value every year. We can deliver for $6500, one-third cash. The vacant land would be worth this price.
TWENTY ACRES, YOUNG TREES, HALF Valencias, half navels, all in prime condition. New 4-room bungalow, large barn, beautiful live oak in yard. This grove is growing very rapidly into a most valuable property. Can be purchased now for $14,500, on easy terms.
A GOOD PRODUCER, WELL LOCATED. 10-acre grove in full bearing; 7 acres Navels, 3 acres Valencias; 30 shares Covina water. Good crop included in price. Owner is non-resident and must sell. One of the best small groves in the district. $14,000, part cash.
A CHOICE PROPERTY, PART EXCHANGE. It is not often that you can exchange for a fine orange grove located at Covina. We have placed in our hands a 20-acre place, 11 acres in 14-year-old Navels, 4 acres 4 and 5-year-old Valencias, balance vacant. Located in one of the choicest parts of Covina. A large crop on the trees, which goes with the place. Value $25,000. Will take $10,000 in Los Angeles property, balance mortgage and cash.
HERE IS A TWENTY-ACRE GROVE THAT any experienced grower would be proud to own. We doubt very much whether a finer property can be found in Southern California. All trees 12 years old, about half navels and half Valencias. Crop estimated at 6000 boxes, is included. Good seven-room house, bath, etc. Price $32,000, part cash.

San Pedro.

FOR SALE—AT SAN PEDRO.
THE POINT FIRMIN TRACT.
$630,000 appropriation has been made by U. S. Government for San Pedro.
The government is spending millions here. The $10,000,000 of harbor bonds, which will be voted by Los Angeles city will make great harbor improvements. The 146 acres in outer harbor will be the site for great warehouses, docks and general shipping business.
Lots in the Point Firmin tract are sightly overlooking the whole harbor, the 146 acres and the big $3,000,000 government breakwater. Lots run to water's edge and command the finest view on Pacific coast.
We sell these lots cheaper than lots elsewhere in Southern California—$1000 to $2500 for large lots. Easy terms.

FOR SALE—FURNITURE.
COLYEAR'S,
509-511 S. Main street.
(Where Bargains Reign.)

The old saying that fortune knocks on your door but once is wrong, especially in our case, where fortune smiles on you six days in the week.

It's a pleasure for the salesmen to be enabled to make so many concessions to the public, not only generous credit, when asked for, but also the fact that you can get SLIGHTLY USED furniture in many instances at less than half original cost.

We are the largest and oldest furniture firm making a specialty of exchanging furniture; thus should you have some goods you do not need or do not suit your house, we will gladly allow you a fair valuation for them in exchange and you can make your selection from our seven floors of up to date furniture.

Our second floor is full of the biggest kinds of bargains in SLIGHTLY USED furniture, including iron beds, bedroom sets, folding beds, odd dressers, chiffoniers, wardrobes, buffets, sideboards, extension tables, china cabinets, upholstered and bamboo goods, couches, rockers, chairs, stoves, carpets, rugs, etc.

100 slightly used refrigerators cheap.

About three hundred and fifty SLIGHTLY USED steam cleaned carpets and rugs, which we are selling at ridiculously low figures, all sizes and grades.

THERE IS NOTHING IN THE MARKET better than the 6 PER CENT. REALTY GOLD BOND which we are now offering.
These Gold Bonds have not only the usual advantages of absolute safety and convenience, but are unusual in having the interest payable quarterly and by coupons which are acceptable at any bank, thus doing away with the annoyances and expense of collecting. They are legal investment for savings banks, which fact proves their worth. Investigation is asked.

IMPURE BLOOD

Boils and Ulcers Due to Germ Attacks.

BAD CASE OF BOILS.

"Regarding Liquocide I have nothing but words of praise. I had from 8 to 10 boils about my legs and arms, but I felt the benefit of Liquocide from the first few doses and I used two large bottles and two small ones and also the Ointment, which I think is splendid for any kind of inflamed sores. My wife keeps the Ointment in the house all the time for the use of the children and herself." M. McRae, 531 Washington St., Rocky Mount, N. C., Sept. 14, 1906.

ONE YEAR LATER.
CURE CONFIRMED.

"I am glad to tell you after using two large bottles and two small ones and two boxes of Liquozone Ointment, the boils are all gone and I am well. We cannot do without it in the house. We also get Liquozone Soap which I think is the best soap I ever used." M. McRae, Rocky Mount, N. C., May 10, 1907.

CONFIRMED AGAIN.

Mr. McRae writes on Oct. 1, 1909, that we are at liberty to confirm these statements at this date. He has not been troubled with impure blood since.

These letters are merely specimens of many thousands we receive unsolicited from grateful patients. Many more telling of remarkable cures of these as well as other germ diseases, will be sent anywhere on request.

Liquocide

cleanses and purifies the blood because of its power to kill germs. It is not like other germicides, which are poisons when taken internally, but a harmless germicide which acts as a tonic.

Liquocide is not a mixture of drugs. It is a scientific product and the formula is printed on the label of every bottle. The treatment is both local and internal. Countless cured ones know from experience that it does what nothing else can do. Its effects are so certain and so immediate that we issue a certificate of guarantee which covers a two months' test at our financial risk.

Don't treat Boils and Ulcers in harmful and ineffective ways.

If you are a sufferer, please send your name and address and ask for Book No. 88. We will send it and also our liberal guarantee certificate, which is free from technicalities and restrictions. Please send today; our offer places you under no obligation whatever.

Liquocide costs 50c and $1.00.

THE LIQUOZONE COMPANY,
30-32 W. Kinzie St.,
(11) CHICAGO.

Snowstorm Extension Co.

Interest Aroused Over Present Snowing.

Important Development Expected.

The Snowstorm Extension Mining Company is making its ore body. A representative of The Miner visited the property last week and inspected the workings. The main tunnel is now in over 800 feet and the management anticipates opening up commercial ore within the next 100 feet. There was a crosscut run both ways for 95 feet when in 600 feet and the hanging wall was reached but the footwall was not encountered.

The tunnel starts from North Fork Creek and is on the vein the entire distance. Soon after it started evidences of mineralization began to appear and this has steadily increased as depth was gained. At the present time copper can be distinctly seen all through the quartz. The formation is similar to the Snowstorm in every respect. A depth of 1565 feet can be gained, which is greater than the No. 4 Snowstorm tunnel will give. At the present face a depth of approximately 400 feet is given on the vein. The mountain is very precipitous and it is estimated that when the tunnel gets under the outcrop a depth of 840 feet will be gained. The quartz is extremely hard and work is necessarily slow on this account. There is a great deal of water coming in and while the management is allowing 100 feet before good ore is encountered, from present indications an ore shoot might be broken into any round and the Snowstorm Extension join the producers. It was impossible at the time of this visit to examine the surface showings as there is snow to a depth of eight feet over all the claims.

The property of the company consists of nine claims adjoining the Snowstorm mine on the east and traversed by the same ledge. This has been traced across both properties by open cuts and other prospecting work. In every case where development of this nature has been done ore assaying three per cent. copper and identical in character to the Snowstorm has been exposed on the Extension Company's ground, while similar results have been had in short prospecting tunnels.

The work is being done under contract held by Ed Elsman, who is employing six men. The work is being done by hand and progress at the rate of 40 to 50 feet a month is being made. The property is equipped with car, rails, ventilating pipe and all necessary tools, while the accommodations for the men are commodious and comfortable.

The property is being financed by A. J. Richardson, a well-known operator in Los Angeles, and wealthy associates in California. The Miner expects to have a representative visit the property shortly again as developments of more than ordinary interest are liable to occur at any time. The whole surrounding section is very active at the present time, and several properties in the vicinity are also expected to give a good account of themselves.

Coeur D'Alene Mining & Development Co.

A. J. RICHARDSON,
804 Wright & Callender Bldg.

Has to its credit the development of another producing mine, in the wonderful Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, which the following report will prove. Many Reindeer stockholders reside in Los Angeles, and purchased stock upon the advice of A. J. Richardson.

Reindeer Co.'s Report

Low Freight and Treatment Will Give Good Profit Even on Low Grade Ore.

The following report has been issued to stockholders by W. H. Herrick, president and manager of the Reindeer Company.

To the Stockholders of the Reindeer C. & G. M. & M. Co., Ltd.—

Development upon the Reindeer in the past three months has proven it to be a producing mine. We are now blasting full faces of shipping ore which is being stored in the mine preparatory to shipping to the smelter as soon as the snow goes off. Besides the shipping ore, large bodies of milling ore have been opened up.

Before shipping any ore it will be necessary to build a wagon road one-half mile to the railroad. If we were able to build this road now we would be in a position to commence shipping.

The character of the ore is such that smelters will be glad to get it at a low smelting charge. Freight rates on the ore to the smelter will be from $2.75 to $4.00 per ton, according to destination. These low costs of freight and treatment will leave a good profit even on our lower grade ores.

While the ore at present exposed meets our expectations, the present indications show that we are about to encounter larger and higher grade bodies of ore.

Application has been made for United States patent on the three claims covering the vein and the remaining claims will be patented later.

The president or secretary of your company will be pleased to answer any inquiries regarding the mine at any time, and the mine is open to inspection by anyone, whether stockholder or not.

W. H. HERRICK, Pres. and Mgr.

Since the above report was written ore of such high grade was encountered that Manager Herrick sent 500 sacks to the property and this ore will be sacked for immediate shipment. Reports from the property yesterday were that the drift following the dyke has full face of solid chalcopyrites and it is believed there is the main ore shoot.

A. J. RICHARDSON

Among the mining men located in Los Angeles, none enjoys a higher reputation for the character of his dealings or a more satisfactory record of accomplishment in the shape of large returns and dividends to those who have invested on his advice, than A. J. Richardson. He has had broad experience in the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, pronounced by many experts as one of the greatest wealth producers in the world. Mr. Richardson has spent seventeen years in mining and has been the promoter of some of America's most successful properties, and has made large profits for his clients, many of whom are millionaires as a result of their investments through him. Among other properties promoted by Mr. Richardson may be mentioned the Snowstorm, which has paid dividends to date aggregating $1,300,000. He is at present offering the stock of the Snowstorm Extension, which immediately adjoins the Snowstorm on the east, and has the same character of ores. The indications are that the Snowstorm Extension is going to be one of the biggest mines in the Coeur d'Alene district, and will probably be worth three times as much as the Snowstorm. Development work is being pushed rapidly. Mr. Richardson is also interested in the Idaho Lead and Silver Company, which has shipping ore within 75 feet of the surface. The ore bodies are rich and enormous in extent, indicating that the stockholders of the company will make large profits from their investments. Mr. Richardson is a man of sound judgment in mining affairs and has himself large holdings in the properties which he is promoting. He has a large acquaintance among the leading men of the West and is honored and respected by them all. His office is at 804 Wright & Callender Building.

Upward Slant of Foreign Quotations and Reported Dry Weather in the Southwest Are Bullish Factors in the Chicago Wheat Pit—Provisions Take Another Soar.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 12.—Dry weather in the Southwest wheat country and an upward slant of foreign quotations were bullish factors in the wheat pit. Shorts had their wants supplied early in the day and there was hesitancy among new investers in taking hold of large lines at the week-end. May ranged between 1.13 1-4 and 1.13 3-4. Many traders preferred September to the earlier months and it worked from 1.03 3-8 to 1.04 3-8, July being slightly less active. The close was strong at near the high point, May 3-8 up at 1.13 5-8. Covering by shorts as well as investment buying by present holders of grain kept corn strong all day. The accumulation of stocks was ignored by traders as the quotations gained fractional and an improved shipping demand gave impetus to the trade. May moved between 63 3-4 and 64 1-2, the more distant options taking a similar course. A healthy demand was noted in cash corn and offerings kept pace with the call prices being generally 1-2 higher. No. 3, yellow sold at 60 3-4@61 1-2. The quotations on futures continued strong to the close. May finished 1-2@5-8 up at 64 3-8. Covering by shorts kept oats active and prices strong. The May delivery showed the widest fluctuations, 44 3-8@44 1-2 to 45 1-2. The close was strong and near the high point, with May 5-8@3-4 up at 45 3-8. Provisions went up to the highest point for many years. Pork for May delivery sold at 25.87 1-2; May lard at 14.07 1-2@14.10, and May ribs at 13.55. Final prices for the May products were: Pork, 25.82 1-2—32 1-2 up; lard, 14.07 1-2—13 1-2 up; ribs, 13.52 1-2—13 1-2 higher.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour—Steady; winter patents, 5.20@5.70; straights, 4.30@5.40; straights, 4.80@5.05; bakers, 3.05@5.40; No. 2 rye, 78½@79½; feed or mixing barley, 59@62; fair to choice malting, 65@70; flax seed, No. 1 southwestern, 2.12; No. 1 northwestern, 2.22; timothy seed, 4.25@4.30; clover, 12.25; mess pork, per bbl., 25.87½@26.00; lard, per 100 lbs., 14.12½; short ribs, sides (loose,) 13.00@13.50; short clear sides (boxed,) 13.75@14.00.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—There was a little decline in the cotton market early with some spot takings on disappointment at the action of the English market. The Liverpool was lower than expected, with only small sales of spot. The weather conditions at the South were favorable for field work. There were some rains on the South Atlantic coast, but none elsewhere. It was clear all over Texas, with no rains reported at any point and there is apprehension that in the sections where there has been no rain the past few months the conditions are not favorable for the start of the plant.

Logan & Bryan's letter says: "With a very much restricted volume of business our market showed a tendency to work to a higher level today. The action of the disgruntled spinners of Manchester yesterday gave rather conclusive evidence of fact that they are being ground twixt the upper and nether stones, and was as illogical as the protests from time to time of the South where legislative enactment is used to prevent speculation in the greatest of commodities. Mr. Ellison, of whom it might be said that he had never yet estimated the consumption of cotton as large as it proved to be, but who, by the Europeans, is accepted as an authority on that subject, now places the consumption of American cotton at 11,520,000 bales, and even in these very small figures be accepted, still calls for the spinners yet to take 4,302,000 bales, to secure which we have a visible supply of not over 3,083,440 bales, and unmarketed portion of crop not over 1,500,000. If this estimate is correct that we will consume 11,520,000, and if current crop estimate of 10,300,000 is correct, it is again evident that visible and invisible supply must be encroached upon to the extent of 1,220,000 bales, and to begin the new crop movement next September, there will be but a paltry supply left over, and every spindle in the world hungry for new cotton. In the meantime the southwest is still suffering for rain, and unless a very marked deficiency in moisture is supplied immediately, all hope of the immense record-breaking crop that the world needs will be gone. We advise the investment purchasing of distant months, as the question of new crop is much more vital, and while it seems quite long range to discuss an unplanted crop, it is, nevertheless, apparent that it will require absolutely perfect weather and intense cultivation to raise the cotton the world needs.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Old Reliables Indulge in Steady Grind and Central Oil Is the Feature Performer.

It was a steady grind of the old reliables on the Stock Exchange yesterday morning. California Midway and Oleum Development, which have furnished most of the diversion for the past few weeks, were not much in evidence. Central Oil was the feature performer. This stock opened at 2.00 and gradually worked up to 2.02, but it closed at 2.00 bid and 2.05 asked.

The one sale of Coalinga Crude, 2000 shares, went at 28, which was above the recent bidding. The same amount of Jade commanded 44, which was going some. The first and last sales of Oleum were made at 12 cents, which was a drop from the day before. Union was strong, closing at 103.50 bid. All [illegible] it was a good half-day's work.

COMSTOCKS GO DOWN.

New Low Records Are Struck in Practically the Entire List During Session.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, No. 112 West Third street.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—It was Comstocks all the way today, with new low records in practically the entire list. Ophir lost 17½; Mexican, 12½; Gould & Curry, 6, and Consolidated Virginia, 20. Yellow was offered at 1.05, with no bids, and so was Belcher. Confidence was 1.00 bid. Sierra lost 1; Exchequer, 2; Union, 5, and Chollar, 3.

The small holders of the Comstocks are in a condition bordering on a panic. The leaders show losses compared with last Saturday of from 15 to 75 cents a share.

There were no important changes in the Goldfields. Goldfield Consolidated was of 2½; Florence was up 5; Fraction sold freely at 32; Booth was off a point, and the balance were unchanged.

Belmont continues to lead the Tonopah list. It closed with a net gain of 25 cents. Midway was up 3; West End lost 3, and Tonopah Mining was strong at 7½ bid, no stock being offered.

There were no changes in the stocks from the other camps:

The following are the closing bid and asked prices:

SHARES AND MONEY.

RAILWAY PEACE HELPS STOCKS.

GOOD IMPRESSION MADE BY B. AND O. SETTLEMENT.

Strong Showing of New York Central Also Sustained Prices—Hardening Money Market Restraining Influence—Time Loans Advance a Fraction.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—There was a residue of short sales to be covered in today's stock market, which were put out late yesterday to the accompaniment of rumors which had no foundation in fact. The demand did not extend beyond that source to a great degree. A good impression was made by the agreement arrived at between the Baltimore and Ohio management and its employees over the wage dispute. The strong financial showing made by the railroads in the New York Central system in the annual reports was a sustaining influence. There was in evidence also the supporting operations in United States Steel which have been a sentimental influence on the market throughout the week. A restraining influence is the obvious hardening tendency of the money market. While the call loan department has not been affected this week, it is expected that higher rates will prevail in the not distant future. Rates for time loans were advanced another fraction today. There was a recovery also in foreign exchange rates and further withdrawals were made from the Bank of England's gold holdings. The bank statement showed the effect of the withdrawals of cash by the interior in connection with the spring planting season. The week's financing has expanded the loan account, which now exceeds the deposits again for the first time since January 8. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,686,000. U. S. 2s coupon declined 3-8, and the registered ⅛, while the 4s registered, advanced 1-8 per cent. in the bid price on call this week.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., No. 112 West Third street, Members of the New York Stock Exchange.]

NEW YORK, March 12.—There was very little doing on the curb today, except trading in the oil and rubber stocks, both of which were strong. We look for a better market next week on the copper stock. California Oil and Gas stock has been accepted by the Curb Listing Committee, and this stock will probably sell to 1⅛ next week, as it is in good demand. The copper stocks were dull in sympathy with the Boston copper market. The following are the closing quotations:

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

BOSTON, March 12.—The possibility of a decision in the Tobacco case on Monday made the general tone of the market unsettled, and the bears were ready to attack prices whenever they saw signs of weakness. There was better buying of Lake today, and the price rallied easily. Almost no stock comes out in North Lake, Indiana or Bohemia, and the market in these issues is simply waiting for further news from the drills. Amalgamated was depressed at the close, but should rally again next week. Following were closing quotations on the Boston Stock Exchange:

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

[illegible] dry weather, and no [illegible] the price of hay [illegible] advancing steadily in the past two [illegible] The rise has come with the announcement of drying grass in the fields, [illegible] which is much too short to cut and [illegible] will be a total loss unless there is [illegible] in the next three or four days. The [illegible] which has kept the grass in the [illegible] of Los Angeles and along the [illegible] in the present condition are the heavy [illegible] at night. The market on oat hay has [illegible] as high as $22 on the best stock and [illegible] down to $18. Alfalfa is up [illegible] per ton and other varieties have [illegible] accordingly.

[illegible] price of butter and eggs both declined yesterday. Eggs were down 1 cent [illegible] grades. This has been anticipated [illegible] receipts of more than 900 cases a day [illegible] several days in succession. Yesterday [illegible] 610 cases. The past week has [illegible] one of great fluctuations on the market. Every day has seen an advance or a [illegible]. The market closed, however, a cent [illegible] than it opened.

[illegible] came down to 32½ cents on creamery [illegible]. Firsts and eastern extras were [illegible] cents per two-pound square. There [illegible] a good demand at these figures. The [illegible] is only showing the general [illegible] tendency throughout the United States. [illegible] market went lower in the first [illegible] of the week. In San Francisco prices [illegible] coming down and here, with a [illegible] production, the market can only [illegible] by the decline. Arrivals yesterday [illegible] pounds.

[illegible] arrivals were 730 pounds. Anchor [illegible] fresh were the varieties which [illegible] better than others. There has [illegible] very steady demand for this commodity [illegible] during the past few days.

[illegible] arrivals were 2106 sacks. There [illegible] a few changes in the market. [illegible] very weak, owing to the continued [illegible] and new potatoes are about [illegible] will soon lower prices than those [illegible] anything.

[illegible] Bermudas which arrived [illegible] week were rapidly distributed and [illegible] some of the first car received left [illegible] hands of the jobber. No onions arrived [illegible] yesterday. Nevadas were only ones in [illegible].

[illegible] potato arrivals were seventy-six [illegible]. The market on sweets was a trifle [illegible] Monday. The stock on hand is very [illegible] with light arrivals of the past week. [illegible] no changes in beans. Lima and [illegible] were the best sellers.

[illegible] peanuts of the new crop arrived [illegible] the week. They are selling at [illegible] cents. Brazil nuts are cleaning up [illegible] there are few left with the jobbers. Walnuts are also about all gone.

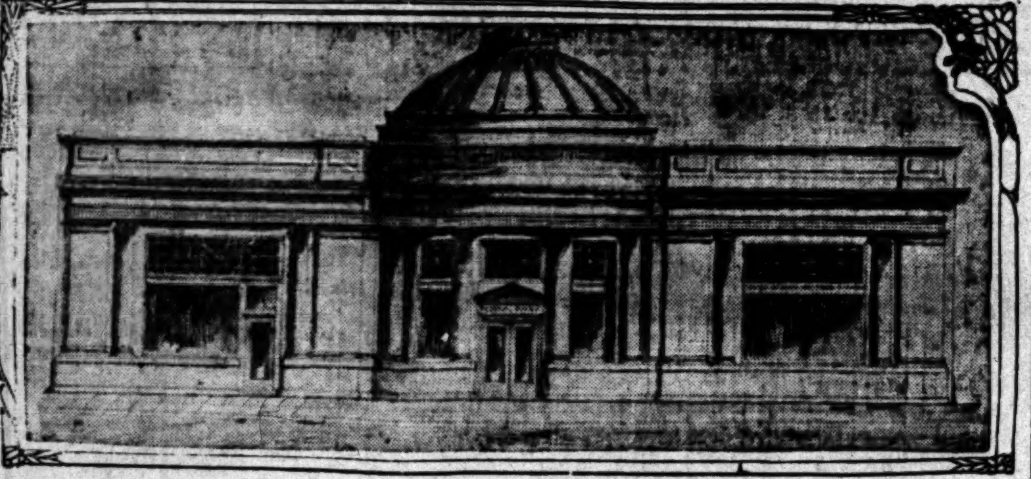
REALIZATION.

PLANS FINISHED FOR NEW BANK.

THE FEDERAL WILL BE HANDSOME, CLASSIC PILE.

Construction of Structure at North Broadway and Avenue 22 Will Be Completed Within a Few Months, Adding Much to Development of District—Other Buildings Going Up.



Attractive new home for Federal Bank. Neher & Skilling, architects.

Neher & Skilling have completed the revision of the plans prepared by the late Franklin P. Burnham for the banking structure to be erected by the Federal Bank at the northwest corner of North Broadway and Avenue 22. The work of construction will be completed within a few months. The building will be a handsome structure of a single story in height and of classical architecture. The interior is to be lighted through a dome. The banking quarters are to be attractively treated in marble and hardwoods.

The same architects are preparing plans for a three-story and basement apartment-house to be built on the east side of Bonnie Brae street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, by W. W. Paden. The exterior will be cement plaster over metal lath. The interior will be appointed in a thoroughly modern way throughout. A feature will be a roof garden. The place has been leased.

The excavation for the magnificent new Auditorium Hotel building at the northwest corner of Fifth and Olive streets is well under way, twenty-five men being engaged in the work. This structure, plans for which have been completed by Neher & Skilling, will soon be started under their supervision.

SYNDICATE BUYS TRACT.

Large Area in West Hollywood Is Acquired for Immediate Subdivision.

A. B. Schriver has sold 108 acres in West Hollywood to A. S. Spaulding and a syndicate of local capitalists, represented by Wilbur O. Dow, for a total consideration of $260,000. The property has a frontage of one-half mile on Sunset boulevard, and extends from Crescent Heights Tract on the west to Gardner street on the east, and from Sunset boulevard on the north to Santa Monica avenue on the south.

This is said to be the largest single holding yet unsubdivided that is feasible for that purpose in the Hollywood district. It will be subdivided at once and placed on the market, under the management of the Dow-Smith Company and Floyd F. Lewis. Improvements approximating $65,000 will be commenced at once. A system of ornamental street lighting for Sunset boulevard, from Gardner street west [illegible] Laurel Cañon, has been proposed and is looked upon with favor by the new owners.

Mr. Schriver, a realty operator from Des Moines, Iowa, bought the property in the latter part of 1906, and by sheer grit and shrewd financiering, survived the perils of the panic. It is said that he now sells at a handsome profit. He was a strong believer in the future of Los Angeles, and in that portion of Hollywood in which he made his purchase. He has reserved a corner on Sunset boulevard, as a site for a winter residence. Mr. Spaulding and two members of the purchasing syndicate have signified their intention to build on Sunset boulevard.

The deal was consummated through the agency of Floyd F. Lewis.

KERN COUNTY ACTIVITY.

Local Dealers Report Extensive Business in Ranch and Subdivision Properties.

The M. E. Miller Company reports sales in its Semi-Tropic Colony in Kern county, amounting to 200 acres, to G. L. Seward of Sherman, C. L. Tunison of Glen Frazier, Arthur P. Blosat, of Philadelphia, and F. L. Brown of Long Beach, for a total of $15,000; and 960 acres west of Fresno to a Los Angeles buyer for $15,000.

The same company reports the following transfers in its Kings River Thermal Tract near Fresno: L. Stoen, 250 acres, $30,000; E. L. Hutchins of Fullerton, 40 acres; R. L. Howard of Redondo, 40 acres; G. C. Butterfield, 35 acres; A. D. McGill of North Dakota, 40 acres; J. L. Minturn of Fresno, 40 acres. All of these buyers plan extensive improvements.

The M. E. Miller Company also reports the following sales of lots in Granada Park, a new residence subdivision: H. A. Roll, $875; E. E. Hoffman, two lots, $800; A. Calhan, $575; M. Z. Blackburn, $1000; J. Mayer, $725; B. Rene, 400; E. M. Evans, $400; C. E. Holgate, two lots, $700; E. M. Sponsler, $350. Mr. Myer has commenced the construction of a $3500 bungalow and plans are under way for several other new homes.

RECORD ACTIVITY.

GLENDALE REALTY POPULAR.

GLENDALE, March 12.—In response to the desire to be away from the city and its noises which seems to take possession of human beings in early spring, many visitors, some coming from Los Angeles and others from the far east, are making their way to this valley. And the number seems to be increasing daily. Almost without exception these visitors are looking for sites for homes.

Now that it has become known definitely that Glendale is soon to have gas, the number of houses that have been started during the last two weeks has been far greater than during any two weeks previous. Real estate agents claim that never before in the history of the town has business in their line been so brisk.

Very recently Parker & Sternberg put through the largest sale in realty that has been made for over a year. This is the sale of the Glendalia tract, lying between First and Second street and extending from Central avenue to Mary street. The sale comprises about sixty lots of the original subdivision, a large number having been previously sold. The purchasers are Messrs. Smith and McLaughlin of Los Angeles. The price paid was $34,000. The same firm reports the sale of four lots on Orange street, between First and Second, upon which three houses will be erected; three business lots on the west side of Brand boulevard, adjoining Mr. Flower's holdings; two lots in the McNutt tract, corner Mary and Doran streets, and a ranch property on the San Fernando road near Burbank.

Elias Ayers has sold to the Ganahl Lumber Company and E. W. Pack a lot on Glendale avenue adjoining the lumber yard on the south, and also a lot in the rear. A block of land at the corner of Fourth street and Remington avenue is to be subdivided at once. This will result in the opening of Remington avenue from Fourth street to the West Glendale grammar school house.

It is very noticeable that slowly but surely Eagle Rock is nearing the eastern boundary line of Glendale. Edwards and Wildey have purchased the Neimeyer tract on the foothills where an old vineyard is and are extending their 70-foot boulevard from Occidental Heights tract to that point.

LANDMARKS DISAPPEAR.

SITE FOR BIG BLOCK CLEARED.

REDONDO BEACH, March 10.—By tomorrow the last traces of one of the oldest landmarks of Redondo Beach will have disappeared to make room for the erection of the postoffice building and apartment-house to be built by W. M. Garland. On this site, at the junction of Pacific and Benita avenues, stood some of the first business buildings of the town, erected during Redondo Beach's first boom in 1890. One of these was built by R. Cotton, a veteran of the Civil War, and there he and his wife conducted one of the first restaurants of the then new town. Adjoining, another business building was built and occupied by a grocery. At the time of their erection many of the residences and business places were in tents.

A $30,000 three-story pressed-brick structure is to be put up by W. M. Garland. On the first floor will be the postoffice rooms and smaller office rooms, and the second and third stories will be up-to-date apartments with private baths and all other conveniences. The building will be completed by July 1.

John G. Neumeister, a Chicago millionaire who has purchased the property adjoining the Ainsworth home on the south, will erect a $10,000 residence in the near future.

Work has been commenced on a two-story pressed-brick business block on Pacific avenue, to be built by E. J. Murphy. The building will have a fifty-foot frontage.

REPORTS RECENT SALES.

C. A. Wesbecher, tract agent for Vermont Square, reports the following recent sales: Six-room bungalow at No. 1449 West Forty-fifth street, lot 45x128 feet, to John B. Piper, $2800; lot 45x127 feet, between Halldale and Denker avenues, to Anthony S. Hill, $1000; Mr. Hill will immediately improve with a seven-room bungalow. Lot 50x127 feet, corner of West Forty-sixth and Halldale, to A. J. Potter, $1250; lot 45x130 feet, West Fiftieth, between Normandie and Halldale, to B. M. Kleinbar, $850; lot 46x128 feet, West Forty-fifth, between Halldale and Denker, to S. A. Nelson, $1050; Mr. Nelson is improving with a bungalow. Lot 45x130 feet, West Fiftieth, between Halldale and Normandie, to M. T. Kelp, $850; lot 45x127 feet, West Forty-fifth, between Normandie and Halldale, to J. M. Sword, $900; lot 43x128 feet, West Forty-sixth, between Harvard boulevard and Western avenue, to B. H. Bailey, $625; Mr. Bailey will improve with a seven-room bungalow.

OLIVE STREET SALE.

C. S. Holman reports the following sales: J. H. Spires to E. H. Sweetser, No. 1319 South Olive street, 50x120 feet, $15,000. L. W. Andrews to Jennie Plant, the northwest corner First and Vendome streets, 50x130 feet, $2500; L. W. Andrews to Mary Kiser, the northeast corner First and Vendome, 50x130 feet, $2500; L. W. Andrews to E. H. Sweetser, the northeast corner of First and Dillon, 165x130 feet, $4750; L. W. Andrews to Sam G. Levy and Harry L. Harris, the northwest corner of First and Reno, 55x130 feet, $2750; L. W. Andrews to O. Wilkes, the northeast corner First and Reno, 76x120 feet, $3750.

MAGNIFICENT HOME.

Plans for the magnificent new home of H. Jevne in San Rafael Heights have been completed by the architect, Frederick L. Roehrig. The accepted designs call for a dwelling 85x70 feet in size and three stories and basement, and containing fifteen rooms. The exterior will be of brick and plaster, with stone and tile trim. The interior trim will be in hardwoods. The appointments will be of the most modern character. The cost of the residence will be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

OLIVE STREET TRANSFER.

B. F. Toms has sold to Lewis H. Lasley a lot 53x165 feet on the east side of Olive street, between Eleventh and Twelfth. This property has been leased for a term of years at a net rental of 5 per cent. on the price paid, $45,000. The building will be occupied by an automobile garage. The sale was made through the Tatum-Winstanley Company and the Erkenbrecher Syndicate.

TO GO TEN STORIES.

Thomas Higgins, builder of the Higgins building at the southwest corner of Second and Main streets, will at once have that structure continued to a height of ten stories. This is made possible by the extension last week by the City Council of the legal height for reinforced concrete buildings to 135 feet. Eight stories of the block are now completed. A. L. Haley is the architect of the big project.

SOUTHWEST SALE.

The Kuck, Tobias-Hamill Company reports the following sales: A. C. Tobias to Richard Westbrook, a seven-room bungalow with 50x135-foot lot at No. 2921 Budlong avenue, $5500; Wm. Bulpit to Edward Beasley, 80-acre alfalfa and fruit ranch four miles west of Bishop in the Owens River Valley, consideration $8000; J. G. and C. E. Bell to Wm. Bulpit, seventeen acres improved with a residence, one-half mile west of Bishop, $4000.

"Proper Masticatio of Food"

As we have said so many times before, Alveolar Teeth are not aid to good looks, but necessity for every day They are food choppers—and the food is properly "Fletcherized," it will do more than good.

The stomach can't chew it.

We print a letter today from a Mrs. Jane D. Leslie, who called on us at our Los Angeles office when we first opened in California, three years ago.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—
You could not do better than work done by the Rex Dental Co. They are very careful and they did for me has proved and I can recommend them to needing their services.
Very Truly Yours,
MRS. JANE D. LESLIE

Mrs. Leslie says the teeth made for her by the Rex Dental Co.'s method of supplying teeth has been satisfactory. Could she say more?

Now we are going to put pertinent questions to people are wearing a "partial" of those torturesome "bridges:"

Why go through life with figured mouth and disfigured

Why take chances with dyspepsia, when you can perfect a set of teeth as blessed you with in the beginning

Why don't you reach out this new teeth offer, and add looks, and to your health, successful in business and life?

No man or woman can be a success Who has to display of "false" teeth. They give a set-back that is hard to as some one has said "ugly are an insult."

There is no excuse for we show a way of avoiding ing of them.

The Rex Dental Co.'s Teeth rival Nature's so even dentists have to closely to ascertain whether they grow in the mouth.
